RUNS SIX MILES AND THEN MEETS A POSSE

Draper, Utah, July 22.—After an exciting chase of six miles over the hills from Alpine toward Draper by J. E. Lewis of Alpine, from whom he stole a purse containing $29, Edward Roberts was arrested this afternoon by Thomas Vaudrey, justice of the peace at Draper.

Roberts has been employed by Lewis on his fruit orchard for a short time past, it is said to have seized the first opportunity to plunder his employer and get out. When he found Lewis asleep he stole his purse and hit the trail. Lewis woke up soon after he had gone and missing his purse, hunted around for Roberts. When it was found that he too had vanished, a hue and cry was raised which brought a number of the neighbors out to join in the hunt for Roberts.

After dinner his wife, as was her custom, lay down for a nap. When she awakened she did not see Mr. McDanel about the house and she began a search for him with the result that she found him hanging from a rafter in the barn, dead.

by screaming at the top of her voice that she had taken poison and intended to jump into Jordan river.

C. H. Burrell and his sister, who heard the girl's cries, rushed to her side and restrained her. Fearing she had really taken poison they forced her to accompany them to police headquarters.

An emergency hospital Dr. M. R. Stewart was summoned. After an examination he said he had found no evidence whatever of poison; that the young girl was suffering from hysteria and that the hysterical condition apparently had caused a slight mental derangement. She was released to the custody of her parents.

ATTACK MADE UPON MOYER'S REPORT

Denver, July 22.—The expected controversy over the adoption of President Moyer's report occupied practically the entire time of today's session of the Western Federation of Miners convention. The introduction of the committee resolution recommending favorable action, was the signal for the anti-administration forces led by P. W. Flynn of Butte to launch their carefully prepared counter.

The "insurgents" opened their fight with an attack on President Moyer's supplementary report in which that official charged the Flynn adherents with attempting to disrupt the federation for personal preference. A statement of the controversy, prepared by P. W. Flynn, was read and its adoption was offered as an amendment to the committee report on the president's address.

The basis of the controversy was found in the refusal of the federation officers to credit the Butte union with either share of the three one dollar assessment authorized by a previous convention for the creation of a strike fund, allowing it to apply on a federal debt of $15,000 to the Butte local.

A lengthy discussion ended in an attempt by the Flynn crowd to have Moyer's supplementary report as well as his statement tabled, but this was lost, 149 to 188. Before the vote on the adoption of the Flynn statement was taken, the hour of adjournment was reached.

"Mother Jones" addressed the convention today in behalf of the alleged Mexican revolutionists, for whom extradition is sought by the Diaz government.

Lynn, Mass., July 22.—A body believed to be that of an Arizonian was found in a trunk in a lodging house at No. 148 Liberty street today. The head was mutilated and there was a bullet wound over the heart. The body was fully clothed and in a pocket a bank book was found, bearing the name of Minus K. Morjian. Mrs. Rollins said there never had been in disturbance in the room and that nothing had ever been noticed there to arouse suspicion until today. The door of the room was not locked, she said, and she had paid a daily rate to it since Monday.

Whether Jones had returned, in a bank book was a note which said: "If anything happens to me, notify L. B. Adams, 388 Center street, Jamaica Plains."

MINING NEWS

JESSE KNIGHT WILL ADD TO HIS PLANT

Salt Lake, July 22.—The entire Tinco smelter plant is to be closed down for a week or ten days for repairs and a general clean up. Such was the announcement of "Uncle" Jesse Knight this morning. For some time this has been contemplated and it was not until today that final arrangements were made for the work.

"We are closing up the plant to have a general clean up," said Mr. Knight over the telephone this morning. "I do not know the extent of the work planned as I have not been at the smelter in several days. Some new machinery is now on the ground for installation and the plant is to be cleaned up throughout. A new concentrator will be put in and it is expected that a week or ten days will be required to complete the work."

"While the plant is being overhauled we will ship the Colorado and Iron Blossom ores to the valley smelters so that the stockholders will not suffer from lack of dividends. ELIOT PROPHECIES ADVENT OF NEW RELIGION.

