OGDEN YARDS SHOW GREAT INCREASE IN BUSINESS

Under H. Hantz, yardmaster, and Walter L. Moore, his assistant yardmaster, there are now operating in the Ogden yards 25 switch engines, and a force of 126 switchmen is employed. Over 80,000 cars are handled each month and as high as 3000 cars are moved in a day.

In the past eight years the traffic in the yards has doubled. At present the freight business is principally westbound and as high as five cabooses are deadheaded east at a time, all but one of the crews being allowed to ride home on passenger trains.

Eight years ago trains eastbound out of Ogden were rated at 1200 tons. Now engines are required to pull 2000 tons.

DESTRUCTION OF WEEDS

In regard to the campaign against noxious weeds in this county the Weber county farm bureau weekly bulletin prints the following article: "The machinery for the destruction of noxious weeds is now working full force. The majority of the road supervisors have been busy cleaning county roads. July 10th the last date for cutting weeds, found most of the noxious weeds destroyed on county roads and on the majority of the farms.

There are a few weed inspectors who are behind schedule, who have been careless in pushing the campaign. If such methods continue the local people should communicate with Crop Pest Inspector Pettigrew and secure an inspector who will do his duty. It looks as though some of our canal companies are going to allow the county to clean the weeds on their rights-of-way. It is poor business on their part, because the county cannot do the work as cheaply as the canal company can do so. The weed machinery is moving forward—it will not pay to obstruct it."

THOUSANDS OF TONS OF BEETS LOST BY DROUGHT

Members of the committee appointed by the Weber county farm bureau and the Weber county and Ogden City commissions to investigate possible methods of delivering water to this county to cope with the water shortage, will meet this afternoon in the federal building. Some of the important questions that will be brought up for discussion and decision will be the appointment of an engineer to conduct the investigations, what project will be first investigated, the arrangement for financing to carry on the investigation and the election of permanent officers of the committee.

The meeting was supposed to have commenced at 1 o'clock, but due to the failure of members of the committee to arrive on time, the session did not start until after 2 o'clock. While waiting for the other members, Chairman J. L. Robson stated that, in a recent conversation with an official of the sugar factory, it is estimated that the number of beets that will be cut at the plant this year will be thirty per cent less than that of last year. He stated that about 30,000 tons of beets are dying from want of water.

Members of the committee seemed to be favorably impressed with the idea of bringing water from Bear river to this country for irrigation. The cost of bringing the water from the mouth of the northern river would be much cheaper, it was stated, than would be the building of reservoirs. The only obstacle would be the possibility of the water becoming contaminated with salt from the former bed of the Great Salt Lake, through which the canal would have to pass.

It was also suggested that the idea of a municipal power plant be abandoned for the idea of a city and county power plant.

NURSE TO BE ASSIGNED TO THE OGDEN CLINIC

A nurse, who will also be a social worker, will be assigned to the Ogden City clinic by the state board of health, according to plans made yesterday at a conference of the state health board and George Shorten, sanitary inspector of Ogden City.

Mr. Shorten went to Salt Lake to confer with the state officials concerning the outline of work for the new city clinic, which was established in conjunction with the county and state at the instigation of Captain R. E. Grambling, federal health officer for Utah.

The nurse, who will be sent here, has not yet been selected, but the appointment will be made in a day or two, according to present plans. She is to be paid by the state and will have social welfare work to perform in the various sections of the county and of northern Utah, as well as assisting the doctor in charge of the clinic.

PARTY TO BE GIVEN ON ECCLES LAWN NEXT TUESDAY

Another party for returned soldiers, sailors and marines is to be staged next Tuesday night under the auspices of the War Camp Community Service, according to Chairman Rev. J. E. Carver, and the clerks of Wright's department store are to be the hostesses.

The party is to be an outdoor affair, with dancing as the chief feature, held at the David Eccles, Sr., home on Jefferson avenue. The committee appointed from among the clerks of Wrights to conduct the affair are Miss Mae Conroy, chairman; and the following members: Misses Etta Merrill, Amanda Hocks, Lillian Roscoe and Edna Sims.

