

SETTLEMENT OF FRANCO-ITALIAN INCIDENT MADE

PARIS, Jan. 26.—The Franco-Italian incident, arising from the seizure of the French steamers Manouba and Carthage by Italian warships, was settled today satisfactorily to both nations. This announcement was made tonight at the close of a meeting of the cabinet, which, after examination, approved the terms of the note agreed upon by Camille Barere, the French ambassador at Rome, and by the Marquis di San Giuliano, Italian minister of foreign affairs.

The twenty-nine Turks said to be members of the Turkish Red Crescent society, who were taken off the Manouba, by the Italians and sent to Cagliari, are to be turned over immediately to the French consul at Cagliari, where their identity will be verified by the French government.

All questions of law arising from the seizure of the Manouba and the Carthage will be referred to the international court at The Hague.

Immediately after the cabinet adjourned Premier Poincaré sent a wireless dispatch to the captain of the steamer Ville Alger, which now is on its way from Tunis to Marseilles, instructing him to call at Cagliari and take the Turks on board.

The settlement comes in good season for the long deliberation of the diplomats was beginning to provoke a spirit of exasperation on the part of both the public and politicians.

FRENCH authors have written many lively tales which, because of false conventional modesty, have been, until recent translations, unknown to those who read only English. Prudish modesty and unfair prejudice have deprived us of the merriest and liveliest tales ever written. Maupassant was the one man in France who, because of his environment and temperament, could write truly the realistic scenes of REAL PARISIAN LIFE so fascinatingly as to rivet your attention to his merry tales, to the exclusion of everything else.
Maupassant's eventful career gave him ideas, situations and local color for his unsurpassed stories. Strong imagination, overflowing with natural enthusiasm and passion in his study of human life and phases of human conduct, things really happening—not as we imagine they might or as we would like them to be—but THE REAL DOINGS OF LIFE.
Poe describes the unusual, the unnatural, the impossible: Maupassant the real, the natural and the possible, holding a mirror up to nature. His dramatic instinct, his situations and his climaxes are overwhelming. He always fixes upon the one thing of most human-soul interest and makes it vivid as any stage scene. These absorbing stories should be in every library—tales of travel, mystery, adventure, comedy, pathos and tragedy, love and realism.

AN INTERESTING EVENT.

The next attraction at the Ogden theater will be "The Lion and the Mouse," which opens next Sunday, Feb. 4. Playgoers expressed a decided partiality for Mr. Klein's play when it was seen here first. The United Play Co. will undertake to make it quite as interesting as ever, presenting next week the most important organization engaged in its presentation. The members of the company are players of distinction and there is excellent prospects that Mr. Klein's play will be found more attractive than ever. The sale of seats is announced to open next Saturday, Feb. 3.

KLAUS TO MEET ED PETROSKEY

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26.—A twenty-round bout between Frank Klaus the Pittsburg middleweight, and Ed Petroskey, a navy seaman, who has done good work in local rings, will be staged here next month if negotiations begin today by Promoter Jack O'Connell are consummated. O'Connell holds the February fight permit. Geo. Engle, Klaus' manager, wired today from Camden, N. J., that a guarantee of $1,750 with the option of thirty per cent of the receipts would be satisfactory to him.

FOUR-ROUND BOUTS IN SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26.—The question of issuing permits for the continuance of the weekly four-round boxing bouts which has been held in abeyance by the new board of supervisors, again was taken up today by the board and an ordinance proposed by Supervisor Gallagher considered. Gallagher's ordinance, if passed will eliminate the amateur provision, which was supposed to govern contestants under the old ordinance, but which was never enforced, and place the weekly fights on a strictly professional basis. Boxers may meet for a purse of any amount, but the bouts must be limited to four rounds. Other provisions of the ordinance are:

A tax of $250 per year on clubs staging four round bouts; amateur bouts must be staged only by clubs affiliated with the Pacific Athletic association and between boys who hold registration cards in the association.

