

If You Are Moody, Find Out Why!

To feel "blue", cross and nervous all the time is not natural for anyone. And all too often sick kidneys are to blame for this unhappy state.

Housework, the many family cares and loss of rest and sleep, wear the nerves and so weaken the kidneys. Then comes that tired, fretful, half-sick condition.

Many nervous, unstrung women who suffer backache, headache, dizziness, and kidney irregularities would be well if the kidneys were well. Doan's Kidney Pills have brought health and happiness to thousands of women. Read these cases.

These Ogden Women Speak:

Mrs. Wm. Atkinson, 165 30th St., says: "When I roned, sharp pains would catch me in the small of my back. Often I would have to sit down until the pains eased up a little. My kidneys acted irregularly and my hands and feet blistered. I had terrible pains in the top of my head, too. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in Doan's Directory. I used a box of Doan's from Curley's Drug Store. They cured me of the backache, headaches, and removed all other signs of kidney disorder."

Mrs. Chas. Adam, 2717 Quincy Ave., says: "Overwork has been responsible for the misery I suffered with my kidneys. I had a dull aching across my back all the time. When bending over or lifting anything sharp pains caught me across my back and I became very weak. My kidneys acted irregularly, too. I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills as I had known of the good work they had done for others. Five boxes cured me and I certainly shall praise them whenever I can."

LOVE and MARRIED LIFE by the noted author Idah McGlone Gibson

ALICE INTERRUPTS.
How long John and I sat together in the big armchair I don't know. We spoke little, each thinking, I'm sure, of the events of the past, and each wondering inwardly that the future would be one of harmony and happiness. If we could have known what lay ahead how rudely our dreams would have been shattered.

At last I became quite calm, and just as I was gently floating off into what might have been a healing sleep, Alice hustled in.
"Oh, you here," she said, looking at John belligerently. "I hunted all over town for you this morning. Mother said you had not been home for three or four days and that she was quite certain that you had received the telegram about Katherine's mother."

her room."
"And let her fill you up with what she thinks are my sins of commission and omission. I rather guess not. I've got you now and I'm going to keep you."
"Don't, please don't, John; I can't bear it."
John straightened himself and took his arms from about me.

Calls Gossip Untrue.
"I don't mean to do anything to hurt you," he said, "but I am not going to let anyone tell you a lot of gossip that is utterly untrue, even if she is my own sister."
"I do not intend to tell Katherine anything except when you are present. This matter must be cleared upon and I am somewhat selfish in talking to you about it now, but it is impossible for me to live in the same city with you when Katherine is away."
Wearily I left the room alone and plodded over to Helen's suite. There as I opened the door the fragrance of those white violets met me again. They were so pure, so white, so unobtrusive, so comforting. I buried my face in a great basket of them and I think I should have wept had not my tears been tried with the convulsion of grief that had just been mine.

arms and you felt the strength of his physical nearness. You know that John always can win you over if he can be with you, but you know his love for you is utterly selfish and this other love is different. Yes, you might as well own it up to yourself—nothing but love could have been as unobtrusively sympathetic as Karl Shepard during the last year.

As if to confirm what I had been thinking Helen came in and said, "Karl Shepard made a trip down here and left these flowers."

Tomorrow—Can a Woman Love Two Men?

STOUT WOMEN

Don't wear a skirt with drapery of long fringe.
Don't wear kimono sleeves—especially the short kimono sleeves that are very much in fashion. They tend to make the arms look short.

Don't wear small high heels. A high heel is well enough if it is of the military sort, for then it seems as if you were having adequate support for your weight.

Don't imagine that black satin is always your best selection. The gloss about it sometimes accentuates the curves of the wearer. A dark silk with less gloss, such as a crepe de chine or a pussy willow taffeta, is a better selection. Duvelyn with its extremely soft, flat surface is a material that may be safely worn by the stout woman.

