

PICKETT IS TO APPEAL CASE

William P. Pickett was found guilty in police court yesterday of having violated the sidewalk ordinance relative to bicycles and fined $5. Pickett was taken in by Special Officer Reast, who testified against him. The grocer when arraigned entered a plea of not guilty. The arresting officer was called to the stand and swore that Pickett had been riding his wheel on the sidewalk of Twenty-third street near Quincey avenue. He produced as his witness William Jones who also swore that he had seen the defendant riding on the sidewalk. On the stand Pickett swore that he had been riding in the middle of the street and that he was arrested by Officer Reast on a charge of which he was not guilty. He stated that the witness produced by the officer was not altogether trustworthy, inasmuch as he had an account against Jones and that the man for this reason was biased and should be considered an interested witness. Pickett produced as his witness Phil Kohn, agent for the Denver and Rio Grande, but Kohn could only testify that Pickett was not on the sidewalk at the time when the officer accosted him. After the court had decided the case against him, Pickett made the statement that he would carry the case to the higher courts.

FOR A WILD GOOSE CHASE

County Commissioner A. W. Valentine and County Fish and Game Warden L. D. Anderson of Box Elder county are here from Brigham city meeting friends and looking after business interests. The gentlemen state that business generally in the neighboring county and the Box Elder metropolis is good, the crops of the season being quite bounteous. Commissioner Valentine states that the interurban road between Ogden and Brigham city is looked upon with great favor by the Brigham people and that it will be the means of greatly developing the country between the two cities. Speaking of the hunting conditions, Mr. Anderson says there is little use for the nimrods going out for ducks. The birds are very scarce, many of them having died of the epidemic of cholera that has prevailed among them during the summer. For "wild geese" there is ample room to anticipate a good time. There are plenty of fat wild geese awaiting the arrival of the marksman, and, Mr. Anderson thinks, goose hunting will be the leading outdoor sport for the next few weeks. When your feet are wet and cold, and your body chilled through and through from exposure, take a big dose of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, bathe your feet in hot water before going to bed, and you are almost certain to ward off a severe cold. For sale by all dealers.

When the accident occurred this morning, her wooden leg was detached and she was unable to get out of the house.

FOREIGN YEGGMEN

New York, Nov. 19.—Three well-dressed Austrians are prisoners in Brooklyn today, as the result of the activities of secret service men who say that the three are crooks of international reputation and the most expert yeggmens now in this country. The charge against the prisoners is attempting to swindle one of the secret service men out of $900 by the use of a machine which was supposed to print excellent imitations of United States silver certificates. The secret service man was told that the plates in the machine had been stolen from the bureau of printing and engraving at Washington. The machine was given a trial in the rear room of a Brooklyn saloon, a strip of white paper being run through the motor-driven rollers while perfectly good ten dollar certificates were pulled out of the other side by means of a device connected with a false drawer. The trial was so successful that the secret service man made an engagement to buy the machine last night. When the three Austrians showed up at the rendezvous they were arrested.

The prisoners gave their names as Solomon Stromlaufer, Samuel Dressler and Boris Padolsky. Captain Coughlin, of the Brooklyn detective bureau, believes the three have cleaned up $100,000 by the same game in the last year. A lot of them, he says, are well-to-do and own many parcels of New York real estate.

REMARKABLE FLIGHT.

Philadelphia, Nov. 19.—Grabame-White, the English aviator, passed over the Philadelphia navy yard and across the Delaware river into New Jersey in his bi-plane yesterday when he made three flights at the aviation meet of the Aero club of Pennsylvania. Despite the chilling wind which swept the course at Point Breeze, the aviator showed wonderful control of his machine. On his first flight he circled the mile track six times. He then flew to the grain elevators at Girard Point, rising 400 feet. His flight to the navy yard was on his third ascension of the day. Rising only 100 feet, he flew over the commandant's office and the big searchlight across the river to the opposite shore and then returned to the hangar.

MAN AND WIFE ARE SENTENCED TO DEATH

DeQueen, Ark., Nov. 19.—In circuit court here yesterday a jury returned a verdict of murder in the first degree against John Ford and his wife Lella Ford, for the killing of William Nicholas near here on September 30. Judge Cowling sentenced both to be hanged on January 29. The tragedy resulted from Nicholas driving across a pea patch belonging to the Fords to get to a hay barn which he had reserved. ### HE TOOK AN INGERSOLL WATCH

Charged with stealing a watch valued at $1, Thomas Koerkos was arraigned in police court yesterday and his case continued, because of the prisoner's plea that he could not understand the reading of the complaint. Despite the meager value of the timepiece, Koerkos is charged with robbery.

The complaint alleges that a felony has been committed inasmuch as Koerkos assaulted Roseo D. Reast and took from him, by force, a watch, which happened to be of the Ingersoll variety. Koerkos will probably be given a preliminary hearing Monday morning.

NEWHOUSE BIG TUNNEL

Denver, Nov. 19.—With the completion of the Newhouse tunnel in the Gilpin mining district and the connection of the great El Paso mine with the Roosevelt draining tunnel at Cripple Creek, Colorado's mining industry yesterday received the greatest impetus of years. The Newhouse tunnel, 21,963 feet in length, will drain the old bonanzas of Gilpin county to a depth of 1500 feet. At Cripple Creek, the connection of the El Paso mine with the Roosevelt tunnel marks the first step in the wholesale unwatering of the district which the drainage project is expected to bring about.

The El Paso mine, one of the big dividend payers of Cripple Creek district, was flooded to a depth of over 400 feet four years ago, when, what is presumed to be an underground stream, was released by the mining operations. When the Roosevelt tunnel was driven through El Paso territory, at a depth greater than its deepest workings, operations were commenced to sink a well from the bottom of the flood shaft to the tunnel below. These operations were completed yesterday, the water pouring from the mine into the tunnel through a well six inches in diameter. The resulting flow at the portal of the tunnel is estimated at 2,000 gallons a minute and water is falling so rapidly in the mine that it is expected that it will be completely unwatered within 24 hours. One body estimated to carry over a million dollars worth of gold will be immediately available for mining. Despite the flow from the El Paso workings, progress continues on the drainage tunnel, which has been driven steadily forward forty-one months and it is expected that the main underground stream will be tapped with in a few days, with the consequent unwatering of a large portion of the district.

Smith recently served a 90-day sentence at the county jail for wife beating.

According to the story, as pieced together by the police, Scarbeck came home from his place of business shortly after midnight. The wife and children had been waiting for him and all went to the dining room for a late supper. McGee, who had been living with the Scarbecks, became involved in a political argument with his brother-in-law. The cablegram port told of his mother's death and that he had fallen heir to an estate said to be valued at $7,000,000. The fact of his inheritance and bereavement became known aboard ship and the youth found himself the object of solicited interest from many quarters.
