Senator Taylor Makes a Hit—The student body of the Weber academy was honored this morning at the general assembly by the presence of Senator Robert Taylor of Tennessee. The senator was called upon to talk to the students, which he did, and occupied all the time of the devotional exercises. The distinguished visitor delivered an excellent lecture to the school the evening before, but it is said by those who heard his talk at the academy this morning that it really surpassed last night's discourse. His subject before the students this morning was "The Responsibilities That Rest Upon the Rising Generation." In handling the subject he took up the questions of labor, the black race and the individual problem. He spoke with great force, and so eloquent was his talk that he was punctuated with bursts of applause from the student body. Senator Taylor was entertained in Ogden canyon a few hours prior to his departure for Salt Lake.

GATUN DAM TO BE BUILT BY SLUICING

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 20.—Colonel G. W. Goethals, chief engineer of the Panama canal, having completed his inspection of the Necaxa dam, at the City of Mexico, has heartily endorsed the methods that are being pursued. G. W. Caldwell, assistant engineer of the dam, who is in San Antonio on his way to California, said that Colonel Goethals was afforded every opportunity to examine the work in detail. When he had completed his inspection Colonel Goethals said: "I do not see how your methods could be improved. To me they seem perfect and I now feel certain we are constructing the Gatun dam right, because it has been constructed along the same lines as this."

Recently there was a slip of material in the partially constructed Necaxa dam. Colonel Goethals traveled from Panama to Mexico to ascertain the cause. He made certain it was not due to an engineering mistake, and seemed satisfied that this method of building a dam by sluicing would be successful in the construction of the Gatun dam also.

She was Miss Carrie Mills of Massachusetts, and had a celebrated and a celebrated family of patriots. Numerous sons and daughters will share the large estate.

Duplicates of the counterfeit have appeared in half a dozen cities and a warning has been sent to all banks.

AMERICAN SUPREMACY.

London, Oct. 20.—The business exhibition, now running at Great Olympia hall in London, is probably the finest testimonial ever put forward to the supremacy of America in the office appliance and business field. Nearly every American firm represented in this show can assert that it is a pioneer in its particular line in the English market, with the possible exception of some of the typewriter companies. Besides that, nearly every one of these pioneers can claim to have more imitators, British or German.

FIRST DAY OF THE TRIAL OF RIZZO

Utica, N. Y., Oct. 19.—A number of dramatic incidents marked the first day of the trial of Theodore Rizzo, for the atrocious child-murders and the climax was reached today when little Fanny Infusino the surviving victim of the tragedy, went upon the witness stand and after telling the horrible details of the crime, rose from her chair and pointed to Rizzo, as the murderer.

NEW AUTOMOBILE WHEEL HAS BEEN INVENTED

A new automobile wheel that promises to revolutionize the wheel construction of the popular vehicle, is on exhibition in Ogden. It is known as the Moore-Freeman automobile wheel—the inventor of the wheel being S. C. Moore of Salt Lake. The wheel is not ready for the market and will not be until a company can be formed for the manufacture and sale of the same.

The promoters of the wheel and the one more interested in the formation of a company are S. C. Moore, the inventor, C. C. Freeman, Wm. Niebusch and C. W. Gamon. They propose to capitalize the company at $100,000 and proceed immediately with the manufacture of the same. These men are certain that the mechanism, when attached to automobiles, will fill a long felt want among the owners and drivers of machines and will materially lessen the expense of maintaining an automobile.

The wheel has what is known as a floating hub which is connected with the steel rim by means of steel spokes. On the inside of the rim is arranged a steel spring on either side of which are arranged rods that work in ball bearings. This arrangement permits the springs to give, up and down, and lengthwise with the wheel, but there is no play to the side, which means that it would be an utter impossibility to "dish" the wheel under any circumstances. The construction of the wheel allows of a solid tire.

