

NO LIQUOR SOLD IN CANYON SUNDAY

Judge William H. King and his two daughters drove up from Salt Lake yesterday and spent the day at the Idlewild resort in Ogden canyon, taking dinner there and returning to Salt Lake in the evening.

Judge King is a very prominent Democrat in his home town and is well known throughout the state as one of the hardest working members of his party and as an orator of note.

In an interview with a representative of the Examiner at Idlewild yesterday he expressed himself as being very much chagrined over the consolidation of the Salt Lake Herald and the Intermountain Republican.

Judge King said that details have been perfected for the consolidation of the two papers, that D. C. Jacklin has purchased the Herald in its entirety and the combination will now become the official organ of the Republican party in Utah.

He further stated that, although the Democratic party will be considerably embarrassed by the loss of their organ and that they will be greatly handicapped for the same reason, they intend to make a determined fight hereafter without the aid of a newspaper.

Judge King said that although the odds are against the Democrats of the state are warming up for the fray and that the opposition directed toward them is putting more ginger into the party warriors than even success could do.

He was very much pleased upon hearing of the record made by the Ogden City water works since being taken over by the municipality, and complimented the mayor and the city council very highly.

"How dry I am! How dry I am! Nobody knows how dry I am." Such was the cry heard all up and down the canyon yesterday because of the edict which was sent forth from the sheriff's office to the effect that no liquor should be sold in the canyon on Sundays, and also because of the close observation of this order by the resort keepers and buffet men, aided by the eagle-eyed deputies who patrolled the canyon to see that the order was fulfilled.

A great many persons who journeyed to the canyon for their periodical Sunday spree and who knew nothing of the recent order were mightily disappointed upon finding the doors barred and the blinds left undrawn as a token of respect to the mandate issued by the minions of the law.

Sheriff Wilson has been congratulated upon his worthy move and yesterday Ogden canyon was free from the turmoil and noise of drunkenness and rowdyism and the place seemed a veritable haven of rest for the over-worked business men who spend their Sundays there in quest of peace and quietude.

When Ringling Brothers' circus left Laramie yesterday morning John Hardigan was given permission by some of the employees to ride on top of one of the circus wagons which was placed on a flat car. Hardigan was overjoyed at the thought of being able to come through so conveniently and without paying anything for the ride.

As he sat upon his perch, he was rudely confronted by three big, black "niggers" who are employees of the show and who demanded his money. Hardigan slipped $15 into his mouth and allowed the negroes to go through his pockets, securing but four dollars for their trouble. Hardigan jumped off the train in preference to being thrown off and informed the local officers of his plight, asking them to meet the train in Ogden. He then in some mysterious way boarded the train again and when the train pulled in here, he was on hand to give the officers a description of his assailants.

While the circus cars were being switched in the local yards, Utah Pacific Detectives Hart and Lewis captured a man who gave his name as General Allen, and he was identified by Hardigan, who says there were two other men implicated in the crime. General Allen declares he is innocent.

Four of the ten boys who broke away from the Industrial school camp are still at large.

George Lewis, a lad who escaped from the Industrial school last winter and an all around bad boy, was caught in Salt Lake yesterday by the police officers there. The authorities in Salt Lake think that Lewis is too tough to send back to the school, and as he is of age they will likely detain him there and hand him over to the district court.

HOPPE AT WEBER CLUB TOMORROW

Willie Hoppe, the world's champion billiard player, known all over the world as the boy wonder, and his manager, Eddie Kane, are in town. They are registered at the Reed and will remain until tomorrow morning, when they leave for Seattle, where Hoppe has an engagement at the fair.

Hoppe expressed himself as well pleased with Ogden and is willing to lay a wager that a more beautiful canyon than Ogden canyon can not be found anywhere in the world. He said that an attempt to describe it would be useless and that it would take something more than words to tell of its wondrous beauties.

Yesterday morning Hoppe and his manager went through their regular billiard and racing, which consist of boxing, wrestling and racing, after which they took a horseback ride to see more fully the grandeur of Ogden canyon.

