Fred Meissner has returned from inland, Neb., where he spent the past month attending to the probating of the estate of Benedict Simbert, his father-in-law.

Mr. Simbert's estate was the largest ever probated in Clay county, Nebraska, being valued at more than $150,000. Mrs. Meissner will receive a large part of the estate.

Mr. Meissner states that during the time he was in inland the temperature registered from 5 to 31 degrees below zero, but that it was moderating when he left a few days ago. He says that Ogden is the place for him and that he was thoroughly convinced of the advantages of the city by comparison in a month's trip away.

GIANT POWDER WAS OVERLOOKED

Speaking of the giant powder and caps recently found in the city tool house by Street Supervisor L. B. Bzich, which were not listed in the regular inventory, former Street Supervisor Thomas W. Jones says that it was material he had occasion to use in street work a few months ago. There was a small quantity of it and it was set aside where it was inadvertently overlooked when the inventory was made. Mr. Jones trusts that no one will think the death-dealing substances were purposely overlooked in the inventory or that it was left in the tool house for the purpose of harming either property or men.

BODY FOUND IN ASH PIT

Evidence of a Horrible Murder in City of St. Louis

St. Louis, Jan. 19.—The headless body of a man was found in an ash pit in the rear of 1122 North Ninth street by a patrolman at 9:30 o'clock this morning. The body was yet warm and the man apparently had not been dead any great length of time.

The body was first seen by a negro who said he also saw the head. When the patrolman reached the ash pit the head was missing. The negro later said he might have mistaken some other object for the head.

The general appearance of the torso and clothing indicated that the murdered man may have been of foreign birth.

The scene is in the heart of what is called by the police "The Black Hand district." The body was tied between a blanket and a mattress, a clothes line being used. The knees were where the chin should be and the hands under the knees. The rope had been passed under the knees a second time.

The corpse appeared as if the head had been cut off after, rather than before, the form had been tied.

QUIET PREVAILS AT LAWRENCE

LAWRENCE, Mass., Jan. 19.—No disorders developed today in the strike of 15,000 textile workers. Militiamen guarded the entire mill district, but they had little to do and there were no serious clashes.

A better feeling toward the soldiers was apparent throughout the day. In a parade of 10,000 strikers late today the temper of the marchers seemed good and cheering was frequent. At least 1,000 of the paraders were women.

Before the parade a mass meeting was held, at which Joseph J. Etter, the strike leader, urged the crowd to be orderly while the parade was passing.

Efforts toward a settlement continued today. It was said the strikers were ready to abandon their demand for a 15 per cent increase and would ask only that their wages under the new 54-hour law be at the rate of 56 hours per week.

The manufacturers' attitude toward this concession was not officially announced.

PUT ON THE SOFT PEDAL

How Wilson Caused Col. Harvey to Stop His Booming

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 19.—"Well, I'll have to put on the soft pedal," this is the exclamation Col. Harvey, editor of Harper's Weekly, is said to have made when Governor Woodrow Wilson, forced to reply to Col. Harvey's query, said he feared editorial support in the weekly was injuring his (Wilson's) cause.

The Italian troops, which consisted of detachments of all arms, left Tripoli early in the morning on the way to Ghargaria, a small oasis situated about ten or eleven miles along the coast to the west of the town and surrounded by a number of mud forts which hitherto had given shelter to Arab irregulars.

Suddenly, as the soldiers were marching along the road, which runs parallel to the coast, they were attacked by a large force of Turks and Arabs. The Italians immediately took up position and threw up field entrenchments. The enemy continued its attacks throughout the day but finally retired.

Arabs to Continue Fighting
Tripoli, Jan. 19.—The military situation in Tripoli last month, to all appearances has undergone no change. All the fighting was begun by the Turks, who have repeatedly attacked the Italian troops at different points and have just as often been repulsed.

Then Judge Ewing goes on to tell how Col. Harvey, through editorials in Harper's Weekly, championed the cause of Woodrow Wilson for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"Many, not knowing the real independence of Col. Harvey," the statement declares, "and seeking to harm the Wilson cause, began to indulge in all sorts of conjectures and unfounded intimations. As a result, a number of Wilson's real friends began to be of the opinion that perhaps the Weekly's earnest support was militating against his (Wilson's) prospects."

Judge Ewing declares Governor Wilson's opinion was decidedly contrary to this view, appreciating that Col. Harvey "had brought him to the front, appreciating Harvey's support and feeling it to be valuable."

