WEST GAINING FAST ON EAST

Chicago, Nov. 24.—The dominance of eastern and foreign insurance companies in western and southern fields is waning, as is shown by gains made by the lusty new companies which have set out to retain in the heart of America more of the insurance revenues which total some half billion dollars a year, tribute paid chiefly to the east and Europe. The announced merger of two western companies, the Consolidated Casualty company having swallowed the National Casualty Insurance company of Louisville, is a case in point, the first named having a directorate which represents in personal wealth, it is said, $50,000,000 a fact which presages other mergers.

The Consolidated company was organized as a protest against the insurance power of the east and already has over $2,000,000 of insurance in force, a fact partially accounted for by the scattered holdings of the company's stock in 26 states. Recently the Kansas State Bankers' Association gave this company preference over others, making it officially the choice of the association in the insuring of state funds.

It transpires that the National Casualty company was taken over by the Consolidated by purchase which is said to have followed weeks of negotiation between President C. C. McChord of the National and President Robert B. Armstrong, formerly

PLEASING PROGRAM AT SACRED HEART

At Sacred Heart Academy yesterday a most pleasing program was given by the class of 1910. Rev. Father Cushman gave a short talk in his usual happy vein, complimenting the participants and encouraging all to put forth their best efforts toward higher attainments and higher ideals.

FUNERALS AND DEATHS

BURDICK—Funeral services were held yesterday over the remains of Ralph, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Burdick, at 2 o'clock p. m., at the residence of the grandmother, 262 Thirty-third street. Bishop Ensign presided. Members of the ward choir rendered appropriate musical selections, and Elders Henry Taylor, Daniel Stephens and Bishop Ensign offered words of consolation and hope to the bereaved father and mother. Interment was made in the Ogden City cemetery.

CORPORATIONS MOVE FOR APPLE

New York, Nov. 24.—The contrast of the wide improvements in opposite directions of a few stocks today did not conceal what was disclosed in the speculative sentiment over the issues presented in the Standard Oil case. A feature was the alteration in the attitude of corporation authorities toward the policy of moving for repeal or modification of the Sherman anti-trust law.

This change was accompanied by intimations from Washington that the views of the administration regarding changes in the law had been modified in the face of the Standard Oil decision. It was asserted that so effective a weapon against the power of the corporation would be disclosed in the Sherman law, caused selling pressure to be resumed in that group.

The extreme depression shown by New York Central was attributed to the announcement of subscription rights for stockholders to the new stock at par. The subscription rights were dealt in in the outside market at six to five a fraction. This seemed only to increase the pressure to let the present stock to secure resources for securing the new stock at par.

Reading resumed its function of supporting factor against the tone of depression elsewhere in the market. The buying of the stock was concentrated and said to come from banking interests connected with the company. The strong showing made by the Southern Pacific in its annual report made that stock in demand and gave it a period of strength.

Wabash preferred received sharply from its advance of yesterday owing to the disbelief in the rumors of a merger with the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western.

There was further engagement of gold for shipment to South America and the foreign exchange market maintained its strong tone in spite of the further decline of discount rates in London and Berlin. The eve of the Thanksgiving holiday resumed the volume of the transactions to some extent.

Bonds were steady.

Total sales par value, $3,652,000. United States four coupons declined 1-4 per cent on call.

NEW RAILROAD FROM GOLDFIELD TO ELY

Ely, Nev., Nov. 24.—"The only step that needs to be taken before the actual construction of the Ely-Goldfield railroad is completed in the securing of the permission of this city and this county to construct and operate the road. When that consent is given, dirt will be flying within thirty days and the road will be completed within fourteen months."

So said W. R. Alberger, general traffic manager of the Tonopah-Tidewater, who is here to secure the necessary franchises for the construction of the railroad.

"We are not here to ask for concessions that the people can not readily grant. We are not going to ask for anything that it would be unreasonable to ask in the way of concessions. What we want now is to get the franchise and the right to the road through between the great gold camp and the greatest copper camp," he continued.

