FORESTS OF AMERICA MUST BE CONSERVED

Washington, Dec. 12.—That the United States should introduce rational forest management and that the forest land should be surveyed and classified by the government, is the opinion of Raphael Zon, chief of the office of silvics, of the forest service, after reviewing the forest resources of the world.

Though the present wooded land in the United States is estimated at 545,000,000 acres, much of this is inevitably destined to be cleared for agriculture. The area so situated as to be permanent forest land is about 450,000,000 acres, of which 100,000,000 will consist of farm wood lots. In the inevitable increase in wood consumption, following increase in population and growth of industries, will thus have to be supplied from a diminished forest area.

"Therefore," says Mr. Zon, "the only solution of the problem of a wood supply is to begin now to prepare for making a diminished forest area supply for increased population."

In forest area, the United States is second to Russia, European and Asiatic, Canada ranks third. The forests of the United States, according to ownership, may be divided as follows: National forests, 100,000,000 acres of productive forest area, or 18.35 per cent; state forests, 37,000,000 or 6.55 per cent; private and unreserved public forests (unclassified), 442,000,000 acres, or 81.1 per cent.

ROCKEFELLER HAS A NARROW ESCAPE

New York, Dec. 12.—John D. Rockefeller narrowly escaped being "it on the cad with a 'ose" yesterday on his way to the Fifth avenue Baptist church. The story of his escape is told by a traffic policeman, who was on duty nearby. The man who saved Mr. Rockefeller from disaster is an Englishman who is employed by a contracting firm on the Fifth avenue building just above the church.

The Englishman was superintending the lowering of a fifty foot fire hose from the roof of the building when Mr. Rockefeller came walking briskly down the avenue. The hose was lined with ice and frozen solid. A workman on the roof was gradually lowering it. Mr. Rockefeller looked up and moved quickly.

"Urry up, mister," said the Englishman from the curb. "The 'ose ray drop any minute and we don't want it to 'it anybody on the 'ead."

Just after Mr. Rockefeller had passed, the hose fell on the sidewalk with a heavy thud.

When the Englishman was told that it was Mr. Rockefeller who had just passed, he was considerably surprised.

"What that Rockefeller—the man with the 'igh 'at' be inquired. "Well, I'm glad 'e got by before this 'ose dropped."

WINE CROP OF EUROPE IS SHORT

Washington, Dec. 12.—Temperance advocates will receive support from an outlook for quarter this winter as the European wine production has not been more than half the average yield, according to consular reports.

Not in one hundred years has there been such failure in Europe. Lack of sunshine during the spring and early summer, coupled with the excessive humidity throughout the season, which engendered various forms of insect life, blighting the grapes and destroying the harvest, are the causes for the season's failure. This was especially true in the more northern wine producing districts of Europe, including France, Germany, Switzerland and portions of Italy.

The failure of the grape crop is little short of a national misfortune to France, which is not only the largest producer, but the largest consumer, the annual consumption being reckoned at 100 million gallons. It affects not only the wine and small manufacturers, but a great many people dependent upon the industry.

CLEVER ARREST OF TWO ZION DOCTORS

SALT LAKE, Dec. 11.—Caught in the act of performing a criminal operation upon a young woman, Drs. Joseph H. Robinson and Robert R. Brownfield, promoters of the German-American hospital in South Main street, and who have offices over the Luna theatre in East Third South street, were arrested at noon yesterday by Deputy Sheriffs B. H. Seager and Andrew Smith, Jr.

The arrest was brought about through the efforts of the state board of medical examiners, who had held Dr. Robinson and Brownfield under suspicion for a long period. Members of the board had obtained information that the operation was to take place, and in one of the cleverest arrests made in months the deputy sheriffs gathered perpetrators and evidence as well, taking the physicians to the county jail.

Immediately after their arrest Dr. Robinson and Brownfield summoned J. E. Darner and Harry J. Robinson as their counsel. In the presence of Assistant County Attorney John Jensen and the young woman upon whom the operation is alleged to have been performed, they engaged in a long consultation. Bail was fixed at 5,000 each, and at 5:30 o'clock the physicians obtained bonds for their release. Bondsmen for Brownfield are John H. Meredith and J. A. Falsett, and for Robinson, A. W. Knudson and J. A. Falsett.

Stop Criminal Operations.

Dr. J. Clarence Smullyan, representing the state board of medical examiners, stated last night that the crusade upon physicians indulging in criminal practice was begun at one of its recent meetings. Drs. Brownfield and Robinson and numerous others have been held under suspicion. The arrest of Brownfield and Robinson is but the beginning of the crusade.

The suspicion began to hang heavily over the two proprietors of the German-American hospital through numerous mysterious cases, and the clew leading to yesterday's arrest is a clear demonstration of the ease with which criminal practitioners may be caught.

