

Why Are We Stronger?

The old Greeks and Romans were great admirers of health and strength; their pictures and statuary made the muscles of the men stand out like cords.

As a matter of fact we have athletes and strong men—men fed on fine strength making food such as Quaker Scotch Oats—that would win in any contest with the old Roman or Greek champions.

It's a matter of fact. The finest food for making strength of bone, muscle and nerve is fine oatmeal. Quaker Scotch Oats is the best because it is pure, no husks or stems or black specks. Farmers' wives are finding that by feeding the farm hands plentifully on Quaker Scotch Oats they get the best results in work and economy. If you are convenient to the store, buy the regular size packages; if not near the store buy the large family package.

Pattern, Style, Quality of material, excellence of workmanship and fit being superior, the impression prevails that custom tailored clothes are very expensive. Clothes we make are not only within your reach, but they satisfy completely and outwear average clothes two to one. You'll appreciate the strength of our argument by letting us make your Fall Suit or Overcoat.

Over 500 Patterns in which you will find all the new creations in gray and fancy blue serges.

The dearest suit you can buy may be the lowest in price. A suit that doesn't wear or hold its shape is dear, no matter how little you pay for it. IF WE TAILOR YOUR SUIT its first cost will be no more than you ordinarily pay. Its better fit, its better wear, its permanent good shape, however, will make it really cheaper in the end than any other suit you could buy. Come in and be measured. You need a new suit, anyway. Why not have the best when it costs no more?

SALT LAKE AND STATE NEWS

SAYS JESSE KNIGHT IS GUILTY OF A CRIME

Salt Lake, Sept. 16.—A special to the Telegram from Denver says: Jesse Knight, millionaire mining man of Provo, Utah, former presidential elector, introduced in arguments made in arguments heard before United States circuit court of appeals yesterday to have been party to a conspiracy to confine William J. Wilson of Ohio, in an insane asylum in order to secure control of mining property worth more than $750,000.

Knights, David Evans of California, the Plutus Mining company, with the Juab Mining company are appellants in a suit taken up to the court by Wilson as appellant. The mining properties consisted of three claims in the Tintic mining district in Juab county, Utah.

Wilson discovered them while prospecting. In 1898 he gave an attorney named Murray power to dispose of them for not less than $10,000. When the sale was made Murray, it is alleged, was to have deposited the money received in Walker Bros. bank in Salt Lake City.

He sold the mines, it is declared, for something like $550,000, to the Plutus Mining company. Wilson never received a cent of the amount.

Knights and Evans, who were stockholders of the Plutus company, are alleged to have manipulated the stock so as to get complete control of Wilson's claims and to have formed another company called the Juab company to take them over.

In 1907 Wilson, who had moved to Ohio nine years before, returned to Salt Lake City to recover the claims or the money for which they had been sold.

It is alleged that the minute he stepped from the train he was seized by three men who said they were detectives and was taken to the police station where he was charged with attempting to murder a man named McChrysler.

He was tried on the charge and convicted, but sentence was suspended pending an inquiry into his sanity. He was adjudged insane and committed to the state insane asylum.

Wilson claims that he never was insane and that his arrest was part of a plot to get rid of him.

He was told, he declares, that he would be kept in the asylum as long as he pressed his ownership to the mines.

At the time he started suit in the United States circuit court in an effort to have the court declare title to the property to be his, and to award him damages to a large amount, Wilson was still held as insane and had to institute proceedings through his next friend.

The lower court decided against him. The defendants introduced testimony to show that he was suffering from lead poisoning contracted while working in mines and was subject to epileptic fits.

His illness, they claimed, had made him insane and authorities of the hospital testified that he was not fit to remain at large.

UTAH LAMBS COMMAND THE RECORD PRICES

Salt Lake, Sept. 16.—Never were conditions generally in Utah better for the sheepmen. Lambs are in the best condition, and the shipping season is now on in full force, many lambs being shipped to Kansas City and other points, and bringing prices that have not been realized since in the fall of 1906.

