SALT LAKE AND STATE NEWS

ITALIAN IS KILLED IN SALT LAKE

Salt Lake City, July 29.—A story of revenge is believed by the police to be back of the murder of Leonardo Piro, an Italian bartender, at 2 o'clock this morning. Piro was employed in a saloon at Fourth West and First South streets. He was preparing to close the place when the front door opened. A man, partially masked, stepped inside while a second man held the door open.

The first man, without a moment's hesitation, pointed a revolver at Piro and shot him between the eyes, killing him instantly. The murderer quickly stepped back through the door and vanished.

A colored waiter, toying with a billiard cut in the back of the man was the only witness of the crime.

Hearing the report of the revolver, Patrolmen Wickel and Griffiths ran from West Second South street to the saloon. No one was in the saloon when they entered, and upon looking behind the bar, they discovered the body of Piro. The ball had entered his head at the point where the bridge of the nose enters the forehead. Death was in all probability instantaneous.

Upon the arrival of the police, Fagan, who had run out of the saloon after the shooting, returned and gave the police his version of the murder. When questioned, he told the following story:

Story of the Sole Witness.
"I was standing at the pool table shooting the balls around by myself—just sort of practicing. Suddenly two men entered the saloon. Both wore black slouch hats and black suits and had their faces covered with black rags, tied just below their eyes. One held the right hand swinging door open, and the other, the one with the suit orange-colored shirt, had a revolver in his hand, a long black gun.

"Without a word this man pulled the trigger and the bartender fell to the floor. The man who did the shooting turned to look at me, but when the shot went off I went out the back door. As I was going out of the door I saw the man who did the shooting turn in my direction and noticed his orange-colored shirt. I also saw him start to run out.

"Just before the bartender was shot he jumped back against the cash register and seemed to be reaching for something. He never had a chance.

After the arrival of Patrolmen Wickel and Griffiths, they immediately telephoned headquarters, and Sergeant Roberts and Patrolmen Cleveland and Eckert responded. A thorough examination of the premises was made for any clue which might throw light on the motive for the shooting, but nothing was discovered.

James Tedesco, the proprietor of the saloon, was notified and went immediately to the scene of the murder. He said that Piro had been in his employ as bartender since July 1 and had always worked on the night shift. According to Tedesco, Piro came to this city about five months ago from Helper, Utah, and was 26 years of age. He was married just before he came to this city. In his coat pocket was found a card of the Western Federation of Miners, showing that he had joined that organization as a miner's helper. He was a member of local union No. 237 and had joined the union on November 28, 1907. Lying on the floor beside the body was a 32-calibre Colt's automatic revolver, fully loaded and with one bullet in the chamber.

Tedesco said that so far as he knew Piro had never had any trouble with any one. He could assign no reason for the murder.

The police are inclined to believe that Piro was the victim of the Mafia society. He was not known to have received and Black Hand letters since he had been in this city.

LOCAL 'CHANGE TRADING LIGHT

SALT LAKE, July 28.—Many blank spaces on the quotation list and the increased strength of Nevada Hills were the features of the local market this morning. The manipulation of Opex stock also continued to attract attention, reminding one of the days of the Sioux Consolidated strike. Has it been made or not?

Trading was small as to volume today, and there were few orders either on the buying or selling side. The market throughout was mostly professional. The total number of shares disposed of was 13,350, while the amount paid out by the brokers for the securities was $8,927.25.

Colorado and Iron Blossom have reached a point of stagnation. The stocks have shown but little trading for weeks, the margin of prices in which they range being but a few cents. Profit-taking on Nevada Hills has apparently stopped for the present and another upward movement set in today. The stock jumped up as high as $2.40, after opening at $2.30.

The stock closed strong. Sioux Consolidated was also strong, due to the fact that an eastern order for several thousands shares was received.