APPOINTMENTS ARE CONFIRMED

SALT LAKE, Jan. 26.—D. R. Gray to be assistant general freight agent. H. E. Godwin to be district freight agent. L. J. Keyes to be district passenger agent. E. J. Hanson to be contracting freight agent. These appointments, to become effective Feb. 1, and meaning the promotion of local men to positions in the Oregon Short Line service, were announced today by Gen. Freight Agent J. A. Reeves. The changes, arising out of the appointment of Frank H. Plaisted, former assistant general freight agent of the O. S. L., to the office of assistant to the director of traffic in the passenger system, have been looked for some time, but were not announced until after the arrival in Salt Lake yesterday of Vice President J. A. Munroe. In the appointments, a new office is created in the district freight agent, which have heretofore been combined in the district freight and passenger agent. Mr. Gray, who is appointed to succeed Mr. Plaisted as assistant general freight agent, is at present district freight and passenger agent. His promotion is considered among the associates and as shown in his selection by the superior officers, well deserved through his work in the railroad business. Mr. Gray entered the railroad service when in his early teens, starting as a clerk on the Pennsylvania line in Indiana in 1887, and was attached to the clerical force in the general freight office of the Southern Pacific at San Francisco, and later was made chief clerk at Port Costa, Cal. In 1890 he was brought to Salt Lake as contracting freight agent for the Southern Pacific and in 1892 was appointed general agent. In 1901, under the reorganization of the Harriman lines Mr. Gray was appointed district freight and passenger agent, from which position he is now advanced to the important office of assistant general freight agent. H. E. Godwin, who succeeds Mr. Gray in the latter's divided office and who will bear the title of district freight agent of the Oregon Short Line since April 1, 1912. He began his railroad career in the east in 1892 in the transportation department, and came to Salt Lake, in the service of the Oregon Short Line, in 1897. He was for five years chief clerk in the local freight office, and has worked his way up through all the intricacies of the freight department. L. J. Keyes is advanced from the position of city ticket agent to the newly created office of district passenger agent. Mr. Keyes began his railroad service with the P. D. N. E. at Peoria, Ill., in 1884, and in 1885 was made chief clerk of the passenger department of the Southern California road at San Diego. From there he was transferred to Los Angeles, and in 1889 became chief clerk to the passenger agent of the Rio Grande Western in Salt Lake. In the same year he entered the service of the Union Pacific as ticket agent at Helena, and in 1890 entered the Oregon Short Line service as ticket agent under Mr. D. E. Burley. E. J. Hanson who becomes contracting freight agent, succeeding Mr. Godwin, began work in the local railroad service as a messenger boy under Mr. Godwin, and has served with his superior practically continuously since. He is thoroughly familiar with the work of the local traffic affairs and conversant with the territory covered by the Oregon Short Line.

INSURGENCY IN M. W. A. MEETING

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—"Insurgents" opposing the best officers plan of increasing the assessments of members of the Modern Woodmen of America, took up so much time at today's session of the adjourned head camp meeting here, that a vote was delayed until tomorrow. The speakers denounced the measure in general terms, denying the statements and doubting the statistics of actuaries and state insurance experts who previously had spoken in favor of the increase. "Insurgents" charged head officers with trying to "railroad" the measure through without sufficient consultation of the wishes of the members of the lodge. A Besancon of Missoula, Mont., calling himself an insurgent, said: "Fraternal insurance is not exact science like other insurance. They say 'settle now, once for all,' but on that basis, why doesn't congress settle the tariff once for all? It's the same thing."

How a Woman May Retain Her Youth

"The woman who wants to look young must taboo massage creams and liquid rouge. She will only harden the structure of her face and destroy the fine texture of the skin," said Mrs. Margaret Holmes Bates, the well-known author, to a Chicago Journal representative. "Reputable physicians have declared that if she indulges in artificial methods she risks losing her health," she continued. A perfectly natural method of treating a bad complexion is by using ordinary mercurized wax; this adds nothing to the complexion, but removes it instead. This wax, obtainable at any drug store, flakes off the scum or blotchy outer skin in fine particles, gently, without harming the skin beneath, which gradually makes its appearance. The brilliant, beautiful complexion thus obtained is a new one—quite different from a patched-up old complexion. This is one way to retain youthful looks. An ounce of mercurized wax is sufficient. It is applied at night like cold cream and washed off in the morning.

