SECOND CITY IN THE STATE

Will Clarksburg Be Within Five Years—Real Estate is Advancing and East End Property Will Increase 50 Per Cent. in Value Within Two Years, Says Prominent Real Estate Man.

"This spring and summer will mark a wonderful advance in real estate in Clarksburg," said Mr. R. B. Willson, of the real estate firm of Willson & Dennison, to a Telegram representative Monday. "This advance will not only be felt in real estate within the city, but also in that adjacent to the city. By several real estate deals we have made within the past three or four weeks we are in a position to know that such a thing is a fact. Although we are interested in real estate in different parts of the city, we are particularly interested in property in the eastern portion, and I want to say that any person investing in property in east Clarksburg from a short distance from the heart of the city eastward for a distance of several miles will realize a fifty per cent. increase in the value of his property from the purchase price within two years. Of course the wonderful industrial advancement in the industrial additions to the city will account in a large measure for this.

"In other parts of the city the advance in real estate will be great. I predict a wonderful future for Clarksburg. A large number of people hardly realize what great strides are being made in the industrial world in Clarksburg. They do not grasp the immensity of the manufacturing going up in the eastern industrial additions. It is something phenomenal and within five years Clarksburg will be the second largest city in the state."

ANSWERS THE FINAL SUMMONS IN A HOSPITAL IN THE QUAKER CITY, WHERE HE WAS BEING TREATED FOR BRAIN FEVER.

HE, WITH JUDGE NATHAN GOFF, OF THIS CITY, COMPRISED THE FEDERAL CIRCUIT BENCH OF THE FOURTH DISTRICT.

Was An Able and Brilliant Jurist—Served as District U. S. Judge Until 1893, When He Was Appointed to the Circuit Bench—Served in Confederate Army.

By Associated Press. Philadelphia, Pa., April 25—Judge Charles H. Simonton, of Charleston, South Carolina, died in the hospital here to-day where he was taking treatment for brain trouble. With Judge Nathan Goff, of Clarksburg, W. Va., Judge Simonton comprised the Federal court bench of the fourth district, which includes the states of West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Maryland.

Judge Charles H. Simonton was born in Charleston, S. C., July 11, 1829, and was therefore seventy-five years of age. He was the son of Charles S. and Elizabeth (Ross) Simonton. He graduated from the South Carolina College with the first honors of his class (LL. D. and also D. C. L. University of the South) and taught school for one year. He then took up the study of law and followed his practice at Charleston. He was a member of the South Carolina Legislature from 1858 to 1886, excepting during the Civil war and the Reconstruction period. While in the Legislature he was speaker of the house and later served as the chairman of the judiciary committee. Judge Simonton served in the Confederate States army, being captain of the Washington light infantry and was promoted to colonel of the 25th S. C. volunteers. He was a prisoner of war at Fort Delaware during the last six months of the war. He was appointed judge of the United States district court for the district of South Carolina in 1886 and continued in that capacity until his appointment by President Cleveland in 1893, to the bench of the United States circuit court for the fourth district.

The deceased was the author of several able treatises and commentaries upon the practice of law, among them being the following: "Lectures on Jurisdiction and Practice of United States Courts," "Digest of the Equity Decisions, State of South Carolina," "The Federal Courts, Organization, Jurisdiction and Procedure."

ROW AT COLUMBIA MINES

John Saligo Says Neighbors Poured Scalding Water Upon Him and Jennie Voyatuseck Says John Threatened to Kill Her.

By Associated Press. A party of foreigners had a big row down at Columbia Mines Sunday and they have resorted to a justice's court to get things straightened out again and have the guilty ones punished in accordance with the law.

John Saligo appeared before Magistrate M. S. Riley and requested the issuance of warrants against Jennie Voyatuseck and Francis Lihosilt. He claims that they did unlawfully and maliciously assault him by pouring scalding water upon him, painfully burning the cuticle upon his breast and shoulders and causing him great bodily discomfort.

Jennie Voyatuseck also appeared before the magistrate and caused a warrant to be issued against Saligo. She alleges that Saligo threatened to kill her a number of times and on Sunday in particular he pointed a revolver at her to emphasize his threats. She says that Saligo has caused her great fear for her welfare and safety and prays that he may be brought to punishment for his acts.

Constable W. Guy Merritt took the papers Monday afternoon and went down to the scene of the trouble to have the parties concerned come in before the magistrate for trial.