Mr. Alberger is accompanied by C. M. Raser, chief engineer of the road. "It will be possible to work from the southern end clear to Currant creek this winter," said Mr. Raser, "as the weather conditions are good. We can get everything in readiness to lay the rails when they are delivered to us according to the contracts made with the mills, delivery to begin in five months. We could use the rails earlier, but can not get them. It is safe to say that the last spike will be driven in from fourteen to sixteen months."

The construction of the new road will mean the beginning of a new era for Ely, second in its importance only to the change that was made when the Nevada Northern was built between Ely and Golbre, connecting with the Southern Pacific at that point.

The construction of the road will put hundreds of thousands of dollars into circulation in this immediate vicinity. It is estimated that the construction with twenty-five miles of Ely, the most costly portion of the entire line, will cost between $750,000 and $800,000. The total cost of the road will be $6,000,000. The heaviest grades encountered will be in Robinson canyon, where a grade of 1-4 per cent will be had. The average grade for the entire line, 235 miles in length, will be 0.7 per cent.

The cost in Robinson canyon will be more than $100,000 a mile. This tremendous expense will be because of the efforts to keep the grade down so low that the heavy trains may be hauled safely and on good schedule.

GOLD OUTPUT.

New York, Nov. 24.—The gold mines of the United States produced $91,500,000 worth of the precious metal during 1908 according to the geological survey and the bureau of mines, which have co-operated in preparing an analysis of the reports from private refiners and federal mints and assay offices. The total gold product was 4,571,340 ounces, a net increase in value of $4,124,390. Colorado leads with a production of $22,871,000; Alaska second with $19,858,800, and California was third with $19,329,700.

Porto Rico was the smallest producer with a total of only $600.

The Philippines show an increase of $219,800 to a total of $284,500.

Some states of the union, not associated in the public mind with gold mining, make a showing in the reports. In fact, twenty-one of the states and territories, not including Porto Rico and the Philippines are producing gold. Texas produced $500 worth in 1908; New Hampshire mined $3,700 worth and somewhere in the vast grazing country of Wyoming was produced $7,600.

The total production was 52,444,800 fine ounces. Montana leads with a production of 10,356,200 fine ounces. As in gold, the Philippines show a remarkable increase in silver production.

From one hundred ounces in 1907, the production of the islands jumped to 1,400 in 1908.

ELKS' HAVE GENERAL JOLLIFICATION AT NIGHT

The "Best People on Earth" of Ogden lodge No. 719, with a large number of invited guests, held a general jollification in the club rooms of the lodge last night. The gathering was a most social affair, and many interesting "stunts" were pulled off.

The entire program, to borrow an expression from the theatrical press agent, was "a melange of music, mirth and laughter." That portion of the evening's entertainment which furnished most amusement for the Elks and their guests was the mock court conducted by dignified members of the local profession, with several regular attaches of the district court to add an extra dash of realism to the setting and incidentally some extra chills of fear to the "prisoner."

Valentine Gideon acted as chief justice, and Dr. W. G. Dalrymple and Frank Chapin, associate judges. The jury was composed of T. A. Whalen, Bert Emley, E. S. Jackson, Earl Stevens, Otto Meeker, George Wall, Frank Labo and A. T. Sanderson. The officers of the court were Harold Packer, stenographer; Thomas Peeney, bailiff, and J. H. Knauss, clerk of the court. The "prisoner," Alexander Armstrong, one of the negro porters of the club, was charged with carrying an umbrella from C. O. DeWolf, who appeared as the complaining witness. Attorneys C. A. Boyd and S. A. Maginnis appeared on behalf of Mr. DeWolf and the club, while Attorneys George Halverson and Arthur Pratt represented the interests of the "prisoner."

After the "indictment" had been formally read to the "prisoner" he tremblingly entered a plea of not guilty, and the examination of witnesses was begun, although Bailiff Peeney had considerable trouble at times in locating them.

