FOUR LIVES LOST BY A LAUNCH CAPSIZING IN THE COLUMBIA RIVER

Young Man and Three Girls, Members of a Party of Seven Returning from an Evening of Amusement, Are Drowned

Rainier, Ore., Dec. 12.—The capsizing of a gasoline launch in the Columbia river, off Burton's landing, a few miles west of here, at an early hour yesterday, caused the death of four of a party of seven young people. The dead are:
Lee Barber, aged 20.
Selma Hendricksen, aged 17.
Anna Hendricksen, aged 19.
Grace Wand, aged 16.
All lived at Mayers.
The party came to Rainier lake on Saturday night to visit a skating rink and after the resort closed, started home. When opposite Burton's landing the launch suddenly capsized, precipitating the entire party into the water. All secured holds on the overturned boat, but after an hour and a half, Barber became exhausted and slipped back into the water. He did not rise. Half an hour later he was followed by Selma Hendricksen and a few minutes later by her sister Anna. A short time afterwards Grace Wand became exhausted and let go. The three who were left managed to hold out until several hours later a passing river steamer was attracted by their cries and picked them up. The survivors were Pearl Troctor, Frank Kasper and Amos Card.

TOMMY RYAN MAY HELP TRAIN JIM JEFFRIES
Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 13.—Tommy Ryan, the former middleweight champion, may take an important hand in training James F. Jeffries for his meeting with Jack Johnson. In a letter to a local promoter, he states that he will confer with Jeffries this week, and Jeffries has suggested that Ryan be brought along with having taught Jeffries the famous "crouch" position during the former champion's conquering days.

WOMEN ARE DELUDED

Emma Goldman Says She is Sorry for Them

New York, Dec. 13.—Emma Goldman is sorry for the poor deluded women who imagine that the ballot will make them free. She said so in about 10,000 words of impassioned oratory. Over and over again she was interrupted by thunderous applause, but there was no other demonstration on the part of the audience of 500 persons.
The real trouble with women, Miss Goldman explained, is that the still is a fetish worshipper and believes her idols can cure all ills.
"The ladies who want to vote," Miss Goldman went on, "are fond of telling us what great things have been accomplished in the states where women vote. They point especially to Colorado. Well, I have been to Colorado myself, and I am afraid I can't agree with them."

ROBBERY IN NEW YORK

Woman's Jewels Valued at $300,000 Are Taken

New York, Dec. 13.—A $300,000 jewel robbery, the largest of its kind that has occurred here in many years was reported today. The jewelry was stolen on Saturday from the apartments of Mrs. John William Jenkins, formerly of Chicago, who since reaching New York has resided on the eighth floor of the Hotel Lorraine at Fifth avenue and Forty-fifth street.
Mrs. Jenkins told the police that she left the hotel shortly after 3 o'clock in the afternoon. When she returned at 5:30 she found the rooms in disorder. Her collection of diamonds and other jewels, which had been in a black leather case in her dressing table, were gone.
It is thought that the thieves gained entrance by means of a false key. None of the hotel employees had seen any strangers in that part of the hotel.
The police were at once notified and a large force of private detectives were put on the case. No announcement of the robbery was made to the public up to today.

GREAT LOSS BY FACTORY BURNING

Racine, Wis., Dec. 12.—The big plant of the Racine Manufacturing company, manufacturer of automobile tops and piano stools, and the Daniel Brotherhood hall, the Mitchell Wagon works and several houses were destroyed by fire today, entailing a loss estimated at $650,000, of which all except $50,000 is borne by the Racine Manufacturing company. The latter concern carried $250,000 insurance. The origin of the fire is not known.
The Racine Manufacturing company was managed by one to a dozen other houses. The houses were hampered by frozen hydrants. About 1,200 men will be thrown out of employment until the plant is rebuilt.

