BRIGHAM CITY LINE FINISHED

Last Rail Laid and Trolley Wire in Place and All is Ready For the Opening Day, Except the Stringing of the Feed Wire.

The last rail of the electric line between Ogden and Brigham City was spiked in place yesterday, and within a week regular service will be in operation between the two cities. The long-delayed consignment of copper feed wire has arrived, and there is nothing now to prevent the workmen from completing the equipment of the road within a few days.

Since Monday, the Hot Springs cars have been connecting with the cars running to Perry. Perry is within three miles of Brigham and the road is complete to this point. Between Perry and Peach City the feed wire must be stretched, but the trolley wire has been put in place. Tomorrow will see the last of the ballasting completed, and it is expected that the feed wire will be stretched by Tuesday night.

An hourly schedule will be adopted between Ogden and Brigham, as it will be possible to run the cars between the two points in about fifty minutes, if necessary. At present it requires one hour and fifteen minutes to make the run to Perry, but this is because of connections at Hot Springs.

Superintendent Bailey states that the Plain City road has been electrified as far west and north as the Oregon Short Line track, at Harrisville, and that one mile of the grade for the extension of the road to Hot Springs has been built. The present route by way of Pleasant View will not be abandoned, but will be operated as a local part of the city car system.

The city fathers and mayor of Brigham are planning a big reception and feast for the formal opening of the road to a regular schedule service, which will occur October 15, at which the mayor and city officials of Ogden are to be the invited guests. This is to be a love feast of great importance and one that will mark an epoch in the opening of new transportation facilities between the two cities.

MORE SALES OF SHEEP IN OGDEN

Chairman Herrington of the International Sheep Show and sale states that there will be another sale of blooded sheep at the Fair grounds some time in November, and that the leading breeders have gone east to get sheep for the sale.

George McKerrow & Sons of Wisconsin and the Rawlins Brothers of Canada are in the city today, but they expect to leave soon for their breeding farms to bring back more sheep for sale.

OYSTERS=OYSTERS

We want to announce at this time that we have just received our first shipment of oysters for the season. They come to us direct from Baltimore, Baltimore oysters, you know, are noted for their fine flavor the world over. We receive them four times a week in sealed cans packed in ice. The ice never touches the oyster from the time it leaves the shell until you get it. When we sell oysters we sell oysters only, and not part water and a few oysters.

SIDEWALK DAMAGE CASE

This morning Judge Howell excused Jurymen, who are not sitting in the case on trial, until next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

The trial of the damage case of Fred Halverson against the city was resumed and a statement was made by the attorneys for the city that the case would likely take up the time of the court and the jury the greater portion of the day.

The matter of damages seems to hinge upon the question as to whether the building of a high sidewalk in front of a piece of property damages or improves the property.

Real estate men are being used as witnesses in the case, some of them claiming that the property is damaged by virtue of the sidewalk improvement, and others maintaining that it has enhanced the value.

J. J. Brummit was placed on the witness stand this morning for the city and he stated that he considered that the sidewalk building in front of the Halverson property had enhanced its value, and that the place as it now stands is worth as much money as it was before the sidewalk was built. He further said that if $150 were spent in placing the lot and the house at grade with the sidewalk the place would be worth $1,000 more than before the sidewalk was built. So, that, the net gain by reason of the city improvement to the property, would be $850. Mr. Halverson wants $1,200 damages.

Carl Rasmussen, testifying for the city, also claims that the property has not been damaged because of the sidewalk, but H. H. Goddard, Moroni Skeen and other real estate men claim that because of the grade of the walk is so much higher, the property has been depreciated in value, they placing the depreciation at from $500 to $1,000.

The court being otherwise occupied, the trial of the case of the Utah Light & Railway company against the Glenwood Park company, set for hearing today, was set to follow the trial of the case of Sarah M. Taylor against the First National Bank of this city.

By agreement of the parties concerned, the following cases were continued for the term:

Norman H. Ives vs. Ralph Grange, et al.

Mary Sherwood vs. Frank Brown, et al.

Volker-Scowcroft Lumber Co. vs. Mary Flinders Vance.

Jesse S. Richards vs. Oregon Short Line Ry. Co.

BILLY CLIFFORD

Billy (Single) Clifford, the popular young comedian who comes to the Ogden theatre on Sunday night will offer for the first time in Ogden a sprightly new farce with music called "The Girl, the Man and the Game." This piece is described as a musical fantasy in two acts. It has a bright farcical foundation, in which there are all sorts of ludicrous situations. The fun is fast and furious throughout, and the chief role gives Mr. Clifford abundant opportunity for his best style of fun-making. There are numerous musical interludes that add greatly to the effectiveness of the piece. Mr. Clifford is surrounded by a metropolitan company, and the piece is offered in a bright and elaborate production. Seats 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Willard Night at the Orpheum Tonight

Positively the greatest fun show and laugh producer that has ever been shown in Ogden. A show that will tickle the pleasure seeking citizens of Willard, and turn them away feeling that a night at the Orpheum in Ogden is one of the joys of living.

REPRIMAND FOR YARD OFFICER

A railroad yard officer was severely criticised in police court this morning by Judge J. D. Murphy and three men, whom the officer had arrested for trespassing, were given their liberty with a kindly word from the bench.