The connections in the wheel are all absolutely tight and noiseless. The connections with the rim and the hub of the wheel are lubricated with graphite, so placed that it cannot escape, and will last for a great number of miles. The promoters say the wheel is unbreakable, and will be guaranteed to last as long as the machine upon which it may be used.

The cost of the wheel will not be greater than the original cost of other wheels, and besides being practically indestructible, it will obviate carrying additional wheels, or tires. The weight is not more than ten pounds greater than the pneumatic wheel, and is not subject to breakdown. It has been tested out and found to do just what the inventor intended it to do. The wheel being made of steel, may be covered with nickel, blue steel, enameled or be given the color of gun metal.

BURTT'S

SAN FRANCISCO IS NOW REJOICING

San Francisco, Oct. 19.—The feature tonight of the celebration that began here today in commemoration of the discovery of San Francisco and bay was a reception by the festival queen and by the impersonator of Don Gaspar de Portola, the discoverer in honor of the foreign ministers and the officers of the foreign warships now in the harbor. The chief guests at the reception were Jonker J. London, minister of the Netherlands to this country and Marquis Villalobar, minister of Spain, both of whom were sent here as representatives of their respective nations during the celebration. The warships in the bay were illuminated tonight and the searchlights played over the city. The enormous ball at the intersection of Market, Third, Geary and Kearney streets formed from 10,000 colored globes was the most striking feature of the lighting.

ters of the Golden State gathered at the Waldorf-Astoria tonight to pay New York's tribute to the Portola celebration at San Francisco and to rejoice at the rehabilitation of the city.

The formal gathering at the Waldorf was only a part of the recognition New York gave the event. In all the big hotels and restaurants throughout the city, the menu carried the toast written by President Taft to Portola and to San Francisco and it was drunk by thousands.

John McNaught, formerly a well-known San Francisco newspaper man was toastmaster and Paul Morton, president of the Equitable Life Insurance society was the principal speaker at the Waldorf dinner. There were telegrams of greeting and felicitation from many friends in San Francisco.

Mr. Morton praised the pluck and spirit of the San Franciscans as shown in the splendid regeneration of their city.

"The rebuilding of the city," he said, "is the greatest single achievement in the annals of industrial enterprise. The swiftness of recuperation was as wonderful as the suddenness of the disaster. The greatness and the energies of San Francisco are broadly American. The whole world looks toward the Golden Gate and knows that the richest people in the world are gathering their commerce on the coast.

"California has been appointed by an all-wise providence as purveyor to all the world. It is destined to be one of the most prosperous sections of the earth. As a region of natural beauty and productiveness its only rival is Italy and this rival it is rapidly outstripping."

John Hays Hammond, wired from New Orleans his congratulations and a toast as follows:

"I write you to propose a toast which we shall all drink together. May civic peace and concord prevail in our city, and through the ambition of her united people, may she attain her highest aspirations. Here's to indomitable, incomparable San Francisco."

The banquets sent their greetings to the Portola festival committee. The telegram read:

"As we sorrowed in your sorrow, so now we rejoice in your joy. We congratulate the empire city of the Golden West on its splendid example of American energy, resourcefulness and courage. May she continue to prosper."

WOMAN FOUND STARVING ON A NEVADA DESERT

Reno, Nev., Oct. 20.—Mrs. J. Pennington, aged about 50 years, and claiming Reno as her home, was found wandering on the desert near Manhattan yesterday and is in a critical condition. The aged woman when found was nearly starved and said she had not eaten for three days. She exhibited signs of dementia and professed to be fasting purposely. She had as a solitary companion a colt dog who refused to leave her and savagely attacked the men who came to her aid.

San Marcus, Texas, Oct. 19.—A cloudburst struck this city early today, causing a heavy property loss. Ten inches of rain has fallen within the last 24 hours. Fifteen hundred bales of cotton were washed from a platform into the San Marcus river causing a loss of $50,000. Many houses in the lowlands were flooded but no loss of life has been reported.