According to advices of the deputy sheriffs and representatives of the state medical board, it became known some hours previous to the criminal operation that the young woman was to have an audience with Drs. Robinson and Brownfield. A trained nurse accompanied the young woman. The nurse represented herself as a sister of the girl who was in an uncomfortable predicament.

Entering the Luna theatre building at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, the young woman and the nurse went into the offices of Drs. Robinson and Brownfield. Simultaneously Deputy Sheriffs Seager and Smith took a position directly across the street from the office where they had a clear view into the windows. Both observed the young woman as she was placed on an operating table. Then they saw Dr. Robinson walk toward the partially opened window and close it. They saw other actions of the physicians during the operation.

Freitag Club.

Mrs. G. H. Bashnell was hostess to the Freitag club at its last meeting. LINDSTROM INSURANCE COMPANY ASKS FOR $5,000 WINS

The personal injury case of John Lindstrom against the Diamond Coal & Coke company of Evanston, Wyo., is being heard by a jury in the district court today.

The complaint alleges that the plaintiff, while in the employ of the defendant company, working in their Wyoming coal mines at Oakley, was injured by a falling rock. His legs and feet were badly injured, the complaint avers, and the plaintiff claims damages in the sum of $5,000.

The plaintiff claims that the accident was due entirely to the carelessness and negligence of the defendant company in the operation of its mines, but the defendant states in the answer that the injury was caused by the contributory negligence of the plaintiff.

The plaintiff brought the action to recover on three promissory notes given by the defendant in payment of an annual premium on a policy of insurance, which notes the defendant refused to pay on the grounds that he was under age when he signed the notes and that there was no consideration stated in the instruments, also making a counter-claim for the sum of $71.19 paid plaintiff in premiums.

The court holds that because the defendant held the policies issued to him until the time of the beginning of the suit, when they were delivered to his attorney, who in turn lost them, waived his right of release from contract because of his youth, and it is also held that due consideration was shown on the face of at least one of the notes.

IN POLICE COURT

Legally a Jamaica ginger jag is no different from the commoner forms of intoxication. This was the contention of Judge J. D. Murphy in his assessor David McParlan $5, the regular fine for unlawful drunkenness. McParlan, when arrested last night, explained to the police that he had not secured drinks in any saloon during the day, but had become drunk from imbibing Jamaica ginger extract.

J. Davis and Jack Higgins pleaded guilty to having been drunk and were fined $5 each.

The case against John Malan, who was charged with assaulting John McKnight, on November 15, was dismissed as the prosecuting witness was not present. The Malan case has been continued several times.

John Stone, who was arrested for being drunk Saturday night, did not appear for trial and forfeited a bond of $5. A bond of $5 was also forfeited by J. L. Keller, who was arrested by Officer William Beest for riding a bicycle on the sidewalk.

Ed Fitzsimmons, formerly a watchman employed at the Harriman yards, was fined $10 for carrying concealed weapons. Fitzsimmons is said to have been discharged from the employ of the railroads about two months ago. Last night the ex-watchman appeared at the police station in company with James A. Jorgensen, a watchman still in the employ of the railroads, and these two men had arrested a third man. According to the city officials, all three of the men had been drinking. Fitzsimmons claimed that he was still in the employ of the railroad, but had no badge. When it was found that he was not an officer, yet still carried with him a gun, he was locked up.

LORIMER IS EXONERATED

Senate Committee Reports Charge Had Not Been Proved

Washington, Dec. 12.—The subcommittee of the senate committee on privileges and elections, which investigated charges against Senator Lorimer, today voted unanimously to report to the full committee that the charges had not been proved.

Judge Howell has prepared a memorandum of his decision in the case of the Bankers' Reserve Life company against Edward H. De Lamater, the decision being in favor of the plaintiff company.

The plaintiff brought the action to recover on three promissory notes given by the defendant in payment of an annual premium on a policy of insurance, which notes the defendant refused to pay on the grounds that he was under age when he signed the notes and that there was no consideration stated in the instruments, also making a counter-claim for the sum of $71.19 paid plaintiff in premiums.

INVENTOR IS RAILROAD EMPLOYEE

Going one better than any previous inventor of a combination pocket tool, J. A. Browning, residing at 2117 Jefferson avenue, has just received a patent on a vest pocket contrivance that can be used in nearly a dozen different ways.

First of all, the new device is a keyring and name plate. It is a finger nail cutter and a can opener; also a corkscrew and a screwdriver.

The inventor claims that it is an excellent device for opening cigar boxes and for taking the tin top or cork from a beer bottle. In part it is made especially for this service. There is a pair of tweezers in connection with the device and a finger nail file. These are all the immediate purposes for which the article is made, but if the owner of one of them were camping there are a thousand or so other purposes to which the device might be put.

