

THE DAILY TELEGRAM

PARKER NOMINATED FOR PRESIDENT ON THE FIRST BALLOT BY THE DEMOCRATS CONVENTION IN SESSION ALL THE NIGHT

Vote Was Taken Just Before the Breakfast Hour, Every One Rallying to Hill's Candidate Before the Ballot Was Completed and He Got It Unanimously.

Bryan's Effort to Stampede Convention for Cockrell at Last Hour Was Highly Dramatic and Scenes Throughout Were Those of Wildest Demonstrations--Convention Re-convenes to Name Man for Vice President.

St. Louis, July 9.—Judge Alton B. Parker, of New York, was nominated at the Democratic national convention before the first ballot was completed after daylight this morning.

Adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock this afternoon, when a candidate for Vice President will be named.

The greatest scenes were when Champ Clark presented Cockrell and Bryan seconded Cockrell, appealing for a nominee who had been voting the Democratic ticket.

Tried to Stampede for Cockrell.

Eight names were presented for President, and state favorites had innings innumerable, according to the speaker during the night, the most notable of which was by Bryan, whose time was extended and who in a most dramatic manner seconded Cockrell.

There were many great speeches during the night, especially those of Litchell and Delmos for Parker and Hearst, but none surpassed Champ Clark in presenting Senator Cockrell, for whom the greatest efforts were made to stampede the convention about sunrise.

How It Was Done.

Parker's name was presented first and then, in the order named, Hearst, Gray, Cockrell, Wall, Williams, Olney and Mills, some having many seconds, especially Parker and Hearst.

Mrs. Hall remained in the hall all night and cried during the scenes following the nomination of her father.

After the convention took a recess a multitude followed Hill to his quarters, Sheehan, Belmont and others were jubilant and congratulated one another.

The result of the ballot for President was not officially announced and probably never will be.

The final total before the states changes votes was: Parker, 658; Hearst, 200; Cockrell, 42; Olney, 38; Wall, 27; Williams, 8; Gray, 11; McClelland, 3; Miles, 3; Gorman, 2; Towne, 2; Pattison, 1; Coler, 1.

At least two-thirds of the spectators remained all night. Thirty per cent were women.

It was said he had nothing to add to what he said in the convention, which was that he would support any candidate of the party who was helped to make. The Ohio vote was polled, resulting: Parker, 20; Hearst, 6; McClelland, 9;

Cockrell, 2, and Olney, 1. The unit rule carried all for Parker.

Hill Is Happy. Hill after the convention said he was delighted because the nomination was made on the first ballot and with one exception no personal abuse was indulged in.

Bryan Favored Cockrell.

Bryan carried the honors in oratory at the night session. The convention had limited the speaking time to four minutes. At 3:55 Bryan began.

Tammany for Parker. Charles F. Murphy said today Tammany would stand solidly behind Parker and give him the largest majority in New York county ever given a presidential candidate.

Consider Vice President. Senator Hill, Guffey, Taggart Hopkins and Sheehan met in conference on the vice presidential candidate.

The leaders of the different delegations joined them. Among the names considered are Koin, of Indiana; Williams, of Illinois; Daniel, of Virginia; Gray, of Delaware; McLean and Harmon, of Ohio; Dockery, of Missouri, and Beckham, of Kentucky.

Ex-Senator Davis, of West Virginia, was seriously considered. Harlan Cleveland announced that Harmon under no circumstances would accept the nomination, though he seemed to be strongly favored.

Agree on Harmon. Fifteen minutes before the time for the convention to meet D. J. Campan, of Michigan; Col. Guffey, of Pennsylvania, and Hill and Sheehan had agreed that Harmon should be supported.

No Money Plank in It. The platform as amended by the full resolutions committee and unanimously adopted by opposing factions led by Bryan and Hill and adopted by the convention, contains the following features:

The practical reaffirmation of the Kansas City tariff plank. Forbidding interstate commerce to combine unless they can prove they are not seeking a monopoly.

