

CHECK CASHED AFTER BEING FORGED AND LOST

In the juvenile court, two youngsters, both exhibiting a tendency towards epilepsy, were given suspended sentences by Judge Daniel Sullivan. One of the youngsters had attempted to pass three worthless checks, each for $5. One check was thrown aside. The check thus discarded was found by other youngsters who were successful in their efforts to cash it. The boy's father took the responsibility for the checks and promised to keep the boys under his direct supervision.

The other youngster, whose sentence to the industrial school was also suspended, was expelled from school because of lack of attention to his lessons. He was allowed to transfer to another school, with the warning that should trouble again arise, he would be committed to the State Industrial school.

for that of a deer.

In some states the deer hunters are required to take every precaution against such serious accidents. In the middle western states the deer hunters are required to wear red jackets with red caps which can be visible for blocks. In the state of Michigan alone twenty-five hunters were killed in one year and that state has passed a law whereby every hunter will take steps to safeguard against accidents.

Hunters this year will be allowed one deer and it is expected that scores of hunters will take to the hills when the season opens.
