WHEN AN EDITOR RUNS FOR OFFICE

Having been high candidate in five districts and having led A. R. Heywood in eight districts and tied him in one, Frank Francis, editor of The Standard, feels that he has his friends to thank for the loyal support they gave him in his candidacy for mayor, although he was eliminated from the contest by 94 votes.

Without organization, expense or promises, he made his campaign unaided except for the volunteered support which came to him from all parts of the city. He was a little late in entering the primaries and discovered his name was not written large in the political inner circles. Yet he has no regrets for he held to his resolve to do that which he thought was right, even though he met with defeat.

And then, perhaps, his sphere of greatest usefulness is not that of mayor. So he, with good grace, accepts the decision.

ITALIAN TROOPS ARE BEING ATTACKED

A message from Berlin and reports from the Italian front announce the Germans and Austrians are massing for a drive against the Italians.

This is the prelude to a desperate struggle, and should be causing the allies some uneasiness, if they are not quite sure of their strength along the Isonzo.

Should the Teutonic forces drive a wedge into Cadorna's lines and finally disorganize the Italians, once more it would begin to look as though the central powers were not even approaching exhaustion and still possessed the power to launch a most effective blow.

Germany's present strength is due to the fact that the Russians can be considered almost out of the conflict and the German forces on the Russian front are free to withdraw, leaving a comparatively small army to guard their frontier.

We have felt there is an element of danger in the Italian position, although the rough country places the aggressors at a disadvantage.

GROCCERS AIDING THE GOVERNMENT

The Standard calls attention to resolutions, adopted by the National Retail Grocers' Association, the Independent Retail Grocers and the general stores of the country, at a convention of their representatives. W. W. Armstrong, federal food administrator for Utah, in a letter to The Standard, encloses the resolutions, which are as follows:

(1) We will, whether licensed or not, co-operate with the U. S. food administration in every way possible to ensure the enforcement of its rules and regulations and the success of its conservation plans, and deliver to the consumers of the United States the necessities of life as cheaply as is possible within our power to do. We will earnestly and vigorously recommend all other retail grocers to pursue this course steadfastly.

(2) We recommend that retail grocers discontinue the soliciting of orders during the period of the war.

(3) We recommend the limitation of all deliveries to one a day to any one family or on any one route.

(4) We recommend that under conditions and in localities where it is feasible, the co-operative system of delivery be employed.

(5) We recommend that under conditions and in localities where it is feasible, the co-operative system of delivery be employed.

(6) We urge all retailers and their clerks to concentrate their efforts in selling wholesome and nutritious substitutes for white flour and meat.

(7) We recommend that the retailers use their efforts to sell articles of food that are cheap yet of good quality in the place of high price staples, and that in doing so they be guided by the recommendations of the conservation department of the food administration.

(8) We urge the most strict economy in the conduct of all retail grocery stores, and constant effort to eliminate all waste and extravagant methods, to the end that time, energy, fuel, equipment, and men may be conserved, and that wholesome food may be placed in the hands of consumers at the lowest possible prices.

(9) We recommend that retailers throughout the country and their associations, local, state and national, co-operate to the fullest extent with the U. S. food administration and that they immediately express their purpose so to do by communicating direct with the administration in Washington.

(9) We express our appreciation of the support that has been given the food conservation work by the trade papers of the country and earnestly solicit their continued co-operation with the food administration.

(10) We recommend that all retail grocers assist in the potato campaign of the food administration by urging the sale of that commodity this season.

(11) We urge that all food products where possible be sold by weight in reasonably large quantities and for cash.

(12) We recommend that all retailers urge the sale of such items as small prunes, corn meal, oat meal, rice, hominy and similar articles in bulk.

(13) We ask all retailers to urge the sale of such articles as soup stock and materials, peas, rice, barley, fresh vegetables and fresh and canned oysters.

(14) To the end that the country's industries and their workers may be maintained at the greatest efficiency, and that any unreasonable profits or speculation in food staples may be eliminated, we pledged ourselves to the United States government not to sell any of the fundamental necessities (as announced by the president of the United States in his licensing proclamation of October 8, 1917), at a margin of profit over the delivered cost to the merchant that will yield to him more than a reasonable living profit, irrespective of the market conditions at time of re-sale, and we pledge ourselves to urge other grocers whether under the licensing plan or not, be the end that margins of profit by retail grocers throughout the country over the cost to them shall not be greater than prevails under normal conditions. We urge that each retail grocer act individually, and that he sell the staple foods at no greater profit than is reasonable in accordance with their cost, and his individual cost of doing business, as sanctioned by the U. S. food administration.

(15) We earnestly urge the members and officers of every association of retail grocers as well as individual grocers in their respective communities to advocate these principles persistently in their local associations and to other retail grocers of the country in this grave national crisis when our country needs us most, may not fail vigorously to uphold the needs of the government and to do their utmost towards a speedy and triumphant conclusion of our war against Germany.

