The special will carry ten coaches. It starts from San Francisco, but will carry members of the order from various parts of the state.

HEAVY VOTE AND MANY TILTS

Today's election on the liquor question closed the most active campaign for votes that has ever been waged in Ogden and as a result of the agitation of both the regulation and prohibition forces it is believed that the largest vote ever cast in the city will be counted when the polls close at 7 o'clock tonight.

Never in the history of this community has the propaganda of any question been more widely and effectively spread than upon the issue which the voters are today deciding with their ballots. Scores of pamphlets have been written and distributed, the newspapers have been extensively used and orators in pulpits, upon platforms and street corners have thronged audiences with their arguments for and against prohibition.

During the past two weeks little else has been talked on the streets and meeting places of the city but the question of the "wets" and "drys."

While to both sides the question has been a vital one, having at least a more apparent import than most of the political contests of recent years, the campaign has been handled by both sides with but little vilification or personalities.

One young lady at the Armory became quite exasperated and broken hearted when the officer advised her that if she did not comply with the law, he would escort her to the Police station. She broke into tears, and, throwing down her ballots and other paraphernalia for electioneering declared she would leave the pesky old place and having nothing more to do with the "rotten election."

At the Armory, Judge Horn is pitted against Hyman, "wet" and "dry," respectively, and, it is said that it is an amusing affair.

Up to the time of going to press the vote in the various districts is a little heavier than is usual, even at general elections, but the afternoon work will undoubtedly bring out a heavy vote. The registration is about 2,000 greater than at previous elections and it is predicted that those in close touch with the election, that fully 8,000 votes will be cast. The "wets" claim the election by not less than 1,000 while the "drys" are not at all inclined to concede that majority; many of them contending that they will win by a small margin.

Many women are at work for both sides, there being more feminine persuasion in the election than in any previous one.

There have been interesting incidents at the polls, some ludicrous, others tinged with sadness and disappointment. Challenges have been offered against supposed "wet" voters by "dry" challengers at nearly all the polling places in the city, the grounds for the challenges being largely that the parties are not residents of the districts in which they are voting.

Secretary Allison of the Merchants' association states, however, that this is a common occurrence and that it will not amount to anything. The parties challenged, in nearly every instance, have sworn in their votes.

Some of the young ladies working for the prohibition side have met with the thrilling experience of being ejected from polling places. At the Dee school, the Madison school and the Armory, where voting booths are stationed, they have persisted in electioneering inside the building, and within the 100-foot boundary line which prohibits electioneering. They were told by the officers that they would have to get outside the restricted district to use their persuasive powers on the voters, but they did not seem to realize the importance of the officers' instructions until the hand of the law was placed on them.

BULLETINS WILL BE GIVEN

When the polls close this evening it will be too light for the use of stereopticon bulletins such as the Standard has been in the habit of using in giving the returns of all elections. Because of this fact the standard has made arrangements to make use of a megaphone for the announcing of returns. Preparations have been made for the reception of the returns from every precinct in the city as soon as the vote has been counted. As soon as the results of the various voting places arrive, they will be given to the public from an upper window of the Standard office. Not only the results in this city, but those from Salt Lake City and all the towns in the state where elections are being held will be announced as they are received by wire. The announcement of returns will begin shortly after the closing hour. The simplicity of the ballot will make counting of the votes an easy task and reports from the voting places should come in early.

BOY FALLS AND IS RUN OVER

Stanley Eastman, aged 7 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Heber Eastman, 2127 Stewart's lane, fell from a wagon upon which he had climbed, while the vehicle was traveling between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth streets on Washington avenue, this afternoon. The rear wheel of the wagon passed over the boy's left foot, crushing the bones and mangle the flesh.

When the accident occurred the driver of the wagon stopped, but apparently thinking that the boy was slightly injured, he drove on and his name was not learned. The boy was picked up by persons passing and taken to the office of Dr. L. F. Rich where the injured foot was dressed. Later the lad was taken to his home.