Then followed the meeting in New York between Wilson, Harvey and Watterston. Judge Ewing declares at the close of the conference, Col. Harvey arose and said to Governor Wilson:

"I wish to ask you a question and I expect a frank answer. Do you believe that the booming nature of my articles in Harper's Weekly is injuring your cause?"

Judge Ewing says Governor Wilson's friendship for Harvey demanded that the governor answer in the negative to the query, but that Col. Harvey had demanded frankness and that Governor Wilson was obliged, with much embarrassment, to make such a reply that later his name (as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination) was removed from the editorial column of Harper's Weekly.

And, Judge Ewing asserts, Col. Harvey exclaimed:

"Well, I'll have to put on the soft pedal."

Wilson Is Silent

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 19.—"I have nothing to say on that matter," said Governor Woodrow Wilson today when shown the statement of Robert Ewing concerning the Col. Harvey incident. Governor Wilson also refused to discuss the Watterston case. He addressed the university students and townspeople this forenoon and later left for Grand Rapids.

GLEN DAVIS IS FOUND GUILTY

Independence, Kan., Jan. 19.—Glen Davis was found guilty by a jury here last night of murder in the first degree as a result of his trial in connection with the killing of Israel Shadley here September 18.

Davis' conviction was entirely on circumstantial evidence. The sheriff traced the team that had been driven by the murderer to Shadley's store, five miles over a muddy road, identifying the tracks by the manner in which the horses were shod, and getting at the livery stable where the rik was kept information which led to the arrest of Davis and Watt Foulk. Foulk is in jail and will be tried next Monday.

NEW COLUMBIAN BASEBALL LEAGUE

St. Louis, Jan. 19.—John T. Powers, promoter of the New Columbian baseball league, conferred with promoters of the proposed St. Louis club here last night.

We also have franchises in Cleveland, Kansas City and Louisville. I will call a meeting of the league to be held in St. Louis or Chicago within the next two weeks and the public can judge for itself whether we are four-flushing."

TURKS AND ARABS OPEN FIRE ON AN ITALIAN FORCE

Tripoli, Jan. 19.—A terrific attack was made yesterday on a large body of Turks and Arabs on an Italian column which was on the March about ten miles from town of Tripoli.

The Italian troops, which consisted of detachments of all arms, left Tripoli early in the morning on the way to Ghargaria, a small oasis situated about ten or eleven miles along the coast to the west of the town and surrounded by a number of mud forts which hitherto had given shelter to Arab irregulars.

Excitement in Police Court

The case of A. Kawata again came up in police court this morning and, though the specific charge was the same, the date on which he is alleged to have sold the tobacco to minors was changed.

East Parsons of 2125 Wall avenue was the principal witness for the city and, in fact, was the only prosecuting witness examined. He testified that on December 23 or 24 he went into the store conducted by Kawata, at the corner of Twenty-fourth street and Wall avenue, and purchased some tobacco. He testified that he had bought tobacco there several times previous to this occasion and that his age had never been questioned.

Kawata, when placed on the stand, denied that he had ever sold tobacco to Parsons at any time, and several Japanese witnesses were called, who testified that Kawata was in the habit of telling boys under age that they could not buy tobacco and had seen him chase them out of his store when they did ask for it.

William Reast, the arresting officer, was not placed on the stand. Several mixups occurred during the trial due in most instances to the jury not understanding the questions asked and returning answers that had no bearing on the questions, and once during the case the several Japanese witnesses who sat together on a bench got into a wrangle and it was necessary to have them removed from the room, the court fining him $5.

One witness insisted on delivering an oration to the court after he had left the witness stand, during which he became much excited and, waving his arms about, proclaimed the innocence of his friend.

Altogether, it was a scene and furnished much amusement to the spectators, but in spite of all the well-meant testimony of his friends, Kawata received a $25 fine and a warning not to let it happen again.

EXPLOSION IN PUEBLO

Laundry Is Dynamited—Cause Traced to Labor Troubles

Pueblo, Jan. 19.—A terrific dynamite explosion early today partially wrecked the Colorado laundry, in the heart of the business district, and shattered window glass in adjoining buildings, including those of the Globe Express company, early today. No valuable, however, were taken from the express company's office. A dynamite fuse was found in the alley outside of the express company.

The motive for the outrage is not known. No estimated damage has been given and there are no arrests. The police are now working on a theory that the explosion was caused by out-of-town parties and it is connected with the many explosions in the last few years on jobs which are being done by structural iron workers not connected with the national organization.

