Sofia, Nov. 28.—Though no real assault has been made by the invaders on Turkish defenses at Adrianople, one whole battalion of Bulgarians was destroyed by a land mine exploded today from the front. The forts about Adrianople have been shelled and some of them captured by allied Servians and Bulgarians, who suffered heavy losses, according to the letter. On one occasion a Turkish fort was captured, but shortly afterwards the allies were forced to abandon it because of heavy fire directed against it by Turkish guns.

FLEET READY FOR BATTLE

Turks Profess Great Eagerness to Meet the Greek Squadron.

London, Nov. 28.—The Turkish fleet, with the exception of the cruiser Hammedeh, is reported by special correspondents in Constantinople to be ready to go out and fight. It is still doubtful, however, whether the Ottoman military authorities will agree to allow its use against the Greek fleet, despite the reported intention of the Greeks to transport large forces to Xeres bay, behind the Dardanelles. This move would seem to give the Turkish destroyers the chance for which Turkish naval officers profess to long.

During the period special delivery and registered mail only will be stamped with the time of receipt, the ordinary mail going through the offices by the most approved "short cuts" known to the postal service.

The members of the resolutions committee, which is composed of one delegate from each state, spent the forenoon elaborating their report, which is to be presented late this afternoon. In his report to the secretary of war, General Potts says these officers disclosed weakness in handling their organizations; in knowing how to subsist and care for their men in camp and on the general duties of commanders of organizations. Many officers, he charged, had progressed along theoretical lines at the expense of practical work and while they could discuss intelligently advance military topics, they were hopelessly lost when in command of even a company in the field.
