IT CAN'T BE DONE

You may as well try to lift yourself over a churl steeply by standing in a bushel basket as to begin saving when misfortune overtakes you.

It should be a sufficient inducement for you to save to guard against such contingencies, but we actually pay you to do your full duty to yourself.

Four Per Cent Paid on Savings Accounts and Time Deposits.

York city. Miss Craig is the daughter of William W. Craig and is one of the well-known and popular young members of Ogden's social set. She also has a large coterie of friends in Washington, D. C., New York and other eastern cities, who, with her host of local friends, offer warm congratulations.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with pink carnations, roses and potted plants and the dining table was a lovely picture, with its elegant appointments and profusion of spring flowers. Individual May baskets with violets, roses, Myacintus, daffodils, tulips and other spring blossoms, daintily arranged, marked each place and an exquisite May basket of all kinds of spring flowers graced the center of the table. Cunningly hidden in the moss in the bottom of each guest's May basket was a tiny hand-decorated heart with a picture of a bride and groom at the altar, beneath which was the wedding date, April 24, 1912. The favors were dainty hand-decorated jewelry boxes.

A number of Mr. Rodman's friends will be here from New York to attend the wedding.

preferred and American Beet Sugar, which rose 1 1/2 to 5 points, while American Can extended its gain of the first hour.

Acute weakness was shown by the stock market at today's opening. The 4 1/2 per cent bonds of the International Mercantile Marine company declined 2 points, with a fall of four points in the preferred stock, presumably because of the accident to the Titanic. There were losses of a point or more in Harriman and Hill issues, Lehigh Valley, United States Steel, Utah and Anaconda Coppers, American Car and Foundry, American Locomotive, General Electric and other issues. The one exception to the market's weakness was Canadian Pacific, which rose more than a point.

Activity in American Can stocks was maintained during the noon hour, by which time the common had gained three points and the preferred six and a quarter. In conservative quarters the rise of these stocks was viewed with some misgivings, but these were hardly shared by the professional element inasmuch as prices elsewhere made further upward progress, virtually the entire speculative group selling well above last Saturday's best. New York Central developed renewed strength with a better tone to Missouri Pacific and other Gould issues in connection with the prospective settlement of the Wabash-Pittsburg Terminal litigation.

Al though dealings shrank greatly, the advances were not interfered with, prices rising steadily so that many important stocks turned their early losses of a point or more into similar gains. Among these were Union Pacific and U. S. Steel. A long list of other issues were up from 1 to 6 points. Late buying was particularly effective in Amalgamated Copper, Louisville & Nashville, Pittsburg Coal preferred and American Can.

CANADA HAS TRUST LAW

Which Is Called to the Attention of Congress by Memorial

New York, April 15.—The Merchants' Association of New York has presented a "Memorial to Congress" suggesting a law supplementary to the Sherman Anti-Trust Act of 1890, and intended, while leaving the latter in full effect, to remove the uncertainties which now encompass it, and to make it workable without oppressive. A bill embodying the proposed law will immediately be introduced in congress.

Our neighbors of the Dominion of Canada, confronted with the same problem have found a solution which they believe to be effective and which is endorsed by their leading statesmen. It is known as "The Combines Investigation Act," and took effect May 4, 1910. While leaving intact the provisions of the "Canadian Criminal Code" in its provisions relating to monopolies and restraint of trade, it provides a speedy and effective means whereby the legality of any "Combine" (which is defined as covering any agreement or combination among competitors) may be judicially determined. Its essential features are that any six or more citizens may file a protest in court as to any "Combine"; that thereupon the court shall appoint a commission of three persons, one nominated by the complainants, another by the defendants, and the third by the two, with the powers of a court for the taking of evidence; that this commission shall thereupon investigate all the facts and make a report thereon to the court; that the court if satisfied on this showing of the facts that no "undue" monopoly exists, that no "unreasonable" enhancing of prices has been made, and that no "undue" restraint of trade has resulted, shall dismiss the complaint; that if the court finds to the contrary, it shall then issue a decree defining the acts found to be illegal and shall cause all of the proceedings and the decree to be published in the "Canada Gazette" (the official organ); thereupon any further continuance of said acts shall subject those guilty of them to the penalties provided by law, but that no penalties shall apply to any such acts done prior to the handing down of such decree; and that all expenses duly incurred in connection with such proceedings shall be defrayed in the manner set forth in the act.