It is now believed that the only object was to destroy the large tank used as water softener. When this was being erected some years ago it mysteriously toppled over one night, but no clew was ever found as to the real cause. The force of the explosion was such that windows were shattered in a territory covering several blocks. The windows in the Globe Express company's office across the alley crashed to the street and it was first supposed that the safe of that company had been blown.

The explosion caused great excitement, as, owing to the killing of an alleged Black Hand leader here the night before, it was believed that the gang was taking revenge for the murder of their leader. The police, however, are of the opinion that the Black Hand had no connection with the affair.

The laundry was operated on a non-union basis, but it is not believed that this had any connection with the explosion. It developed today that an attempt had been made to wreck the building a year ago, when the gas in an upper story was turned on mysteriously, undoubtedly with the hope that a spark or a light might cause an explosion. Prompt discovery prevented a disaster.

The sheriff's office is said to have a clew which points to one man as being responsible for the outrage. Reports that a warrant had been issued were denied, but it is claimed that a deputy sheriff left in an automobile today to take up the trail of a suspect.

J. Will Johnson, owner of the laundry and former president of the city council, said:

"I believe the explosion was merely an attempt to put me out of business by wrecking the building. That there was no attempt to take human life, the authorities believe, is indicated by the fact that the explosion occurred at 2:50 a. m., when it was known no one was in the plant."

BUSINESS INTIMACY

Direct Testimony of Criminal Acts of the Packers

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Direct testimony, that the representatives of the alleged packers' combine exchanged daily and weekly reports of shipments and margins, together with the detailed operations of the business transacted by each branch house, was given to the jury today in the trial of the ten Chicago packers charged with the criminal violation of the Sherman law.

Everett B. Dill, former manager for the National Packing company in Boston, and assistant manager for the same company in New York, gave damaging testimony against the Packers. He declared that the managers for Armour, Swift, Morris and the National Packing company in Boston, who were in charge of the New England territory, met daily and were on terms of the closest business intimacy. He said they exchanged by telephone the daily shipments and margins of each company and that weekly summaries from each house were sent to the Boston representatives.

The witness declared that this system was in effect up to the time he severed his connection with the National Packing company in 1906 to become Boston manager for an independent company.

HEART BEATS ARE COUNTED

To Determine the Veracity of a Witness in Court

Los Angeles, Jan. 19.—What was believed to have been the first demonstration in actual court of justice of the Munsterberg theory of criminal detection by heart pulsations, occurred yesterday in the office of Justice of the peace Cassidy, at Watts. The demonstration ended in the discharge of Arthur Smith, a metal worker from Tacoma, who had been arrested as a suspicious character.

When first asked his name the prisoner gave it as James Smithers. He had consented to be a party to the experiment and his normal pulse was found to be 79. It increased to 91 beats when he told his name and Justice Cassidy told him he was not telling the truth. His heart then beat at the rate of 95.

After a few seconds hesitation, the man replied:

"Arthur Smith is my right name, but I'm an honest workman and no vagrant. I'm sorry I lied but I have relatives in the north."

STOCK MARKET SHOWS SIGNS OF MORE LIFE

New York, Jan. 19.—Standard stocks figured more prominently in the day's trading and less emphasis was laid on the movements of the specialties which had been the center of interest most of the week. The tone of the market was firm. Trading in Lehigh Valley, which sold ex-dividend and without the privilege of subscribing for the new coal stock was carried on with no signs of a flurry. Baltimore & Ohio was strengthened by its favorable December report, showing an increase in net income of $456,000.

Trading showed more life after 11 o'clock. A brisk demand strengthened the Hill stocks and Northern Pacific and Great Northern preferred improved 1-4. Other stocks made fractional advances and there were some notable gains in the tobacco stocks.

Lorrillard jumped 9 points and Liggett & Myers five. Bonds were strong.

PACIFIC COAST WHEAT IS IN GOOD DEMAND

Chicago, Jan. 10.—A forecast of larger world shipments other than from America had a depressing effect today on wheat. At the outset, however, the market was firm as a result partly of reports that Pacific coast wheat was in good demand at Liverpool. Opening prices were unchanged to 1-2-4, but declined to 99 7/8.

Generally favorable weather made corn easy. May opened 1-8 lower to 1-8 higher, and 56 1-4, and descended to 55 3-4-7-8.

Fair selling of oats carried that cereal down. May started a sixteenth off to a similar advance at 49 3-8 to 49 1-2, and sagged to 49 1-4-3-8.

Provisions were weak. First sales were unchanged to 7 1-2-10 lower. May was at 12 3-4 for pork, 9 47 1-2 for lard and 8 80 for ribs.