Don't think that the uncorseted effect in clothes was ever intended for you, even if you are only moderately plump. Well corseted, you will look graceful and attractive in spite of the fact that you are above the normal weight. But without corsets your figure will look sloppy and untidy.

NOTES FROM PARIS

Never was the young girl so well served by Dame Fashion as at present, when the countless variations of picture styles make it possible for the plain girl to look quaintly attractive, and for the pretty girl to bloom as a beauty.

Unless the girl is rich enough to discard a frock after it has been worn a few times, she should avoid the fluffly picturesque styles—the petal skirts in tulle, or the gowns with floating draperies of chiffon. The plain styles are not only more serviceable, but are smarter and a clever worker could successfully make them herself.

Home dressmakers, too, often try to economize by buying cheap material, whereas they should get the best, especially now that so little is required.

The material par excellence is the new corded taffetas, a kind of chiffon faille, or a heavy charmeuse. Crepe de chine is too limp for present styles, and metallic tissues should be avoided for young girls, though a little silver lace or net may be introduced with good effect.

Orchid and Primrose.
Young girls are no longer restricted to white or insipid pale blues or pinks, but may choose from a wide range of shades which are soft, yet vivid enough to have character.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Doesn't hurt a bit! Sore corns lift right off with fingers.

Magic!

Costs few cents! Drop a little Freezone on that touchy corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right off with the fingers.

Why wait? Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of Freezone for a few cents, sufficient to rid your feet of every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and calluses, without soreness or irritation. Freezone is the much talked-of discovery of the Cincinnati genius.—Advertisement.

CLEAN TAN SHOES

A raw white potato cut in halves and peeled is excellent. Rub the potato, which must be freshly cut, well into the leather, leaving no part untouched. Let this dry on, then polish with a cloth with a light, quick motion. A little turpentine on a flannel cloth is also a good cleanser for tan leather, while several drops of lemon or orange juice give a brilliant polish to any leather. Olive oil, with a brisk after polish, is used on patent leather.

TO CLEAN GOLD BRAID

Gold braid and other gilt trimmings may be freshened by sifting over them a mixture of powdered bluing and bread crumbs. After sifting it over the braid take a piece of old flannel and rub gently, yet firmly. Then brush out all the crumbs and rub with a piece of velvet, a bit of an old colored velvet will do. This method will also clean gold lace.

In commenting on Dr. Wiley's proposal to again make food the standard of value, the Cleveland Plain Dealer offers this declamatory system:
Ten beans one turnip.
Ten turnip one spud.
Ten spuds one cabbage.
Ten cabbages one egg.
Ten eggs—
But this is as far as the ordinary person could go.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

NORMA TALMADGE AT ORPHEUM LAST TIME

On the Bowery, that region in lower New York famed in legend and song is where Miss Norma Talmadge starts her screen story in "A Daughter of Two Worlds," which will be the attraction last time today at the Orpheum theater. When the picture opens she is openly the daughter of the notorious "Black" Jerry Malone, keeper of one of the worst resorts on the Bowery. She becomes a favorite of society, and then before the story closes she is once more on the Bowery where her happiness comes to her from the upper world which she has willingly forsaken to save the life of a youthful friend.

bring quick relief and often ward off deadly diseases. Known as the national remedy of Holland for more than 200 years. All druggists, in three sizes. Look for the name Gold Medal on every box and accept no imitation.

Juniper Point Choice Spot for Wilson Home

WOODS HOLE, Mass., March 30.—Residents here, when informed President Wilson was to spend the summer at Juniper Point, the home of Charles R. Crane, said that the grand stand point of seclusion and picturesqueness he could not have made a better choice. The 150-acre estate covers the entire point, which is the southwest tip of Cape Cod. A Japanese garden is a feature. There are artificial ponds and tennis courts together with a private pier and a small beach.

Mr. Crane's "cottages" contains twenty rooms. On the estate are two other houses. One has been occupied for three summers by Secretary Houston of the treasury department.