Cambridge, Mass., July 22.—Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard, in an address before the Harvard summer school of theology today prophesied the advent of a new religion. "It will not be bound by dogma or creed," he said. "Its workings will be simple, but its field of action limitless. Its discipline will be the training in the development of co-operation and good will. It will attack all forms of evil. There will be no supernatural element; it will place no reliance on anything but the laws of nature. Prevention will be the watchword, and a skilled surgeon one of its members. The religion will not teach that character can be changed quickly. It will not deal chiefly with sorrow and death, but with joy and life."

DURANT, MONT., JULY 22.—A big mogul engine pulling a westbound Northern Pacific freight train, left the rails this morning while on the down grade near here, taking sixteen cars with it, and piling in a mass of wreckage in the creek bed thirty feet below. J. B. Thomas, head brakeman, was killed. His body is still buried beneath the wreckage. J. L. Roberts of Butte, who was stealing his way, it is believed, sustained fatal injuries. Fireman T. E. Drury, and Rear Brakeman S. E. Burton both were injured, the latter slightly. Engineer Sam Hicks escaped with barely a scratch and immediately rescued his fireman, who but for the timely assistance would soon have perished.

It will be necessary for the railroad company to construct a temporary road around the wreckage to avoid any prolonged interference with traffic. A dozen hobo in a box car had a narrow escape when the train took its plunge.

Man Who Saved Galveston

Galveston, July 22.—At the cotton carnival next September, Galveston will again demonstrate her joy and pride in the new Galveston, which has risen almost overnight on the ruins of the old, and no man will receive more honor than a comparatively unknown clergyman, now in middle life, James M. Kirwin.

Mr. Kirwin is one of the independent, energetic types in the church and does many unconventional things, thereby shocking many of his congregation. He is to be seen today, just as he was ten years ago, on the streets of Galveston smoking a pipe or cigar, rooting loudly at the baseball games, which he seldom misses, and thoroughly enjoying life.

Those who admire nerve and bravery, honesty and squareness, are his warmest friends, for Mr. Kirwin possesses them all.

During the Galveston flood, when thousands of persons were drowned in the streets and in the ruins of the structures, it was Kirwin who saved the city from a horror worse than the storm. Horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, chickens, rats and all sorts of animals had been killed by the hundreds of thousands. In this climate decomposition sets in rapidly. There was not a hearse or wagon in the whole city that was fit for service. Everything was in a chaotic condition. The first day efforts were made to identify the dead and temporary morgues were erected, but soon it was found that to save the living, the dead would have to be disposed of at once.

The next day it was Father Kirwin who took charge of the disposing of the dead. And after every expedient had failed it was found necessary to cremate the bodies and he applied the torch. For ten days and nights he worked in the ruins, taking out the dead and carrying them to feed the ever-burning fires. In these ten days he did not have, all told, twenty-four hours of sleep, but order was brought out of chaos and the city was saved from total destruction, and but for Kirwin's energy and leadership, the Galveston of today would never have been possible, for the calamity would have been far worse than the horrors of the flood.

Today Father Kirwin is loved and respected by all, and he will receive marked honors when Galveston celebrates her rebuilding.

THE $100,000 COP

To give up a life of luxury and ease for an ambition is what Arthur Mulholland of Philadelphia has done. Mulholland, who inherited a fortune of $100,000 from which his income is about $200 monthly, has taken a job on the police force at $225 a day in order that he might realize his ambition to become a great detective. He is one controlling desire in the world is to ferret out crime, and in order to begin at the bottom he has started in as a member of the city's force.

Mulholland is 28 years old and is at present connected with the Twentieth police district. He inherited the money from his parents. For a time he endeavored to study detective work by associating with some of the best sleuths of the city's force, all of whom are his friends and believe he will one day make his mark as a detective. He found, however, that the city's sleuths gained their first knowledge by patrolling a beat in uniform and he concluded he could best help himself by serving such an apprenticeship. After receiving his appointment and passing the civil service examination he started to work in earnest in making good as a policeman.

Some months before Mr. Mulholland joined the force he disposed of a magnificent yacht and an automobile, and gave up all such luxuries. He is very well educated and a pianist of note.
