IDAHO FOREST LAND WITHDRAWN

The president has signed a proclamation eliminating approximately 22,326 acres of land from the Pocatello national forest, Idaho. These eliminations are the result of very careful examinations made by the United States department of agriculture during the summer of 1909. The areas excluded from the forests are mainly agricultural and grazing in character, and have practically no value for forest purposes or for watershed protection.

Slightly over half of this eliminated area is taken from the Port Neuf division, in narrow strips of bench land along the east and west boundaries. From the north end of the Oxford division 3840 acres are eliminated. The examination disclosed that these areas are more valuable for grazing and dry farming than for national forest purposes.

On the east boundary of the Elkhorn division, in township 11 north, range 36 east, there is eliminated a strip of land one and a half miles wide by six miles long, embracing 5760 acres of land. This area is chiefly valuable for agriculture and has practically no forest cover. Six sections of land of the same character are also released along the northern boundary of the Malad division, in township 12 south, range 37 east.

The lands which are eliminated will be restored to settlement and entry after having been duly advertised in the local papers by the secretary of the interior.

S. S. S. BLOOD TROUBLES

The only possible way to cure Contagious Blood poison is to remove the cause by purifying the blood. This is just what S. S. S. does; and it is the only medicine that absolutely and thoroughly cleanses the circulation of every particle of the germs and virus of the disease. Mercury, Potash, and other strong minerals are often used in the hope that such powerful treatment will kill the germs, but this can not be done, and when the mineral medicines are left off the trouble always returns with its aggravating symptoms of ulcerated mouth and throat, skin eruptions, falling hair, yellow skin spots, swollen glands, and often running sores. The ability of S. S. S. to cure Contagious Blood Poison comes from its unfailing blood-purifying properties. It goes into the circulation and removes every trace of the infection, makes the blood rich and healthy, and leaves no mineral in any form, but is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks each of which has a direct and specific action in cleansing the blood. In addition it contains the extracts of certain botanical herbs which make it the finest of all tonics, which is a necessary quality for a medicine in curing Contagious Blood Poison. Home Treatment book, containing much valuable information and instruction to be found nowhere else, will be sent sealed and post paid, free to all who write and request it.

SPORTS MURRAY IS DEFEATED BY OGDEN

By a score of 8 to 4, the Ogden baseball team defeated the Murray team in an exhibition game at the Fair Grounds yesterday afternoon, before about 250 enthusiastic fans. The game, while devoid of any features, was interesting throughout and some good playing was done by both teams. Bert Margetts has his nine in fine shape and they will make the other teams in the league "go some" before the season is over.

Papworth pitched fairly good ball for the visitors and held Ogden down to nine hits. His support was not the best. He struck out seven men. T. Gunn in left did good work, as did Margetts in right. Castro at short did well.

Ogden's new second baseman, Dillon, made a favorable impression in his initial game. Jensen pitched his first game in good style. He is rapidly getting back into old-time form. Wessler at short played a splendid game. Ramshaw out of four times at bat got two hits, one a three-bagger and the other a two-bagger. The three-bagger in the third inning brought in three runs for Ogden.

Fred Bluth is playing a good game. "Dad" Gimlin caught all the high ones that came near the center field. "Dad" is as handy as ever with the stick. "Jack" Greenwell held down first in good form. Henkle at left field and Lumley behind the bat played good ball.

The small boys on the diamond were a nuisance. In future games members of the police force should be present to keep the hoodlums out of the field. The following is the score:

Table with columns: OGDEN, MURRAY, AB, R, H, SH, PO, A, E. Rows for Wessler, Ramshaw, Dillon, Gimlin, Henkle, Lumley, Greenwell, Bluth, Jensen, Total.

Summary—Three-base hits, Ramshaw and Mann; two-base hits, Bluth, Jensen, Ramshaw, Lumley and Scott; bases on balls, off Jensen 5, off Papworth 4; struck out, by Jensen 6, by Papworth 7; hit by pitched ball, Wessler left on bases, Ogden 4, Murray 2; double plays, Wessler to Ramshaw to Greenwell; Castro to Rebsher to Kaifer. Time, 1:45. Umpire, Ben Mortenson. Attendance, 250.

THOMPSON WILL BE HERE TODAY

Still carrying his championship aspirations Cyclone Johnny Thompson, the popular lightweight from Sycamore, Ill., who has fought 206 battles without being knocked out, will arrive in Ogden today from Sycamore where he has been spending his time on the big chicken ranch since he knocked out Peter Sullivan in the ninth round at Saltair coliseum early this month. Thompson has been matched to meet Frank Picato, an Italian, who has been meeting all comers and has a number of brilliant victories to his credit. The Sycamore lad, immediately on arrival, will go into training at the Utah Hot Springs. The Thompson-Picato match will be held at Saltair June 10.

