SQUADRON ARRIVES IN NAPLES

No Salutes Fired, Sailors Manned the Sides, Flags Were Dipped

Naples, Jan. 10.—The United States battleship Connecticut arrived here today. Her sister ships of the special squadron, sent to the relief of the earthquake sufferers, the Vermont, Kansas and Minnesota, accompanied the Connecticut to Messina, but did not come to Naples. They proceeded to Villafranca, where they are due tomorrow.

On the fact that the whole country are in mourning, no salutes were fired. The sailors manned the sides of the Connecticut and flags were dipped. Ambassador Griscom was on board.

The Italian admiral and port officers visited the Connecticut to pay their respects to Rear Admiral Sperry and express appreciation for American sympathy and aid. Admiral Sperry will return the call to the Duke of Aosta and other officials.

The trip from Messina was uneventful. A sharp rain squall, accompanied by blinding flashes of lightning, came up just when the Connecticut was leaving and as it was already dark, she picked her way out of the straits with the aid of her searchlights, soundings being made constantly from the forward chains. The weather improved, however, and the run was made in 17 hours.

The other battleships, after passing the straits, were instructed by wireless to proceed directly to Villafranca. Admiral Sperry may go to Rome to pay his respects to the king.

Already many Italians in the United States are applying for transportation for their relatives in Sicily and Calabria and while it is thought that the relief could not be better employed than in aiding the homeless refugees to make a new start in life in America, there are legal complications which might have to be settled at Washington.

Rome, Jan. 10.—The arrival of the American squadron under Rear Admiral Sperry, has been anxiously awaited here. The king has been ordered to notify the king when the squadron reached port, as his majesty is anxious to meet the American admiral, Ambassador Griscom having already arranged an audience there.

It is expected the king will proceed at once to Naples, as he wishes to participate personally in any arrangements for the reception for the warships. Admiral Sperry will place his ships at the disposal of the king, the government, and it is very likely he will be asked to proceed to the straits where the crews can perform most useful services in the relief work.

The United States supply ship Yankton, arrived at Messina on Saturday, following close on the Cullgo.

SALT LAKE AND STATE NEWS MANY VACANCIES TO BE FILLED

Who are going to do the state's work under Governor William Spry? To do it Governor Spry has at his command the appointment of seventy-five citizens of Utah to place on appointive boards. They will serve on thirty state boards, some with handsome remuneration, some for the honor there is in it, and some because it is a duty imposed upon them. On some of the boards the new appointees will make a working majority, on others all the board members will go out of office, or stand for re-appointment.

Sperry a list of the appointments he has decided upon was unsuccessful. Those nearest to the governor assert that it is a foregone conclusion the legislature will receive no names to be approved for appointments until near the close of its session. This means that applicants for positions of appointment must remain on the anxious seat until after February 15, and that no appointments save only the personal staff of the governor may be expected before that time.

The principal appointive positions are six in number. Their present incumbents are Caleb Tanner, state engineer; John E. Pettit, state coal mine inspector; Charles A. Glazier, state bank examiner; H. B. Cromar, state fish and game commissioner; Herman Harms, state chemist, and John Peterson, state food and dairy commissioner.

Of these officers, Mr. Tanner, Mr. Glazier, Mr. Harms and Mr. Cromar are practically sure of re-appointment. Mr. Pettit's position of coal mine inspector is in jeopardy through the probability of legislative action involving a state board of industries to be created this week, and of the proposed railroad commission, and that of a telephone commission, which is lately being urged. Even if retained, there is strong opposition which may prove successful.

Competing with Mr. Cromar for his position are seven candidates, Brigham Madison, I. M. Fisher, Robert Hodge, D. O. Wiley, William Wilson, and two others whose names could not be learned. In spite of this opposition, however, Mr. Cromar is confident that he will be re-appointed. Herman Harms has no opposition for state chemist, although John Peterson will have far from smooth sailing to be re-appointed food and dairy commissioner.

For the state boards vacancies are scheduled all along the line except in the state board of horticulture, all of whose members serve until 1911.

The boards of pardon, examiners, and insanity are composed ex-officio of state officials. For the state board of corrections the terms of Elias A. Smith and Dr. G. B. Ploutz expire. The positions pay no salaries, and these two officials serve with the governor on the board. Governor Spry will have two successors to these officials to appoint.

