CATALOGUES OF MAIL ORDER FIRM FILL AN ENTIRE BOXCAR

The mailing of 17,000 catalogues of a cloak and suit company resulted in additional funds for this month at the Ogden postoffice. It is stated. A box car loaded with catalogues consigned to Ogden for distribution, arrived yesterday and Assistant Postmaster Rufus Gardner had the job of putting postage on the shipment. The catalogues will be forwarded to all parts of the Intermountain country.

It is stated that by arranging for freight shipment to a central point, and then having mail officials attend to the stamping of the catalogues, the company saves hundreds of dollars in postage.

Fine of $50 Follows Plea in Court of Guilty

Frank Bair pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness this morning in city court and was fined $50, which was paid. His case was called yesterday morning, but he failed to appear for trial and Judge Roberts ordered that he appear in court or his bail of $50 would be declared forfeited and a bench warrant issued for his arrest.

ENGINEERS WILL GIVE REPORT ON WEBER RIVER PLANS

Engineer A. F. Parker and his assistant, O. W. McDermith, will meet this afternoon with the county commissioners and members of the central committee on water storage in Weber county.

Mr. Parker and Mr. McDermith will submit a report of their work last summer in investigating Weber river, with reference to its use for irrigation purposes in Weber county.

Mr. Parker and Mr. McDermith were employed by the Utah Water Storage association last summer to gather data relative to the irrigation situation in this and other parts of the state. It is a statement of the results of their investigations that will be given this afternoon at the meeting.

ROD AND GUN CLUB TO GIVE NAME TO GAME SANCTUARY

The Weber County Rod and Gun association will hold a postponed meeting at the county court house Friday evening, February 13, at 8 o'clock. One of the purposes of the meeting is to select a name for the game sanctuary recently selected. The selection of this sanctuary has had the approval of the state fish and game commission.

It is the aim of the association to enroll more than 1,000 members, to include all the sportsmen of the city and county and all others who are interested in the promotion of a sanctuary for the wild game and birds of this district. Signs are to be placed at the boundaries of the sanctuary and assurances have been received from the state authorities that rigid prosecution will follow a disregard of these signs.

The sanctuary is to be closed this spring for an indefinite period. However, it is not the intention of the association to close this district for fishing. Ogden river will still be open to the river. Further, it is stated that steps will immediately be taken to restock Ogden river and make it even better for fishing than it has been in the past. Everything that will better sports in this district is to be undertaken by the association, it is stated.

Summit county, one of the best wild game counties in the state has organized a similar association and much good work for the betterment of game conditions has already been done there, it is stated.

DOUGLAS MAC LEAN COMING

The Boy Who Made Such a Tremendous Hit in 23 1/2 Hours' Leave Comes to the Alhambra Friday and Saturday with Dorothy Dalton in the "Home Breaker."

Dorothy Dalton, the beautiful star in a traveling saleswoman in her latest photoplay vehicle, "The Home Breaker." This delightful story affords Miss Dalton abundant opportunity for effective work, which will in all probability, enhance her fame.

Mary Marbury is a traveling saleswoman who has learned to take care of herself in any and all circumstances. In the words of a fellow salesman, Mary is "the squarest sport, the best fellow and the niftiest saleswoman that ever spent half her life in bum hotels and the other half catching summer railroad trains."

One day, two crayon portrait crooks board the same train as Mary. While going through a tunnel the male crook tries to force his attention upon an innocent country girl and receives his just deserts at Mary's hands. Mary proceeds on her trip as representative of Abbott & Son of New York. The crooks proceed to New York, where the man assumes the name of Fernando Boyntier and establishes a new school of so-called art, his female companion, Marcia, passing as his sister.

Here they meet Raymond Abbott, junior partner of the firm of Abbott & Son, and his sister Lois. Both become infatuated with their new found friends, so much so that Raymond shamefully neglects his business, much to the disgust of his father, Jonas Abbott. When Mary returns from her trans-continental trip, she is disappointed with the coldness of young Abbott whom rumor said she was about to marry.