Numerous witnesses testified that they knew Mr. DeWolf once owned an umbrella, but was a discrepancy in the descriptions offered by the witnesses. Some declared that it had a gold head and others positively denied that it had any ribs or covering. The testimony along this line became so confusing and contradictory that the court was compelled to rap for order and circumscribe the rules of evidence in such a manner that further questions on this point were barred. The question was then raised whether or not a "water proof" man had any standing in court when the question of a lost umbrella was at issue. The court held that, notwithstanding this, he was a citizen, any way, and the courts were open to him.

D. W. Zeller, who was called as a witness on behalf of the club, narrowly escaped a sentence for contempt of court because he refused to give his name to the attorneys who cross-examined him. To all such queries he refused to reply until the attorney designated what name, front, middle or last, he desired to know.

The most dramatic moment of the trial occurred when "Little" Eddie Miller was called to testify on behalf of the prisoner. Attorney Pratt ascertained permission of the court to question the prisoner, by a certain line of questioning, whether he understood the significance of an oath, of which there appeared to be some doubt on account of the witness' youthfulness. The permission was granted by the court. When Eddie had qualified as a witness he was asked how long he had known Mr. DeWolf. He was unable to answer when Attorney Boyd objected on the grounds that his reply might tend to incriminate Mr. DeWolf. The court sustained the objection.

When the witnesses had all been examined the case was submitted to the jury, which promptly returned a verdict of not guilty. The "prisoner" with tears of gratitude in his eyes, personally thanked each member of the jury and was allowed to leave the room with the permission of the court. After the adjournment of court a program of music was rendered and the evening passed with other forms of entertainment.

ANOTHER RAID ON GAMBLING HOUSES

Two places were raided and a number of persons were arrested as the result of yesterday's raid, against the gambling element of the city which is being conducted by Chief of Police Browning and his men.

The first raid was made yesterday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock when Captain of Police Brown, Detective Pender and Patrolmen Mohrman, Kellher, Herrick, Lane and Vance surrounded the Elephant saloon and went through the room adjoining which is located over Kertz's pawn shop.

Four white men, Frank Parks, William Orr, W. S. Holland and C. S. Rinear, were arrested at the same number of Japs were found in the room. The white men were arrested and lodged in the city jail.

The information which actuated the raid was received from James Todd, a mendicant who was picked up on the streets begging. Todd told the officer that he had lost his money gambling. He had been in Ogden about six months ago when the town was "wide open" and was not familiar with the present anti-gambling laws when he arrived in the city yesterday. His information to the police was given in ignorance that the law was being violated.

When the four men were brought to the police station they were brought in the presence of Todd who was not able to identify any of the men as having taken part in the game in which he lost his money. The police have no direct evidence that the men were gambling other than the fact that they were in the room at the time the raid was made.

Shortly after 9 o'clock last night the police received a "tip" that a game was going on over the St. Louis saloon in the club rooms formerly conducted under the regular license system by Creighton and Peterson. Chief Browning and Detectives Pender and Burke with the use of a "Jimmy" broke open the door leading into the hall and found a number of Japs and white men on their feet. Charles Creighton, one of the proprietors of the place was arrested and charged with keeping a gambling house. S. P. Cole and J. Meyer were held as witnesses.

Chief Browning said, "Of course we have a hard job on hand, with the small force we have, but we intend to do our very best, and stamp out the gambling. Our case against Frye was dismissed on a technicality, but I think we will eventually win it. We have raided two places today and will continue to raid them, as long as we think the places are doing business. We will work hard and finally round them all up."

City Attorney Devine said, "Every complaint that is signed will be pushed and every case will be taken to the very last court if such is needed to punish them. Every case that comes before me will be vigorously prosecuted and nothing will be spared to place these men where they belong."

GRANT AVENUE, WHO IS KNOWN AS ITALIAN JOE.

Detective Pender, and Detective Shoemaker of the Southern Pacific railway, went to work on the case and they found the Italian. He claimed to know nothing of the affair and had never seen the shoes. They then went to a rooming house, where Reilly said his confederates were staying, and got them out of bed. They denied point blank their connection with the affair and would say nothing about it. They were taken to the station and confessed to being there. The Italian was made to admit that he had bought the shoes, and the officers confiscated one pair as evidence.

