THE GREAT SHEPHERD AND HIS FLOCK

Jehovah the Chief Shepherd of the Sheep.

God's Ideals Different From Those of the World—His Infinite Greatness and Our Littleness—His Wonderful Plan—Far Beyond Human Conception—How God Tested His Son, Christ's Supreme Exaltation Later, Church Called to Follow His Steps.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 17.—Pastor Russell preached here today. He took for his text Psalm 23:1—"The Lord is My Shepherd; I shall not want."

The Pastor's address began with a contrast between the armorial bearings of earth's great families and from the sacrifice of Himself, and from which His footsteps followers would be selected. This part of God's wonderful Plan would never have occurred to the minds of men. He would never have thought of stooping down to fallen creatures under the curse of death and in a degraded condition for four thousand years, and of making them an offer, not only of having their sins forgiven and of being reconciled to God through the death of His Son, but also of becoming followers of that Son and, by passing through similar trials and experiences, becoming joint-heirs with Him in His glorious inheritance. Until our Lord Jesus was highly exalted at His resurrection, there was none of the Divine nature except Jehovah Himself. Although next to God, the Logos was upon a very different plane of existence. The Father had first created Him, and through Him all other beings. God's next creation will be upon a higher plane than any other—the Divine. In harmony with this purpose we see that in Christ the Church will be God's New Creation, as St. Paul explains—2 Cor. 5:17; Eph. 4:24.

Heretofore the Son had always demonstrated His loyalty under favorable conditions, amongst the holy ones in harmony with Jehovah, where there were no requirements of sacrifice. But now God would put Him to a special test. If He would accept Jehovah's proposition, and be loyal even unto death amongst the unholy ones out of harmony with Jehovah and under conditions of suffering and humiliation, then He should have an exaltation far above angels, principalities, powers, and every name that is named. St. Paul tells us that our Lord accepted the Father's terms; and that, having been found worthy, He was exalted to the right hand of the Majesty on High.—Philippians 2:8-11.

Justification and the High Calling. In conclusion the Pastor explained the difference between justification and the High Calling of the Gospel Church to follow their Redeemer's steps. Everywhere the Bible teaches that through Jesus' blood believers are "justified freely from all things." But justification merely brings them to the place where they can offer their bodies to God in sacrifice. (Romans 12:1.) None but the Church have yet been justified. Others have gone down to the tomb unjustified. During the Millennium, God Jesus will be their Justifier. At the close of that time He will present blameless to the Father all who have met the conditions.

Women now have a vote in 12 States. New York teachers are threatened with a cut in pension payments. Bricklayers in Dallas, Texas, get 57 1/2 cents an hour. There are over 2000 local trade unions in Canada. Street Railway Men's International has half a million in its treasury. A minimum wage commission has been appointed in Nebraska. In Europe Denmark alone has a limited compulsory arbitration law. There are 1100 labor exchanges in the German Empire. Less than 1 per cent of English trade union workers are unemployed. Switzerland's new factory law reduces the working day from 11 hours to 10. Enterprising Japanese have started a toy factory at Cardiff. Germany's total factory inspection force numbers 350 people. There are 1133 trade unions in the United Kingdom. A pension is granted to miners who contract phthisis in British South Africa. Industrial accidents in New Zealand last year were 1241 per thousand. There are 25,000 members in the Carpenters' Union of the bay cities of California. In future all day labor for the city of Kaslo, B. C., will be given to married men. The Queen's "Work for Women" Fund has now reached the total of $18,575. There are now 36 girl ticket collectors at the London Bridge Station of the Brighton line. Canadian Pacific Railway has raised the wages of all laborers to full scheduled pay. Massachusetts has fixed a minimum wage of $3.50 for women workers over 18. On October 15 at New York City United Textile Workers of America will convene. For being pro-German, George Graziop was dismissed from Moose Jaw (Canada) civic employment bureau. Denbighshire (Wales) Police Committee has recommended a war bonus of two shillings per week to their men. A feature of the recruiting at Brockville, Canada, is the number of railway men enlisting for overseas service. W. E. Kavanagh, labor leader, at Jersey City proposed union funerals and union buttons for grave-diggers. Roadmen employed by Carnarvon County (Wales) Council will receive a war bonus of two shillings per week. Many students of the University of Michigan are at work aiding in making war shoes at Columbia (Mo.) factories. According to a statement given in the House of Lords, out of Britain's soldiers now serving with the colors, about 94,000 are married. Employees of the Dominion Government dredging fleet in British Columbia waters have given $419 to patriotic funds since the war started. Natives of Guatemala are expert toy-makers and it is probable that they will secure some of the business formerly taken care of by European nations. All station agents and telegraphers employed by the W. & A. Railway system will receive salary increases of 9 per cent, beginning with November 1. Reports from mid-Cheshire and Lancashire farmers show that numbers of Irish farm laborers have left work and returned to Ireland to avoid registration. The total value of the pig industry in Ireland increased from $24,425,000 in 1906 to $40,700,000 in 1914. Bacon curing is carried on by about 50 farms, employing approximately 300 hands. A recent strike of employees of the Mexico Street Railway Company was settled by arbitration with Gen. Pablo Gonzalez acting as mediator. The amount to be given a 30 per cent increase in wages. Union carpenters of the bay counties in California, by referendum vote, have rejected the proposition to inaugurate a six-hour labor day with 15 per cent day during the winter months as a possible solution of the problem of unemployment.