WHAT BLEW UP MAINE

Some apprehension was felt today because of the report from the weather observer of an approaching cyclone. All precautions were taken. While a blow doubtless would imperil the dam, much depends on the direction from which the wind come. It would be most serious from the north.

Surprise has been expressed here by the opinions, all attributed to General Bixby, chief of the engineers in charge of the work of raising the Maine, who, upon his arrival at Tampa, was quoted as saying that he did not expect that the secret of the Maine's destruction would be revealed or that bodies would be recovered.

The engineers here feel that the first belief is not fully justified in advance of the exposure of the ship's bottom. They also have strong expectations of discovering the bones of many sailors when the berth deck, and the section below, is reached.

DEATH NOTICES

BERRETT—Alveda, the eleven-month-old daughter of Richard E. and Isabelle C. Ford Berrett, died at 11 o'clock yesterday morning at the Dee Memorial hospital of peritonitis. Alveda was born at Pleasant View, July 3, 1909.

The funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the North Ogden meeting house.

FOREST FIRE ON RATON MOUNTAIN

TRINIDAD, Colo., June 26.—Two hundred men are engaged today in fighting a forest fire on Raton mountain 15 miles south of here that broke out late last night and has destroyed much valuable timber. The fire is believed to have been started by smokers.

U. P. TEAM IS COMING TO OGDEN

Having cleaned up everything in the baseball line in Wyoming, the Union Pacific ball team of Green River is seeking new worlds to conquer and will be in Ogden on July 15 and 16, to meet Dad Gilman's squad of professionals.

The Union Pacific team, while made up entirely of amateur players, has been playing a very classy brand of ball and has not only defeated every team of any note in the state of Wyoming, but has invaded Idaho and won a number of victories in that state.

The only team in Wyoming which remains unbeaten by the Union Pacific bunch is the Cheyenne Indians, but as the two teams will meet on July 7 and 8, it is expected that the scalp of the red men will be brought to Ogden with the railroad boys as a mascot.

FALLS FROM TRAIN WHILE BEATING WAY

While attempting to beat his way from this city to Denver, a stranger giving his name as Jack Harris fell from an Oregon Short Line freight train near Twelfth street last night and sustained injuries which may result in his death. He is now at the Dee Memorial hospital suffering from a very bad fracture of the right hip and a severe contusion on the head.

He boarded the northbound freight train as it left the local yards about 11 o'clock. He was riding on the humpers between the cars when he lost his hold and fell. The man claims that it was only with a mighty effort that he threw himself out from between the cars, thus escaping almost certain death under the wheels.

The accident occurred near the home of Oscar Madison, who resides at 940 West Twelfth street. His cries for help were heard and the injured man taken to the Madison home. The sheriff's office was notified and Deputy Sheriff Tom DeVine took Harris to the hospital.

The injured man claims New York City as his home.

ELECTRIC STORM DURING FUNERAL

Kittanning, Pa., June 27.—Eight women mourners were injured yesterday in a panic caused by a severe electrical storm during the funeral of George Serene at West Kittanning. The mourners were filing out of the house to board carriages for the cemetery when the storm broke.

The vivid electrical display and loud peals of thunder frightened some of the women and they made a rush to re-enter the house. In a moment there was a struggling crowd in the front yard. When calm was restored, eight of the women were so badly hurt that medical attention was necessary.

SEQUEL TO ALASKA COAL DECISION

Washington, June 27.—As a sequel to the interior department yesterday, changing the Cunningham Alaskan coal claims, Senator Poindexter of Washington today introduced a resolution which was immediately passed, calling upon the President for all available information to the alleged effort of the Controller railroad company to monopolize the water front of Controller bay in Alaska.