MACHINISTS' BALL A SOCIAL SUCCESS

Nearly 300 couples attended the eleventh annual ball of the International Association of Machinists at the Congress dancing academy last night. The grand march began at 9:30 and it was after 2 o'clock before the last strains of the orchestra died away and the tired but happy dancers started for their homes.

The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion by the committee in charge. Beautiful carnations were distributed to the dancers as souvenirs of the evening. The arrangement committee, to which the success of the dance was largely due, was composed of W. J. Rowse, W. R. Robertson and H. Shepard. The Congress academy orchestra furnished the music.

LARGE AUDIENCE IS GREATLY PLEASED

The four young men composing the famous Whitney brothers male quartette delighted a large audience at the dance academy last night with an excellent program arranged in such a manner as to show the artistic training of each performer to the highest advantage.

The audience was a representative one, and expressed its pleasure by frequent encores which were gratefully responded to by the members of the quartette. The singing of the Whitney shows culture and training, and the perfect time maintained in every number indicated that each is thoroughly familiar with his particular part.

THE WOMAN RULES.

Fascinating women are the real rulers of the world. The power wielded by the woman possesses of charm, magnetism, spiritual energy, call it by what name you will, is almost unlimited.

The beautiful woman may be fascinating; the fascinating woman need not be beautiful.

The difference between the merely lovely woman and the one who exerts that compelling charm we call fascination is the difference between dew and fire.

The dew is beautiful, delicate, wonderful. But it leaves the heart untouched, it calls forth no unknown and undreamt-of emotion.

Like the lambent flame, the fascinating woman is ever changing, ever radiant, throwing out tiny tongues of fire in the form of wit, symbolizing the life force that thrills through all creation. Fascination is power incarnate. It is to rule.

Webster defines fascination as the ability to enchant, bewitch, captivate. It is all this and more, and it is the only beautifier that cannot be bought in the modern beauty parlor.

The husband or lover of a supremely fascinating woman has not the easiest lot in life, but he has this recompense—he never knows what it is to be bored in his lady's company.

For that one blessing a man ought to be willing to turn his back on the rosy paths of peace. Any woman can hold a man's attention and interest for a short time by the use of the fascinating woman who never palls, who can exert a subtle charm after years of association when the familiar becomes the commonplace.

Women who have possessed this mysterious quality have dominated their age. From the dim recesses of the tomb they still influence the world, giving a glamor and charm to the printed page of history.

Such women need not fear to die or grow old. Tamer women can never fill the niche they have occupied in the hearts and minds of those who loved them.

It is not wit nor knowledge, nor the pink-and-white or youthful bloom, that lends to a woman this potent power to enthral.

Many uneducated women are fascinating. Women with snub noses and Russian leather complexions have swayed the minds and hearts of men in all times.

The cause goes deeper than the color and texture of eyes and hair or the ability to speak several languages.

Nell Gwynn, the bitter-sweet "Nell of Old Drury" illustrates perfectly the abandon, the diablerie, the zany and seductiveness of the fascinating temperament.

OGDEN ELEVEN IS READY TO PLAY

Local enthusiasts are awaiting with some eagerness the clash this afternoon between the Ogden High school and Salt Lake High in this city, for the championship of the state. While Salt Lake is favored to win from Ogden, the local boys have been working hard and are in excellent condition for a grueling contest such as this will be.

Salt Lake expects to have a hard fight but they are confident not only of winning but of making the total of points scored by the team this season 300. The team will be accompanied to Ogden by 500 rooters.

Local football enthusiasts also will watch with interest for results in two other football games scheduled for this afternoon as the games mark the close of the season. Probably the most important will be that between the U. of U. and the Logan Aggies on Cummings field, Salt Lake, and a hard game is looked for as the U. team is somewhat crippled by the absence of Loel and Schweitzer. Loel has a bad knee and cannot play while the faculty has barred Schweitzer.