Probably the best price that has been received in Utah for lambs was the price reported on a shipment of 1,164 lambs by J. S. Murdock last week from Heber City to Kansas City. These lambs averaged in weight sixty-six pounds, and brought $7.80. That, it was reported, was the highest price paid for lambs in Kansas City to anyone since September 11, 1906.

Shipping is now being made of lambs from all parts of Utah, but especially from the Heber City district. While the high prices for lambs now reach the 1906 prices, the prices for wethers and ewes still remain somewhat under the prices of that year.

Reports from sheepmen recently interviewed are to the effect that the ranges are all good and especially so in the southern part of the state. The winter range in the northwest part of the state is reported not quite so good, but there are few that can realize what it would have meant had the stopovers been authorized.

The Transcontinental Passenger association has issued a bulletin declaring that the legislation of the Western Passenger association should not have any relation to transcontinental traffic. The notice applies to the Denver & Rio Grande, Oregon Short Line, Salt Lake Route, Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific and is effective September 29.

The stopover privileges on east-bound tickets have not been changed. Those interested in the future of Salt Lake regret to hear that the misunderstanding has occurred, for the stopovers on westbound tickets would have been of great value to this city. In fact, there are few that can realize what it would have meant had the stopovers been authorized.

SENT TO REFORM SCHOOL. Salt Lake, Sept. 16.—Judge Alex. McMaster of the juvenile court this morning in his answer of her parents, committed Rosa Paula, an Italian girl aged 16, to the state industrial school.

She was attacked by an Italian about two months ago and stabbed several times. The man had been her admirer and was insanely jealous.

Since then her parents have been unable to control her in the slightest degree.

WILL ELECTRIFY THE SALT LAKE RAILWAY

Salt Lake, Sept. 16.—Had not Salt Lake beach passed into the hands and control of the Harriman system, the resort would have been kept open until the 15th, and in all probability until after the visit of President Taft, but there were so many details to be arranged that it was deemed best to close on Labor Day, just as has been done in the past.

The electrification of the road will begin at an early date. This means the double tracking of the road to the beach. In addition to this, it is the intention to construct a boulevard one hundred feet in width from the city to the beach. This boulevard will, of course be devoted almost entirely to automobiles, and it will be on a level with the railroad track all the way out.

The approach to the pavilion will be widened one hundred feet, but separated from the regular approach for passengers by a partition, so that autos can come right up to the pavilion and be left standing on the approach, instead of on the lake level as now.

Passengers for the beach will be taken on uptown cars from the beach, that is, the big suburban cars, unless present plans are changed, and it is not likely that they will be taken from the beach via the present depot site on west Second South street, thence uptown on Second South to west Temple, up west Temple to First South, and thence west to the beach. The old depot site will be retained.

Willard Pioneer. Willard, Sept. 16.—Omer Call, one of the early pioneers of Willard, died yesterday morning at 5:30 after a lingering illness of six months. When Mr. Call came to Willard, fifty years ago there were only four families here and the place was a land of sage brush and Indians. Omer and his twin brother, Homer, were born in Ohio in 1834, and came to Utah when young men. They formed a partnership and built the first flour mill in Willard, which is located in northern Utah and one of the first in the state.

Mr. Call has been identified with the advancement and progress of Willard in many ways, both in industrial and religious movements. For many years the two brothers claimed the distinction of being the oldest twins in the Mormon church.

Homer died just one year ago and since then Omer has been falling. His wife died six months ago and since then it has only been a matter of time until he would succumb to the dread disease which was attacking his vitality, cancer of the stomach.

Mr. Call leaves a family of fourteen children, all but two of whom are married. They are Omie, Sybil, George, Albert and Aggie Corson and Lydia all of Rigby, Idaho; Elihu of Salt Lake, attorney; J. D. and Benjamin C. of Bingham, Elva, Jensen of Geneva; Vasco of Brigham, Esther of Provo, and Margaret Waldman of Willard.

STOPOVER PRIVILEGES WILL BE DENIED

Salt Lake, Sept. 16.—The ten-day stopover privileges recently granted by the Western Passenger association at this city and Ogden on all first and second class tickets, reading through the two points will not be made on westbound tickets, according to information received here. These privileges were not authorized by the Southern Pacific railroad or the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake railroad and S. K. Hooper, general passenger agent of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, has decided to cancel his arrangements for ten-day stopovers at Utah common points on all westbound tickets.