LA FOLLETTE IS DAKOTA'S CHOICE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The progressive Republicans of South Dakota have endorsed Senator Robert M. La Follette for the presidency. This action took place at a mass meeting held at Sioux Falls and attended by Progressive Republicans from all parts of the state. Resolutions were adopted declaring for the election of 10 delegates to the national Republican convention pledged to vote for the nomination of Mr. La Follette. Candidates for delegates will be placed in the field for the primary election in June. The headquarters of the Progressive Republican campaign committee is in close touch with the various La Follette organizations throughout the country, and is constantly receiving from them many encouraging reports of progress. The latest Progressive Republican organization to report is the Massachusetts branch of the movement. This organization has its inception almost exactly one year to a day after the failure of the organized progressives of the Bay State to defeat Senator Lodge, then a candidate for re-election to the United States senate. The progressive sentiment however, was not defeated, and last autumn, shortly after a visit from Med. W. McCormick and Rudolph Spreckles, the Massachusetts progressives finally got together. Word which comes to Washington from Boston is to the effect that they will stay together, and that their organization has already thrown the camp of the old guard into consternation. The dominant note of the Massachusetts men is that the old guard must go, that the control of government must be democratic.

Here is the progressive platform to date of the Massachusetts organization: Direct primaries for delegates to the national convention. The direct nomination and election of United States senators. Control of legislation by the people must be extended, not to replace, but to safeguard, representative government.

Rapid enforcement of laws regulating labor and enactment of such additional legislation as may be necessary to insure adequately the use of proper safety appliances, better sanitary and other conditions for workers, and a reduction of excessive hours.

Rigid enforcement of existing pure food laws and enactment of such additional legislation as is necessary to preserve the safety of consumers. Natural resources must be developed to keep pace with the economic demand, but not be monopolized for the benefit of the few.

The immediate institution of a federal parcel post. Downward revision of the tariff under the guidance of a permanent non-partisan commission.

Control of monopolistic combinations by insistence upon publicity in corporate affairs and by regulation through an administrative body clothed with sufficient power.

At test vote taken in an Ohio factory showed $1 for La Follette. There were $1 votes cast.

POSITIVE PROOF.

Should Convince the Greatest Skeptic in Ogden.

Because it's the evidence of an Ogden citizen. Testimony easily investigated. The strongest endorsement of merit.

The best proof. Read it: Mrs. Daisey Shipley, 272 Twenty-second St., Ogden, Utah, says: "I do not think there is any need for people to suffer from kidney complaint when Doan's Kidney Pills can be had. I doubt if any one has suffered more severely from this disease than I. The worst symptoms of my floating kidney—Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured from Badcock Pharmacy, gave me immediate relief. This preparation is so effective that I only wish every kidney sufferer would try it."

Mrs. Shipley gave the above testimonial in July, 1906, and when interviewed in July, 1909, she said: "I still take pleasure in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills for the cure they effected has been permanent. The statement I gave for publication in the praise three years ago still holds good."

OSTER SUIT MAY END SOON

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 26.—If the present plans of both sides in the state's oyster suit against twenty-six lumber companies, alleged to have violated the Missouri anti-trust laws, are carried out, the hearing which started four years ago, will be closed tomorrow. W. W. Scarrin, chief counsel for the defense, announced tonight that the lumber men would close their case tomorrow, and Assistant Attorney General Atkinson said the state would introduce no witnesses in rebuttal. Following the testimony of Charles Keith of Kansas City, officers of local lumber companies were put on the stand by the defense and testified that the yellow pine manufacturers' association was formed solely with the idea of bettering conditions and not to curtail the production or to fix prices. The testimony also that they did not consider the market report issued by the association as a standard by which prices were regulated, asserting the lumber was sold according to the supply and the demand.

M'NAMARA SPENT $1,000 A MONTH

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 26.—Facts about J. J. McNamara's expense in paying his "dynamiting crew" and in buying explosives to blow up "open shops" structures for more than two years before his arrest were made available to the federal grand jury today through Leo M. Rapport, formerly an attorney for the McNamaras. Rapport told the grand jury the names of those to whom he had entrusted all the check book stubs and cancelled checks which showed McNamara's financial dealings from December, 1909 to the day of his arrest on April 2, 1911, and which also showed what disposal the dynamite had made of the $1,000 a month allowed him in his capacity as secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers. Rapport at first refused to testify, declaring the evidence sought was in the nature of a privileged communication between attorney and client, but after federal Judge Anderson had ruled that he would be compelled to produce the books if he had them, or to tell who had them, Rapport consented to answer the questions. "The investigation is not to be delayed by any trivial matter," said the court. "The jury has been sitting for weeks and it is not going to be marched up and down hill for nothing."