CLERKS CAN ENJOY CHRISTMAS EVE NOW

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 12.—For the first time since the establishment of the city, there will be no Christmas eve rush at the big St. Paul stores. There will be no worn and exhausted clerks to spend a cheerless holiday in a vain effort to accomplish the closing of the evening work. Every clerk will spend Christmas as other people do, and there will be no holiday trade after the close of the afternoon before Christmas. The early Christmas eve closing movement has won. It came from the people of the city as a whole and the owners of the big stores have fallen in line without argument.
For weeks the hardships of the big Christmas trade upon the clerks behind the downtown counters has been a live subject with many prominent people of St. Paul but it was not until Rev. Charles J. Loring, of the Cathedral parish of the Roman Catholic church took charge of the movement that it began to succeed. Father Loring conferred with the owners of the big stores. They wanted to know what their competitors were going to do. Father Loring settled that point by persuading the competitors to give their clerks a Christmas eve at home and at a conference he argued the case of the clerks before the assembled proprietors. The closing agreement was signed without protest and the day was won for the clerks.

He continued in response to a question:
"The time is about ripe for greater activity in northwestern mining affairs. Nevada is dead, except for the revival occasioned by the recuperation of the big copper mines. The time is about here when there is going to be a general mining movement. Not a movement necessarily in any one direction, but a great general revival of popular interests, a move for development. There has been no general movement since Tonopah started things."

Sandusky, Ohio, Dec. 13.—The body of an unknown 8-year-old girl was found in an abandoned well on the farm of J. P. Harrington, seven miles south of Sandusky today. PAPER IS BIG FACTOR IN COUNTRY'S COMMERCE

Washington, Dec. 12.—What an important factor in the commerce of the United States is furnished by paper and its kindred manufactures is shown by a bulletin just compiled by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor.
Imports of papers and products have increased from $3,000,000 in 1899 to $12,000,000 in 1909 and exports have increased at a large rate also. In the last ten years American manufactures have sold in foreign markets papers and manufactures valued at $80,000,000 and in the same period the United States has spent over the same products of foreign manufacture about $70,000,000.

SEN. RAYNER DEVOUCES ZELAYA AS AN ASSASSIN AND DEGENERATE

In a Speech in Congress, He Demands That This Government Make an Example of the President of Nicaragua