The Transcontinental Passenger association has issued a bulletin declaring that the legislation of the Western Passenger association should not have any relation to transcontinental traffic. The notice applies to the Denver & Rio Grande, Oregon Short Line, Salt Lake Route, Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific and is effective September 29.

The stopover privileges on east-bound tickets have not been changed. Those interested in the future of Salt Lake regret to hear that the misunderstanding has occurred, for the stopovers on westbound tickets would have been of great value to this city. In fact, there are few that can realize what it would have meant had the stopovers been authorized.

HOBBO WAS COVERED WITH VERMIN WHEN ARRESTED

Frank Clark, a genuine specimen of the hobo element, called at the home of Edward Sewell in Wilson's Lane yesterday and asked for something to eat. The ladies of the house suggested that there was a pile of wood in the back yard and that the hobo might use it for stovewood. Clark sized up the fuel pile thoroughly and then declined to cut a stick, but threatened that unless he were banqueted with choice edibles he would make the house and yard the inmates out of existence. A telephone message to the sheriff's office took Sheriff Wilson and a deputy to the scene and before the warlike tramp knew where he was at, he was en route to the county jail between two and three o'clock.

While the two sheriffs and the prisoner were closely crowded into one seat, Sheriff Wilson observed that Clark was nervous and irritable and inclined to itch, and closer investigation brought out the fact that the tramp was literally covered with vermin in his clothing, parolled, furnished with new ratment and then given something to eat while his clothing was boiling in lye. This accomplished the sheriff and his deputy proceeded to take care of themselves and, after using a curry-comb on each other for a time, they doffed their garments, utilized the bath tub to advantage and are once more in the realm of the pure and clean.

BERT HADLEY SEES THE MUSEUMS OF LONDON

The following letter from London is written by Bert Hadley, who is touring Europe with Dr. Forbes: "London, Sunday, August 14, 1909.—Dr. Forbes and I took a long walk to a mile or two to the Wallace Collection, where we stayed from 2 p. m. until 4:30 p. m. This collection is simply superb, the whole world spelled with capital letters. By the way, the collection was bequeathed to the nation by Lady Wallace, widow of Sir Richard Wallace, on condition that a centrally located site in London should be provided and a special museum to contain it. The old Wallace home, the Hertford house, was purchased and remodelled at a cost of over $500,000. You may be sure they did not spend half a million on a building to house a cheap collection. The collection consists of pictures, paintings, porcelain, bronzes, enameled, arms and armor, both European and Oriental. Everything is fine and there is nothing over when we get to the 'look back' period.

People complain of the heat here, but it does not bother us much. I forget to mention that I met Judge Rolapp in Liverpool—a pleasant surprise I assure you. At Edinburgh, we unexpectedly met young Dee in an art gallery. He is returning home from a three-year mission in New Zealand. I think he will call on his return.

We have met a number of old acquaintances. We meet travelers but seldom overtake them as the average 'globe trotter' has a gait that allows us to only see the flick of his coat-tail as he goes through a doorway or around a corner. Doctor and I are of the slow, but sure, kind. I send you several plates and guides.

London, August 20, 1909.—It is a rainy day and I have been shopping. Doctor had not finished the Natural History Museum yesterday and is there this morning. When I finish this letter I shall go up to the British Museum for the afternoon. (Signed) BERT.

BLAME IS PLACED ON THE MILK SUPPLY

One Person Dies and Three Others Are Dangerously Ill of Typhoid.

Salt Lake, Sept. 17.—One person using milk from Moss Bros. dairy at Woods Cross is dead and four other persons taking milk from the same dairy are ill with typhoid fever. Frank F. Food Inspector, Walter J. Fravel, visited the dairy yesterday and ordered to cease sending milk into the city temporarily. Three of the four persons ill are in the hospital in an alarming condition.

