BILLS SIGNED BY UTAH'S GOVERNOR

Two thousand dollars annually becomes available for the purposes of archaeological research under the terms of senate bill No. 185, by Senator Iverson. The money is to be expended under the direction of the University of Utah in prosecuting the highly successful work that has been done in the southeastern part of Utah by Dean Byron Cummings and his associates.

Expeditions in the past under the direction of Dean Cummings have resulted in remarkable discoveries among the ancient cliff dwellers in San Juan county and in adjacent sections of Arizona. Utah's storehouse of prehistoric relics is pronounced to be one of the most wonderful and least understood in the world.

Each year's addition to the knowledge already acquired concerning the habitat of the ancient tribesmen who lived in the sides of hills and in caverns and in most cases gigantic structures sheds new light upon the modes and customs of a strange and evidently civilized people, and this year's investigations may reveal the key to the puzzle as to the identity of the prehistoric race.

WILL BE A GREAT HELP TO MOTHERS
The governor yesterday affixed his signature to house bill No. 49. This is the measure introduced by Mrs. King of Salt, providing for pensions for mothers who support their children by their own efforts. The law provides that the county commissioners of each county shall raise a sufficient sum for the purposes of the act, not to exceed $10,000 annually.

The act provides that a mother who would be compelled to leave her home and children to go out for regular employment if she were not a beneficiary under the act shall receive $10 a month if she has one child and $5 a month for each additional child. The act does not apply when children are more than 15 years of age; neither does it apply if the children do not live at home with their mother. The aim of the measure is to permit mothers to remain at home with their young children in order properly to rear them and look after their education.

The administration of the law is placed in the hands of the county commissioners in all the counties of the state except those counties having a population of more than 125,000—Salt Lake county—where the juvenile court has the administration of the act. In the event that the fund is not sufficient to permit of allowances to only a part of the persons entitled to receive pensions, then the county commissioners are to select those cases most urgently in need of the allowance.

GOVERNOR SIGNS NEW BOUNTY BILL
The bounty bill introduced by Day of Iron received executive approval yesterday. The act appropriates $30,000 annually for bounty purposes. In addition to this fund a tax of 5 mills is placed on sheep and goats and one of 4 mills on all range horses and cattle.

The bounties specified in the measure are as follows:
For each bear, mountain lion, cougar, gray, black or timber wolf, $15; for each coyote, lynx or wildcat, $1-50.

If the fund becomes exhausted the state auditor is to notify the various county clerks and no more certificates for bounty claims may be issued thereafter. There is at present a total of bounty claims unpaid of approximately $60,000. The new law provides that these may be paid out of the fund created by the act.

With the new law the sheepmen and cattlemen believe they can conduct an effective campaign against the predatory animals that are said to be increasing, and which are so destructive to livestock. In the original bill a bounty of $50 was provided for the destruction of each gray wolf. It is said by battlemen that the gray wolf is the most dangerous foe stock owners have to contend with. Happily there are few of them, but their increase is greatly feared.

Kane county the total bounty for the destruction of a gray wolf has reached $175. In spite of this tempting reward, C. John Smith, representative from Kane, said that only one gray wolf had been killed last year.

The gray wolf, it is said, often kills as many as 15 calves in a single night. Five or six cows or horses are also frequently numbered among the gray wolf's victims in one night when he gets into action.

HOTEL MEASURE BECOMES A LAW

Senator Ferry's "clean sheet" bill was approved by the governor yesterday. The law provides for the inspection of every hotel in the state by the state dairy and food commissioner or his deputy at least once a year. Every building used as a place where sleeping accommodations are furnished for pay to transient or permanent guests, in which five or more rooms are used as sleeping rooms, is deemed to be a hotel. A fee for an annual certificate is required on the following basis:

Five to 50 rooms, $2; 50 to 100 rooms, $5; 100 to 150 rooms, $10; more than 150 rooms, $15. Every hotel must have such a license.

There is a provision in the law which requires every hotel to be properly lighted and ventilated and to meet the requirements as to sanitation. Under the requirements relative to ventilation the law specifies that each bed room shall have at least one door and one outside or light well window, also a trap door as wide as the door leading into the hallway. All sleeping rooms must be provided with sliding bolts.

Within six months after the act becomes operative every hotel is required to install fire escapes of a modern type and to keep red lights burning at night indicating the way to the fire escapes.

Section 11 says that in each bed room and in each public wash room there shall be a door leading into the hallway. All sleeping rooms must be provided with sliding bolts.