On the state land board, William J. Lynch, T. C. Callister, William Candland, Henry Hayes, and William Thayer have all reached the end of their terms, thus necessitating the appointment of an entirely new board. Contests are being made for positions on this board, and the probable outcome of them is as yet uncertain.

For the state board of education, two vacancies are to be created through the expiration of the terms of William Allison and D. H. Christensen. On this board the president of the university, the president of the agricultural college serve ex-officio.

The state board of equalization has one member who will hold over until the next session, that is John Watson. The retiring members are R. R. Tanner, John J. Thomas and R. W. Salisbury.

In the regents of the University of Utah many vacancies are to occur. Of these those whose terms expire are four, although one or a part of these may be re-appointed.

Those who complete their terms are Frank Pierce, Richard W. Young, Rebecca E. Little and Dr. Charles G. Plummer. Those serving until 1911 are J. T. Kingsbury, W. W. Ritter, Waldemar Van Cott, A. H. Lund and Samuel Newhouse.

Among the trustees of the agricultural college the percentage of expirations is not high. Those whose terms expire are D. O. Miner and A. F. Foreman. The state board of dental examiners is spared only a single member. This is W. G. Dalrymple. Those who re-appoint are J. H. Tripp, C. R. Berry, E. H. Clawson and W. W. Davis.

The terms of all members of the board of medical examiners expire. The present incumbents are D. C. Bueche, A. S. Condon, Charles L. Olson, C. A. Ewing, Fred W. Taylor, E. Straup, R. W. Fisher, Ralph Richards and A. P. Hibbs.

The state board of labor conciliation and arbitration has never been conspicuously by the number of calls made upon it for active duty. Its members are John Dern, Arthur Parsons and William Drysdale. The only one whose term is not up is Arthur Parsons.

A goodly portion of the state fair directors continue to serve. Of the twelve members of this board, the terms of only four are completed. These four are Priscilla J. Riter, W. C. Winder, Lester D. Freed and Joseph A. Silver. Those continuing to serve are J. G. McDonald, M. K. Parsons, T. H. Smith, J. H. Seely, F. J. Hewlett, Robert R. Irvine, Mrs. Emma A. Empey and F. J. Hendershot.

Of the Utah Art Institute directors the terms of Myra L. Sawyer, A. B.

Wright and Virginia S. Stephens expire. Those who continue in office are Edwin Evans, Leslie S. Hodgson, G. Wesley Browning and M. M. Young. The commission on uniform legislation is a body created by the last legislature to attend the convention at Seattle of the national Uniform Legislation association. Stephen A. Love and Charles R. Hollingsworth attended the convention while Ashby Snow, also a member, was unable to go. The term of the commissioners expires this month.

The state board of accountancy was created with a view of having it certify to the capability of public accountants after holding examinations to qualify them. Its members are Ralph E. Hoag, William J. Bateman and David J. Watts, all of whose terms expire.

Of the board of barber examiners, William Piggett and D. J. Watts have completed their terms, while Dr. C. M. Benedict serves until 1910. The three members of the board of optometry, Dr. L. W. Snow, P. J. Alexander, and H. O. Jensen, all complete their terms. The state board of park commissioners, George Webb and Joseph R. Murdoch retire. The board is a recent creation, made in the hope that the government would turn over the Strawberry valley as a state park.

The three members of the board of sheep commissioners all retire. They are L. R. Anderson, John E. Austin and J. S. Ostler.

When the fad for "examining boards" had gathered in the medical profession, the dentists, the accountants, the eye-glass sellers, the barbers, and the sheep men, it was also decided to extend it to the horse doctors. Therefore come into existence the "state board of veterinary examiners," with John Ernst, N. C. Spaulding and F. Parker as members. An adverse supreme court ruling threw the law out, however, and now the board is not likely to be re-appointed. The terms of all its members are completed.

In spite of the fact that many of these positions carry no salary, enough of them require stipends to make an annual salary list of $50,000.

RICHARD GRIFFITHS DEAD. Had Been in Railroad Service for Many Years.

Salt Lake, Jan. 11.—Richard Griffiths, an old and respected resident of Salt Lake, died yesterday at his home at 624 West Second North street.