An orchestra has been provided and there will be plenty of girls on hand. The affair is to be strictly informal and democratic and all service men in the county are requested to be present to enjoy the fun and to get acquainted. The United States government has a part in the affair, as a portion of the fund granted to War Camp Community Service has been appropriated for the local work for two months. The government is doing this for the welfare of the men who served the country.

The grounds of the Eccles home were granted to the committee for the party and were selected on account of the board cement covered space upon which the outdoor dancing can be held.

FARMERS' EXCURSION

The proposed excursion of the members of the Weber county farm bureau to the well-watered lands under the Davis and Weber counties canal to inspect the cement lined canal and the reservoir supplying the water is receiving favorable comment in the county, according to advices at the bureau office in this city.

James G. Widdison, president of the local bureau at Hooper, C. A. Groberg and Mrs. C. P. Larkin, president of the local and chairman of the women's department at Farr West, and other towns in the county report that they have taken up the matter of the excursion with their members and that they are anxious to make the trip, and that a large delegation will go from their towns.

BOX FACTORY CONTRACT IS TO BE LET TO LOCAL CONTRACTORS BY BIG WISCONSIN COMPANY

In a message received today by the Ogden Publicity bureau it is definitely announced that the Kieckhefer Box company of Milwaukee, Wis., will establish a box factory in Ogden and that F. W. Schortlager will be the manager.

The coming of the Kieckhefer company is the result of several months careful investigation of western cities by F. W. Schortlager, who has been from the northwest to Denver. He came to Ogden in January, after going over the situation, decided upon Ogden. He advised the company of his selection. About a month ago the president and secretary of the company came to Ogden and began a study of local conditions. It was announced final action rested with the canners of the city and state. In meantime the canners got together and agreed unanimously to solidly support the concern and give the business, which amounts to about one million fibre cases a year, to the company.

The company will erect a $100,000 factory in time for the manufacture of one-half million solid and corrugated fibre cases this year. It is expected that the factory will employ between sixty and a hundred persons. It is stated that the growth of the box factory into a paper mill is one of the future possibilities and will depend for a large part upon the growth of the industry here.

The company claims that it can manufacture and deliver the boxes here about fifteen percent cheaper than other western companies.

The local company will be a separate corporation to avoid the Wisconsin state income tax.

Options have been secured upon four pieces of property in the city. They are a part of the Wright-Whittier company property in the southwest part of the city; J. P. O'Neill farm of 80 acres in the southwest part of the city; property of John Farr near the gas plant; and the Everfresh Food plant, which is now eliminated as a result of the recent fire.

The company plans to operate continuously throughout the year. The boxes manufactured during the winter will be stored in the warehouses for the canning season.

The local factory will be of substantial construction, being concrete and will include fireproof warehouse and auxiliary structures. Ample provision will be made to have the plant so constructed that it can be enlarged from time to time to meet the growing demand.

The fibre box, as now constructed, allows the flaps to be placed inside when canned peas, unlabeled, are being packed for temporary storage, later to be taken out and labeled. It is expected that the local field will develop a demand for 5,000,000 boxes a year.

Local contractors are to be invited to bid on the buildings which are to be erected. As in the case of the Globe and Sperry plants, the box concern is coming to Ogden without receiving a bonus or other inducement, except the natural advantages of the city and the hearty co-operation of the Publicity bureau and the business interests generally.

France Allows Trading With the German People

PARIS, July 12—The French official note authorizing the resumption of commercial relations between France and Germany was issued here today effective today. The note prescribes regulations providing for the issuance of permits on certain classes of merchandise.