The Quick Way to Stop a Cough

This home-made syrup does the work in a hurry. Easily prepared, and saves about 2¢.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

LITTLE BENNY'S Note Book

By LEE PAPE

Yesterday afternoon I was in the setting room playing I was a telegrapher making telegraph noises by hitting pops pipe against the table, and suddenly all of a sudden something cracked, being pops pipe, me setting there looking at the 2 peeces and thinking, Gosh, G. gosh. And I started to put the 2 peeces under the bookcase and then I thart. No, that mite look ota much as if I was trying to hide them. So I jest left them on the table and put a book on top of them, and after supper I was out in the street playing and pop came to the front door, calling, Benny, come heer.

Gimminy winnickers, I wonder if he saw his pipe? I thart, and I went over, and pop sed, Benny, have you bin doing anything you awnted to do? Me thinking, I wouldnt be serprised if he saw the pipe, all rite. And I sed, Wy, pop, wy?

Don't you know sed pop.
Sir? I sed, Thinking, Gosh, G. I bet he saw it.

Sir nothing, sed pop, have you bin up to eny mischiff, that wat I want to know?

Do you mean about me almost being late for skool this morning? I sed, and pop sed, I do not I mean something with no almost about it. Me thinking, G. he means the pipe all rite. And I sed, Do you mean about me axidently forgetting to brush my teeth last nite?

The doose with your teeth, I am referring to sumthing that I jest found on the setting room table with a book on top of it, sed pop, and I thart, G. I was rite all rite. Meaning about him meaning the pipe, and I sed, O, by the way, pop, I forgot to tell you. Do you know that pipe of yours with the yello end to smook throo? Well I was doing telegraph signals with it in case I mite want to be a telegrapher some day, and wat do you think axidently happened, pop?

Come in heer, sed pop. Proving he knew without saying, and I went in and pop gave me 3 smacks some place and made me stay in.

COULD NOT BEGIN TO TELL ALL
"I could not tell you all the benefits I had from the use of Foley's Honey and Tar," writes Miss Rose Florke, 208 Hawkins ave., N. Braddock, Pa., "I had a cold in my chest and fearing it would cause pneumonia I tried Foley's Honey and Tar and it was not long till I felt relieved. I hope others suffering from severe colds will try it."

Rippling Rhymes

By WALT MASON.

BREVITY.

If you desire to make a hit it's well to bear in mind that brevity's the soul of wit, the wisest scheme you'll find. Long winded men are always shunned, they fill our souls with care, although they may possess a fund of knowledge rich and rare. We all detest the dreary chump who tells a rambling tale, so long it reaches from the dump clear to the county jail. We all are bored by dizzy birds who know not when to stop, who pile up endless words on words, and other words on top. How comforting the silent gent, who makes a brief retort, who's always said just what he meant, and cut the saying short! The words he pushes through his face are chosen as the best; for brevity's the soul of grace and sense and all the rest. The man who lectures for an hour will make his hearers mad; he'll see the faces turning sour that at the start were glad. Ten minutes are enough, I wot for my speaker's junk; for nearly all we say is rot; the rest is mostly bunk.

ABSENT WILLIE WISE.

This is the tale of Willie Wise, who pompadoured his hair. At kelly pool, beyond a doubt, he certainly was there. He knew the latest dancing steps; at bridge he was a shark. He wasn't very much by day, but a wonder after dark. It mattered very little what the function or affair. Of Willie Wise it could be said, he certainly was there.

He was there with all the line of talk that fills the idle hours. At posing in the limelight's glare he had unusual powers. He wore the latest things in clothes and fell for funny hats. He had a watch upon his wrist and dressed his feet in spats. He was perfection all the time; he wore silk underwear. In dress and manner, I should say, he certainly was there.

You could depend on Willie Wise—he'd tell you so himself. In matters social no one here would leave him on the shelf. He knew convention's rules and laws from A to Z, and then he had some little clever tricks unknown to many men.

At tea or dinner, opera, show or church bazaar or fair, He'd shine among the shiniest, for he was surely there! But when it came to honest toil and