On the curb market Opex was again the chief acrobatic attraction, but moving under a far steadier hand than usual. It moved up this morning with singular regularity. The stock opened at 49 and closed at 52 cents, selling strong at the latter price at the close. Thus far no authentic report has been obtainable as to what condition the property is in.

The sales on the curb market this morning were for 600 shares of Opex at 49 cents, 100 at 49 1/2; 20 at 50; 1,000 at 51; 200 at 52; 100 shares of Seven Troubles Coalition at 35 cents.

SMALL FIRE AT EPHRAIM.

Ephraim, July 28.—Last night, shortly after 12 o'clock, a fire broke out in the business section of this city, but on account of it being a very calm night no damage was done, as the bucket brigade soon got the upper hand of it. A lamp was upset in the bowling alley which was the cause of the fire.

MILLION DOLLAR MERGER FORMED.

Utah Fire Clay Company and Western Fire Clay Company Join Interests.

Salt Lake, July 29.—The two largest fire clay products companies in the state, or for that matter in the intermountain west, have effected a merger, which means practically the central of the output in the western field. When final details are consummated it is said that the deal will involve close to a million dollars.

From semi-official sources it is learned that the Utah Fire Clay company of this city has acquired a two-thirds interest in the Murray plant of the Western Fire Clay company, and that in the near future the two companies will be operated most likely under one management.

The Utah Fire Clay company, of which Lawrence Greene is manager, has a plant at 1988 South First West street. The Western Fire Clay company, J. A. Spiker, manager, has a plant at the present time at Third West and Eighth South streets. It is understood that in the near future, following the plans of the merger, the old plant of the latter company will be demolished and the best of the machinery will be used, where possible, in the new Murray plant.

Little definite information could be obtained Thursday night, further than that a merger had been effected. A number of details must be attended to before the matter is finally settled. It is said that no change in policy will result from the merger.

Merger Will Control Field.
Business men, familiar with the fire clay business, say the enlarged concern, or the merger, will be able to control the fire clay products field. The market is not confined to Salt Lake City, but the products are shipped to various cities in the state and to points in Nevada, Wyoming and Idaho.

The Murray plant of the new concern, which was started by the Western Fire Clay company, will cost when completed about $150,000. It will be through a modern in every particular, and the latest and most approved machinery for the making of fire clay products will be installed.

The principal product will be fire brick, though considerable attention will be paid to the manufacture of sewer pipes and fire clay insulators for high tension wires. The manufacture of the latter product is a new undertaking in the west, and from the present heavy demand it is thought that it should prove highly remunerative to the company.

NEVADA CON. IS MAKING RECORD

The Nevada Consolidated milling and smelting equipment was planned originally to treat 6000 tons of ore a day. A report was handed me today for three weeks of this month, and the average tonnage treated was 6073 tons or one daily. Our equipment is capable of handling 10,000 tons of ore daily through the inexpensive alterations made in the mill. Our railroad is capable of transporting 12,000 tons of ore daily from the mine to the mill. So you see everything at the Nevada consolidated is moving along in an entirely satisfactory manner."

This was the statement made to The Tribune Thursday afternoon by S. W. Eccles, vice president of the Nevada Consolidated Copper and president of the Nevada Northern railroad companies, vice president of the American Smelting & Refining company, and vice president of the Utah Copper company, and Charles W. Whitley, general manager of the American Smelting & Refining company, for a week's visit to the Nevada Consolidated properties at Ely.

Mr. Eccles says that there is only one reason for the number of pounds of copper produced at the Nevada Consolidated smelter varying from month to month, and that is on account of the difference in the grade of copper ore handled, not because of smelter trouble. Some months, when the management requires a quantity of iron ore, the steam shovels are put to work at the section of the big pit where the iron ore is and where the grade of the copper ore is less than at the better sections. The company has ordered new locomotives and 75 and 85-ton railroad cars for ore hauling, which equipment is needed in the new ore pit now being prepared for production and for replacing such equipment as naturally wears out from the hard uses to which it is subjected.

