BUD ANDERSON READY FOR BOUT

Bud Anderson, a stock looking individual, came to town yesterday and has the backing of the solid north-west in a pugilistic match with any local lightweight. He was accompanied by his manager, Dick Donald, who has a date with Matchmaker Moffitt of the Oakland Wheelmen club for a prospective match in Oakland on January 15. Moffitt promised Anderson a go with Frankie Burns or "Red" Watson, but now that Burns has been eliminated it looks as if only Watson is in the field.

Harlem Tommy Murphy in San Francisco

Jimmy Johnson, manager of Harry Thomas, the English featherweight, has telegraphed Tom McCarey asking for a date with Joe Rivers. Thomas has outgrown the featherweight limit, and Johnson believes he will be a good match for the clever Mexican. Thomas has been seen on the coast before. He made a good impression in defeating Frankie Conroy, and lost to Jack White, having taken Owen Moran's place on three days' notice.

M'GOORTY WILL MEET GIBBONS

Eddie McGoorty of Oshkosh, Wis., and Mike Gibbons of St. Paul will meet on the Pacific coast February 22 if Gibbons is willing. McGoorty's manager already has signed and is ready to rush his man to the coast as soon as Eddie has filled three engagements in the east. James Coffroth of San Francisco has offered the fighters a 29 round engagement. The men will weigh in at 158 pounds ringside and the affair will be called a championship bout.

NEW SWIMMING RECORD IS MADE

The intercollegiate record for the 50 yard swim was bettered two-fifths of a second by Horace C. O'Sullivan, a Princeton freshman, who made the distance in 25 3-5 seconds here while competing in the freshmen's meet with the West Philadelphia high school swimmers.

RADICAL ROWING REFORM PLANNED

A novel rowing suggestion has been advanced by James Pilkington, president of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen, which, if adopted, will completely revolutionize the rowing methods in the United States. President Pilkington's plan is to adopt a universal system of scientific rowing similar to that in England, where the Oxford, Cambridge and public school oarsmen all row the same stroke. In order to accomplish this it is proposed to make a radical departure from the present training and coaching methods and secure the consent of the rowing committee or management of every educational institution of prominence to adopt the Courtney stroke and compel its use by having it taught by professional rowing coaches.

LEVINSON WILL MANAGE GRANDE

Sol Levinson, the well known sporting man of San Francisco, has taken over the management of Sailor Charles Grande, the local middleweight. Prof. Ryan, who has been looking after Grande for several months past, was compelled to turn over the management of the former to Levinson, owing to the fact that he was unable to spare the time to look after Grande's affairs. Levinson is particularly anxious to win with Otto Berg at Dreamland rink, San Francisco, for a four round bout January 17.

RIVERS TO GET FEBRUARY DATE

Tom McCarey said today that Joe Rivers undoubtedly will get the February 22 date at the Vernon arena. He does not know who will be Rivers' opponent. Joe Mandot has been seen here twice, but the count is one and one, having defeated Rivers one and lost to the Mexican the last time he fought him. Wolgast would draw well against Rivers, but Tom Jones has said that Wolgast would want $10,000 to fight convince the court that their first decision was wrong and compelled them to reverse it.

"We are impelled to the conclusion that Judge Archbald was determined—and I am inclined to think he was wrongfully determined—to have that case decided in favor of the Louisville & Nashville railroad."

INTEGRITY ARRAIGNED

Judge Archbald Hears His Case Presented in Bitter Terms

Washington, Jan. 9.—Judge W. Archbald, sitting before the bar of the senate of the United States, yesterday heard his integrity as a judge arraigned in bitter terms at the opening of the arguments that will terminate the impeachment case brought against him by the house of representatives for alleged misconduct in office.

Representative John A. Sterling of Illinois, his interrogator in the cross-examination before the senate, summing up the case against Judge Archbald, declared that it showed him unworthy of public office, and convicted him of a "system of conduct which he carried on with the railroads so rank that it 'smells to heaven.'"

Two days more of argument remain, the closing speeches to be made by the house managers. Representatives Ebb of North Carolina, Howland of Ohio and Floyd of Arkansas took up yesterday individual counts against Judge Archbald, dissected the evidence presented by the witnesses and reiterated in strong terms the opening charges of Mr. Sterling that the accused jurist had been proven unfit for further service upon the bench, or further positions of public trust.

Believes Judge Guilty. "The evil of this course of conduct that has been pursued by Judge Archbald is the effect it has upon the public mind," declared Representative Sterling. "The times are now pregnant with the sentiment that there is corruption in high places, justified in some instances and not justified in others. But in the case of Judge Archbald, from the conduct which we have proven against him, it seems to me that it puts on trial that part of the constitution relating to impeachments."

