

Boys and Girls Save Your Money

For your own good, we advise you to save and deposit your money regularly in the bank.

In after years you will look back with great satisfaction to the time when you acquired the habit of thrift. Come in now and open an account.

COMMERCIAL NATIONAL BANK
OGDEN, UTAH

4 per cent Interest Paid on Savings Accounts.

Capital $100,000.00
Surplus and Profits $95,000.00

Racing! Racing!

Ogden Racing Association

At Fair Grounds

Thirteen Days Beginning

October 30

Six High Class Races Daily

Racing Rain or Shine

Admission 50 cents
including Grandstand

Ladies Free Monday's and Friday's

W. M. MURRAY - General Manager

Races Start at 2:30 p. m.

"Boston" Shock Absorbers

Adjustable. Save your car and your motor.

Once attached no further attention is required.

Do not drag on springs.

Do absorb the shock.

30 days' trial.

Hydraulic.

Using oil to check recoil of springs.

Do not stiffen the springs.

Knapp-Greenwood Co.

1000 Boylston St., Boston.
Send for Catalog.

THE FRED J. KIESEL CO.

GENERAL AGENTS

Have received the subjoined:

To Our Friends and Patrons:

The California Winery doesn't make a practice of tooting its own horn very much and therefore asks your indulgence for sending the following short item of news that came to us a few days ago by telegraph from Seattle, from The Alaska-Yukon Exposition.

"California Winery awarded gold medals for seven of its wines above all other California competition—Cordova, Sauterne, Claret, Zinfandel, Burgundy, Port, Sherry and Angelica. Silver medal for Riesling."

This is indeed good and gratifying news to us and will be welcomed, too, by our many friends and patrons. It is all the more satisfying because we were not aware the wines were being judged, and even at this writing, do not know who the judges were. We believe, therefore, that true merit must surely have provoked the awards to "Cordova, the Wine of Quality."

Very truly yours, CALIFORNIA WINERY,
E. M. SHEEHAN, Vice-Pres. and Gen. Mgr.

ELITE CLEANING CO.

New and complete machinery

Means

the best work at the most reasonable

Prices

We clean everything and dye anything

We go after the goods We return them

All you do is to phone us. Bell 987-K. IND. 344

In point of goods and service and for reasonable cost you will find this store

Always Right

Medicines to give right results must be right. Buy medicines here and you get all the advantages of care in selecting the drugs and filling the prescription—no matter how simple or complex—that all our customers have depended on for so many years. They find us right—so will you.

W.M. DRIVER & SON DRUG CO.
2453 Washington Ave.

BROOM RESTAURANT

REMOVED TO VIENNA CAFE

322 25th St.

Meals same price as Broom Restaurant. Special Dinner 25c

Lunch from 11 to 4 p. m.

Dinner from 4 to 8 p. m.

LEE, FOON & TOM, Managers

The Hunting Season

IS HERE.

Get your Guns, Ammunition and Hunting Outfit at 2564 Washington avenue.

H.C. Hansen & Co.

SPORTS

JOHNSON TELLS OF COMING FIGHT

Colored Man Intends to Cut Jeffries Down as Corbett Did Sullivan.

Jack Johnson gave out the following statement as to how he will win from James J. Jeffries:

"Do I think I can stop Jeffries before the limit? Yes, most certainly. He may please don't let the impression get around that I think I have an easy mark to fight in Jeffries. I expect a hard battle and expect to get some punishing blows, but I will be returned the same."

How He Will Beat Jeff.

"I may not hit as hard all the time as Fitzsimmons used to when he was at his best," continued Johnson, "but I will hit Jeffries often and now and then I will far him with just as much force as any of the big fellows ever did."

"You all know that I hit harder than Corbett ever did and I am just as fast. He may please look like an amateur for 22 rounds, and then Jeffries landed a lucky punch in the 23rd session that ended the battle."

