

GOOD THINGS BY BASKETFUL

Fifty baskets bulging with good things to eat will be distributed to as many destitute families yesterday by the Ogden corps of the Salvation Army, and half a hundred forlorn homes will be brightened today by a beautiful Christmas dinner.

The baskets, which were prepared this morning by Captain A. H. Chesham and his wife, contain each a good sized pork roast, a piece of beef, potatoes, apples, a can of fruit, three pounds of sugar, bread and a portion of butter, one sack of flour, a package of coffee, bunch of celery and a can of condensed milk. All of these articles were either donated to the army or were purchased with money donated.

Captain Chesham stated yesterday that the people of Ogden have been liberal in their donations and that many courtesies have been extended to the army workers in their efforts to relieve the sufferings of the poor families on Christmas.

Next Tuesday night the army will treat 200 poor children to the sight of a Christmas tree decorated with candles and presents for their benefit. Sacks of candies and nuts will be given to the little ones, and many other presents of a more substantial nature also will be distributed.

According to the captain of the local corps, the Salvation Army in the United States will feed in the neighborhood of half a million hungry people today.

Christmas at St. Joseph's will begin with a grand high mass at 6 a. m., the music for which is among the most elaborate of any excellent Christmas programs given in that church.

Following high mass, there will be mass at 8:30 and then high mass with a sermon at 10:30.

This is the great day of rejoicing in the Catholic world and Ogden's Catholic population has made fitting preparation for the event in their local church, Sunday morning.

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF COAL

LOVETT ORDERS CUT IN COAL

Cheyenne, Wyo., Dec. 24.—President Robert S. Lovett of the Union Pacific Railroad company sent a message last night to Rock Springs, ordering the price of coal at the mines reduced 25 cents a ton.

The order came as a Christmas present to all the coal consumers on the line of the Union Pacific railroad in Wyoming, Colorado and Nebraska, and is the result of a vigorous protest against the recent increase.

Effective yesterday the Union Pacific Coal company has reduced the price of coal at all its mines in Wyoming from $3 per ton to $2.75 per ton, the rate applying to all points on the Harriman system in the west, including Ogden and all other towns served by the Union Pacific Coal company.

The announcement of the reduction was contained in a telegram received late Friday by William H. Bancroft, vice president and general manager of the Oregon Short Line, from D. O. Clark, vice president of the Union Pacific Coal company.

NON-SUIT IN A DAMAGE CASE
In the damage suit of Charles B. Sewell against Henry Linderman, Judge Howell yesterday granted the motion for non-suit and discharged the jury.

In granting the motion the court stated that it had not been shown by the testimony that Mr. Linderman was responsible for the acts of his son inasmuch as the boy was not acting as his agent or servant and that he was not operating the automobile under the consent or knowledge of his father.

The evidence disclosed the fact that young Linderman, after driving his father and other members of the family to the theater, had been persuaded by some of his friends to go out for a joy ride, which he did, the accident happening while he was on the trip. The father, the defendant in the case, had told the boy to put the machine in the garage.

PRESENTED WITH CANE
W. F. Horspool, who on Nov. 23 was retired on a pension by the Harriman railroad company, was honored Friday night by 14 of his fellow workmen from the freight depot, who called at his home and presented him a gold headed cane and a purse of money.

When the presentation was made by William Hope, in the name of the check clerks, Mr. Horspool was so overcome with emotion that he could scarcely express his thanks. Later he requested the Examiner's representative to say that he was affected by the kindness shown and he hoped a rich reward would come to his comrades.

For 40 years Mr. Horspool was in the employ of the Harriman railroads and was one of the most popular men in local railroad circles, both with his fellow employes and with the officials of the road.

He was born in London, England, March 12, 1845, and came to this country in 1862. He reached Salt Lake in 1864 and later went north in the employ of the Ben Halliday Stage company, with which he remained until 1867, when he began working for the Wells-Fargo Express company at Deep Creek, west of Salt Lake. It was in 1870 that he entered the employ of the railroad company as yard clerk.

Prior to his retirement he was one of the clerks in the freight office, and it was the office of this party who called at his home on Twenty-sixth street Friday night and in words and tokens gave expression to their esteem.

CONDITION OF STOCK MARKET
New York, Dec. 24.—Business in the stock market this week was characterized by its narrowness and uncertain price movements. Its purely professional character and the extremely small volume of operations call for little comment.

General conditions, so far as they have to do with the industrial and commercial development of the country, are practically unaltered. Further contraction is shown in the steel and iron industry. This movement has spread and now affects copper and allied lines.

Mercantile business, more particularly the retail trade, shows the natural improvement due to the holidays, but in wholesale lines caution and conservatism prevail.

TEACHERS ON A JOOLY OUTING

Miss Bertha Stone, formerly of this paper, but now a teacher in Imperial Valley, Cal., is the writer of the following descriptive article of camping in the mountains. The article is from the Imperial Enterprise.