MERGING OF TELEPHONE SYSTEMS

Three eastern engineers of the American Telephone & Telegraph company, commonly known as the Bell company, have been in this city for the past few days looking over the ground preparatory to the consolidation of the two telephone systems.

About three weeks the Bell company purchased the property of the Utah independent company and within the next six months the two systems in Ogden will be merged into one. Speaking of the consolidation, Manager W. F. Madison of the Bell company stated this afternoon that the work of merging the two systems will be started as soon as possible, but because of the difference in equipment, it will doubtless require at least six months to complete the task of centralizing all the wires.

When the work of consolidation is completed, only one office and exchange will be used. Which of the two offices now in use will be closed, Mr. Madison could not say. The fact that the independent company's office is located on Twenty-fourth street in the line of extension of Hudson avenue north will probably deter the Bell company from choosing the building as a permanent exchange.

The engineers left Ogden without giving out any definite information as to how long it would take for the merging of the two systems, but are expected to return within a short time to make further investigation.

How Legislation is Fixed by Men Like Hines

Washington, June 27.—There was another dramatic episode in the hearing of the Lormer case today when Clarence S. Funk, chief manager of the International Harvester company, announced three of the four detectives about whose surveillance he told the committee yesterday were present at today's session. The committee summoned the detectives as witnesses.

Mr. Funk publicly announced that the detective who admitted he had been employed to shadow him was named Blaine and belonged to a Chicago agency. At the instance of Mr. Hines the witness discussed his experiences with the man. He had last seen him in Chicago.

"I spoke to him," declared Mr. Funk. "It was on Pennsylvania avenue and I was waiting for a car. He crossed the street as I did and when I got on the car he hid so. I asked him to sit by me."

"You are back on the job," I said. "Yes, he responded."

"How do you enjoy it?" I asked. "I am not proud of my work," he said. "Then I gave him some fatherly advice, telling him I didn't think much of the detective business and that he had better get into some business that had a future."

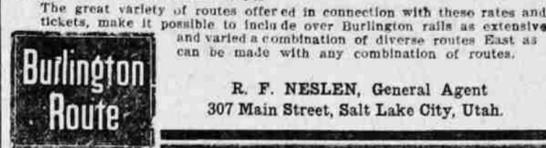

"Just before we got up to the Senate office building, he said I had 'ditched' two of his associates and he supposed he would lose his job if he lost me. I told him I thought we could fix it up all right and that I would promise not to 'ditch' him."

"That isn't an sweat box," interrupted Mr. Hines. "Tell us about that."

FRAUDS IN LACE TRADE

Undervaluation of Imported Laces Caused Heavy Loss. New York, June 27.—Extensive frauds against the government through the undervaluation of importations of laces from Syria, have been disclosed in proceedings before the board of the United States general appraisers. The undervaluations are declared to have caused the loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars to the treasury department within the last ten years.

HEAVY STORM IN WASHINGTON

Washington, June 27.—A severe wind and hail storm swept Washington today. It blew sixty miles an hour about the capital, causing so much disturbance that the Senate adjourned. Senator Borah was speaking and senators found it impossible to hear him. President Taft, with General Charles R. Edwards and Major A. W. Butt, was playing golf on the Chevy Chase links, when the storm broke. For ten minutes or more the lightning flashed uncomfortably and the rain poured down in sheets.

REPORT IS MADE ON STEEL TRUST

Washington, June 26.—After two years' investigation of the steel trust, Herbert Knox Smith, commissioner of corporations, today laid before President Taft an exhaustive report of his findings. The report will soon be made public at the President's direction, so the House steel investigating committee may obtain the benefit of it.

MAY REDUCE THE THROUGH RATE

WASHINGTON, June 26.—It was ordered by the interstate commerce commission today that where a through rate is in excess of the aggregate of intermediate rates, the carrier may, without application to the commission, correct the through rate by reducing such rate to equal the sum of the intermediate rates, although such reductions may have the effect of increasing the discrimination against intermediate points.