MANY EXPECTED AT RACES HERE

Officials of the Wasatch Jockey Club are confident that attendance at the Ogden race meeting which will be resumed today and continue all week will eclipse all previous records and are preparing to handle large crowds. Many entries of fast horses have been received for all of the events and good cards for every remaining day of the meet are assured. The Hamburger line has announced a special $1.00 round trip fare from Salt Lake which will include admission to the grounds and this, it is expected, will attract a train load of enthusiasts from the state capital every day. Special days for this week have been announced as follows: Tuesday—Weber club day and Ladies Day. All ladies free. Wednesday—Ogden day. Thursday—Elks, day. Salt Lake and other neighboring towns are expected to send large delegations of antiered ones.

FOURTH OF JULY MEETING CALLED

A meeting of the citizens of Ogden is hereby called for 8 o'clock P. M., sharp, in the City Council chamber, May 31st, 1910, for the purpose of considering the advisability of celebrating in a fitting manner the nation's birthday.

JAIL DOPE FIEND ON GRAVE CHARGE

Carl Crosby, a "dope head," who has been searched for by the police for several days, was arrested last evening by Detective Pender and Officer Paine, on the charge of burglarizing the Woodmansee rooming house, Twenty-fourth street, last Monday.

The police secured a description of a man who entered one of the rooms of the house mentioned and gathering up a quantity of bed clothes made off with them to the nearest pawn shop, where he sold them.

The officers immediately recognized Crosby in the description furnished and have been looking for him during the week. Yesterday was his first appearance and he was "nabbed" on sight.

Detective Pender stated last evening that a large portion of the petty thefts which have occurred recently can be traced directly to the drug habit in one form or another, showing that slaves to the habit are constantly increasing in number.

"We have more or less trouble with these so-called dope heads all the time," said the officer, "as the moment they find themselves without a supply of their drug, and lack the means with which to purchase it, they will stop at nothing to obtain the necessary money."

"The fault lies largely with the individuals who persist in supplying these poor creatures with their caned misery. There is a law now forbidding the sale of these drugs without proper credentials from a physician, but the wretches seem to be able to obtain it whenever they have the price."

"On nearly all the drug fiends we pick up is found a supply of their favorite dope, but it is always in plain packages, offering no means of tracing the purchase of it or of securing the name of the druggist who sold it."

BURGLARS BUSY IN STORE AT ECHO

Robbers entered the Buckmiller store at Echo Sunday evening and secured a $2000 cash and four dollars. By the appearance of the store it is quite evident that the robbers had ransacked every part of the place where valuable articles might be stored, but it is claimed that the robbery was committed by boys.

PERFECTION IN HOME BUILDING

While it would seem as though we should have reached perfection in the building of homes ere this, so many improvements have been made on their construction during the last century, still it is a fact that more improvements are coming up right along, says Architect Arthur C. Clausen of Spokane, some of the features which I will mention have been in use long enough to be considered hardly new features, but will be mentioned here on account of their being so little used so far that they are unknown to most home builders.

It would be useless to try and prophesy what improvements are apt to be made during the next century, but if as much progress is made during that time as has been during the past century, a modern home should be a model of convenience beyond our conception.

The uses of electricity in the home are being demonstrated by practical application in some homes, but so far have met with little favor on account of the expense of the current. When the cost of reducing the current is reduced, electricity will be used in the home in a great many different ways besides lighting it. In some homes where the cost of keeping it is not an item of consideration, electric currents are provided for running the sewing machine, washing machine and ice cream freezer. The cooking is done by electricity and some of the rooms are provided with electric radiators. These, however, are only for intermediate use to warm up a room for a few minutes early in the morning or the evening at times of the year when the beginning and end of the day is cool, but not cool enough to warrant keeping up the fire in the heating plant.

The Vacuum Cleaner. Vacuum cleaning systems are being installed in a great many homes, the best of them being plants located in the basement and run by an electric motor, and from this, pipes leading to various parts of the house with outlets in the baseboard where extension hose can be connected. One outlet on every floor is considered sufficient since a 50-foot hose can be attached and carried to every part of the house. While some people still have more faith in the cleaning propensities of a scrub woman, there is little doubt but what as the vacuum cleaning system becomes perfected and also reduced in price, that it will be considered as an essential part of a home as the modern heating and plumbing for there is no doubt of its entire success from a practical standpoint when a right kind of system is installed.

A cheap vacuum system is a poor investment. Dust is nothing but fine grit and this soon wears out the parts of the machinery, which it comes in contact with, if they are not made of the best material and kept lubricated. Where electricity is not obtainable the vacuum cleaner can be run by a gasoline engine.

Water Systems for Suburban Homes. In many small cities and in suburban localities the water supply is a problem. The old-fashioned way to supply a home with water, such circumstances was to have a tank in the attic and pump the water up to it with a hand pump, allowing the water to supply the various fixtures in the house by gravity. The modern way is to have a large air-tight tank in the basement into which water is pumped against the pressure of the air, which creates a force which sends it to a great height.

Hand pumps are sometimes used to pumps in the water, but this is very tedious work. Where electric current is not available a gasoline engine connected by a belt to the pump is the next best substitute. The most modern way of pumping the water into the house is by means of such an automatic control. When the water gets down to low pressure the motor starts up automatically, fills the tank up and then stops, requiring no attention except to keep it thoroughly lubricated.