Mr. Griffiths, who was well known in railroad circles, was born in Shrewsbury, Shropshire, England, in 1829. He came to Utah in 1871 and entered the service of the Utah Central road, also serving the Union Pacific and the Rio Grande Western roads. He is survived by his widow, two sons, Samuel L. and Richard Griffiths, and three daughters, Mrs. J. C. Slater, Mrs. Albert Ekker and Mrs. E. C. Marshall. He also has one grandchild, a son and nine great-grandchildren.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 1 o'clock from the Twenty-eighth ward meeting house on West Third North street.

GIRL IS ATTACKED. Victim of Assault With Weapon in Hand of Thug.

Salt Lake, Jan. 11.—Little eleven-year-old Blanche Wallace, living at 322 South Eighth East street, was the victim of an assault last night shortly after 11 o'clock. She had been caring for several children at a neighbor's house while the parents were at the theater, and while returning home, and having in her company a younger girl, a man sprang from the shadow of a tree and struck her down with some missile, supposedly a revolver. The incident occurred in front of the store.

MYSTERIOUS MURDER UNCOVERED AT MARION

Marion, Ind., Jan. 10.—A mysterious murder was uncovered here today when the charred body of Mrs. Rosa Ricks, aged 23, the wife of a timber bayer for a local factory, was discovered in the hay loft of a barn in the rear of the residence of Thomas Wilson.

The husband of the woman, who separated from her a week ago, and Levi Sutton, who is charged by Ricks with alienating his wife's affections, have been arrested. A cab driver to night said he drove Mrs. Ricks and a strange man to the barn Saturday night.

Graduated from the Bible. Octave Tharet tells a story of an old dorky in Florida who was anxious to learn to read, so that he could read the Bible. He said that if he could read the Bible he would want nothing else. A friend of the narrator taught him to read. Some time afterward she visited his cabin and asked him how his Bible reading was getting on. "Laws, Miss Fanny," said this person, "he jes' suttinly kin read fine. He's done got outen de Bible an' into de newspapers."

STRINGENT MEASURES ADOPTED

To Protect People and Property in Stricken Messina, Thieves Shot

Messina, Jan. 10.—General Mazza has adopted stringent measures to protect the people and property. In addition to establishing a police service around the city, he has issued orders that any person found excavating without a permit shall be shot.

The men captured were engaged in clearing away the debris caused by the recent fires in the mine, and it was expected that operations would be resumed this week, after two months suspension.

The bodies taken from the mine are badly burned and identification is difficult.

Twenty-six men entered the mine on the night shift and the names of the victims are taken from the payroll.

The explosion was peculiar. No noise or shock was heard at the opening of the mine—only a puff of smoke was noticeable. The engineer noticed the smoke and realizing that an accident had happened, summoned aid.

The mine had recently been on fire and the flames had been sealed and confined to workings which were not in the vicinity of the present explosion.

Mr. Letter aided her husband in quieting the wives and orphans who crowded about the mine. She furnished coffee and sandwiches to the men attempting to rescue the bodies.

The day was bitter cold, but Mrs. Letter was foremost in comforting the widows.

The coroner has adjourned a hearing until tomorrow. The mine was put in operation in 1903 and soon labor troubles began. In April, 1905, an explosion in the mine killed fifty-one men.

The interior of the mine was not damaged nor were the top works, and there is scarcely any trace of the explosion which proved most deadly to the men working below.

Joseph Husband, an intimate friend of Mr. Letter, who has been the latter's guest for the past week, was overcome and with considerable difficulty revived.

"Yes, farming is all very easy," the farmer said. "Any city person could make a success of it at the first go-off."

He sneered at his three girl boarders from Chicago in order to show that he had spoken in bitter irony. "Mrs. Jack Frost," he resumed, "took the farm next to mine one year. Being from the city, she thought she would show us country people a thing or two about real farming. She began on a chicken yard.

DISASTROUS EXPLOSION IN MINE

Bodies Taken From Mine Badly Burned, Twenty-six Men Killed

Du Quoin, Ill., Jan. 10.—A disastrous gas explosion in which twenty-five men lost their lives occurred at an early hour this morning in Joseph Letter's famous colliery at Zeigler. A spark from a trolley pole of an electric motor coming into contact with a pocket of gas is assigned as the cause of the explosion.

The Americans killed in the explosion included: WILLIS WARNER and ALBERT KERR foremen; JAMES PATTERSON, JOE RICHARDSON, FRED MORGAN, J. O. ERANS, GILBERT JONES, JOE TATE, JAMES PHILLIPS, JOHN CASSAY, AARON J. ERTOLL, THOMAS HUBBARD, C. PUCKETT, CHARLES SMOTHERS.

