

For 3 Cents Per Pound

Venders of unknown quality of bulk Coffees do much talking, as a rule, about the cost of Coffee cans and cartons. Yet our Coffee roasters tell us their cans cost about 3c and cartons much less. Bulk Coffee dealers know the can or carton contains extra strength, a pleasing aroma, and is always sanitary. But what they know best of all is that the profit on known brands of can or carton Coffee is much less than that on bulk Coffees. Most grocers are looking for immediate profits and overlook the fact that a pleased Coffee customer is the biggest asset of any grocer.

We have realized this for many years. It is for this reason that we think we can well afford to sell a 45c can of "Old Master" Coffee for 40c. This is the reason our patrons walk many blocks and past other stores to get a can of this rare Coffee, which is never offered for sale in bulk.

TRY JUST ONE CAN

It requires only two-thirds as much "Old Master" to the cup as is required of most Coffees. "Old Master" is cheaper in the long run than a Coffee at 30c per pound. Our Coffees all come to us in the bean and are freshly ground when sold.

- 1-pound can 45c "Old Master" Coffee (in the bean or freshly ground) 40c
- 3-pound can 45c "Old Master" Coffee (in the bean or freshly ground) $1.15
- 5 pound can 45c "Old Master" Coffee (in the bean or freshly ground) $1.90

IT IS NOT COMPULSORY

that you mix beans, rice, hominy, rolled oats, etc., with your white flour. Many people have been under the impression that all substitutes were to be mixed with white flour.

Such is not the case. You are asked to buy equal amounts of other cereals along with your wheat flour. It is your privilege to use them as you like. To use them in any way is to save wheat bread and that is the object desired by our food administration.

ENDLESS QUESTIONS DRIVE HIM INTO THE ARMY

According to William Roth, of Eocattello, it is preferable to enlist "and be done with it," than to wait around and try to keep track of the correspondence with which a draft exemption board bombards him. Anyway, he told this to Chairman Abbot R. Heywood of the city board this morning when he applied for induction into the army. Roth says when he thinks he is all straightened out and well tabulated by his registration board, there comes another sheet of mail and he is kept busy interpreting and living up to further requirements exacted of him. He concluded, he says, that he might as well enlist and shake the pesky board. Roth, with three others, will be sent at 7 a. m. Sunday to Fort Logan, Colo., where they will commence training in the coast artillery division of the army. The others are Mason C. Temple, Rochester, N. Y., Edward Hoskin, Ogden, and Wesley Stone, Albion, Ida.

WRIGHTS' STORE A PICTURE OF SPRING

Step from the street, through the main entrance into Wrights' store and you step from the dreary March into gay June. So cleverly has the great store been transformed into a flowery springtime bower, that one listens instinctively for the song birds of June. If only a few song birds had been concealed in the airy decorations, the picture would have been complete. From every stately white pillar, white lattice work extends over the aisles through which are climbing rose branches, gay with pink and red bloom. Gone from all of the displays are the dull browns and grays of winter. In impressive displays are the bright colors that are destined to be characteristic of the coming season.

The stage is all set for the Great Silk Sale of Spring which opens Monday morning. Three thousand yards of wonderful silken fabrics fill the display windows on Washington avenue—a hundred running feet of window space is required to show spring silks which Ogden women will eagerly buy next week.

The management expects this to be the greatest of all their silk sales, for this is to be indeed a season of silks. Advancing prices of cottons and wools have brought them to a point where silks are quite a cheap.

Millinery Openings on Tuesday. The official opening of the Spring Millinery will take place on Tuesday. Miss Wagner, a woman of very broad millinery experience will have charge this year, she comes directly from the fashion centers of the east where she has personally selected the wonderful stock of millinery that will be ready for Ogden women beginning Tuesday.

There will be also the millinery opening for the girls of 2 to 14 years. Styles just as distinctive of this season as are those for her mother, will be shown in great assortment in the Juvenile Department on the second floor.—Advertisement.