Washington, Dec. 13.—Speaking to his resolution offered in the senate last Friday, authorizing the President of the United States to take all necessary steps to apprehend President Zelaya of Nicaragua and bring him to trial on a charge of murder of Groce and Cannon, the Americans recently executed in Nicaragua, Senator Rayner of Maryland today addressed the senate at length.
Senator Rayner's speech, stirring and denunciatory in tone and characterized by dramatic fervor, was an inspiring arraignment of Zelaya whom he designated as one of the criminals of the age.
"What I am concerned in now," said Senator Rayner, "is not the question of the legitimate rights of the revolutionists, or, in case of their success, their recognition either as the de facto or the de jure government, but in the speedy apprehension and punishment of Zelaya."
"The general principle," he said, "is that the secretary of state says nothing, and a great deal more. If the country knew what is known in official circles in reference to his general depravity, it would regard the secret communication as exceedingly temperate."
"I have watched for years the revolutionary history of Central America and an familiar with the career of a great many of the impostors, rascals and usurpers and the grotesque and motley leaders that have sprung from their chaotic institutions, but Zelaya is probably the most despicable figure that has ever been in their midst."
"Many kinds of Rogues."
"If he were simply a highwayman, we might let him alone; but he was simply a tyrant who oppressed the people for the purpose of robbing them, we might let him alone; but if he were a usurper who was only holding on to power as long as there was money in the treasury to steal, or any further territory that he could sack for private plunder, we could assign him a proper place in the ranks of some of his predecessors; and if he were really an assassin who regarded murder as a legitimate profession through which he could despoil his victims of their possessions until the time came for him to flee from the bedside of his victim, I would be easy also for any one acquainted with the political history of Nicaragua to classify him."
"He is, however, all of these things combined. In a scheme of corruption, dishonor, perfidy and crime he stands without a peer, and exhibits in one glow of associated villainy the pride of every model and the perfection of every master."
"Private Vices Infamous."
"I have been reliably informed that the vices of his private life are more infamous in their indescribable details than the iniquities of his public career. Such a creature as this deserves the execration of mankind."
"Now, as the culminating infamy of his administration, trampling upon every instinct of humanity, in violation of universal law, in defiance of those sacred principles of international code which have been recognized ever since the rays of civilization, he has put to torture and then to death, two American citizens who were not guilty of treason, who were not spies, but whom he had captured as prisoners of war in the army of the revolutionists."
"This act was not only the act of a fiend, but was an insult to the honor and the integrity of this republic, and cannot remain unavenged."
"Zelaya Must Answer."
"It is absolutely preposterous for us to talk about indemnification for the act of a man who has committed the crime of murder. It is said we ought to break off official communication with his accredited representatives. We have already done that, and that is a matter of absolute unconcern to him."
"Then, it is said, we ought to declare war against Nicaragua. I think that is unnecessary."
"The government is a cowardly government if it does not make an example of Zelaya before the eyes of the civilized world. This case will not admit of any flinching or concessions. If two American citizens have been murdered by Zelaya, then he must pay the penalty of his crimes."
"Once spread before the American people the details of the execution and the manner in which it was carried out, it is a matter of absolute demand retribution."
"This Country Must Act."
"If Zelaya had the right to sentence his own people to death and execute them in their own blood, then we must acknowledge that right and recognize it before the nations of the earth. If he did not have that right, this government has a duty to do. He must be awarded the doom and fate that he deserves, so that every tyrant on this earth, in every nation under the sun, and in every government, large or small, and especially these dictators in several of these Central American states, who have received every favor and consideration at the hands of the United States, to whom has been extended the official hospitality of our land, and who in return therefor have exhibited to us at times the bitterest hatred and visited upon our citizens the most cruel indignities and outrages, shall be told at once and forever that our flag follows our citizens wherever they go, and that when an assassination like this occurs, the murderer must take his place like any other culprit at the bar of criminal justice and answer for the deed with his liberty or his life."
"The resolution which he offered was not a declaration of war, said Senator Rayner. He stated his reason for proposing a separate proposition from any action that might be taken with reference to the state of government existing in Nicaragua.
"I have seen such debasing brutality in a football game. Here is the football record for six days from October 1st to December 1st, 1909, as given by that great authority, The Literary Digest: 'Thirty deaths, 218 players injured, 12 broken ribs, 13 broken noses, 12 broken legs, 13 broken arms, 19 broken ankles, 13 broken shoulders, 8 broken wrists, 8 broken fingers, 6 broken hands, and 3 broken jaws.' This is no list of the casualties of a battle," remarks the Washington Star, "but merely the 'score of an athletic game.'"

CHRISTMAS FOR WALSH

Prospects Are Chicago Man Will Be Overlooked by Santa
Chicago, Dec. 13.—Whether John R. Walsh's Christmas will be one of gloom, without hope of freedom from federal prison, or whether the United States supreme court will hold out the chance of escaping by consenting to review his case, are questions soon to be answered.
Government prosecutors think the former banker's chances are gone. Walsh's counsel, on the other hand, announces their expectations of ultimate victory. The convicted banker's plea for a hearing of his case by the supreme court is completed.
Though ready for filing immediately, District Attorney Sims and his assistants will be given an opportunity for examining the documents on which Walsh's hope now rests and prepare an answer to it before it is submitted to the supreme court. The date set for filing the petition is December 20.

KING OF BELGIUM SUFFERS RELAPSE

Brussels, Dec. 12.—King Leopold, who has been seriously ill for a fortnight, but who was believed to be convalescing, suffered a relapse today, and his condition is considered grave. An official bulletin says:
"The rheumatic pains have disappeared, but the king is suffering from a disquieting affection of the abdomen."
"Two specialists called into consultation did not dispute the king the gravity of the situation, although they do not regard it as desperate."
The king, who is in possession of all his faculties, conferred with Baron Goblet, his private physician, to whom he gave a few final instructions. The Baron, Prince Albert, Leopold, heir presumptive and Albert and M. Schollaert, the premier, did not leave the bedside of his patient, and Princess Clementine, his third daughter, is expected soon.
The cabinet met this afternoon to prepare for eventualities. At a late hour of the evening held another consultation, after which Baron Goblet announced that the king was somewhat better than in the morning. He suffered less pain, his pulse was sufficient and his temperature was no fever. The physicians and Archbishop Steinhilber remained in the bed chamber all night.