Women engaged in the manufacture of war munitions in Britain will be paid the same rates as men on piecework, and arrangements are under way for the establishment of day rates for women on the basis of equal pay for equal work. A circular has been issued to the shop stewards throughout the Clyde area, intimating that 1000 members of the A. S. E. not engaged on war work during the week end are wanted to register to supply week-end squads to replace the men who have been working throughout the week. During the last two months the International Association of Machinists has negotiated agreements in various cities in the East and South, which provide for increases in wages of from 15 to 30 per cent, and reduce the number of hours of labor from 10 to 8 hours per day. David Lloyd-George, the British Munitions Minister, has appointed a committee to consider and advise on questions of industrial fatigue, hours of labor and other matters affecting the health and physical efficiency of workers in munitions factories and workshops. But for the fact that the allowance given to the wives and dependents of the recruits in Britain is so generous, the amount of additional woman labor now employed in England would be enormous, and as time goes on there can be little doubt that the increase will be steady in every branch of labor of which women are physically capable. The new child-labor law, passed by the last Iowa Legislature, is now in effect in that State. It prohibits the employment of children under 16 in mines, telegraph companies, laundries and factories will have to eliminate their child labor. Girls under 16 cannot be employed at work which requires them continuously on their feet. Eight hours is the limit for children under 16. Labor laws supposed to be for the protection of women workers in Connecticut have long been a joke. It is the most backward State in this respect in New England. Connecticut is not one bit further advanced in regard to child labor and its laws for the future welfare of the human race are far less than in the South. There are girls 13 and 14 years old working in factories here for 9, 11 and 15 cents a day. General Frolloff, commander of the Petrograd military district, has issued an appeal to working men to refrain from strikes, which he says, have appeared in certain Petrograd factories. In his appeal he quotes with approval the declaration of General Frolloff, commander-in-chief on the northwest front, that strikers in works preparing military stores are treason to the fatherland. During the last four years the Federal Bureau of Mines has trained more than 25,000 miners, all of whom are now equipped to conduct active first-aid work. In the short period last year during which the crews of the bureau's cars were able to conduct active training, 46,481 miners visited the cars and stations, 23,225 attended the lectures and demonstrations, 35,000 received first-aid instruction and training. The German labor colonies, which have grown so rapidly so that there are now 30 in various parts of the world, are agricultural colonies, maintained almost wholly by private philanthropy, administered by a religious association, where any workman unable to find work can find shelter so long as he conforms to the rules and regulations of the colony. He is free to go at any time, but while in the colony he must do the work assigned to him and conform to the conditions of the colony. As a result of their unprotected condition—women and children are exploited in industry, trade, domestic service and agriculture, to an extent which threatens their health and the future generations. The competition of women and children is a direct result of the war and salary standards of men. Under present conditions children are permitted by their parents to work largely because their earnings are necessary for the support of the rest of the family. The expenditures during the year 1914 on account of benefits paid by central labor organizations operating in Canada of the 102 international bodies, whose activities extend into the Dominion, have been $1,200,000. The total disbursements during 1914 by the various international organizations were $1,200,000. The following table shows the amount of each class of benefit as follows: Death benefits $5,461,671; strike benefits, $1,353,390; sick benefits, $66,280; accident benefits, $236,580; old-age pensions, $206,282; unemployment benefits, $77,292; gratuity benefits, $47,226. Of 102 international bodies three reported having made payments on account of benefits for total disbursements amounting to $3,526,116.

The competition of women and children is a direct result of the war and salary standards of men. Under present conditions children are permitted by their parents to work largely because their earnings are necessary for the support of the rest of the family. The expenditures during the year 1914 on account of benefits paid by central labor organizations operating in Canada of the 102 international bodies, whose activities extend into the Dominion, have been $1,200,000. The total disbursements during 1914 by the various international organizations were $1,200,000. The following table shows the amount of each class of benefit as follows: Death benefits $5,461,671; strike benefits, $1,353,390; sick benefits, $66,280; accident benefits, $236,580; old-age pensions, $206,282; unemployment benefits, $77,292; gratuity benefits, $47,226. Of 102 international bodies three reported having made payments on account of benefits for total disbursements amounting to $3,526,116.

Women engaged in the manufacture of war munitions in Britain will be paid the same rates as men on piecework, and arrangements are under way for the establishment of day rates for women on the basis of equal pay for equal work. A circular has been issued to the shop stewards throughout the Clyde area, intimating that 1000 members of the A. S. E. not engaged on war work during the week end are wanted to register to supply week-end squads to replace the men who have been working throughout the week. During the last two months the International Association of Machinists has negotiated agreements in various cities in the East and South, which provide for increases in wages of from 15 to 30 per cent, and reduce the number of hours of labor from 10 to 8 hours per day. David Lloyd-George, the British Munitions Minister, has appointed a committee to consider and advise on questions of industrial fatigue, hours of labor and other matters affecting the health and physical efficiency of workers in munitions factories