The Logan team is in Salt Lake this morning and will be royally entertained. They will be given a dinner at the Commercial club by John Derr, John C. Sharp and Matt. Thomas. The team was accompanied by a big crowd of rooters and the Logan fans expect to give the U. team a hard fight.

The Granite high school team is in Butte ready for the fray with the heavy Butte eleven. All the members of the team are in fine shape and the coach is confident of winning, despite the odds.

MRS. EMELINE PATTERSON TO BE BURIED FRIDAY

Following a long illness from dropsy, Mrs. Emeline L. Patterson, wife of Alexander Patterson, died at her home in Clinton, Davis county, yesterday morning at 7:20 o'clock.

Mrs. Patterson was born in Ogden November 21, 1857, making her fifty-two years of age at the time of her death. She was prominently connected with religious work, having for many years been a member of the Latter-day Saints church. She served for several years as one of the presidency of Hooper Primary association. Besides her husband she is survived by five children, four grandchildren and a large number of brothers and sisters.

Mrs. Patterson was the daughter of Myron and Emeline Elmer Childs.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow (Friday) at noon at the Clinton meeting house. The remains may be seen by friends on the morning of the funeral from 9:30 until 11:30 o'clock. Interment will be made in the Hooper cemetery.

BOX CAR THIEF IS APPREHENDED

Patrolman Crompton picked up Charles Reilly yesterday upon suspicion of having been connected with the robbery of a box car in the South-east yards Tuesday night. Reilly professed his innocence but admitted having robbed a car about a week ago and having stolen ten pairs of tan shoes. He said that he and two friends turned the trick and that they had sold the shoes to an Italian on

Grant avenue, who is known as Italian Joe.

Detective Pender, and Detective Shoemaker of the Southern Pacific railway, went to work on the case and they found the Italian. He claimed to know nothing of the affair and had never seen the shoes. They then went to a rooming house, where Reilly said his confederates were staying, and got them out of bed. They denied point blank their connection with the affair and would say nothing about it. They were taken to the station and confessed to being there. The Italian was made to admit that he had bought the shoes, and the officers confiscated one pair as evidence.

WANT ADS BRING BIG RESULTS.

The Hon. Champ Clark expresses the opinion that the next house of representatives will have a democratic majority of 100. The people, however, are not so much interested in ascertaining the political complexion of the majority as in having some assurance that the majority, whatever its politics, will be able to recognize an ultimate consumer when it meets him after election.

ECONOMICAL FASHIONS.

The first matter of importance in dressmaking is to procure a good pattern. When you get the pattern, always press it with a medium warm iron, pin it very carefully upon the material and cut every notch to avoid confusion. Cutting and pressing count for more in making a neat dress than fine stichery.

If you have dresses with short sleeves which you wish to change, rip off the sleeve edge, press out the sleeve, bind it straight around the bottom and make an undersleeve, free from the top one. Cut the sleeve off above the elbow, bind it around the edge with self-trimming or any goods that will match the remaining portions of the dress and finish with a close under sleeve. Again, the two-piece sleeve need not be made, for a lower portion may be attached, and if cut with elongated straps these straps can be used to project into the upper sleeve, giving the whole sleeve an appearance which does not look like an alteration. Use the same material on the bodice.

Waists of fine material may be cut square-necked; sleeves finished as above mentioned, and completed with net in the yoke and lower sleeve portions.

Dress skirts that were narrow last year can be made up with inset pleats, or the goods can be ripped apart and made over in a new style, but to make them wider will call for extra material.

Among one's finer garments, the little lace coats which are merely ornamental features, trimmed with velvet, can be made and used with the soft silk frocks and really make very nice even girdles. But not everybody will consider the lace an economical one, so this must be changed to something else—say strips of another material, lace or dyed stuffs to give a trimming design. The net or chiffon draperies are actually inexpensive, yet of a quality which give a very handsome finish to an old dress. Net over cotton tulle are very cheap, and if spangled by hand can be made into the dressiest little evening frock imaginable.

