Demands of the Democratic Platform. State wide prohibition of the liquor traffic. and recall. Direct primary for all nominations. Laws to stamp out political corruption. Election of sen-ators by popular vote. Right relations between religion and politics. Tariff for revenue and not for graft, The stamping out of criminal trusts. Regulation by law of railroad rates. Strict economy in all public business. Legal recognition of the rights of labor.

After waiting silently four months ing rapid progress in their work for the return of her husband, who mysteriously disappeared from this city, Mrs. John Williams yesterday appealed to the juvenile court for some assistance in the support of her two children.

The woman states that four months ago her husband, without any word ago her husband, without any word of farewell, left home and has never since returned or written her con-cerning his whereabouts. During all this time he has sent her no money. With a boy two years of age and another eight years old, depending on her for their food and shelter, she has worked at any honest labor she could secure and managed until now to keep the wolf from the family door. The approach of winter, however, has forced her to make known her condi-tion, as she fears she will be unable to keep up the struggle against pover-ty throughout the cold weather. Mrs. Williams says that her hus band, prior to his departure, spent most of his money for liquor, and she feels certain that he has wilfully deserted her and the children and will

Effort will be made by Judge V. C. Gunnell to interest some of the women's organizations in the case, and at least part of the burden imposed upor Mrs. Williams by her unnatural hus band, will be lifted from her shoul-

DEFENDS THE COLLEGE YELLS.

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 5 .- Dr. Ida Bender, assistant superintendent of schools at Buffalo, N. Y., defended the college yell at the closing exer-cises of the Iowa State Teachers' association today. Dr. Bender said the college yell allowed the escape "cussedness" that otherwise may be devoted to some more serious pas

The waterworks department yesterday received a carload of 8-inch water mains to be used in the West Ogden extension. Another car which will contain the fittings, will arrive with-in the next day or two and the trench digging and laying of the mains will begun at the earliest possible mo-

There being some other work already in hand, it is stated that construction work on the West Ogden project will begin earlier than the middle or latter part of next week. The line to the homes of West Ogden will be connected with the main on Wall avenue, between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth streets, and will be laid along Twenty-fourth street to the residences on the west side of the Weber river.

The inhabitants of that section are anxious to get the water system, not anxious to get the water system, not only for the convenience it affords the homes but for the fire protection and the aid it will be in the sanitation of the district. Nearly a hundred people petitioned a number of months ago for the water connections, but it has been quite impossible for the mayor and city council to act earlier than now. It is said that there will be from 60 to 80 water users as soon as the mains are laid.

In the days of our New England forefathers, the "Election Sermon" was one of the great events of the year. It is not the place of the pulpit in this day to be partisan, but never was the pulpit more concerned with the important moral issues of the country. On that account the pastor of the First Methodist church, Frederick Vining Fisher, will preach an election sermon tomorrow night on "The Sacrament of the Ballot Box," to which all citizens are invited. which all citizens are invited.

PARENTS DAY AND IMMORTALITY

The Sunday services in the First Presbyterian church will be of excep-tional interest today in that the morning service is to be a parents' day service and the evening service will deal with the practical aspects of immortality as a practical belief and power in our life today.

The president of the Utah Woman's Christian Temperance union, at the close of the service will speak briefly upon "The Religious Ideals of Tem-perance." This will not be a political speech. Special music will be given by Mrs. Cora C. H. Stevens and Miss Biddle,

At Ogden Theater Tonight and Monday

John Mason, supported by an ad nirable company under the direction f the Shuberts will appear in "The Witching Hour," admitted to be Augustus Thomas' masterpiece, at the Ogden Theatre tonight and tomorrow night.
In this remarkable piece Mr

Thomas has provided exciting epi sodes and situations, much genuinely stirring drama of the higher sort many unique and curious surprises of plot dealing with mystic phenomena weird inheritances of ancestry and startling influences of personality upon personality down through three from the fashionable card room to the very shadow of the Supreme Court and the jury room of a great murder trial. The skill with which he has woven so many human interests together with all the new ideas that are afloat in the air concerning telepathy. Chris tion Science, spiritualism, hypnotism, mesmerism and all that concerns those unknown mysteries is enough to stamp this as even greater achievement of its author than was even his "Alabama" or his "In Missouri," or his "Arizona," capital plays as they all are. The play-goer who is wise all are. The play-goer who is wise enough to see "The Witching Hour" will carry home with him from this play a multitude of new sensations, feelings and thoughts and will find fresh interest in the curious coincidences and strange impressions of every-day life. Its striking success in Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, San Francisco, and other cities, as well as its run of over a year at the Hackett Theatre, New York, has been ample confirmation of his own faith and is a credit to the brains and hearts of the play-goers of the day, who are so often made unjustly to take the blame for slipshod and worthless dramatic offerings, Seats now selling. Attitude of Thomas Vance's Daughters Undergoes Radical Change.

Witness Says Aunt Threatened Her With Imprisonment if She Told Different Story.

SALT LAKE, Nov. 5.—That the at-titude of Lena Vance, 15 years of age, and Florence Vance, 10 years of age, toward their father, Thomas Vance, charged with the murder of their mother, has undergone a radical change since the former trial is becoming more evident as the second trial progresses.

Florence was on the stand for over an hour this morning and in spite of her tender years proved to be the best witness yet examined by the iefense.

Florence told practically the same story as her sister Lena. She testi-fied that her father did not beat her mother with his clenched fists, nor did he kick her, but that he had only pushed her down. The little witness said that Mrs. Amanda Vance Ward had told her that if she did not say that her father beat and kicked her mother she would be sent