The notable features of this plan are: (1) that no proceedings shall be had until and unless at least six citizens unite in asking for them; (2) that provision is made which assures a speedy determination in any case brought up for adjudication; and (3) that there is complete exemption from retroactive penalties for acts committed prior to the rendering of a decision, the severe punishment provided by the law applying only to acts committed thereafter.

These conditions are in striking contrast to those created under our Sherman law as matters now stand. The great hardship of the latter, and the chief reason for the repressive effect it has so seriously exercised upon the business activities of the country consists in these two features, namely: (1) the great uncertainty as to what is permissible and what unpermissible under the broad and vague terms of the law; and (2) its retroactive effect in the matter of penalties, which implies that persons who, unwittingly or because of the vagueness of the law, commit any act which subsequently may be held to violate it, may be left in doubt or ignorance for years, and then if adjudged guilty may be punished for all of the acts committed during such period, unless barred by the statute of limitations. Our friends in Canada, perceiving the injustice of these conditions and their injurious influence on legitimate business, have found a way out of the difficulty which is simple, direct, effective and apparently admirable.

The Memorial of the Merchants' Association of New York asks congress to investigate the Canadian law and then to consider the expediency of adopting for our benefit a law of similar character, modified to conform to our conditions and modes of procedure, thus providing a means whereby many of the uncertainties which now perplex us may speedily be eliminated. Under this plan the Sherman Law would be left intact, as it stands. The new law would be supplementary to it and would be in the nature of an administrative code, a means whereby a speedy determination could be reached concerning the legality or illegality of any act or acts alleged to be in restraint of trade or creative of a monopoly, the decision in each such case being based upon a full and complete knowledge of the essential facts involved, and of their economic effect upon the public. These facts vary with every case and in every line of industry. The problem is immense, almost infinite in its scope and complexity, but relatively very simple as to each individual case when all of the relevant facts are clearly ascertained and understood. The Canadian plan provides a "Clearing House" for dealing with each individual case as it arises, without impairing the validity and force of the fundamental law. The memorial implies that a similar, but not necessarily identical plan, if adopted by us would afford the relief which our industries and commerce so urgently desire from the uncertainties and perplexities which now confront them under the broad terms of the Sherman Act, which contains in itself no rule for the guidance of those who, while desiring to respect the law, yet desire also to avail of the beneficial results of co-operative relations which are reasonably and economically desirable.

No other public question now pending more directly and deeply concerns the public welfare than the one thus presented, and it is earnestly to be hoped that congress will promptly and carefully consider the suggestions contained in this memorial and may be aided thereby in reaching a speedy solution of this great national problem.

EIGHTIETH BIRTHDAY.

On April 12, at the home of P. A. Isakson, a delightful party was given his mother, Mrs. Johanna Poterson, in honor of her eightieth birthday. The home was artistically decorated with cut flowers.

Mrs. Poterson was presented with many beautiful gifts, together with the sincere and hearty congratulations of all present.

The hostess, Mrs. P. A. Isakson, served a delicious supper to the following guests: Mrs. Carl Larson, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Bjorklund, Mrs. C. J. A. Lindquist, Mr. and Mrs. John Johanson, Mrs. N. C. Flyczare, Mrs. O. Olson, Mrs. Ester Nelson, Miss Annie Larson, Messrs. Eric Isakson and Frank Larson.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Saturday evening last a pleasant surprise party was given in honor of Eric Isakson, at the home of his parents on East Twelfth street. An enjoyable evening was spent in social games. Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. P. A. Isakson.

The guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Isakson, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Bjorklund, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Budge, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Read, Misses Dina Youngstrum, Mary Wilson, Maud Barker, Josie Browning, Beatrice Farr, Ruth Larson, Annie Larson, Calla Isakson, Sarah Wilson, Louise Delamater, Messrs. John L. Wilson, Jr., Ed Bingham, Lionel Farr, Andrew Wilson, Frank Larson, Walter Moore, and Frank Moore.

SECOND WARD W. C. T. U.

The Second ward W. C. T. U. met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. W. S. Flewelling, 321 Twentieth street, eight ladies being present. While the Second ward is probably the smallest of the five unions in the city, they feel that what may be lacking in numbers is made up by the enthusiasm of its members. After several items of business of importance, a very pleasant social hour was indulged in. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. W. Wietner, after which the meeting adjourned to meet again with Mrs. Flewelling May 14.

KENSINGTON.

A pleasant afternoon will be spent at the home of Mrs. A. M. Hastings, 927 Grant avenue, Wednesday, when the Baptist Ladies' Kensington will be entertained.

Hays Matson, sophomore at Cornell, Ithaca, New York, spent his Easter vacation in Washington, D. C., the eldest of Congressman and Mrs. Adams of Indiana. Mr. Matson met Miss Maud Ziemer, who is attending a Washington seminary, and her cousin, Miss Baker, while there.

STOCKS DROP AND THEN MAKE GAINS.

New York, April 15.—Before noon all exchange considerations seemed to be forgotten and the stock market continued its forward march with especial strength in the standard issues, foremost among which was U. S. Steel. Numerous specialties participated in today's movements, including Sears-Robuck, North American, American Linedead common and

NETWORK OF RAILS TO COVER OGDEN

Ogden Rapid Transit Company Orders Four Miles of Steel to Be Laid in the Streets of Ogden—David Eccles and Associates Start Out to Give This City the Best Street Car System to Be Found in Any City Its Size in the United States

David Eccles, on returning from the north this morning, made the all-important announcement that the Ogden Rapid Transit company will immediately commence a campaign of rail extensions which will not end until every part of Ogden, from Wall avenue to the extreme eastern part of the city, is given street car connections.

The plans as worked out by Mr. Eccles and associates call for the double tracking of the Twenty-second street car line from Washington to Adams. On Adams the line will go north and south to block to Twenty-first and to Twenty-second street, the rails on Twenty-second east from that point to be taken up. The extension on Twenty-first street will be to Van Buren and on Twenty-third street to Harrison.

The Twenty-fifth street road is to be double tracked from Washington east to connection with the double track now laid to the High school. South on Jefferson rails will be laid to Twenty-seventh and east on that street to Jackson avenue. The present Twenty-fifth street line east of Jefferson avenue will continue in service.

The Wall avenue line is to be pushed on south to Thirty-third street, or Pincock avenue, and east on that street to Grant avenue and north on Grant, connecting with Twenty-fifth street.

As announced in the Standard a week ago, rails will be placed on Twenty-fourth street, from Washington to Wall avenue. When this piece of road is completed the corner of Twenty-fourth street will be made the terminal point of the car system and the Brigham City, Canyon and Twenty-second street cars, instead of going to the corner of Twenty-fifth street and turning west, will go west on Twenty-fourth street and make loop trips, returning east on Twenty-fifth street.

Six more cars have been ordered to meet the demands of the enlarged trackage.

Work will commence with the arrival of the first carload of rails, which have been ordered and should be here within a short time.

Al though four miles of steel have been contracted for, which, when in place, will give to Ogden the largest trackage in street railway of any city its size in the United States.

Simply can't conceal the fact any longer that our shirts are far superior to even those made by the best custom shirt tailors.

Perhaps that may seem like bragging.

It isn't.

All we ask is that those men who have their shirts made-to-order see these and try them on.

For pattern, fit and finish they can't be duplicated—the matter what the price.