Eight bodies yet remain in the mine. Mr. Letter personally conducted the first relief party into the mine.

The lone survivor of the explosion was an Italian youth who escaped unharmed.

An expert who had been experimenting with gas in the mines at Zeigler left Wednesday confident that he had placed the mine in safe condition to be operated.

DEMOCRAT FOR U. S. SENATE

Republicans Pledged to Gov. Chamberlain; Opposition Will Suffer Defeat.

Salem, Ore., Jan. 10.—The probable election of a democrat to the United States senate by the republicans pledged to such a course will be the chief feature of the Oregon legislature which convenes in this city tomorrow. There is but one candidate for United States senator, George E. Chamberlain, the present governor of Oregon, who was selected as the choice of the people last June, defeating the republican party choice, H. M. Calk, the victor over United States Senator Fulton, in the primaries.

While the people do not actually elect the senator, they indicate their preference, and in the last election they elected a sufficient number of members of the legislature to carry out their desire. Those pledged to elect Chamberlain are designated as "statement number one" men, and those opposing him as "antis."

The "antis" probably will control both branches of the legislature, notwithstanding the fact that they are in the minority. Jay Bowdman, "anti," probably will be elected president of the senate, and C. N. McArthur, "anti," speaker. Senator Fulton's friends have been working for months to find some plan to accomplish the defeat of Chamberlain, and bring about the election of some republican. It is the general belief, however, that the opposition to Chamberlain will suffer defeat after a warm political fight.

The Balkan situation again is assuming prominence, while the sensational change in Bessarabian affairs in Chamay may also be relied upon to bring further developments.

On Wednesday the Cuban congress will meet in Havana to pass on credentials. On January 20 the congress will reconvene to proclaim the election of a president and vice president, and eight days later it will enter upon a continuous session with the inauguration of Presidentomez.

The Atwell-Weeks fight for the feather-weight championship, at Goldfield, Nev., on Thursday, is an important sporting event.

Congress will have a busy week. Senator Tillman will take the floor immediately after the senate convenes tomorrow and will make reply in detail to the allegations contained in the president's letter to Senator Hale. He will attempt to show that his "notion" attempt to procure the cancellation of the Coody Bay wagon grant were entirely apart from his private efforts to secure for himself and family some of the lands contained in the grab.

On Monday or Tuesday Senator Carter will call up the postal savings bill and attempt to have the senate fix a day for voting upon it.

The house Monday will be given to the consideration of miscellaneous legislation for the District of Columbia.

HUNTINGTON WILSON BELOW. SPENCER S. EDDY AT TOP.

Washington, Jan. 10.—In accordance with President Roosevelt's policy of promotion in the diplomatic corps, Spencer S. Eddy has been sent to the Balkan states, where he will have great work to do for the United States. He is to succeed in Argentine by Huntington Wilson of Illinois, who goes as envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary.

Mr. Wilson is a son of Ben M. Wilson of Chicago, and is 33 years old. He graduated with the Yale class of 1897. He was appointed second secretary of Tokio in that year, and was promoted to first secretary on October 11, 1900. When the legation was raised in rank he became secretary of the embassy. He was appointed as third assistant secretary of state in June, 1906.

Mr. Wilson was married to Miss Lucy James of St. Louis, Mo., the wedding having taken place in Baltimore, Md. He was commissioned December 17 as the new minister to the Balkan states, but the appointment subsequently was transferred to Argentine to permit Mr. Eddy to secure the European berth.

COLLAPSE OF ANCIENT CHURCH

Worshippers are Buried in Ruins, Forty Corpses Recovered, Sixty Injured

Berne, Switzerland, Jan. 10.—During service today an ancient church near the village of the Grimsy, collapsed, burying the worshippers in the ruins. Practically all the members of the congregation were killed or injured. A wild panic followed, those who escaped rushing through the fields shouting that an earthquake had overtaken the village. Other members joined in the outcry and were with difficulty calmed.

After an hour's exertion the fire department of the village extricated forty persons but it is believed there is still a number under the timbers. Sixty persons were badly injured.

The collapse was caused by the time-worn pillars in an underground crypt giving away.

Aristocracy. Thus the clearest dictates of reason are made to yield to the long succession of follies.
