TESTIMONIAL IS FOR EARL PARDOE

A feeling of remembrance for one of Ogden's most public spirited young men, drew a select crowd of about 300 persons to the Earl Pardoe testimonial party which was held in the Weber Academy last evening.

The crowd was most congenial and, being drawn together by the single purpose, many good wishes for the absent guest of honor were expressed. A souvenir program was given each guest and 21 dance numbers were thoroughly enjoyed. Delicious fruit punch and wafers were served by Vivian Eccles and Eva Browning.

The success of the party came through the united effort of Mr. Pardoe's many friends, headed by members of the Ogden Tabernacle choir and the Weber Stake Y. M. C. A. board and a goodly sum was realized which will be sent as a little surprise to T. Earl, to assist him during the remaining months of his school course.

Mr. Pardoe expects to complete his course of study in June.

TRIBUTE PAID TO MEMORY OF FRANK FROST

With hearts bowed down with grief, the sorrowing relatives and friends of Frank Frost, who died Saturday evening at the Deo hospital, after a brief illness, assembled at St. Joseph's church this morning to pay their last respects.

Promptly at 10 o'clock the solemn toll of the bell announced that the funeral cortege was nearing the church, and a few moments later six young friends of the deceased, W. J. Lever, C. Allen, E. Brophy, E. Morrissey, L. Mumford and C. Corly, carried the remains into the church and, with saddened hearts and tear-bedimmed eyes, placed the coffin between the blessed candles, whose lights shed a soft and radiant glow over the bank of flowers which completely covered the casket—the silent tribute from a multitude of sympathizing friends.

Following the pallbearers were the devoted and grief-stricken mother, the fond and patient father and two loving sisters, besides the immediate relatives and friends of the deceased.

Requiem mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father P. M. Cushman, after which he paid a glowing tribute to the young man's memory and, with a voice trembling with emotion, he spoke kindly words of sympathy to the afflicted ones. He also exhorted all to learn a lesson from this young man's untimely death, saying in part: "It would be well for young and old to try and realize that youth and health are no preventives against death, nor is this reaper with serious aspect any respecter of persons. We have not a lasting city here below, therefore, we should be always ready, as was this dear boy, for we know not the day nor the hour when the Master will summon us. Perhaps it is difficult to understand why God saw fit to call this young man, in the flower and pride of manhood, but He alone, our Creator, can answer that question, for He knows for each one what is best."

This young man's ever pleasant smile will be missed from its accustomed place at work, where he was always ready and willing to lend a helping hand; by his friends with whom he conversed daily, but especially at home will he be missed, for when the twilight hour approaches and the family gather around the fireplace a vacant chair is there. Yes, but there is consolation for some day, if their lives like Frank's are modeled after the words of the poet: "So live that when thy summons comes to join the innumerable caravan that moves to the pale realms of shade, where each shall take this chamber in the silent halls of death. Thou go not like the quarry—slave at night. Scourged to his dungeon, but, sustained and soothed, By an unfaltering trust, approach thy grave Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams; then they shall all be reunited on that eternal shore where there is no sorrow and no separation.

At the conclusion of Father Cushman's tribute of respect to the deceased, the funeral cortege wended its way to Mountain View cemetery, where the last mortal remains of Frank Frost were consigned to moth and earth. Rev. John Ryan conducting the services at the grave.

For losing his temper for five minutes yesterday afternoon for disturbing the peace, will serve 40 days on the chain gang. When Judge Reeder pronounced sentence he stated that he had no sympathy with a man who forgets himself and uses profane language on public streets where women and children are passing.

According to the proprietor of the Board of Trade saloon, where the trouble occurred, Morris was in the saloon when credit was refused a man who wanted a bottle of whiskey. Morris stepped up to the bartender and stated that he knew the customer and would vouch for his credit. The bartender told Morris that a recommendation from him was a knock, and, taking offense at that remark, Morris told the bartender and all others within a wide radius what he thought of the saloon and its occupants.

He was arrested shortly after he had reached the height of his oratory.

Music will be furnished by the Jones orchestra, with vocal numbers by Mrs. I. H. Masters of Provo and Miss Nellie Ramsey and Mr. J. W. Ramsey of Ogden.

SEPARATION OF HARRIMAN ROADS

Officials at the Union depot are looking for definite information concerning the separation of the Southern and Union Pacific railroads before the end of the week. Up to this time, no information from the general offices has reached officials at Ogden.

After February 1, no tickets for the Southern Pacific will be sold from the city ticket office, but those in charge of the office do not know whether the Union Pacific will take over the Central Pacific. If that section of the road is taken over, the office will sell tickets over the Union Pacific from Ogden to Oakland.

TWO BOYS WERE ARRESTED FOR BEING DRUNK

If Alf Williams and W. F. Petron did not have a railroad ticket each for Los Angeles, they would have received sentences for drunkenness this morning.

When they showed their transportation and told the judge that the tickets expired within two days, Judge Reeder ordered them held until 3 o'clock and then turned them loose to get their train.

The two young men were arrested at the Union station last night and brought to the police station in such a drunken condition that Jailer Hagbert Anderson put them down in his little red book as the two most intoxicated men he had encountered in his five years' experience at the jail.

The boys, who are from Texas, attributed their drunk to the high altitude, stating that they had taken only a few drinks, but admitting that they were helplessly drunk.

Claire Steiner and Jack Barney forfeited $5 each by failing to appear in answer to charges of drunkenness.

BROOKS' BOND FIXED BY COURT

F. B. Brooks was arraigned before Judge W. H. Reeder this morning on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Brooks pleaded not guilty and asked for 10 days' time before trial in order that he may convert some of his property in Idaho into cash. The complaint against Brooks was signed by Henry Wessler.