"Jeffries will never hand me one of those 'He'll think the entire audience is hitting him at once' and the same time. While I am worrying Jeff with jabs from both right and left now and then I'll slip one over, the kind I handed Ketchel. No man can stand up long under such punishment. I've got a right uppercut which I slipped to Burns and introduced to Ketchel that will kill an off if it lands squarely. They don't get away from it, either."

"Everybody knows how Corbett whipped John L. Sullivan. Was there ever a greater surprise of the prize ring? The world didn't believe the much smaller, older fighter who could stand up and wear down the great John L. But Corbett did it. He just made the old champion of so many years look like a novice. It sounds like bragadocho for me to talk that way, but that's the way I'm going to whip Jeffries if he ever steps into the ring with me."

"I am glad Jeffries thinks well enough of the picture of my recent go with Ketchel to buy seats for every night. Probably his idea is to study my style of battle. That will do him about as much good as it would to interview Hetty Green about me. Probably no big fighter ever fought two men in the same way."

"Certainly I will not meet Jeffries under the same style I used on Ketchel. He is an entirely different man. In the first place, I never know really how I am going to fight a man until he faces me. It depends largely on how he battles. However, that will not interfere with my original plan to peck away until I have the big bulk helpless."

UNIQUE PARTY AT HOME OF MRS. WEST

A most unique Halloween party was given at the home of Mrs. Maggy West, last Saturday night. The house was appropriately decorated and the Halloween spirit reigned supreme.

On entering the realms of mystery, the guests were seized by the clamor of the Guardian Ghost and taken through a "course of sprouts." When all had arrived the ghosts doffed their habiliments and Halloween games were indulged in.

After serving a supper, peculiar to Halloween, the guests parted as the midnight bell was tolled.

CALLS FOR THE FIRE DEPARTMENT

Fire broke out in a closet in which lanterns are stored at the State Industrial school Saturday afternoon between four and five o'clock. Fire department No. 1 responded to the alarm which was turned in from the school and after a long run reached the school after the fire had been gotten under control. The fire is believed to have been caused by some one leaving a lighted lantern in the closet. There was slight damage.

At seven o'clock in the evening the department was again called out in response to an alarm sent in from the Shaw Racket store on Washington avenue between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth streets. A gas jet which was being used in the store set fire to pieces of cheese cloth hanging from the ceiling. The flames were extinguished with but little trouble but the several hundred people gathered at the front of the building attracted by the volumes of smoke which rolled from the entrance expected to see a conflagration. The loss was nominal.

WERE GUESTS OF CONTRACTOR O'NEILL

The pleasure of inspecting one of the most gigantic aqueducts ever built was afforded a party composed of A. R. Heywood, City Engineer, A. F. Park, Valentine Gildon, Big Bowman, B. E. Sooy, F. Quayle Cannon and others yesterday as the special guests of J. P. O'Neill, the contractor.

The mammoth conduit and the big concrete dam near Devil Gate, in Weber canyon, which is about completed, was visited and the work explained by Mr. O'Neill. The visitors were shown the big pipe line which is one of the largest in the world. The conduit is about a mile in length and one-half of it is constructed of solid concrete with the other half of powerful wooden staves joined with steel bands. At the intake of the dam the pipe is 12 feet in diameter tapering to 8 feet at the first gate of the dam. The main pipe is 7 feet 1 inch, measured from the inside, and has a capacity for the generation of 5,000 horse power.

The conduit runs from Devil's Gate to the mouth of the canyon, where the big water plant is being built for the Utah Light & Railway company by the P. J. Moran Construction company of Salt Lake.

The J. P. O'Neill Construction company was given the contract for the installation of the concrete dam and power line and now after over a year's work, the big project is nearly completed. When the power station is completed transmission lines will be built to Salt Lake and other cities to be supplied by electric power generated at the plant.

B. H. Sooy, the photographer, obtained some of the best photographs of the pipe line and the dam yesterday and some beautiful scenic views surrounding the camp of the J. P. O'Neill Construction company.

After the party had been shown over the work, Mr. O'Neill led the way to his camp, where a delightful chicken and trout dinner was served his guests, over which Mrs. O'Neill graciously presided.

