

MURDER IN THE FIRST DEGREE

Is Charged Against Lewis and O'Dell, the Alleged Train Robbers, in Warrants Issued This Afternoon—Where is the Man With the Suit Case—Peculiar Message Received From Gooding, Idaho.

Additional light is expected to be thrown on the Overland Limited train robbery and the connection with the men now held in the city prison, may have had with the crime by the arrest tonight of a man, of J. E. Palmer of Gooding, Idaho.

Just who Palmer is the police do not know, nor do they know the extent of evidence which he may bring against the suspects, William Lewis and Thomas O'Dell. All that they know is that he has been mentioned in a telegram signed by United States Marshal H. H. Rogers. This telegram, which was received by Chief of Police T. F. McLaughlin last night from Gooding, reads:

"I told those bunches of all means. You have the right parties. Good evidence on inside. The gang have been hanging about this place all summer. J. E. Palmer—evidence."

Who is Palmer.

The abrupt and uncertain ending of the message has caused the officers a great deal of futile speculation. It is generally believed, however, that Palmer is some minor officer, probably connected with the Gooding police, who is to bring the evidence against the men to Ogden. Telegrams have been sent to Gooding to elicit further information by wire concerning the suspects. Replies have been received to any of the queries sent to Gooding and the officers are waiting anxiously for the arrival of Palmer.

Some of the officers are of the opinion that the mysterious Hogg, the man believed to have carried the Overland loot out of Ogden in a suit case, may have gone to Idaho instead of to Butte and that the evidence held by the sender of the Gooding telegram may pertain in part to Hogg. The officers are still endeavoring to trace "the man with the suit case," but he is still eluding the most lynx-eyed search of the detectives of two states.

Warrants issued. Late this afternoon warrants were issued by County Attorney David Jensen, charging Lewis and O'Dell with murder in the first degree. No mention is made in the complaint of train robbery, the prime offense being that of killing William Davis, the colored porter, who accosted the bandits in the drawing car while they were sacking the Overland Limited on the night of January 2.

No complaints will be issued against Murphy and Shafer, but they will be held under bond as witnesses. As it is not likely that either of these men will be able to furnish bond they will be sent to the county jail to await the trial of the accused men. It is probable that Lewis and O'Dell will be arraigned in police court tomorrow morning.

Salooneer Objects. Wishing to correct the report which has been circulated that the men suspected of the Overland Limited train robbery had frequented the Central Bar and Old Mike Murphy's saloon on Twenty-fifth street and that their guns may be secreted at one of these places, Ed McGuire called at the Standard office today and emphatically denied the story. He stated that his place is open for inspection of the officers at all times and that none of the men arrested has ever left anything in his care.

JEALOUSY IS THE CAUSE

Leads to the Killing of a Photographer in Los Angeles

Long Beach, Cal., Jan. 17.—John Bowers, aged 43, a Los Angeles photographer, was shot and killed on his own door step here early today by Richard Ward, 23, an employe of Bowers.

Ward claims that Bowers wore a muffler about his face and that he believed him to be a burglar. Ward and Mrs. Bowers assert that Bowers left home yesterday, presumably to be gone three days, and that his return at an early hour today was due to jealousy and a desire to spy on his wife. Bowers wore a partial disguise and carried a revolver.

Bowers formerly lived in South Africa and in London. Mrs. Bowers and Ward have been friends since childhood. Ward came from London a few weeks ago to work for Bowers and lived with the Bowers family.