"Let me tell you something of what the Nevada Consolidated company is doing in an ore transportation way," Mr. Eccles said. "We are hauling 9000 tons of ore or more a day, the haul is twenty-seven miles, the adverse grade is 3 1/2 per cent, yet the whole work is done by three engines and three train crews. It is such items as these mentioned by Mr. Eccles that enables the Nevada Consolidated company to make copper for less than 6 cents per pound, as was the case last June, placing the organization in possession of the proud title of being the company that can make copper the cheapest of any producer in the world."

been noted in comparisons of the month of June, 1909, with the similar month this year, where there was received a total of 26,289.48 pounds less than one year ago, and showing an excess over last year's same month of 155 per cent, when the total was 10,278,684 pounds. Exports during the same respective periods in less than car lots aggregated: For June, 1910, 897,222 pounds, and during 1909, 611,661 pounds, the increase having been 35 per cent. There were 412 cars of freight received in June, 1910, other than that heretofore referred to, as against 269 cars in June, 1909, the increase being 22 per cent. Freight forwarded from here in June 1910, in car lots filled 314 cars, and the similar record last year, during the same month was 91 cars. Building materials and agricultural implements imported are responsible for much of the increased freight traffic noted, and it has been noted also by the arrival of many settlers with household goods.

BIG CONVENTION OF EAGLES TO BE HELD

Members From Three States Will Gather in Salt Lake, August 12.

Salt Lake, July 29.—A tri-state convention of the Fraternal Order of Eagles for Utah, Idaho and Nevada will be held in this city Friday, August 12. Grand Worthy President Frank E. Hering of South Bend, Ind., has authorized his local representative, H. S. McCann, to call the convention and a strong committee has been appointed from the local lodge, No. 67, to make arrangements for the meeting, which will be one of the biggest things held in this city in the history of the local lodge.

Large delegations are expected in Salt Lake City from the several aerics of the three states. During their visit here they will be the guests of the local aerics, and from arrangements as being made they will be royally entertained. On the evening of the opening day of the convention, which will probably last about two days, the degree teams of the various aerics will meet in a competition of the exemplification of the ritual. A substantial prize has been offered by the grand aerics for the best team, and some keen competition is expected. Among those who will be in Salt Lake for the occasion are Governor Brady of Idaho and Theodore A. Bell of California.

SALES OF "NEAR-BEER" IN THE "DRY" COUNTIES

Boise, Ida., July 29.—The question of whether near-beer can be sold in dry counties in Idaho will soon be settled by the supreme court, an early decision being expected on account of the importance of the issue on certain businesses. The case is in reality a test case to determine the validity of the local option law on this point, and the defendant is Lochman of Nampa, who is the proprietor of the Crescent brewery. He has been arrested and is arrested on the charge of selling intoxicating liquors, and the question before the court is the interpretation of the section which defines "intoxicating liquors as all drinks that may produce intoxication," and the interest in such a determination is whether such a beverage and others made from malt could be prohibited in prohibition districts under the Idaho local option law. The evidence in this particular case that the near-beer contained 1.28 per cent alcohol, and expert witnesses claimed that an ordinary man could not drink enough of this beverage to produce intoxication. The prosecution argued that this beverage was included in the term "malt liquors," and was intended by the framers of the law to be excluded from sale.

CONDUCTOR'S THUMB STOPS PISTOL SHOT

Salt Lake, July 29.—Within half an hour after Manuel Bell, a street car conductor, living at 51 South Fifth West, was held up by two men, whom he positively identified as the highwaymen were in the city jail. Mr. Bell was near his residence at First South and Fifth West at 1:30 o'clock this (Friday) morning when he was met by two men, one of whom pointed a gun at him and commanded him to throw up his hands. The bandit pulled the trigger, but the hammer was stopped by the conductor's thumb and the gun was not discharged. The hand was severely lacerated. The highwaymen then fled toward the Western Pacific yards.