Signal Mountain Outing.
Had Principal Theobald of Calico seen the jolly crowd of teachers who participated in the trip to Signal Mountain last Friday and Saturday, he would have had no reason to feel that his advice in regard to a teacher's duty to herself and society, given at the Elementary Teachers' convention the previous Saturday, was wasted.

Dutcher's big tallboy led Imperial early Friday morning and the Imperial teachers and friends, including Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Jenney, the chaperons; Misses Helena Clark, Emily Dyke, Ella P. Bartz, Myrtle Briggs and Bertha M. Stone, and Messrs. H. A. Burrell, O. W. Larson, A. P. Shibley, W. E. Talbert and R. H. Taylor, were joined at El Centro by Misses Garnett R. Davis, Josephine Eddy, Clara E. Johnson, and Jeannette Wrottenberg, and Messrs. I. G. Alger and J. E. Carr.

Then the glorious trip began. The day was an ideal one and the drive of more than 20 miles to the camping place, on the ancient shore line about a mile from the base of the mountain, was truly exhilarating.

When the party reached the Mount Signal school house all alighted and invaded the pretty little school, where Miss Foster presides.

Early Friday afternoon camp was made and the usual picnic appetite was appeased upon the arrival of the provision wagon. In the evening all gathered around a cheerful fire, where each vied with the other in the narration of thrilling stories, both possible and impossible, while the popping of corn and toasting of marshmallows kept the campfires bright.

Early Saturday morning the ascent was begun and seven of the climbers, the first to leave the camp, succeeded in reaching the summit. They were Messrs. Taylor, Larson, Talbert and Alger and Misses Wrottenberg, Bartz and Stone. Lack of time prevented nearly those who left later, many of whom nearly reached the top, from accomplishing their purpose.

A trip of this kind would be incomplete without some thrilling adventure, so five accommodating ones of the party who reached the summit for the occasion, Taylor and Mr. Larson were the first to arrive at the monument, and after inscribing their names on improvised parchment took their departure over the trail by which they came, returning to camp by an easier side gulch. The remaining five, unable to assist the magnificent view, lingered and before leaving had christened an unnamed peak Pedagogical mount, and written a brief history of their feat. As they descended an inviting canyon proved more alluring than the arduous trail that led them to the summit, and down this canyon they climbed. Little progress had been made when two of the party lost their soles, and a third, finding evidences that other soles had been lost in that same place in former times, named the gorge "The Canyon of Lost Soles."

It seemed that the chief part of the trip was over, when a foot drou made further descent impossible, and the five, now weary and footsore, were compelled to retrace their steps to the summit. Another canyon which led to the base of the mountain was followed, but long before the bottom was reached the precipitous and rocky canyon unsafe.

Searching parties were sent out, to miles from camp, and by 9 o'clock all were gathered around the cheerful fire, none the worse for their trying experiences in the "Canyon of Lost Soles," Nov. 26, 1910.

The ditch water, secured at a canal some distance from camp, proved a welcome substitute for ten gallons of filtered water poured out upon the ground before the necessity of spending another night upon the desert was realized. It was thoroughly enjoyed by the rescued party who had left in the morning without breakfast, provided with few lemons and apples, and a pint of water to quench their thirst.

The return trip was made on Sunday morning, and before noon the Sunday party were at home or with friends. Despite the naturally resulting stiffness, sore lips and sunburn, all declared they enjoyed every minute of the outing, and eagerly anticipate a similar pleasant time with the same congenial, merry party.

TRAVELED 2,000 MILES TO MARRY A GIRL
Colorado Springs, Colo., Dec. 24.—John T. McCrumm of Sharpeville, Pa., traveled nearly 2,000 miles to marry Miss Della F. Doench here yesterday, and immediately after the ceremony departed for his home in Pennsylvania—a lone.

His wife will join him in the summer. The young woman is here with her parents for her health.

HALF A TON OF GOLD FROM IDITAROD
Seward, Alaska, Dec. 24.—Half a ton of gold was brought out from over the trail on dog sleds by a party of five miners who arrived at the Iditarod district yesterday. This is the camp's cleanest since the close of navigation for the winter. The gold will be sent to the government assay office at Seattle.

INSECTICIDE WORSE THAN THE PESTS
Cheyenne, Wyo., Dec. 24.—George Dennis, a laborer, for the past few nights found sleep an impossibility because the presence in his bed of innumerable little pests not mentioned in polite society. Accordingly, he sprinkled his bed clothes Thursday night with an insecticide. Last night as he lay in hospital he was said to be dying from noise absorbed through his pores while he slept.

Orange Blossom Suppository
I cannot be thankful enough for what the Orange Blossom Suppository has done for me. I was a chronic constipated for five years with absence of the womb, could not ride or walk at all, was greatly reduced and only weighed 124 pounds. I learned of Orange Blossom Suppository, and gave it a trial, was relieved from the first, have used nearly two boxes and do all my own housework. Would advise all sufferers of female weakness to try the Orange Blossom Suppository. Yours very sincerely,
MRS. IDA GILMORE,
