PROFITS IN HOG RAISING.

The farmers should raise hogs. Here are a few figures furnished us on hog raising in Utah and Idaho:

By feeding beets exclusively one man made his hogs gain 50 pounds each one month. He fed 900 pounds of beets per head. At the present price of hogs, $9.50 per 100 pounds, the beets would bring him $10.66 per ton.

In another instance a bunch of hogs were made to gain three pounds per day. They were fed:

Table showing feed ingredients and their costs: 3 lbs. bran and shorts, 2 lbs. corn, and Whey.

Three pounds gain at 9 1-2 cents is 28 1-2 cents per day, leaving a profit of 19 1-2 cents per head daily.

Last summer a farmer sold $275 worth of hogs from 4 1-2 acres of land. This land was fenced with hog wire and half an acre of it was in beets.

At the present time thousands of dollars are going east every month for live hogs. Besides, the eastern packers are shipping to Utah every month over $300,000 worth of pork products.

For an outlay of $8 for six months to raise a hog that will sell for $20, sounds almost unreasonable; still this is what is being accomplished in Utah and Idaho at the present time.

Hog raising in this section of the country has been revolutionized within the last year. Formerly a farmer thought it impossible to raise a hog from anything but grain.

Every farmer should have from 10 to 25 hogs to market every year, and, even at normal prices of hogs, there are enormous profits in this line of business.

With the packing plant now springing up in Utah a steady market is always assured the hog raiser. By their cold storage facilities packing is just as feasible during the hot summer months as any other time of the year.

The local plant, we understand, will pay Omaha prices for hogs.

Two young men of Ogden have leased an alfalfa field on which they are to raise "stockers." They are to start with twenty sows and expect an increase of 120 animals the first year, which, when fattened, should bring approximately $2,000.

CLEAN THE YARDS.

The State Board of Health has issued a bulletin on cleanliness and filth which is an appeal to the people to place their homes in sanitary condition, particularly at this time of year, when there may be filth accumulations of the winter in the yards and even within the homes.

Filth and uncleanness are directly or indirectly responsible for most of the diseases now known to be preventable; these include all contagious or communicable diseases and cause the death of more than two-thirds of the human race.

The health authorities are urged to make a personal inspection of premises in an effort to wipe out filth.

STRENGTHENING THE CUT-OFF.

Southern Pacific trains continue to be sent west from Ogden over the old Central Pacific line north of Great Salt Lake, but local officials state that the Ogden-Lucien cut-off will be reopened to traffic late this evening.

Work trains are rapidly repairing the storm damage to the embankments which form the approaches to the bridge across the lake. The trestle proper was not damaged by the storm of Tuesday, in fact, not since its construction seven years ago has the big bridge been impaired in the least by wave action.

of piles will be commenced on the east end, where the greatest damage occurred during Tuesday's storm.

The bridging of the entire distance across the inland sea was E. A. Harriman's original suggestion, but later the expense was thought to be unnecessary.

EXAMINER KIDS UNRELIABLE.

The statement made in the morning sheet that Mayor Glasmann and Doctor Rowe were among the promoters of the boxing contest of Sullivan and Dawson is not true.

Dawson wrote a letter from Indiana to the Evening Standard offering to meet Sullivan and, through that letter, Dawson came to Ogden.

The Morning Kids never fail to throw mud at the mayor. To show how unreliable the Kids are, on Tuesday morning they said the city council had turned down three vetoes of the mayor, when the facts are the council sustained the mayor in each instance.

Some time ago the Kids said the Standard refused to publish a letter from a beet grower, yet the Examiner Kids refused to publish a very important letter on the beet question offered by H. E. Baker.

It is safe to say that no reliance can be placed in anything the Examiner Kids say concerning anybody connected with this paper.