The prisoners were T. H. Jordan, J. W. Case and W. M. Diven. They were placed under arrest by a railroad officer who found them in the yard office late yesterday afternoon. The men spent last night in the city prison and were booked as trespassers when they faced the judge this morning. The general appearance of the men was in their favor as their faces showed none of the signs of dissipation or viciousness commonly seen in police court. Their clothing distinguished them as railroad workmen.

Each of them told of having come to Ogden to obtain work, as they had heard that men were needed in the railroad yards. Organization cards and letters of recommendation which they displayed proved that they were men who had long been engaged in railroad work. They had gone to the yard office and met the yard boss who had told them to remain in the office until he returned, when he would consider their application for jobs. It was while they were thus waiting that they were placed under arrest.

Their testimony was substantiated by a telephone message received by Jailer H. Anderson from the yard boss.

Judge Murphy, angered by the action of the officer in arresting the men stated that he could not consider them as trespassers and said it was a shame that they should have been arrested on such a charge. The officer asked that the men be held until the yard boss could be brought into court, but the indignant judge refused to hold the men another minute as prisoners and they left the court room.

"Had dyspepsia or indigestion for years. No appetite and what I did eat distressed me terribly. Burdock Blood Bitters cured me."—J. H. Walker, Sunbury, Ohio.

PAVING AND BUILDING ACTIVITY

The foreman of the concrete workers on Washington avenue says the west side of the avenue, between the Ogden river bridge and Twenty-second street, will be completed by Saturday noon, and that the force of men and teams will then be placed on the east side.

The asphalt plant will be put in operation within a week's time. It is anticipated that the paving of Washington avenue and Hudson avenue will be completed by the middle of November.

The finishing work on the new Lyceum, at the corner of Grant avenue and Twenty-fifth street, is progressing, the builder stating that the place can be used in about two weeks.

The heavy timber piers for the second floor of the Marion hotel, at the corner of Lincoln avenue and Twenty-fifth street, are being placed. The bricklayers will be delayed in their work until the stringers for the second floor are in place.

FENCING THE FREIGHT DEPOT

The steel for the roof of the new Harriman depot, so long delayed in its arrival, reached Ogden yesterday, and a small force of men were put to work this morning in finishing the top of the building. The steel necessary for the large doors in the loading department has not yet made its appearance.

Workmen have now started the building of a fence, which will extend from the depot annex to Twenty-second street, inclosing the greater part of the freight yards. The fence will be about eight feet in height and will be completed within ten days.

TOURED EUROPE FOR FOUR MONTHS

J. Van De Graff, clerk in the freight department of the Harriman system, has just returned from a four-months' trip abroad.

Mr. Van De Graff left here in the early summer and sailed to Liverpool from New York city. After visiting many of the points of historical interest on the British Isles, he took steamer to Brussels, Belgium, where the world's exposition was in progress. While there he witnessed the great fire which swept the "midway" of the fair and destroyed a number of the exhibition buildings.

From Belgium the young man went to Berlin, and, after a few days' sojourn in the German capital, traveled into France and spent some time in Paris. He did some mountain climbing in Switzerland and viewed Mont Blanc, but did not go down into Italy.

Mr. Van De Graff again touched England on his return. He brought with him a number of souvenirs of the trip, which he distributed among the members of the office force in the freight depot.

LIQUOR SOLD DAY'S GRIEF TO YOUNG FELLOWS IN POLICE COURT

Juvenile Judge V. C. Gunnell says there appears to be an increasing number of minors obtaining intoxicating liquor in Ogden saloons and he expects to take steps to stop the evil.

The judge does not blame the police officers for the laxity of this feature of saloon regulation, but says it is the saloon keepers themselves who are to blame and their carelessness in the matter may lead to the adoption of more stringent ordinances and a more rigid enforcement of the present ones.

John Parrish, aged 20 years, arrested as a tout, at the Fair Grounds a few days ago and charged with vagrancy, was given a hearing in police court this morning and, for lack of evidence to prove that he had committed any misdemeanor, was acquitted by the judge. The young man produced a horse-owner who swore that he was in his employ and helped in taking care of horses.

W. J. McLamyre, arrested at the Union depot, entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of disturbing the peace and his case was continued. The prisoner's bond was fixed at $10. McLamyre admitted that he had been "awfully" drunk and his face showed plainly that he had been in either a fight or a train wreck.

countenance, denied that he was a vagrant. He merely had been on an extended jag—or "still" as it is technically called—and had run out of funds. To replenish his depleted treasury, he had asked a number of persons on the street for small loans and for this offense he had been arrested.

Judge Murphy gave the man eight days straight as a sobering potion. Frank Arnold and Harry Patterson pleaded guilty to the charge of vagrancy and were each given a fine of $10 or ten days. They chose the ten days.

Dot Moore, a female dope fiend, told the judge that she would leave the city if he would let her go. The young woman was charged with vagrancy and was in a nervous condition as the result of drink and dope. She was given a fine of $10 or ten days.

Tom Lawson admitted that he had been unlawfully drunk and was fined $5 or five days.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 6.—Rain caused the postponement of today's meeting of the Kentucky Horse Breeders' association. Today's races, including the Transylvania stakes, will be contested, weather and track conditions permitting, and the meeting will last one day longer than originally scheduled.