NOVEL AERIAL TOY

Shoots High Into Air and Comes Down a Parachute.

One of the most ingenious toys and one that is right in line with the present interest in aerial affairs, is the parachute device designed by a Florida man. This toy is shot high into the air from an air gun, and when it starts to descend a parachute opens and it floats slowly and gracefully downward. The device consists of a hollow cylinder with a strong spring inside and a rod mounted on the spring and projecting from one end of the cylinder. Attached to the top of the cylinder by a strong cord is a parachute which is folded up and held on top by a flap tied over it. The rod is then placed in the barrel of an air rifle or it can be notched and fired to a bow, and discharged in the air. While it is rushing head foremost the flap remains tied, but when it starts to descend the weight of the rod and the release of the spring in the opposite direction break the flap open and the parachute opens.

SULLIVAN MAY QUIT GAME.

New York, Nov. 24.—James P. Sullivan, who won the first mile race at the Olympic games in London and who is one of the fastest distance runners in this country, has probably run his last race. In the three-mile race at the Canadian championships in Montreal last September Sullivan turned his ankle and strained a tendon. The injury has been getting worse and now he is in Bellevue hospital undergoing treatment. The doctors say he will not be able to run again.

Among Sullivan's feats are the American one-mile and the Canadian three-mile records. With Melvin Sheppard, George Bonhag and Harrel Sohn, he broke the four-mile relay race record.

The Opportunity For Buyers of High Grade Pianos

The Consolidated Music Co. is Closing Out Entire Stock of Pianos, Player-Pianos, Organs, Etc. Store at 2336 Washington Avenue Must Be Vacated by November 30, at Which Time Ogden Music Co. Takes Over the Business.

SALE WILL COME TO A CLOSE ON EVENING OF NOVEMBER 30, UNLESS STOCK IS CLEARED OUT BEFORE THAT DATE. THE STOCK IS LIMITED; THE PIANOS THE BEST; THE PRICES NEVER APPROACHED HERETOFORE. YOU MUST ACT QUICKLY IF YOU WOULD SECURE THE GREATEST BARGAIN EVER OFFERED YOU. STORE OPEN EVENINGS, 2336 WASHINGTON AVENUE.

In announcing this great sale of Pianos we wish to take the public—the Piano-buying public—into our confidence, make a very plain statement of facts and tell our very good reasons for sacrificing this fine stock of Pianos.

Previous to closing the deal whereby the Consolidated Music Co. becomes absorbed by the Ogden Music Co. a large number of Pianos had been ordered and the shipment has just arrived. In justice to the new company we do not desire to compel them to stock up with our orders, therefore are offering Pianos at such prices as are quoted below, in order to dispose of same before the transfer is effected. It is to your advantage to investigate our proposition. You will be able to make your own terms, and we guarantee every instrument that we sell. We have marked each instrument down so low that we really ought to get cash for same, but we realize that so many people are not able to pay all cash and still desire a good Piano, so we extend the privilege of our easy payment plan—$5 a month and up. Is there a good reason why you should not have a Piano in your home?

When one considers the makes of pianos going for the following prices, it is no wonder that we are selling so many at this time. Just think of a high grade art piano, made by one of the most prominent manufacturers in the U. S., which sells regularly in Chicago for $600, now selling for $398, and on your own terms.

A fine instrument, made by the same company, smaller case design; regular price $500, goes for $368. A cabinet grand art piano, regular price $450, goes for $333. One full size, high grade instrument, regular price $425, to be sold for $298. A $400 instrument, for $243. $350 Upright for $247. $325 Upright for $218. $250 piano, conservatory size, for $197. These pianos are not instruments that you have never seen or heard of, but high-grade pianos of well-known make.

We are agents for STEINWAY, SOHMER, ESTEY, HENRY F. MILLER, VOSE, KIMBALL, HOBART M. CABLE, LESTER, KOHLER & CAMPBELL and others.

A CALL WILL CONVINC YOU that now is the time to select your piano and pay for it as you are able. Terms from $6 a month and up.