Besides being the world's champion billiard player, Hoppe is a boxer of some note, and Eddie Kane says he would clean out three-quarters of the fellows who pose as prize fighters.

He is something of a mat artist and can run the hundred in eleven seconds. At the Weber club tonight Hoppe will meet the champion billiardist of Iowa and also Lloyd Jevne of Salt Lake. Hoppe has played remarkable billiard, breaking the world's record for a three-cushion game in Salt Lake recently.

The Ogden sports who like to see a real billiard game will not fail to be at the Weber club tomorrow night. After the game Hoppe will give an exhibition in which he will show the fans some things he can do with the cue which would be impossible for a lesser light.

HOPPE AND HIS MANAGERS PLAY BALL AT FAIR GROUNDS

Yesterday morning while the Goddard Cigar company's team was practicing at the fair grounds, two youthful, well dressed fellows, each armed with a baseball glove, walked up to the captain of the team and asked if they could warm up with the rest of the team. The captain had no objections so the two unknowns took their positions in the field and after a few minutes work-out the rest of the crowd realized that they had some real live baseball players on the ground.

After the practicing had ceased the captain walked up to the boys, asked them several questions and wound up by trying to get them to sign a contract with him to play for his team the rest of the season. After a great deal of bickering one of the boys calmly announced that he could not sign a contract just now, as he had all he could take care of for a while.

Then the other spoke up and said: "Yes, Bill is pretty busy just now, and I have just signed a contract with Merle and Heaney of Seattle for a match game for a purse of $10,000. Willie is to play them for six nights and give the other fellow a good, big handicap."

Captain Goddard, then "gumbled" to the effect that Willie Hoppe and his manager, Eddie Kane, had been the star performers of the morning on the Gleadow diamond.

DR. RILEY PUTS IN STRANGE FIVE YEARS

"I served on the United States hospital corps through the Spanish-American war and put in two years' practice in Panama," says Dr. F. J. Riley, the Chicago physician, "but the strangest years of my life have been the past five seasons. I have served as head physician of Ringling Brothers' circus."

My duties as doctor in this unique city of tents are not arduous, though I am kept pretty busy with bruises and sprains and now and then a broken limb or a fractured bone. Circus folk are naturally healthy, but, like the usual run of perfectly well people, they stand in the greatest dread of sickness. I have had magnificent specimens of physical health come with very faces into my offices, firmly convinced that they were in the early stages of decline, so you see much of my time is occupied from 10 in the morning till 4 in the afternoon sitting at my desk, prescribing to the imaginary ill of men whose health I cannot cannot be overestimated. Take a man whom the confinement of office life has reduced to a shadow, and one season with a circus, in any capacity from driver of a thirty-two horse band chariot to general manager, will do him more good than a post graduation in a pure food sanitarium.

"It is impossible to comprehend the magnitude of this big institution till you have traveled with it for months. It is like a city in itself, with a population of 1,258 people, whose home is a train more than a mile in length. On the show grounds are a postoffice, a dynamo plant supplying current for 6,000 lights, a hospital, library, police force, general store, barber shop and bath parlors, and all the various shops that are found in the ordinary town. In the circus 3,500 meals are served daily.

"I am far from the opinion that circus life is demoralizing. It offers fewer temptations than does a city, and I believe a boy with the Ringling circus who goes wrong, would not have honored his parents in any other calling. The benefit to a man's health

NEGRO THIEF IS TAKEN TO ELKO

Deputy Sheriff Harbin of Elko left this morning for that city, taking with him William Hopson, a negro, who was caught by the local authorities and who is wanted in the Nevada state to stand trial for a robbery he committed there a few days ago. When identified by Deputy Harbin, Hopson was wearing the suit of clothes which he stole and he also had part of the money still in his possession. A watch which he stole was placed in one of the Ogden pawn shops and the police are now making a determined search for the timepiece.

In an interview with Chief of Detectives Pender, Hopson first denied his guilt, but upon a statement by Detective Pender a streak of yellow cropped on the coon and he confessed everything.
