CONCRETING THE BIG WATERWAY

Eight Concrete Mixers Are Supplying Material for the Improvements on the Davis and Weber Counties Canal--Engineer Bostaph Has Large Corps of Surveyors in the Field.

Between four and five hundred men are now employed on the construction work of the Davis and Weber counties canal and the big ditch is being concreted at a rate of several hundred feet per day.

The concreted canal when completed, will be nine and three-fourths miles in length and at the present time five miles of the waterway has been put in shape for the placing of the cement. One and three-fourths miles of the ditch is entirely finished and the cement is being laid at a rate of 800 feet per day. City Engineer W. N. Bostaph, who is in charge of the canal, states that this morning that the work could not be completed before the workers are caught by the cold weather but that he expects, with ordinary conditions, in the late spring the canal will be in readiness for irrigation purposes when it becomes time to irrigate.

In some respects the improving of the canal is offering problems in engineering that have not hitherto been solved. At one point in its course the engineers are virtually holding back a mountain with steel bands and cement. Thousands of tons of earth and rock are being kept from burying the canal only by the skillful art of the engineers in charge.

The workmen have really blocked an avalanche that would have hidden hundreds of feet of the canal from sight.

Six concrete mixers, each with a capacity of supplying material for 100 lineal feet of the ditch per day are at work and two more will be started tomorrow.

The entire length of the canal will be ready for the concrete workers by the first of the month and the concrete will be all in place by November 25. No work, however, has yet been done in the canyon.

The headgate will be wider and the line of the canal will be changed and made from 16 to 20 feet in width. This is work which will probably not be done until spring.

When completed, the canal will be 22 feet wide at the bottom and 34 feet at the top. It will have a capacity of carrying 725 cubic feet of water per second, enough to irrigate 25,000 acres of land. It is now estimated that the work will cost between $250,000 and $300,000, which will amount to about $5.50 per lineal foot.

A power plant, which is to be erected near Riverdale will manufacture from the water's fall electricity equal to 5,000 horsepower and much of this energy has already been contracted. This power will bring to the stockholders of the canal company $20,000 annually.

The men in charge of the work are J. G. Wood, general manager, M. M. Whiteside, general superintendent, with William Doyle and the Gillis Concrete company doing the concrete work.

Engineer Bostaph, has under him four corps of engineers in the field organization and plan the work. The committee made its report at the meeting last Wednesday. It was decided that the class should study Dr. Worcester's book on the Emmanuel movement.

Meetings are to be held on Wednesday evening in the parish home, with the rector as leader.

The attendance at these first meetings has been between thirty and forty and many others have signified their intention of joining the class. These meetings are open to all who are interested in the subject.

Four heavy eyed prisoners pleaded guilty in police court yesterday to having been unlawfully drunk and were respectively assessed the usual fine of $5 or five days for their over-indulgence. On the complaints their names appear Tom Martin, Harry Andrews, George Brumley, and George E. Bain.

After the dismissal of court, the man who had answered to the name of Bain paid his fine but complained to the clerk that his name was Bryan and he would like to have it so placed on the records. He stated that a friend of his had called at the police station last night to see him and, because of the mistake on the register, had been informed that he was not stopping there. The officers in charge of the entry book apologized to their guest for the offending error.