Heating Water in Summer. All modern homes are provided with summer heaters which are kept going whenever the heating plant is not being used, in heating the water for domestic purposes. One of the latest wrinkles is to have the radiator in the bathroom so arranged that it can be disconnected from the heating plant by a shut-off valve in the basement and connected with a summer heater.

Another way of such a connection is to have a cross-connection pipe. In this way, by opening up another valve on the radiator in the bathroom, the room can be warmed at any time that a little heat is required in this room when it would not be required in the rest of the house.

Don't Gild the Radiator. While speaking of radiators, it is no longer considered the best taste to gild them, but to paint them exactly to match the woodwork in the room in which they are located. The risers or pipes extending from floor to floor are painted to match the wall decorations. This is done with the object of making them as inconspicuous as possible. Radiators, however, no matter where they are put, and to bronze them a bright gold only makes them more conspicuous.

In the bathroom where the woodwork is white the radiator should be painted white. Sometimes in bathrooms and other rooms enameled white the radiators are given a silver or aluminum bronze, which matches well with the white woodwork. If the radiator stands against an oak or maple wainscoting, it should be not only painted, but grained to match the wainscoting as close as an artistic painter can do so.

DEATH SUMMONS MRS. G. H. ISLAUB

The sad message was received from Salt Lake yesterday that Mrs. Emeline A. Islaub, wife of G. H. Islaub, until recently a resident of Ogden, had passed to the great beyond. Mrs. Islaub was the daughter of Francis A. and Martha H. Brown and was born in Ogden July 30, 1860. Having spent her whole life in the city of her nativity until two years ago, she, with her family, took up their residence in overcome this in a modern way is to provide a large galvanized iron-lined box with a lid, at the base of the clothes chute. The modern way of supplying fresh air to a home in the winter time is to provide what is known as an indirect radiator. This is a large radiator placed in a galvanized iron box under the floor with a register in the floor above it. An open fresh air duct is carried from the galvanized iron box through the foundation wall to the outside air. The rising of the heat from the radiator causes suction, which brings in the fresh air and forces it through the radiator. After it has passed through the radiator it goes into the room warm, but fresh. One good sized indirect radiator in a central location is considered sufficient, if there are proper outlets for exhausts in the way of baseboard ventilators or fireplaces.

MARINES HERE ON WAY TO ORIENT

A detachment of 150 men of the marine corps passed through Ogden yesterday en route to China, where they will do guard duty at the American legation at Peking. The men have been stationed at Washington, D. C., at which point a majority of them were recently recruited. A considerable number of the men, however, have seen active service in the Philippine islands and have also been stationed in Japan. They seem pleased with their new assignment and in a happy-go-lucky way are anticipating the end of fun among the slant-eyed Celestials of Peking. The detachment will relieve a similar body of men at the American legation and it is expected that the assignment will cover a period of thirty months.

Salt Lake City. She was the mother of six children, four of whom survive her. Helen, George, Almon, Stella and Clarice. Three sisters and one brother also survive her—Mrs. Joseph Balyantyne, Mrs. Frank J. Cannon, Mrs. Fred May and Bruce L. Brown. Her mother was one of Ogden's earliest settlers and her father, Hon. F. A. Brown, is well known to the few surviving "old timers." Mrs. Islaub was much beloved for her loving disposition, unselfish long suffering and patient in all the vicissitudes of life. Her sickness which finally resulted in her death, was of some years' standing. Her body will be brought to Ogden next Wednesday. Friends will be received from 2:30 until 3 p. m. at the Fifth Ward meeting house, where the funeral services will be held at that hour and date.

POSTMASTERS TO MEET IN OGDEN

The seventh annual convention of the Utah State Postmasters association will be held in Ogden, July 8 and 9, and among the speakers will be Senator Reed Smoot and George Sutherland and Congressman Joseph Howell, together with a representative of the postmaster general. These things were decided upon Saturday at a meeting of the executive committee of the association held in the office of Postmaster Arthur L. Thomas at Salt Lake.

Present at the meeting were the following members of the executive committee: A. L. Thomas, Salt Lake; James Clove, Provo; Joseph Odell, Logan; C. H. Roberts, Bingham; S. W. Ross, Lehi; W. W. Wilson, Sandy.

The association is composed of about 200 postmasters in Utah and is devoted to the advancement of postal services in the state. It is purely non-partisan, and matters discussed at the annual meetings are calculated to improve the service throughout the entire state.

While the convention is being held at Ogden July 8 and 9, other conventions of postmasters will be held in other western states at about that time. The California meeting will be held earlier in July. Other states are arranging their schedule so as to have one convention follow another, in order that a representative from the department of the postmaster general may make up an itinerary and attend all of them.

An effort is afoot to have Postmaster General Frank Hitchcock come to Utah, and if the schedule of conventions can be so arranged it is likely that he will make a tour of the west during the summer and meet Uncle Sam's representatives who are under his immediate jurisdiction.