The visitors were delighted with the trip and were profuse in their praises of the magnitude of the project to which Mr. O'Neill has largely contributed its certain success.

BASEBALL

PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE.

Oakland 3, 6; Sacramento 0, 1.
Sacramento, Oct. 31.—Score:

Oakland	R.	H.	E.
Sacramento	0	5	2

Wiggs and Thomas; Heister and La Longe.

Second game— R. H. E.
San Francisco 6 8 2
Sacramento 4 5 2
Reidy and Lewis; Doyle and Graham.

OFFICIAL CLUB STANDING.

San Francisco, Oct. 31.—The official standing of the clubs of the coast league shows that San Francisco won the pennant by a margin of 59 points over Portland. Percentages follow:

San Francisco	622
Portland	563
Los Angeles	549
Sacramento	475
Oakland	413
Vernon	379

HOW WILL THEY DODGE THIS?

William Glasmann said that the city auditor's books show that the waterworks fund was overdrawn the short of cash in the sum of $229,692 at the close of June 30th, 1909, when Brewer's water report shows a balance cash on hand of $9,894.24. And the report makes no mention that the following checks or warrants had been issued against said last named sum of money. Read the list—here it is:

Warrants outstanding June 30th, 1909:

No. 260, issued June 26th,	Phigree Nat. Bank	$10,125.00
No. 261, issued June 28th,	West & Bateman	380.70
No. 262, issued June 28th,	C. H. Kircher	503
No. 263, issued June 30th,	D. G. Taylor	16.34
No. 266, issued June 30th,	Harry Heath	36.00
No. 269, issued June 30th,	L. P. Hardy	45.00
No. 270, issued June 30th,	C. H. Kircher	125.00

Total warrants not paid, $10,776.04

The Standard will give to the Martha society an additional $200 if the above is proven to be false by the Brewer bunch.

OGDEN BETTERMENT LEAGUE ORGANIZED

Last Thursday night a number of prominent Ogden citizens held a meeting, to discuss the moral and social conditions of the city. The result of the meeting was the organization of "The Ogden Betterment League," a non-partisan organization, with the purpose of the league stated as follows:

"The object of the league is to suppress and prevent prostitution, gambling, and the unlawful disposition of intoxicating beverages and tobacco, to secure aid in the enforcement of the necessary legislation to prohibit the manufacture, sale, or other disposition of intoxicating beverages; to prevent the opening on the Sabbath day of theaters, picture and other shows and places of amusement and the presentation thereof, of plays and games; to prevent the playing of ball games, the running of races and other sports on the Sabbath day; and, generally, to improve and purify the social, moral and political conditions surrounding us."

The officers of the organization consists of a board of trustees of ten members. The officers elected last Thursday are: President, E. O. Mr. Kay; vice-presidents, Charles C. Richards, Rev. G. W. McVeery, Rev. Noble S. Elderkin; secretary and treasurer, John V. Bluth; executive committee, Heber Rowcraft, Agnes H. L. Griffin, Hyrum Belpap, and Francis W. Stratford.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

"Blusher is the most bashful man I ever knew."

"How on earth then did he come to get married?"

"He was too bashful to refuse."

TAFT PRAISES THE SOUTHERN PEOPLE

New Orleans, Oct. 31.—Praising the Spaniards for their patriotism, the French for their patriotism and the Southern women for their beauty, President Taft made a pronounced hit today in this cosmopolitan city of New Orleans. The president was so kind that he declined all invitations to dinner but was greatly pleased with the days activities.

Mr. Taft got his inspiration for his remarks on Spanish architecture by a visit to the old Cabildo and other buildings erected by the Spaniards during their control here.

In an address at Jackson Barracks the president said:

"As to the present state of Louisiana, I am saturated with admiration and respect for it. I have had, I am sorry to say, only too little conversational acquaintance with the beautiful women of New Orleans, but it was given to me last night to see at close quarters a very attractive and such an audience as I doubt could be equalled anywhere in this country. And then I was under the guardianship of a gentleman who in my opinion is one of the best men in the country, who only men were admitted and passing by those gracious faces that indicated a willingness to meet the president of the United States."