Left Stockton Suddenly.

Stockton, Cal., April 15.—William E. Dorr, a motor cycle dealer of this city, whose name has been mentioned in connection with the Marsh murder at Lynn, Mass., left Stockton suddenly about four weeks ago. His aunt, Miss Orpha Marsh, adopted daughter of the late James Marsh, brother of the murdered man, stated today that she did not know his whereabouts, having heard nothing from him since his departure. A Miss Berlingen and Miss Marsh employed a detective to locate him if possible, fearing that he had met with foul play.

Dorr is 29 years of age, business in manner, about five feet six or seven inches in height, thin face, and something of a musician. His motor cycle was found at the steamer landing the day he left on the boat for San Francisco.

Two Men Are Released by Mack

Philadelphia, April 15.—Latest returns from Saturday's primary indicate that Theodore Roosevelt will have 65 of Pennsylvania's 76 delegates to the Republican national convention, with a possibility of 67.

Colonel Roosevelt won 53 district delegates, and his supporters captured the convention, which will name 12 delegates-at-large.

The state convention has the power to elect a new state chairman to succeed United States Senator Penrose, and the national delegates can elect a new national committeeman from Pennsylvania to succeed Penrose.

Woodrow Wilson, according to figures at hand, will have 74 out of 76 Pennsylvania delegates in the Democratic convention.

In the Twenty-eighth congressional district the delegates are favorable to Champ Clark.

SIXTY-FIVE FOR TEDDY

Sweeping Victory of the Colonel in State of Pennsylvania

Philadelphia, April 15.—Corrected returns up to this afternoon give Theodore Roosevelt 54 of the 64 district national delegates, with prospects that the number will be increased to 55, as the result of Saturday's primary election in Pennsylvania. As his supporters expect to control the state convention, which will mean twelve delegates at large, this will give him a total of 66 or possibly 67 out of the state's delegation of 76. President Taft carried only the first, second and third congressional districts in Philadelphia and the ninth district, comprised of Lancaster county. The only delegate in doubt is in the Twentieth district, comprised of Adams and York counties.

Gov. Woodrow Wilson made almost a clear sweep of the state. Returns indicate he has nearly seventy delegates, but the exact number cannot be ascertained until a complete count is in.

SAYS HE CAN THROW THE OGDEN BOY

F. L. McCarroll, the pride of the Gem state in the wrestling mat, states that he is in the pink of condition for his bout with Julius Johnson, the local champion, and that he fully expects to beat him. He says that Harbertson will have to "mix" with him and that it is a certainty that there will be a fall some time before the game is over. McCarroll does not believe in "barn-burners" in the match for a no-decision result.

"I will make him wrestle," he stated to the Standard reporter today. "and you can bet on it that somebody is going to get a fall. I believe I can beat him without trouble. In the other bout with Jack he took a little advantage and took the toe hold while I was crawling to the center of the mat under instructions from the referee, Mike Yokel. That took me by surprise and, of course, I lost the fall. I am no squealer, mind you, but that is the way it happened. The toe hold is hard to get in the match for April 22 and I think there is not much question but that I will be the winner."

McCarroll is training at the Hot Springs with Mike Yokel. He is to meet Harbertson in Ogden April 22 and is to meet Julius Johnson in Salt Lake tomorrow night. The betting in Ogden is 10 to 3 in favor of Harbertson, but McCarroll says that when the Idaho Falls boys get here Friday that all bets on Harbertson will be taken. He claims that the Idaho Falls boys will back him for all the Ogden sports care to wager.

IS BOOSTING POCATELLO U. C. T.

J. T. Young of Pocatello, formerly a resident of this city, is in Ogden boosting the U. C. T. convention, which will be held in Pocatello on June 10, 11 and 12. This meeting of the U. C. T. embraces the commercial travelers of Utah, Idaho and Montana.

During the week of the U. C. T. convention in Pocatello, the Retail Merchants of southern Idaho will hold their convention there, and the state pure food exhibit will also be in progress.