The complaint alleges that Brooks gave the Wessler Cigar company a check for $47 in payment for a bill of goods amounting to $27 and received $20 in change. The check, which was on a Malad bank, was found to be worthless.

When the question of fixing the bond came to the attention of Attorney David Jensen, he stated that he was informed that Brooks had cashed checks aggregating $500 in different parts of the country and asked that the information be considered when fixing the bond.

Judge Reeder fixed the bond at $500.

HER REASON.

"Is it because she lacks nerve that she declines to wear her dresses decorated?"

QUACKS TO BE PROSECUTED IN OGDEN

At the annual meeting of the Weber Medical association at the Weber club rooms last evening the doctors of Weber county and Ogden determined to stop the illegal practice of medicine.

It was said at the meeting that there are a number of so-called doctors practicing in the community who have never attended a medical college and who have not passed an examination by the state board of medical examiners.

It was decided that Dr. C. F. Osgood, a member of the state board of medical examiners, be advised of the situation and the names of those breaking the law be given to him with the view to having the state board file complaints and proceed with prosecutions.

The doctors claim that there are people in the community who prefix "Dr." to their names and write prescriptions without authority of law and against the health interests of the people.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

Dr. A. A. Tomlinson, county physician, president.

Dr. W. E. Whalen, Ogden City physician, vice president.

Dr. C. R. McMurphy, secretary and treasurer.

Library Committee—Drs. R. S. Joyce, E. P. Mills and Ezra Rich.

Membership and Ethics Committee—Dr. J. H. Morrell, E. H. Smith and C. E. Hetzel.

BLASTING ROCK ON CANYON RAILROAD

The Ogden Rapid Transit company has awarded a contract for the construction of four steel bridges to J. J. Burke & Company. It is stipulated that the bridges shall be completed by August 1, 1914.

Engineer Joseph West states that work is progressing on the rock out in Ogden canyon, just east of the Hermitage, on the Huntsville extension. There are 20 men at work. The engineer is endeavoring to finish the rock work by early spring.

The rockmen have been retarded in the work by the extremely cold weather, the thermometer at times registering 17 degrees below zero. Weather conditions have somewhat moderated the last two or three days and it has been possible for work to be resumed.

ACCIDENTAL IS VERDICT OF THE JURY

That George W. Hales met his death in a purely accidental manner by coming in contact with a switch stand and being knocked under moving cars on January 5, about 2:10 p. m., was the verdict handed in by the coroner's jury this morning.

The jury was composed of Job Pingree Jr., R. H. Wadman and G. W. Hogan, and was first summoned on January 8, three days after the death of Hales.

At the inquest this morning the testimony of W. B. Starr, conductor of the Rio Grande; T. W. Nichol, a fireman, and John S. Baser, a car inspector, all of whom witnessed the accident, was heard.

WHEN THE S. P. IS OUT OF MERGER

For the use of foreign cars railroad companies are obliged to pay 45 cents per day, but the roads of the so-called Harriman system, the Union and Southern Pacific, the Oregon Short Line and the Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation company, without charge.

One result of the "un-merging" will mean that a rent of 45 cents a day must be paid to the Southern Pacific if the Oregon Short Line and other roads of the Harriman system use the cars of the Southern Pacific.

BOYTER MUST ANSWER THE CHARGES

Last evening Deputy Sheriff Thomas DeVine departed for Idaho Falls, Ida., to take in custody Robert Boyter who is held for alleged embezzlement in this city.

Complaints have been filed against Boyter, charging that last year, while operating in Ogden as a representative of the Northwestern Land company, he sold certain tracts of land, collecting part payments and appropriating the money to his own use. County Attorney David Jensen says there are about twenty accounts against the man.

It is understood that Boyter will return to Ogden without requisition papers to answer the charges. He has relatives here and an effort has been made to have them pay the delinquencies to avoid prosecution. They, however, have so far failed to respond and with the result that the officer has been dispatched to the Idaho city to bring Boyter here.

SWINDLERS IN QUARREL

Evidence Shows Big Profit in Selling Fake "de Luxe" Books

Chicago, Jan. 28.—That the sale of $60,000 worth of "valuable art objects" to E. P. Clark of Los Angeles, netted the Tomlinson-Humes company, dealers in "de luxe" books and bric-a-brac, a profit of more than 75 per cent, was averred in a petition filed today in the superior court of Cook county. Ira T. Eaton, a partner in the concern, sought to enjoin his associates from disposing of any property until a settlement of partnership accounts can be effected.

James Plunkett and Y. C. Humes, two of the defendants, were indicted by a recent federal grand jury in New York in connection with alleged "de luxe" edition frauds involving $50,000.

One of the transactions cited in Eaton's petition is a sale of Dickens' "first sets" for $8,000. He gave the actual worth of the books as $1,750. He testified that he purchased Plunkett's interest in the concern in November last and that he fraudulent accounts the firm had cheated him out of more than $40,000. The Tomlinson company, the petition avers, counted net profits aggregating more than $100,000 between January 1, 1909, and February 2, 1911.

Stock Market Opens Strong.

New York, Jan. 28.—Varied influences contributed to today's early manifestation of pronounced strength in the stock market, but perhaps the most potent factor in lifting quotations was Governor Sulzer's message concerning the stock exchange, which was regarded as moderate in tone. Excellent December reports of western roads strengthened the railroad list and industrial specialties were helped by the buoyancy of Tobacco and Can stocks.

Manipulative operations by powerful influences encouraged participation in the market and speculation at times was lively.

Bonds were steady.