The president later made an address at Tulane university, where he paid a tribute to the "effect of our country and the elevation of our standards of living."

"As I stand in an academic atmosphere," he said, "I cannot refrain from allusion to the death recently met by a young bright, able man, of your community, Lieut. Alken of the navy. He led his men into the place of danger where he met his death, and his only thought was to see to it that he was not a coward."

"It is such standards of living and dying that I like to think are inculcated, not only at West Point, and in the military academies, but in institutions of which Tulane is one of the best examples, and I am glad in the presence of his neighbors and friends to pay this tribute to his memory."

The president attended morning service at the Unitarian church, drove through the French quarter and other places of interest, inspected the naval station, made two speeches, and at ten o'clock tonight owned that he was thoroughly tired.

PINCHOT WRITES ON WATER POWER

Washington, Oct. 31.—The practice of the government in granting water power concessions, is outlined by Gifford Pinchot, U. S. forester, in a letter written to Col. Henry L. Higginson of Boston, Mass., a director of the General Electric company. The letter takes the form of a public statement and is significant because of the widespread interest in the water power question.

Mr. Pinchot seeks to emphasize particularly the danger of not allowing the development of water power by private capital. He makes clear the point that the renewal of a permit at the end of 50 years is at the option of the government; that it is by statute revocable by the secretary of the interior, but unless revoked continues 50 years, when it terminates without any special re-creation, but may then be renewed at the option of, and on conditions to be fixed by, the government.

The letter follows:

"Dear Sir: Your letter Oct 14 is received. You will be glad to know that I have been misquoted as to the statements you mention. First of all, the water power is not to be developed by private capital, in my judgment, in proper government control and not by the nation or the state."

"Secondly, I have not said, either privately or publicly, that the General Electric company or any other single existing corporation, controls or is seeking to control, all the water power of the United States. I can deny there is a marked tendency toward practical concentration and control of the hydro-electric development over wide areas. In some cases this concentration may be a mere convenience of the present, and made effective by directors in general legally distinct corporations held by the representatives of the same or friendly interests.

"In other cases it was brought about by a close interest, or control, and in still other cases in central California, there seems to be a single corporate control of a large and populous territory. The report commission of corporations, transmitted to congress, in the message of January 15, 1909, vetoing a bill (H. R. 17706) to license the building of a dam in James river, Mo., establish the facts.

"The increasing radius of practical electric transmission in the recent financial history of the country as to consolidation of other kinds of business seems to justify the belief that there is a strong tendency to central hydro-electric development in the U. S. I do not say a single trust has yet been formed. As an outsider, I have not the information which would warrant my saying that such a trust has been planned, but it is apparent the present tendencies favor such a trust and will produce it if they continue.

"It therefore think it is of the utmost importance for the people to understand the facts, to realize their importance and take effective steps now while there is yet time to retain and effectively exercise public control of this vital necessity of life. This may be done by giving concessions limited to a definite term, rental, and imposing conditions to prevent the evils which experience has taught us to expect from unregulated monopoly. I am very glad indeed to see your statement that 'The U. S. should not bar with this kind of property without fair lease' that is precisely the position the forest service always has taken.

"I enclose a copy of the form of permit called a special use agreement now used by the forest service in granting all water power concessions in the national forests.

"I call your attention to the fact that this permit requires that construction be begun and completed within a reasonable time fixed in accordance with engineering conditions. In order to prevent the speculative

BOMBS THROWN IN CITY OF CHICAGO

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Two bombs were thrown here tonight in the downtown district in the vicinity of gambling clubs. No one was injured, but many windows were broken, and store stocks were damaged.

The first bomb exploded soon after 6 o'clock in a building at 260 State street. The other followed 15 minutes later near the corner of La Salle and Madison streets. In the State street building the Empire club is located and in the latter the Worthy jockey club.