"If Judge Archbald is not convicted of these offenses and removed from office the verdict will be that the constitution is at fault, and that when a man commits offenses of the character he has committed the people have no redress. If the senate does convict Judge Archbald, if the conviction in this case is compelled, as I believe it will be, the people again will turn to the old constitution as their refuge and their harbor."

Mr. Sterling declared the specific charges against Judge Archbald, at least many of them, were not the single grounds upon which the house asked for his removal from office. Reviewing Judge Archbald's correspondence with Attorney Helm Bruce of the Louisville & Nashville railroad over a decision in which the commerce court ultimately gave the award to the railroad, he said:

Induced Reverse Decision. "I believe the inevitable, logical and reasonable conclusion is that Judge Archbald, by reason of this assistance from Helm Bruce, was able to

SHAW GIVES A WARNING

Washington, Jan. 9.—An emphatic warning from former Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw that a central reserve bank such as proposed by the national monetary commission would be controlled absolutely by Wall street, and a technical discussion by Prof. J. Laurence Laughlin of the University of Chicago, of the operation of reserve banks completed today's hearing of the Glass sub-committee of the house banking and currency committee.

LIFE SAVER TELLS STORY

Tried For Hours to Save Rosecrans' Crew—Begged Tug to Help

Astoria, Ore., Jan. 9.—Peter Krulis, the injured life-saver, told a thrilling story of the attempt to rescue the crew of the Rosecrans. After trying for hours to penetrate the wall of mountain-high combers that separated them from the wrecked vessel, the Port Canby crew turned back exhausted.

"It was then about noon," said Krulis. "Not a man of us could eat. The thought of those poor fellows hanging on to that rigging was too much for us. At last we could stand it no longer. We went in a bunch to Captain Riner and insisted on trying again. He was anxious as we to start.

Impossible to Ride Combers. "On the second attempt, it was even more impossible to surmount the combers and the seven life-savers begged Tatosh to tow them through. Captain Riner actually got down on his knees and wept as he begged Captain Reed to take our line," said Krulis. "But Captain Reed said it was certain death and he would not sacrifice his men."

Went Ahead Alone. "Then Captain Riner's men went ahead alone. When we reached the line of surf about a mile from the Rosecrans," said Krulis. "I went into the airtight compartment to attend the engine. With full speed we charged the line, but were beaten back. Three times we tried this and on the third attempt a big sea struck us up and turned us end over end. Bang! the door of the compartment flew open and out I went, my lungs full of engine gas and my leg out of commission from a jam against the engine when the boat lunged.

Caught in the Swirl. "I was caught in the swirl of a big comber and sucked down among the rocks and was about all in when I was pulled into the boat. Three others went over when I did, but were picked up. "Our boat had landed with such force that she was split almost from stem to stern and began to fill rapidly. It was then that the Point Adams crew came to our assistance and towed us two miles to the tug Fearless, which took us to the Point Adams station.

Just got aboard the Fearless when she was in her harbor and went to the bottom.

THREE PERSONS FREEZE AND DIE

Denver, Jan. 8.—Three deaths in Colorado are attributed directly or indirectly to the recent cold wave.

Mrs. Mary Dingley, aged 75, was found frozen in her bed at Georgetown today.

I was handing their club. I like Salt Lake and my experience has led me to believe, without boasting, that the fans will rather like me."

Will Make Money. Dick Cooley said: "McCloskey is the very best man Salt Lake or any other city, for that matter, could get. He will do well there. The Salt Lake baseball club is a valuable property and under favorable conditions, pays extraordinary dividends."

I believe that he will win the pennant next season and that his first year in Zion will be the most successful the city ever had.

"Only the fact that I have another project in which I have great faith has induced me to relinquish the property."

The formal ratification of the transfer is yet to be made, but that it will be ratified is a foregone conclusion. All of last year's players, except Jensen and Fortier, are on the Salt Lake club's reserve list and McCloskey has plenty of others on whom he can lay his hands in short order.

ANOTHER TRUST CASE TO BE TRIED

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 9.—The clerk of the United States court here today received the opinion of the United States circuit court of appeals in the case of the government against the American Naval Stores company, the so-called naval stores trust. The higher court overruled the demurrers filed by the defendant company and the case is ordered to trial on its merits in Savannah. The Peninsula and United Stores company were ordered stricken from the case for lack of evidence connecting them with the other companies.