As soon as the telephoned report of the holdup reached police headquarters the patrol wagon, with a load of armed officers, went at once to the railroad yards, where a search was inaugurated. Within a few minutes Patrolman Pat Wickel caught two men who corresponded with the description given by the conductor. The men gave the names of John Norton and Albert Allen. When Bell reached the station he positively identified the two men as the highwaymen.

SALT LAKE PEOPLE IN TROUBLE IN COLORADO

Salt Lake, July 29.—Word has been received from Denver that Mrs. Mary Barter, Hazel Barter's wife, has been arrested at that place and is being held as implicated in the case of Albert A. Ives, accused of bigamy, and also being held in Denver under $2,000 bond. All the parties were formerly residents of this city. Hazel Barter Ives, 16 years of age, is said to be wife No. 2 of Ives. After the arrest of Mrs. Barter, Mrs. Lola Hanna of this city spent the night in the county jail of Denver with her mother. Both Melba and Hazel have been placed in the detention home pending the hearing of the case against Ives. Mrs. Ives No. 1 is said to be in Cheyenne, Wyo. Mrs. Barter denies that she knew that Ives was a married man when she gave her consent to the marriage.

DESPERADO LAUGHS AT DEATH

Daring Frenchman Creates Intense Excitement in a Circus Tent.

The spectacle of a desperate man throwing himself from a great height and landing on his unprotected chest upon a three-foot skid fastened to the ground is the latest circus thrill producer. It is a cure-free sensation, an approach to suicide that fascinates the morbid-minded. There is no ponderous rigging to hint at danger. The absence of any kind of a safety device makes the danger of the act evident at a glance.

Desperado is the name of the madman who conceived the idea and has the nerve to put it into execution. He will present it in Ogden on Wednesday, August 10th, as the extraordinary feature of the Barnum and Bailey Greatest Show on Earth.

High up in the center of the dome is a very small platform, reached by a rope ladder. The size of the great arena gives the performer the appearance of being lower down than he is, until Desperado begins to climb the ladder. When he mounts to his perch the realization comes to the audience that he is standing at a height equal to that of the roof of the ordinary five-story building. On the ground directly beneath him is the skid. It is three feet high and made of small strips of well-smoothed birch.

Desperado slowly raises his hand high above his head. His fingers touch the canvas above him. This is the signal for all eyes to center on him. He leans far forward over the small platform. But there is a fascination to the rash spectacle that has never yet been resisted. Suspense tears at the heart and tortures the mind. But it is over in an instant. The Frenchman's bare chest glides over the frail framework on the ground. The next thing the audience realizes is that the man stands with feet firmly set upon the grass, smiling and bowing to them.

Later on the audience is again subjected to another siege of thrills by the perilous ride of Juniper, the balloon horse, and the horrible feats of the Adonis brothers, while the remarkable feats of Charlie the First, a chimpanzee bicycle rider and acrobat, fill spectators with amazement. The remainder of the program is given by 100 artists, who represent the best talent of the world. Never before has the Barnum and Bailey Circus contained the sensational features that are this year thrilling the people of America. A fitting overture to the show is the new forenoon parade, re-established at a cost of over $1,000,000. In the menagerie there is a single attraction of more interest than the entire exhibition of any other show. It is the only giraffe baby ever seen anywhere in the world outside the African jungle. It is the only one ever born in America.

HOUSE WAS MADE TO EXCLUDE BURGLARS

Chicago, July 29.—It developed at the coroner's inquiry today into the cause of the death of Rawn, that the house in which Rawn met his death was constructed with particular care for protection against intruders. Joseph R. Gay, owner of the house, testified that in the construction of the house he had been particularly careful so the first and second floors could be separated completely by sliding doors, which were closed automatically by a button on the second floor. A system of electric lights also had been arranged so the entire lower floor could be flooded with light by a button in the upper floor.