For two years bombs have been exploded intentionally in the vicinity of gambling houses and race book makers establishments in Chicago. The bombs thrown tonight were the thirty second and thirty third that have been thrown in what is regarded as a quarrel between syndicates of gamblers. The State street explosion damaged buildings within a radius of a block and broke hundreds of windows. In the store on the first floor, the explosion scattered the stock and blew out plate glass windows.

Many buildings were damaged including the Chicago automobile club, the Imperial and Inter-Ocean hotel and the Premier theatre, a vaudeville house filled with people when the bombs were fired. The detonation frightened the audience and men and women rushed for the street in a panic. No one was injured.

WHY NOT BE TRUTHFUL?

He is now trying to frighten people away by pretending to show by the basest misrepresentation that the purchase was a bad one and that the city is losing money.

The above is clipped from a Brower paid "ad" in the Morning Examiner and refers to Mr. Glasmann. Why lie like that? Mr. Glasmann is not trying to show "that the waterworks purchase was a bad one." But Mr. Glasmann does show that the Brower ring made a false water report and that is what he is opposing and not the waterworks.

JUSTICE MOODY ILL.

Boston, Oct. 31.—Associate Justice William H. Moody of the United States supreme court was taken from his home in Faverhill to the Casey hospital in Brookline today to undergo special treatment for rheumatism.

RIOTERS BURN STATION

Seoul, Oct. 31.—Several hundred rioters who a few night ago set fire to the Union station, and who resembled the following day and were proceeding Northward have been dispersed by troops.

REVERSED

Jinx—A few months brings strange changes. There's old Muchwood, for instance, who married his typewriter.

Kinx—Well, he went around with her before they were married. I don't see much change in that.

Jinx—Yes, but it was he who used to dictate to her, you know.

ENORMOUS COAL CONSUMPTION.

Three gas companies in London consume between them 4,000,000 tons of coal per annum.

ELECTIONS TO BE HELD ON TUESDAY

New York, Oct. 31.—Elections will be held Tuesday in many states and in the District of Columbia. The candidates for Governor and full state tickets, namely: Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Virginia. New Jersey will elect both branches of the legislature. Pennsylvania will elect a general assembly and judge of the supreme court. Nebraska will elect two justices of the supreme court and three university regents.

In point of interest, the municipal campaign of New York, Philadelphia and San Francisco far exceeded that of the state contests. In each of these municipal contests the reform question is a dominant issue. Practically all of the contests, state and municipal are on local issues with no national questions involved.

Massachusetts—The Massachusetts campaign has been short and sharp. Governor Eben S. Draper, Republican, is seeking re-election against James H. Vahey, Democrat. The other candidates for governor are Daniel A. White, Socialist; John A. Nicholls, Prohibitionist; and Moritz F. Rutherford, Democrat. The candidates for governor who opposed each other last year again held the ticket this year, Governor Aranj Potbier being the Republican nominee and Oliver Arnold the Democratic. The other candidates for governor are Willis H. White, prohibitionist; Frederick Hurst, Socialist and Richard Holland, Socialist.

New York—Chief interest in New York centered in the whirlwind municipal campaign of New York city, which has been exceptionally bitter. With three major candidates in the field, William J. Gaynor, the Democrat and Tammany nominee; Otto T. Bannard, a Republican standard bearer and William R. Hearst, leading the Civic Alliance, party lines have been shattered and political managers are guessing at pluralities. The candidates for mayor are the other three: Tammany Hall and an effort of the Republican and Civic Alliance forces to capture control of the board of estimates and apportionments, which will have control of vast outlays of money for sidewalks and other large money undertakings.

Pennsylvania—In Pennsylvania the chief interest is in Philadelphia where the reform element is endeavoring to break the power of the local Republican organization. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the field for district attorney against Samuel P. Rotan, Republican, renominated. Gibbons is also on the Democratic ticket, but the Democrats have not held a meeting in his interest, nor has the organization officially endorsed him. The street car question is a leading issue. The reformers, under the title of the William Penn party, have again placed D. Clarence Gibbons, head of the Philadelphia Law and Order society, in the