A vigorous protest is being made by the business men of Ogden against the activities of A. L. Burton, solicitor of funds for the Utah Children's Home society, who has remained in Ogden and is still collecting funds here for the society, although he was refused a permit, after being granted a hearing before the Merchants of Ogden about two weeks ago. The Merchants of Ogden are giving wide publicity to the resolutions passed by that organization on the night of the hearing granted to Mr. Burton, and at which meeting some very interesting information was brought to light concerning the methods employed by Mr. Burton's society and those of the two local organiza-

WILSON ASKS A CHANGE

WASHINGTON, July 12—President Wilson today blocked the repeal of the daylight saving law by vetoing the agricultural bill carrying a rider for that purpose and at the same time vetoed the sundry civil appropriation bill because it would limit the appropriation of money for the rehabilitation and training of disabled soldiers.

Both important supply bills, carrying millions of dollars urgently needed in government activities and already long delayed by failure in the last congress, must now be re-passed in present form over his veto by a two-thirds vote in both houses which today seemed unlikely.

Republican Leader Mondell said that either he or Chairman Haugen of the agricultural committee, would move to pass the agricultural bill over the president's veto. House leaders expressed belief that a vote would follow after a brief debate.

After receiving the president's veto messages the house ordered the sundry civil bill sent back to the appropriations committee and voted to take up the agricultural bill Monday.

Leaders said no attempt would be made to override the president's veto of the sundry civil bill.

The President's Closing Comment. "The serious limitations upon the amount of money available for rehabilitation of the soldiers and the uses to which it is to be put, involved therefore an actual disruption of a carefully built-up service at the very moment when the disabled soldiers, sailors and marines now in the country or returning to it, are most immediately in need of help. This is a matter of the gravest consequence. It cannot but have far reaching and disastrous effects upon the plan so carefully thought out for the immediate and thorough rehabilitation of men in the service of the country.

"I therefore return the bill with the hope that the congress will reconsider this section of the law, restore the six millions appropriated under the act amending section two, and most liberally revise the salary limitations, so that this beneficent work may go on and so on at once. I am convinced that in this matter I speak the sentiments and the hopes of those who have most carefully studied the needs of the returning soldiers and who are best qualified to carry out a purpose which I am assured the country has very much at heart."

PROTEST AGAINST THE SOLICITING FOR FUNDS

The Merchants of Ogden are giving wide publicity to the resolutions passed by that organization on the night of the hearing granted to Mr. Burton, and at which meeting some very interesting information was brought to light concerning the methods employed by Mr. Burton's society and those of the two local organizations, the Children's Aid society and the Martha society of Ogden.

At that meeting it was stated by the Merchants and also by the women of the two local organizations that they did not desire to keep the Utah Children's Home society from operating in this part of the state, provided such operation would not interfere with work that has been done by the local societies for the past ten years, and which has been done gratuitously. Neither of the two local societies has a paid worker soliciting funds, and it was shown that Mr. Burton is specially paid to solicit, so that, either directly or indirectly, a portion of what is placed in his hands for charity work goes to pay his salary and living expenses. The women of the local organizations get no salaries, and, besides giving their own time and work, often give good sums of money toward the support of their organizations.

A number of the merchants stated this morning that they are indignant over the action of Mr. Burton in remaining in the local field to solicit funds after being shown that the field is thoroughly covered.

The merchants who spoke of the matter stated that every dollar that can be spared by Ogden people should be paid to the local organizations, instead of being paid into an outside organization and spent elsewhere. They also intimated that the methods pursued by Mr. Burton in getting the sympathy of citizens whom he asks to support the Utah Children's Home society are not such as would be approved by citizens generally, if the whole light of truth were shed upon them.

Following are the two resolutions passed on the night of the hearing by the Merchants of Ogden: Resolution.—It was thereupon regularly moved by Mr. John Spargo and seconded by Mr. J. S. Campbell that the Merchants of Ogden do not favor the Utah Home Finding association soliciting funds from the Merchants for their work.

Statement.—It was the consensus of opinion of the directors that the Martha society and the Children's Aid society should be given every assistance in raising funds for those organizations.