Jonas Abbott complains bitterly to her of Raymond's shortcomings. He is no longer satisfied with home, and he and his sister demand nothing, but bright lights and gaiety. Nor is this his only objection—he fears that one or both of his children may be inveigled into a marriage as a result of their association with the artists, who, in the bottom of his heart, he feels are wrong.

Mary suggests that the best way to cure frivolity is to give the victim an overdose of it, and she suggests that he open his home and go in for a little high life himself as his mentor. He agrees to this and despite his years, stars in for the gay life.

When Mary meets the alleged artists, the faces seem familiar, but she cannot place them. During the season of outdoor sports, dances, etc., Mary almost exhausts the elder Abbott, but she succeeds in unmasking the artists as crooks who were about to rob Abbott, as well as steal his daughter.

The veil of delusion is lifted from young Abbott's eyes; and he realizes that it is the clever saleswoman he loves, and he asks her forgiveness, while the elder Abbott, alone upstairs in his room, bathes his feet in a hot mustard bath and swears, "Never Again."

WOMAN ACCUSED OF STRIKING GIRL IS FOUND GUILTY

Mrs. Jane Doe Spooner, charged with battery on the person of Clara Watkins, was found guilty in the city court this morning and fined $5. The complaining witness, Miss Watkins, was an operator of an elevator in the Eccles building at the time the alleged battery was committed. She was struck in the face with sufficient force to blacken her eye, so witnesses testified.

Mrs. Spooner stated that the Watkins girl struck her with her elbow and that she "pushed" the girl away. Miss Watkins denied this, stating that she could not have shoved the defendant, on account of the position she was standing in at the time the alleged battery was committed.

Mrs. Spooner was very positive she struck no blow, although she admitted having shoved the girl away.

Testimony of other witnesses was to the effect that Miss Watkins' face was bruised and her eye blackened. It was also brought out that the black eyes could not have been received by striking the side of the car, as the eye that was hurt was on the side opposite from the side of the elevator.

Judge Roberts in finding the defendant guilty, stated that a quarrel between women was one of the disagreeable duties he was called on to preside over. He censured the operator for apparent carelessness in carrying the woman past her floor several times, and stated it was sufficient provocation for exasperation on the part of Mrs. Spooner, but was not sufficient to cause the blow witnesses said was struck.

For that reason, he stated, he would impose a light fine.

300 COPPER MINERS STRIKE TO ENFORCE PAY DEMANDS

Approximately 300 copper miners affiliated with Metal Mine Workers' Union No. 800, Industrial Workers of the World, employed in the Bingham mines, struck early today to enforce their demands for wage increases and betterment of working conditions, according to Associated Press dispatch from Bingham.

Elaborate preparations were made last night by the sheriff's office at Salt Lake to prevent violence in connection with the miners' strike threatened today in the Bingham copper district.

Five regular deputies were dispatched for the scene at 11 o'clock. They are Arthur Wallace, William Cayias, Joseph Turnbull, George Vine and D. R. Perkins.

Between twenty and twenty-six former service men will be sent from Salt Lake at 6:55 this morning, reaching Bingham in time to guard the public works, railroad bridges and trestles near the camps, it was announced, at the sheriff's office. The men were sworn in as special deputies last night. Requests for this aid came from the largest operator in the Bingham district, the Utah Copper company.

The big operators in the district were noncommittal yesterday regarding their attitude toward the miners' demands, but it was apparent they would not attempt conciliation in an effort to avert a general strike. The operators were firm in their statements that copper producers are making no money, and it would be more economical for the companies to close down than to grant increase in pay.

BOYS SUITS

Mother!! Here's News

—down in New York, our buyer run across two hundred boys suits. He bought them much under price.

—there's a reason of course. They are what we call factory "seconds." That is to say there is some slight imperfection in the making that you'll have a hard time to find—as we have.

—just as good in every respect, as far as we can see, as the first water article.

—they go on sale tomorrow in the Downstairs Store—blue serges—mixtures—all good styles and all size, worth a half more than these prices.
