IMLAY MILL IS NEARLY FINISHED.

Salt Lake City, June 11.—The mill at the Imlay mine in Humboldt county, Nevada, will go into commission about July 1. It has a capacity of fifty tons daily and the General Engineering company, which is erecting the plant, declares that it will be the first and most perfect mill of its size in this country. Superintendent J. H. Turner reports that the building is practically completed, the mortar blocks are in and the engine is on its foundation. Most of the shafting is set and the other machinery is being speedily placed. The Imlay mill will be lighted by electricity. It has three sixty-horse power boilers. The mine is equipped with a fine hoist and compressor, a sufficient supply of water, and, in fact, everything required to do good work. The ore bodies are opening up better and better all the time and Mr. Turner writes that from a new strike on the incline level he has obtained the finest gold panning he has ever found in that country. The 2nd level is now showing up fine. The drift is in highly mineralized quartz and is now only forty feet from the big ore shoot on the upper levels. The drift shoot on the 150 level is in splendid quality of shipping ore. Superintendent Turner declares that he will have no difficulty in supplying the mill with fifty tons of good ore per day for an indefinite period and that he will soon have news for the stockholders that will cause rejoicing.

FOR MRS. HUNT.

A beautifully arranged affair of the week was the breakfast given at the Virginia Wednesday morning by Mrs. A. Q. Campbell, its inspiration being her mother, Mrs. Clarence P. Hunt, of Memphis, Tennessee, who is spending the summer here. The hostess was assisted in receiving by Mrs. J. H. Spargo, Mrs. Charles Hollingsworth, Mrs. Albert Horn, Mrs. Clyde Leavitt, Mrs. Phillip Knisely and Miss Emilie Bannister.

The color scheme in decorating was white and green. Indeed, the dining room was suggestive of fairyland. Two long tables were arranged in the form of the letter T, and festooned their entire length from the chandeliers, where they were caught with broad ropes of the plumosa fern studded with frosted incandescent lights. In the niches of the wall were the candelabra in which were lighted white candles with green shades, and similar candles were used on the tables. The large oval centerpieces were made of easter lilies, white carnations, white snap dragons and ferns. The place cards were white with the monogram in green and gold and the menu, which was dainty in every detail, was carried out in the predominating colors, with a touch of gold.

Those present to meet Mrs. Hunt included Mrs. Gus Becker, Mrs. Hugh Rowe, Mrs. George Matson, Mrs. Conrad Bohm, Mrs. Totten, Mrs. Fred J. Kiesel, Mrs. Frederick Birdall, of Sacramento, Cal.; Mrs. Arthur Kuhn, Mrs. Harry Bell, Mrs. Fred Smith, Mrs. L. L. Reynolds, Mrs. R. S. Dr. Wilson, acting medical director of the asylum, who stated that Grassmoe had died of "paralysis and exhaustion," was summoned by Coroner Hartwell to appear at today's hearing.

THEATRICAL

"THREE WEEKS."

Popular books, as a rule, make very poor material for plays, because they contain so much of incident that must be of necessity, omitted. The notable exception, however, is Elinor Glyn's story, "Three Weeks," which has been so widely discussed on both sides of the ocean. Since the original copyright performance in England, in which Miss Glyn appeared herself, the play has been revised and reconstructed to such an extent that it is said now to be a powerful love tragedy. It will be presented in its revised form at the Utah Theater on Monday, June 14th, with a special cast of players, headed by the distinguished actress Miss Beryl Hope, and Harry C. Browne, who will play "The Lady" and "Paul" respectively. Others in the cast will be Miss Lillian Rhodes, Miss Caroline Lamar and the Messrs. Frank J. Kirk, Sydney Price, William C. Chatterton, W. T. Hayes, W. J. McConnell, R. H. Thomas, Charles Moncrief, William Casey and Albert Duall. The play will be mounted with special scenery, the two notable effects being the lawn before the Hotel at Lucerne and the Boggia of the Palace at Venice, where the "Feast of the Roses" occurred.

Miss Glyn had a great motive in her book which was purposely or otherwise, misinterpreted by a host of readers; but, in her own dramatization of the story, she has left no room for doubt. The moral strength and object lessons are obvious to all.

The play begins with a prologue, showing the home of the Queen at Sardalla and introduces the character of her drunken and vicious husband, thus supplying a plausible motive for all that followed in her life. The sad story of this Queen is of particular interest to women, who have comprehended and understood her better than men. They have wept with sorrow at her misfortune and sympathized with her in her great love. This Queen had a glorious motive for her sin which cannot be attributed to Marguerite, Sappho, Zaza, Camille or Lady Isabel. And to almost all readers her character is superior in every