The section relating to clean sheets says that all hotels shall provide each bed, bunk, cot or other sleeping place for guests with pillow slips and under and top sheets, the sheets to be not less than 99 inches long after being washed and of sufficient width completely to cover the mattress and springs. The sheets must be made of white cotton or linen and after being used by one guest they shall be washed and ironed before they are furnished to another guest, a clean set being supplied to each guest. Other bed clothing must be aired, disinfected and kept clean. No worn-out sheets, pillow cases or comforts may be used.

The law provides that any room infested with vermin or bed bugs shall be fumigated, disinfected and renovated until the vermin or bed bugs are totally eradicated.

Violation of the act is deemed a misdemeanor. The law becomes operative May 13.

of five or six years, when there would be no pensions of any amount for anybody.

LARGE HOTELS CAN SERVE LIQUOR

Governor William Spry yesterday signed the Judd bill permitting hotels of more than 125 rooms to serve intoxicants in their dining rooms with all meals from a service bar or store room separate and apart from the room in which the retail liquor business is conducted.

One effect of the new law will permit hotels of more than 125 rooms which have retail liquor licenses to serve intoxicants with meals in dining rooms without taking out two retail liquor licenses.

At present these hotels are required to take out one license for the bar and another for the dining room or cafe. It would also appear from the bill that intoxicants may be served in hotel dining rooms or cafes with all meals, without the necessity of observing the closing hours that restrict the sale of intoxicants at bars.

Opinions as to the effect of the law with reference to the sale of intoxicants with meals in hotel dining rooms or cafes between the hours of 9 o'clock and 5 o'clock in the morning and on Sundays vary.

Amends Old Law.
The bill is known as house bill No. 97 and was introduced by Representative R. L. Judd of Salt Lake, at the request of the hotel men of that city. The new law amends the section of the general liquor law with reference to the use of screens, partitions, booths and curtains in bar rooms. The present law prohibits the serving of liquor with meals in public dining rooms, but the courts have held that separate licenses are necessary for the hotel bar and for the hotel dining room. The amendment to the present law provided in the new law follows:

"Provided further, that any firm or person engaged in the hotel business and licensed to sell intoxicating liquors in a hotel building having not less than 125 bed rooms may deliver intoxicating liquors to be served at all meals in said hotel, from a service bar or store room separate and apart from the room in which such retail liquor business is licensed to be conducted."

Question is Raised.
The phrase "at all meals" held by many to permit the serving of intoxicants in hotel dining rooms and cafes at all hours and every day in the week, irrespective of the closing regulations which govern bar rooms. Such service is restricted to hotels having more than 125 bed rooms, which would limit the exemption from the closing requirements of the general liquor law to the Utah, the Newhouse, the Kentucky, the Seaboard, the New Grand, the Wilson, the Cullen and the Wellington hotels in Salt Lake, and the Reed, Healy and Marlon hotels in Ogden. The Moxum hotel in Salt Lake has 117 rooms.

Room for Argument.
Several who have read the law carefully hold to the opinion that the new law repeals the closing features in so far as they apply to hotels of more than 125 rooms.

The general liquor law permits city councils to make ordinances relative to the sale of intoxicating liquors in addition to, but not in conflict with, the statutory regulations. This provision of the law follows:

"Nothing in this act shall prevent or prohibit any city council, board of trustees or board of city commissioners from enacting restrictions upon and regulations of the traffic in intoxicating liquors in addition to but not in conflict with the provisions of this act."

Under this provision the city commissioners may enact an ordinance regulating the closing hours of saloons so long as they do not conflict with the statutes. Should this new law be held to permit the serving of intoxicants in hotel dining rooms, irrespective of the general closing regulations, it is unlikely that this provision would permit the city commissioners to enforce any ordinances to the contrary, since it would seem to be in conflict with the general provisions of the act.

'FROM THE MANGER TO THE CROSS'

In viewing the wonderful combination of film that makes up the great production it is impossible to realize the difficulties that beset these indefatigable players. In reproducing the scene where Jesus preached from the ship on the Sea of Galilee while the multitudes sat on the shore the identical spot where the event originally took place was reached and in order to obtain this remarkable picture the members of the company were compelled to make a round trip, traveling on donkey back for 250 miles over an extremely rough and dangerous country, and all members of the company, including the ladies, were heavily armed and in addition the governor of Jerusalem supplied them with an armed guard to protect them from the many bands of Bedouins who infest the country and rob the unprotected travelers.