The Dead: Miss Caroline Emily Jacobs, 19 years old, 658 Third avenue.

The Ill: Mrs. C. W. Pratt, 225 Third avenue. Mrs. J. H. McMillan, 654 Third avenue. C. V. Reiss, 56 Canyon road. L. Yarpahl, 158 West Third South street.

Miss Jacobs died at the family residence Wednesday, and was buried Thursday afternoon. The death certificate shows heart failure, but this is said to have been superinduced by typhoid fever.

Mrs. McMillan has been ill only a short time, but her condition assumed such an alarming state that she was taken to the hospital Thursday. Mrs. Pratt was reported ill twelve days ago and was said to be dangerously low Thursday night, but has not been taken to a hospital. Yarpahl, who is at St. Marks hospital along with C. V. Reiss, has been ill five weeks. He was reported resting well Thursday night. Mrs. Reiss was reported ill August 27.

The reason for the food inspector's summary action relative to the dairy is that the wife of David Moss, junior member of the firm of Moss Bros., is ill, and her illness is undoubtedly typhoid fever. The slight doubt will be removed today.

DRYS ARE WINNERS IN FREMONT COUNTY

Local Option Is Said to Have Carried By Big Majority.

Rexburg, Ida., Sept. 16.—A county local option election was held in Fremont county yesterday. Returns from twenty-five precincts show that the county will go dry by a vote of 85 per cent against the saloon. Teton Basin has not yet been heard from, but is expected to give a big majority. Rexburg voted 87-dry and 39-wet. The vote was somewhat light on account of the busy season.

Nephil L. Morris of Salt Lake City gave a temperance address the evening before election in Rexburg. The meeting was well attended by the people of Rexburg and surrounding towns.

A MAN WHO KNOWS

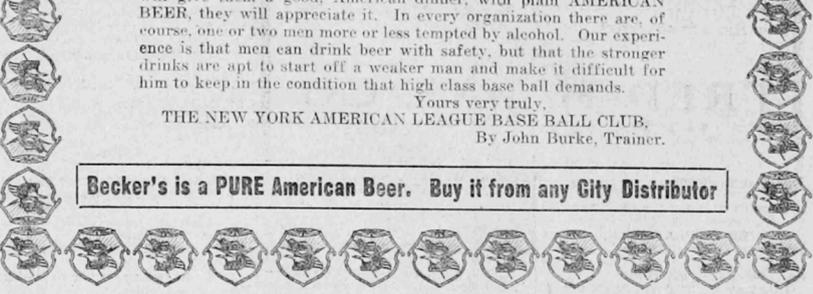

A GAME of professional baseball was organized last July for the amusement of the newsboys of New York. The Brooklyn National League and the New York American League were the participants. The members of the two teams dined afterwards at Shanley's in New York City as guests of the organizers of the game. In accepting the invitation to dinner the trainer of the New York Club writes the following letter:

"Dear Sir: The members of the New York American Club are very glad to amuse the newsboys without any charge whatever. And we accept with pleasure the kind invitation to dine after the game.

"May I suggest in regard to the dinner, that the men, while the base ball season is on, live very temperate lives. They do not any of them want to have spirits or any strong drinks on the table. If you will give them a good, American dinner, with plain AMERICAN BEER, they will appreciate it. In every organization there are, of course, one or two men more or less tempted by alcohol. Our experience is that men can drink beer with safety, but that the stronger drinks are apt to start off a weaker man and make it difficult for him to keep in the condition that high class base ball demands.

Yours very truly, THE NEW YORK AMERICAN LEAGUE BASE BALL CLUB, By John Burke, Trainer.

SPEED WAR BETWEEN ROADS TO THE NORTHWEST

"The Harriman roads are in a position to cut charges and running time to a point that cannot be approached by any other road in their territory. It is not the habit of our lines to inflate cuts in rates. As E. H. Harriman said on his arrival in New York, it is the Harriman policy to give the best that can be had at the prices the market will bear. However, other fellows are charging. Our roads are in the pink of condition, and we can operate more economically than any other system with which we have to compete. And this superb condition of our equipment applies as well to running time as to rates. As