DON'T FORGET THE BOYS

As a reminder that you and I should not forget the boys, after they have gone from our presence, but should continue to do them honor even when they are far away, the following is reprinted; it presents the hope and expectations, and also the lonely feeling which must now and then creep over our boys somewhere in France—a loneliness intensified when a message from the folks at home is long overdue:

Somehow I'm kind of thinking of the folks 'way back at home. And the time that I'll be with them when the Kaiser's overthrowed; And I really feel and fancy the touch of mother's hands. And kindly dad, his welcome to his son from other lands:

And our little Jimmie's gladness to see me back again, And my sister so excited, her joy she can't contain. And I see another picture—the one I dream to see— Of my sweetheart girl advancing with outstretched arms to me.

And I feel a kind of funny and wonder what it is when I think of you. When my old acquaintances greet me and hold my hand so long. But when I think, and tell them of my service over there. It is nothing much to brag of, I only did my share.

That thousands others like me to defend their native land. Were only waiting for to go and give a helping hand. But you take this straight from me, that there were no soft snaps there. You did your own blamed fighting—and you did it on the square.

And a sudden frenzy grips me, and I see it over again. The battlefields of Flanders and the trenches of the plain; The charge, the counter charge, amid the heavy guns that roar— The fast retreating Hun—the horrid red of blood and gore.

Back to our dupes once again, the hours and days go by. Preparing for another drive, to make another try. Somehow I'm kind of thinking, that the folks 'way back home. Won't have a chance to see me till the victory is our own.

GROCCERS FAIL TO MEET NEW PRICES

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The reply of Chicago grocers to the price list announced yesterday by Harry A. Wheeler, Illinois food administrator, today was that they couldn't meet it. The list gave prices on sugar, flour and potatoes. The grocers said they would like to put his prices into effect if he could tell them where to get flour and sugar at the prices he announced they should pay the wholesaler.

RESULT OF PRIMARY ELECTION HELD IN SALT LAKE

SALT LAKE, Oct. 24.—A total vote of 7,583, the lightest in the recent history of the city, was cast at the primary yesterday.

Stephen B. Newman, C. Clarence Neslen, Albert H. Crabbe and Heber M. Wells qualified, in the order named, as commissioner candidates for the final election, to be held November 5.

E. A. Book, candidate for re-election as city auditor, was again high man, with a total of 5,423 votes. His opponent will be J. L. May, Jr., who received 1,216 votes yesterday.

For the four qualifying candidates for commissioner, the votes stood: Newman, 2,064; Neslen, 2,009; Crabbe, 1,904; Wells, 1,511. Dr. M. B. Stewart was fifth man with 1,351 votes and Frank Hewlett sixth with 1,156. The low man was Daniel B. Richards with 109, and the next lowest Emil S. Lund with 110. With a few exceptions, each candidate carried his own district. Mrs. Rebekah W. Hornbein polled 267 votes.

Except for those who rode in their own cars or, perhaps in the unburdened car of a friend, every one of the 7,583 citizens who voted yesterday walked to the polls.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young — to do this you must watch your liver and bowels — there's no need of having a sallow complexion — dark rings under your eyes — pimples — a bilious look in your face — dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

FOOD PRICES NOW 40 PER CENT HIGHER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Food prices as a whole have advanced forty per cent over the year before the war. Latest compilation of prices, announced today by the United States bureau of labor statistics, shows principal articles of food as a whole six per cent higher on August 15, 1917, just after the outbreak of the war than they were on that date in 1916. There was a drop of six per cent in 1915, but in 1916 prices advanced 14 per cent and during this year they have jumped 31 per cent. From July to August this year there was a two per cent increase in the combined prices of the principal articles of food. Flour prices in August were two and one-quarter times what they were in August, 1913. The increase was 130 per cent. Corn meal advanced almost as much with an increase of 120 per cent. Potatoes advanced 87 per cent; sugar 77 per cent; lard 72 per cent and pork chops 58 per cent.

During the year ending August 15 onions were the only article to increase in price. Corn meal doubled in price; flour advanced 70 per cent; beans 59 per cent and other articles to a lesser degree.

THE GLOVE AND THE CIGARETTE

The Knight and the Boy in Khaki.

If you've got red blood in your veins; if you've any sentiment in your make up; if you've any love in your heart; if you have any patriotism among your emotions, read this and see if it doesn't strike a chord somewhere.

We've a lot of men in France and we are going to have a lot more; millions perhaps; you want them to win the fight; you want them to win it quick, to fight fast and furiously so as to get done with it soon.

Now, has it ever occurred to you that the things in all history which have stirred men to their most determined efforts have not been noisy things, nor conspicuous things, but instead, they've been those quiet things that lie close to the heart; and among them all there's one that casts all others into the background and that one is love; love of woman, love of children, love of home, love of country, love of freedom, love, in some form.

al airs are played. Everything is done to remind the soldiers that they are fighting for something they love.

When the famous knight of olden time went forth to wage battle he carried with him, what? His lady's glove. And why? His reason was the best reason on earth. Just before closing his visor he pressed that precious glove to his lips and with eyes closed, his mind was filled with tender memories of her for whom he was about to fight. It is small wonder that the valor of those days set a standard for all times.