The tool may be carried in the vest pocket or in any pocket where one is accustomed to carrying a keyring. All its so snugly together that there is nothing about it to tear one's pockets or to become awkward in the carrying.

Mr. Browning states that the article can be manufactured to retail at about 35 cents, and he expects to place it upon the market as soon as possible.

The inventor is a nephew of John Browning, the well known firearm inventor, and is employed as a brakeman on the Southern Pacific railroad. In addition to the combination tool, Mr. Browning has two other inventions upon which patents are now pending. One of these is an automatic safety device for railroads, and the other a new water motor.

MONEY IS NEEDED TO EXTEND WORK

SALT LAKE, Dec. 11.—The Utah Archaeological society will go before the coming legislature with a request that an appropriation be made for the extension of work among the ruins of the prehistoric people a leaving. It is the preservation of the cliff dwellings and pueblos. The legislature appropriated some money two years ago and this was consumed in the exhaustive search among the ruins.

The result has been that the state museum has been given an impetus by the addition of scores of rare treasures taken from the ancient dwellings in the San Juan country.

Last night a meeting of the executive board of the society was held at the home of Bishop F. S. Spalding, at which time it was decided to call a meeting for the annual election of officers. The meeting will be held at the home of W. W. Ritter next Saturday night, and all members of the Utah branch of the American Institute of Archaeology are requested to be present.

TAMMANY HALL IS DESTROYED

New York, Dec. 12.—Tammany, the "wigwam" home of the famous political organization known as Tammany society, was partly destroyed by fire today. There was a fear of the blaze communicating to nearby buildings, including the old Academy of Music, the Olympic hall and the Central hotel.

The flames, however, were confined to the interior of Tammany hall itself. Torrents of water poured into the big structure and the greater part of the damage was caused by this deluge.

REPORT OF THE STATE SCHOOLS

The trustees of the two state institutions of this city are in session today considering the biennial reports of the secretaries and superintendents of the institutions. After hearing the reports the boards will submit them to Governor Spry, who will pass upon them Dec. 15, after which they will be made public in detail.

The reports will include recommendations from Superintendent Gowan of the Industrial school and Superintendent Driggs of the school for the deaf and blind regarding the appropriations needed for the institutions for the next two years.

Two years ago the appropriation for the Industrial school amounted to a little more than $100,000, and that for the deaf and blind to $70,000.

Chief Clerk Milne of the Industrial school states that there is no deficit, the appropriation of two years ago having been economized in such a way as to meet the needs of the institution, there being sufficient funds on hand at the present time to carry the school to the end of the year. The expenditures of the school this year have been something like $10,000 less than in past years, and it is expected that a greater appropriation than two years ago will not be asked for.

The school is reported to be in good condition, no corporal punishment having been inflicted during the regime of Superintendent Gowan, and all the runaways except three have been returned to the school.

The school work of the institution, including all forms of manual training, has been enlarged upon and a better course of instruction given. A strong effort is being made by the superintendent and assistants to minimize the penal odium placed upon the school and to advance the school to the standard of an industrial educational institution.

Superintendent Driggs of the school for the deaf and blind has nothing of a special nature to say of his school, but asserts that it has never been in better condition than now, and that never before in the history of the school has better progress been made in the instruction of the blind and deaf.

There are more students in the school now than ever before, but Mr. Driggs states that the expense of running the school has been no greater than heretofore. The $70,000 appropriation has been used to the best advantage, and like the other state school of Ogden, the deaf and blind school will report no deficit. The superintendent is of the opinion, however, that a greater appropriation will be needed for the next two years because of the increased population of the school and the enhanced cost of living.

PROSPERITY OF BANKERS

Philadelphia, Dec. 12.—Herbert Mason Clapp, wealthy club man of this city, is in a hospital with a bullet in his head and likely to die, and his wife is locked up charged with having shot him.

According to the police, the couple quarreled in their room at 3:30 this morning and Mrs. Clapp seized a heavy revolver and shot twice. One bullet crashed through the man's mouth, emerging near the left ear.

At first the family and its physicians attempted to conceal the facts, saying Clapp, who had been drinking and was suffering from nervousness, had accidentally inflicted the wound.

Clapp has had a career which has frequently brought him before the public. He is a grandson of Mason, the shoeblack king, and inherited much money from that source. Four years ago his wife divorced him in New York. Shortly after the divorce Clapp married Marie Leakell of this city.

TROOPS EQUAL TO THE FINEST

Washington, Dec. 12.—"I call attention to the marches and emergency work done by these troops as a refutation of any impression that may prevail that our troops are not in condition to meet the unusual conditions of hardship and deprivation," says General Bliss, commanding the military department of California, commenting upon the splendid services rendered by the coast artillery troops in fighting the forest fires in California last August and September.

The general had in mind the reports of the inspectors to the effect that American soldiers did not size up to the European standard in physical endurance.
