SOCIETY

DANCE AT GLENWOOD PARK

An affair, which undoubtedly will take the foremost place in the summer season's social events was the dancing party at Glenwood Park Friday evening. The party was under the direction of the "Bow-wows," an organization composed of the campers at that resort—Dr. and Mrs. Dalrymple, Mr. and Mrs. William Van Allen, Judge and Mrs. Horn, and Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Rowe.

The "Bow-wows" arrayed in the splendor of their organization—a don't bear mentioning a black disc bearing the word "Bow-wows"—by their careful efforts, in decoration and arrangements, made the affair one "howling" success.

A string of special cars carried those invited to the park, where the music was furnished by Prof. Shorpe's orchestra. The decorations consisted of a profusion of American flags neatly arranged, scores of lighted jack-lanterns, and Japanese lanterns, natural vines, arranged nicely about the pillars and eaves of the ball, a separate decoration of pillar with masses of rushes and "cat-tails" and an immense mass of rushes at the wall end of the pavilion.

A unique feature of the decoration, was the display of the many original acceptances and regrets. The latter, some of which were written on sections of dry goods boxes, and the like, and all of which were written and composed in an original way, were displayed on one wall of the hall, and proved of a considerable interest and amusement to the guests.

Refreshments were served during the later part of the evening, and the party disbanded about midnight, ending the affair the most pleasing of the season.

Receiving line were: Mr. and Mrs. Horn, Dr. and Mrs. Rowe, Mr. and Mrs. Van Allen, Dr. and Mrs. Dalrymple, Miss Le Cron, St. Louis, Pasadena, Nebraska City; Mrs. Van Meter, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Enos Hope, Salt Lake; Mrs. Werthamer, Cincinnati; Miss Taylor, Provo; Mr. and Mrs. Peery, Salt Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Harlan, Nebraska; Miss Edna Smith, Harlan, Nebraska; Miss Kitchen, Chicago; Miss Short, Salt Lake; Mr. and Mrs. E. CONCERT FOUR

The Misses Loretta and Genevieve Malone of Ogden, who are making a concert tour of Wyoming cities, gave the first of a series of concerts last Thursday evening at Evanston, at which they were enthusiastically received. Despite their slender years, the young ladies are artists in the true sense of the word, and it appears from the following clipping in the morning Times, that their talent is being appreciated in their initial effort. The Times says, in part:

"These young ladies rendered one of the best musical numbers ever heard in Evanston. Miss Genevieve Malone is destined to reach the first rank of accomplished violinists, and for a young lady in her teens, she is quite a sensational artist, with a difficult instrument. Her rendition of the 'Mazurka de Concert' was given to the audience with a vim and inspiration that at once stamps her as a coming star in the musical world. At all times she had the rapt attention and sympathy of her audience. No less accomplished is Miss Loretta Malone, pianist and reader, whose difficult numbers were heard with the same ease and grace as the easy ones. These young ladies are musicians of unusual ability, and it would be a pleasure for an Evanston audience to welcome them in concert at any time."

BUSY BEE CLUB ENTERTAINED IN CANYON

Wednesday afternoon Miss Ardel Stratford entertained the Busy Bee club at the Stratford camp at the Lewis resort in the canyon.

The afternoon was pleasantly passed with games and a guessing contest in which Maude Stratford won first prize and Violet Bane the consolation.

After a mountain climb the girls returned to lunch at the cabin, which was decorated with pine boughs. Miss Myrtle Peep was the guest of honor.

The members present were Myrtle Hues, Charlotte Skeen, Elean Couch, Maude Stratford, Violet Bane, Ardel Stratford.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A pleasant evening was spent Thursday at the home of Miss Fern Elliott, 104 Washington avenue, in honor of her sixteenth birthday. The evening was spent in games and music, after which refreshments were served on the lawn. Among those present were:

Helen Rosencrans, Vera Randall, Marie Smith, Rena Thorsted, Ethel Simmons, Lillie Simmons, Alice Stone and Fern Elliott; Messrs. Will Randall, B. Smith, Rolly Williams, Frank Wiley, Ernest Chandler and Alvo Watson.

KENSINGTON AT STILLWELL COTTAGE

Mrs. O. J. Stillwell entertained thirty-five guests on Wednesday afternoon at a Kensington. The cottage was tastefully decorated in goldenrod with the table decorations following the same scheme. A luncheon was served at 2:30. The afternoon was pleasantly spent at fancy work and social chat.

THOMAS-EBERSOLE

The marriage of Miss Inez Thomas to Mr. Fred Ebersole took place at the home of the bride, 322 3/4th street, on Wednesday, August 17, at 6:30 p. m.

RECOVERY IS HOPED FOR

Mrs. M. La Mar, storekeeper at the corner of Main and Twenty-fifth street, whose clothing was burned from her body Friday morning while watching a bonfire in the rear of her grocery, is still alive and some hopes are now entertained for her recovery.