The mid-week market is showing the usual activity of the last few days and the trend of prices is gradually but surely upward. The trading this morning was lively and there were many buyers present, but the latter seemed inclined to "go easy" as the stocks are offered at a slightly higher figure of late and the holders are not inclined to be anxious to sell at the bids which were recorded.

A 15,000 Barrel Well Found in Butler County, Kansas.

Another gusher is the talk of oil men interested in the Towanda pool, Butler county, Kansas, field. The new well, belonging to the Union Oil company of Kansas City, is reported good for an initial production of 15,000 barrels, according to a dispatch received yesterday. The Union Oil company organized in Kansas City twelve months ago, has had a phenomenal success. Prior to the last two wells it had a daily production of 4000 barrels. The company is capitalized for $1,500,000 par value $1, and yesterday was quoted at $4. This stock will become very valuable.

KINNEY—In answer to a request made to the Kinney company as the progress of their new wells now drilling, they have submitted us the following: Their No. 13 well is down 2330 feet; No. 17 is down 2900 feet and No. 18 is pounding its way towards the sands at 2400 feet; No. 21 is reported at 2000 feet. The bringing in of these wells will increase the intrinsic value of the Kinney shares to a marked degree and the effect on the market will probably be received by a substantial increase over the present price of the stock.

WIND RIVER PETROLEUM—As advised in our previous market letter, this company's stock is advancing sharply and today stands at the 30c mark. The news is circulated that their deep well in the Lander field is ready to be drilled in and word is expected at any moment that they have struck in a big well. This company is also preparing to drill at Pilot Butte. The well will be on the south side of the river where a dry hole is unknown.

PRODUCERS & REFINERS CORPORATION—Well on its Hudson property in the Lander, Wyo., field came in yesterday with a surprisingly large production, according to a telegram received. This well, a few days ago, was reported to have a good showing of oil at 1700 feet. Its drilling in yesterday was accompanied by a much heavier oil flow than is usually found in the field. The telegram stated the oil broke over the derrick's top. The Producers company is drilling several other wells in the same neighborhood.

SPERM OIL CO.—This company spud in their No. 3 well today. Their No. 2 well is reported an exceptional good well.

GIBLARTAR—We still hear excellent reports regarding this company. A considerable amount of the stock has recently been taken off the market filling orders throughout the country. Two new wells will be spudded in during next few days.

CENTER OIL—News from this company is expected daily that they have succeeded in bringing in a well. A very considerable amount of this stock has changed hands in the last few days.

LONE STAR—We understand a second quarterly dividend will be paid to stockholders of record on May 31. This dividend will represent at least 50 per cent of the Lone Star's net earnings in accordance with the company's charter provisions. On present earnings basis. Dividend No. 3 should

SEVEN MEN ENLIST IN THE U. S. ARMY

The recruiting office for the United States army had a heavier run of business today than it has had in several weeks. Seven men were enlisted and will be sent to Fort Douglas between now and next Tuesday. They are:

Heber Y. Young, LeVargo, Wyo., and John J. Walton, Laramie, Wyo., infantry; Arnold R. Hansen, Bear River City, Utah, 145th light field artillery; Richard J. Urry, 2955 Jefferson avenue, Butte, Mont., and Karlus Wallace, Urry, burg, Russia, medical department;

Ralph H. Dawson, Dayton, O., field artillery.

THE REAL CONDITION. "Miss Oldgirl says she doesn't pretend to be brilliant nor witty, nor wise. She is just a plain woman." "Plain? Great Scott, but she is good to herself."

TWO BIG ITEMS TO SAMMIES ARE THESE— SOURCES OF THEIR EATS AND OF THEIR ORDERS

Above—United States army kitchens. Below—Staff officers in command of American trench in France. The soldier boy finds two things very important to him over there in France—eats and orders. The sources of both are pictured above. The army kitchens are of the latest type and are used when an army is on the march or soon likely to be. The officers shown are in command of American trenches on the Lorraine front.