Mr. Young states that he has met with unusual encouragement and that he expects to see a large delegation of people from Ogden at the convention.

LATEST RETURNS.

Philadelphia, April 15.—Corrected returns up to this afternoon give Theodore Roosevelt 54 of the 64 district national delegates, with prospects that the number will be increased to 55, as the result of Saturday's primary election in Pennsylvania. ### TWO SETS OF DELEGATES

Sedalla, Mo., April 15.—Republicans of the Seventh district here today elected two sets of delegates to the Chicago convention. Taft adherents elected Louis Hoffman of Potosi county and Richard Johnson of Greene county. The Roosevelt men elected Edward M. Taubman of Lafayette county and L. Cunningham of Benton county.

CLUE TO MYSTERY

Nephew of Millionaire Marsh Now Under Suspicion

Lynn, Mass., April 15.—Chief of Police Thomas M. Burckes announced today that the man for whom Lynn inspectors are seeking in Maine and New York state and whom they wish to question in regard to the murder of George E. Marsh, the wealthy soap manufacturer, is W. A. Dorr, a motor cycle dealer of Stockton, Cal.

The first intimation that Dorr was in the east and had seen Marsh recently came from Chief of Police Frank E. Braire of Stockton, who on the day after the murder telegraphed the Lynn police, asking if a "low-sized man" had been seen recently with Marsh.

The inquiry which followed led to the discovery at Marsh's home of a letter written to him by another George Marsh of Stockton, supposed to be a nephew. In the police say the writer referred to Dorr and ad-

RANDOM REFERENCES

Marriage License—By special request County Clerk Samuel G. Dye today issued a marriage license to Frank B. Harris and Rheta Boyle of this city. The young couple will be married at the home of the bride's parents, 3272 Adams avenue, this afternoon.

Miners Coming—Two carloads of miners left Denver today over the Union Pacific headed for High Grade, Cal., where they will begin work in a new mining district which has just been opened. They will arrive in this city on No. 3 Tuesday morning.

Superintendent T. F. Rowlands and Assistant Superintendent Beaman of the Southern Pacific started west today on an inspection tour over the old line.

Sunset Magazine Boost—The Weber club publicity bureau has not yet decided upon the proposed booster article proposition recently submitted by a representative of the Sunset magazine. The committee will discuss the matter at a meeting which will be held tonight.

Clinton Presbytery—The Ogden Presbytery will meet at Clinton tonight. A sermon by the retiring moderator, Rev. A. F. Wittenberger of the Central Park church of Ogden, will be given at 7:30. The ladies Presbytery met at 2:30 this afternoon with Miss Lettie Stevenson of Logan as presiding officer.

James R. Smurthwaite, representing the Eccles interests in Basa City, and a former resident of Ogden, is in the city.

GOULD ROADS TO GET MORE FUNDS

According to rumors in railroad circles the shareholders of the Denver & Rio Grande will vote April 27 on a $2,500,000 adjustment bond issue, $10,000,000 of which will be set aside at once, in case the election carries, for the purpose of acquiring $2,500,000 worth of Western Pacific obligations. The Roosevelt men elected Edward M. Taubman of Lafayette county and L. Cunningham of Benton county.

HUNTSVILLE HAS RIGHT-OF-WAY

A delegation of Huntsville citizens called upon David Eccles and the directors of the Ogden Rapid Transit company today and informed the officials that all of the right-of-way near Huntsville has been secured. The committee also stated that a lot within one block from the city square in Huntsville has been secured and will be donated to the Rapid Transit company to be used as a depot site. There are portions of the right-of-way between this city and the point where the Huntsville committee began work, for which god title has not yet been secured, which may somewhat delay the beginning of construction.

The line will be started just as soon as a few minor details are worked out. One thing that keeps the project from going ahead just now is the high water in the canyon. As soon as this obstacle disappears and the weather becomes favorable, the project will go forward and it will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible.