TRYING TO SAVE HIM

Kruttschnitt's Son Is in a Dangerous Condition
San Francisco, Dec. 13.—Herman Theodore Kruttschnitt, vice president of the Harriman system of railroads, whose serious illness brought his father to the St. Francis hospital to a special train and hurried to Arizona yesterday in a last desperate effort to save his life. The move was decided upon yesterday morning after a consultation of several physicians.
The immediate removal of young Kruttschnitt to the desert country was the only possible way of saving his life, according to the physicians who have been attending him.
The sick man was accompanied by his mother and sister, three professional nurses and two physicians. It is understood that Tucson is their destination.

MODERN SCHOOLS OPEN IN CHINA

Washington, Dec. 12.—China's great strides toward civilization are strikingly exemplified in the government's efforts to establish a modern educational system throughout the Empire, according to information contained in a report from Vice-Counsel W. R. Dorsey, at Shanghai.
The system is similar to that used in Japan and when carried out it will compare favorably with that of any other country. The one great obstacle, according to the report, is the lack of qualified teachers, and the government is holding out substantial inducements to any who are capable of doing this work.
Aside from the new government institutions there are two other classes of schools in China—the old style schools and the mission schools, which date back to the time of Confucius or earlier, are found throughout the Empire. Their number is beyond computation; every village and hamlet has one or more. It is in them that the largest number of youths still receive their education, and it will probably be a long time before all of them are superseded by schools of modern learning.
They are not a part of any government educational system, nor are they under any government regulation or supervision. They are really private schools opened in a room of an ordinary, adobe, or brick house, or one of the literati under the old regime, who, in most cases was born and reared in the neighborhood. The teachers collect their pupils and are paid by subscription from the parents, and by presents from the pupils at the great feasts. Out of these primitive institutions have come some of the great men of China.

DOLLY DIMPLES' ARREST

In Los Angeles, With Her Husband and Manager and All Are in Jail Awaiting Ogden Police Officials to Bring Them Back to Ogden—They Had Dolly Captured by Themselves and Took the Standard's Money With Them—Detective Pender and Chief Browning on the Road to Bring Back the Swindlers.

On November 10th a young lady alleged she had captured Miss Dolly Dimples and made an affidavit stating that she had captured Miss Dolly Dimples in accordance with the rules laid down by the Standard. Miss Dolly Dimples made an affidavit that she had been captured by the young lady, Miss Beatrice Musser, as claimed by that lady. After looking over the affidavit, the manager of this paper saw that both of them under oath stated that there was no collusion, understanding or agreement between the parties as to the capture of said Dolly Dimples and promptly issued a check for $300 which the young lady cashed at the First National Bank. The manager at the time believed that everything was honest and just in connection with the matter. The next day after Dolly Dimples, her husband and manager had left the city, the manager of this paper became suspicious and called in Chief Browning and Detective Pender and laid the case before them. The police officers were advised to be very careful because the parties had made an oath that there was no collusion whatever and, therefore, probably, if they had made false statements under oath, would continue to make them. Little incidents which led up to the discovery of the plot cannot be told at the present time because the police officials think it best to withhold the evidence until the case comes up for trial. The result of the police investigations show that, after the young lady had cashed the check at the bank, she turned all the money over to the Dolly Dimples combination, and received in return $20 for her share in the work. She was, however, to have been paid $25, and it was the failure to pay her the extra $5 that led to the exposure of the whole plot.
Through the instrumentalities of this paper, Dolly Dimples' combination was shadowed and followed throughout the whole western country, through California into San Francisco and finally down to Los Angeles where they were arrested in a newspaper office. The parties are now in jail awaiting the police officials of this city to convey them to Ogden for trial. This paper has given many contests to the people of Ogden and it has always given what it promised and this

Man Who Succeeds Justice Peckham is from the South

Washington, Dec. 13.—The nomination of Judge Horace H. Lurton of Nashville, Tenn., to be associate justice of the supreme court of the United States in succession to the late Justice Peckham, will go to the senate today.

President Taft was himself a judge of the Sixth circuit at the time he appointed governor of the Philippines in 1898, and it was his association with Judge Lurton that gave him such a high opinion of the legal qualifications of the Tennessee jurist.