When first viewed by a physician after the accident it was not believed that the woman had any chance for recovery. Her entire body was a mass of burns and the physician stated that only by a miracle could she survive for twenty-four hours.

Mrs. La Mar rallied during the night and yesterday morning appeared to be so much better condition that it is now believed she may recover.

AMPLE TIME TO PRESENT IDEAS

At the evening session of the governors' conference the delegation representing the Twin Cities committee was given an opportunity to explain all of the incidents preceding the time when Governor Hay's request was abruptly turned down.

The first to speak was Frank B. Kellogg, who said that he was in a position and with authority to give the governors every assurance that they would have ample time and opportunity to present their arguments.

Mr. Kellogg touched upon the vast importance of the question of conservation and declared that, from what he had heard during the day, he was more than ever convinced that the west must send strong delegations.

"It is the people of the east whom you want to convince," said Mr. Kellogg, "and you have opportunity to convince them to meet them at the congress and tell them your side of the case. I do not think there is any prejudice in the east, the south or the great Mississippi valley against the west. Those people are not informed upon the question as you are; indeed, they know little about it. Therefore, it is to your advantage to meet them and tell them."

Ralph Wheelock, representing Governor Eberhart, told of the trials and tribulations of the governor and his committee of ten, five from Minne-

WOMAN LIFTS PLUMES IN STORE

According to reports sent to the police station, the city is never rid of the shoplifters and, the officers say, they are the most cunning thieves to contend with and the hardest to capture. The shoplifter usually mingles with a crowd of honest people and lifts articles when the least vigilance is being exercised regarding the care of goods in the store.

The most recent steal of this kind, and one that is of considerable importance, was perpetrated at the Last & Thomas store, Friday, when a woman lifted four black plumes from the counter and made good her escape. The plumes are valued at $20 each.

The matter was reported to the police officers last evening, but the are at a loss to know in which direction to look for the thief, the being a description of the person who turned the trick. As a matter of fact, the proprietors of the place have no idea as to who the guilty party is, and they are not certain as to the exact date of the theft, the being thought by one of the clerks, though, that the thief is a woman, and that she lifted the plumes immediately after the opening of the store in the morning. The clerk says that while he was straightening things out in the morning for the business of the day, he noticed a woman standing in the doorway, but he thinks she did not come in for anything, and he had denied disappeared and did not return.

THOMAS IS BEFORE THE COURT

A Thomas seems to be in trouble of some kind nearly all the time. He was before the judge of the municipal court yesterday charged with vagrancy, a plea of not guilty being entered by him and testimony given in the premises.

Detective Pender stated to the court that Thomas has a paramour in the underworld of the city and that she is supporting him with money that she earns from day to day. He also said that Thomas had been arrested upon different occasions for other offenses, and that not long ago he was fined $75 for distributing cigarettes to boys from the state industrial school.

Testifying in his own behalf, Thomas stated that he does not live off the earnings of the woman, he sometimes associates with, and that he is a working man and makes his own living. He said also, that he does not often associate with the woman in question and that he has known her for only a short time. He claimed to have formerly worked for an ice company in the city and stated that he now has a job "tending bar."

The defendant is now under a bond of $250 for his appearance in the justice's court of Pleasant View on the charge of assault, the complaint alleging that he assaulted a young lady while riding with her in the canyon. The young lady states that he mistreated her and struck her in the face because she refused to comply with his wishes. She was knocked out of the buggy and left in the canyon to make her way home as best she could. The case was called in the municipal court and Thomas filed an affidavit of bias and prejudice and asked for a change of venue, which was granted.

After hearing the testimony in the case yesterday the court stated that it did not care to pass judgment in the matter until Detective Burke had investigated regarding the charge of vagrancy and the relationship of Thomas with his alleged paramour. In the meantime Thomas will remain in jail.

The shoplifter usually mingles with a crowd of honest people and lifts articles when the least vigilance is being exercised regarding the care of goods in the store.

The most recent steal of this kind, and one that is of considerable importance, was perpetrated at the Last & Thomas store, Friday, when a woman lifted four black plumes from the counter and made good her escape. The plumes are valued at $20 each.

The matter was reported to the police officers last evening, but the are at a loss to know in which direction to look for the thief, the being a description of the person who turned the trick. As a matter of fact, the proprietors of the place have no idea as to who the guilty party is, and they are not certain as to the exact date of the theft, the being thought by one of the clerks, though, that the thief is a woman, and that she lifted the plumes immediately after the opening of the store in the morning. The clerk says that while he was straightening things out in the morning for the business of the day, he noticed a woman standing in the doorway, but he thinks she did not come in for anything, and he had denied disappeared and did not return.

WOMAN LIFTS PLUMES IN STORE

According to reports sent to the police station, the city is never rid of the shoplifters and, the officers say, they are the most cunning thieves to contend with and the hardest to capture. The shoplifter usually mingles with a crowd of honest people and lifts articles when the least vigilance is being exercised regarding the care of goods in the store.