CHILDREN SEE A TERRIBLE TRAGEDY

Salt Lake, Jan. 9.—In the presence of their three small children, Chris M. Christensen, a miner, 55 years of age, shot to death his wife, Christina, 23 years of age, and fired three shots into his own breast at the family home, 274 West Seventh South street, at 6:45 o'clock last night. Christensen was reported still living at St. Mark's hospital at an early hour this morning, though his chances of recovery are regarded as very slight. Jealousy was the probable cause of the tragedy.

The twin sister of Mrs. Christensen, Mrs. Nina Groves, met a like fate at the hands of her husband, Ned Groves, eleven years ago next Decoration day. Groves killed himself after shooting his wife in the Anderson rooming house, which formerly stood near the present site of the Newhouse building.

Wife Sought Divorce

Shortly before the holidays, Mrs. Christensen instituted proceedings for a divorce from Christensen. The principal charge made by the wife was that her husband had caused her arrest and detention for four days in the county jail, several weeks ago, on a statutory charge. When the case came up for preliminary hearing before Justice H. S. Harper, Christensen did not wish to push the charges against his wife, and she was permitted to go upon the motion of counsel for the state.

A letter addressed to the city and county officials was left by the slayer in explanation of his act. In it he is said to have charged his wife with infidelity, and to have given the name of a man believed by him to have been responsible for her fall.

The letter, which is now in the hands of the police, is said to contain a complaint that Mrs. Christensen had been led astray through frequenting certain resorts. It concluded with a request that it be not published.

Mrs. Christensen was in the act of putting supper on the table for her children when her husband entered the kitchen and began firing at her. The first three shots missed, one of them flattening against the warming oven of the range. Christensen then leaped closer to his wife, and as she turned away in terror, sent a bullet through her back. It pierced her heart, killing her instantly. The slayer burned her clothing.

The last shot in the revolver Christensen fired into his own body.

McCloskey's ultimate ambition is to put Salt Lake in the Coast league but this is at least one and probably more seasons in the future. McCloskey is really a famous personage in baseball. During his days in the major and class A leagues he attracted more attention from fans than any of his contemporaries. Fans also remember the splendid team he got together for Butte in 1911, when nothing but the utter lack of baseball enthusiasm in that city prevented the team from winning the pennant.

One characteristic of McCloskey that will appeal to Salt Lake baseball patrons is that his temperament is such he will not accept dictation from any one. Advice he does not reject, but all his life he has been the man who ran the club as long as he was connected with it.

The new owner of the Salt Lake team has a number of improvements in mind, but he has been so occupied with taking up the option he has not found time to describe them in detail. He is considering the advisability of reducing the admission to outfield bleachers to 25 cents. Concerning the purchase of the team, he said:

"I have taken up the option I had on the Salt Lake club and I am confident it will be a profitable venture. There is no need now to invest a large sum of money to get baseball started in Salt Lake, for we have the grounds and are sure of the patronage. We will put up a satisfactory article of base and we intend to do. I have always wanted to go to Salt Lake and the deal gives me more personal satisfaction than any other I could have made. When I have been in Salt Lake with visiting ground fans have shown me such good will that it always made me wish

RAY CONSOLIDATED IS FACING GOOD YEAR In calling attention to the fact that the 1912 copper production of the Ray Consolidated company was close to 37,000,000 pounds, George L. Walker predicts that the 1913 output will measure over 50,000,000 pounds, and may reach as high as 60,000,000 pounds. After calling attention to the shortage of labor throughout 1912 as one of the handicaps under which the Ray management labored, Walker says: "Another factor that is preventing a more rapid increase in Ray's production is the very low grade of ore it is now treating. The system of mining in use makes it necessary to mine the upper portion of the ore body first. It will be recalled that a considerable extension of the deposit was discovered some time ago and that it became necessary to mine this ore immediately or abandon it for all time. The block contains 500,000 tons or more that averages about 1.55 per cent copper and this, with the ore mined in the northern workings, makes up an average of about 1.78 per cent. As a result of operating on this grade of ore, which is considerably below the average of the whole deposit, Ray is not yet getting the full amount of production to which it is entitled to view of the tonnage of ore now going through the concentrator. "High-grade deposit of ore which forms the bottom of the Ray Central deposit, comprising over 700,000 tons averaging about 5.3-1 per cent, is now being developed preparatory to mining and a quantity of this ore will begin to be shipped immediately. The company will continue to increase its tonnage and production. By April it is expected that Ray will be producing 5,000,000 pounds of copper monthly. With its present volume of operations the company is earning good monthly profits and it is anticipated that an initial dividend will be declared on the stock some time this year."