Criminal prosecutions of illegal trusts. Congressional investigations of department frauds. Reduction of the tariff on trust-made goods sold cheaper abroad than a home.

The completion of the Isthmian canal. Exclusive jurisdiction of civil courts over all persons accused of riot. (Reference to Colorado.) Trade treaty with Canada.

Reduction of the army. Laws which give labor and capita their just rights. The open door in the East with no foreign entanglements or alliances.

The same rights for Filipinos that were given Cubans. Opposition to ship subsidies. Opposition to polygamy. Statehood for Oklahoma, Arizona and Indian Territory and New Mexico.

No reference whatever is made to the money question or to the income tax. It was over these points that the committee wrangled. Bryan gave up the income tax plank in return for the committee's striking out the plank declaring for a single standard.

Neither is there any reference to the Kansas City platform.

CRAWLS OUT WINDOW OF JAIL

WILLIAM ROBEY MAKES EASY ESCAPE FROM COUNTY JAIL WHEN TURNKEY STEPS OUTSIDE THE BUILDING.

LIFTS LOCK FROM FASTENING OF CELL DOOR AND CLIMBS OUT LITTLE WINDOW OVER OUTSIDE DOOR.

Makes Good His Escape Before Turnkey Discovers He Had Gone—County Officers Telegraph to Weston, Where They Believe Prisoner Is Going.

William Robey, of Northview, who was put in jail Friday in default of furnishing a bond in the sum of $500 for his appearance at the next term of circuit court to stand trial for robbing $100 from Riley Ables, climbed out of a window of the temporary county jail Saturday morning while the turnkey had his back turned and is now roaming in parts unknown.

Robey made his escape about 8 o'clock. Turnkey Alexander Stepleau was performing his various odd duties about the jail interior.

He got the key to the big padlock which fastens the hasp of the door of the iron cells, unlocked the lock and went inside the cell where Robey was confined to get some buckets.

He took the buckets and came out of the cell. After he had passed out of the cell door he pushed the hasp over the staple and swung the unlocked door through the staple and outside of the hasp.

After he had gone outside to empty the buckets, Robey squeezed his arm through the iron bars of the cell, pulled the lock out of the staple, pushed the door open and stood outside. He then replaced the lock in the same position it was before and slipped down the jail to the farthest end, where he climbed up on the cross bars of the cage and went out the small window over the door.

Stepleau did not find out that the man had made his escape until he went back into the cell with his buckets. The lock being in the same position where he left it and the door being closed, he did not have the least idea that the man had gotten out.

When he did discover that Robey was gone it was too late to try to catch him, as he had a good start.

The county officers believe that Robey has gone towards Weston and they telegraphed the authorities there to be on the lookout for him.

This makes another name to be added to the list of county prisoners who have made their escape from the county jail. Several others have crawled through the insensate flooring of the jail in the past year.

The jail is only a temporary structure, being a mere shed structure erected over the old cage of the old county jail. The handsome new county jail has been completed and is ready for use, and when it is turned over to the county officers by the county commissioners there will be no more jail escapes recorded.

The county officers are very anxious to get the new jail building for use and it is probable that it will be turned over for that purpose in the course of a very short time.

COL. SEELY INJURED

By Being Thrown From a Buggy as He Was Driving to the Industrial Bridge.

Col. Thomas B. Seely sustained painful, but not serious injuries Friday while he and Guy Sinsel were driving from Broad Oaks road to the Industrial bridge.

They had turned into the Judge Goff field and came to a mudhole of considerable proportions. It had the appearance of being a mudhole, enough to bear the horse and buggy, but as the horse stepped into it he began to sink and to save himself he jumped. The movement was so quick and unexpected that the lurch caused Col. Seely to fall out of the buggy.

His left leg was considerably bruised and he received scratches and bruises on other parts of the body. The injuries were such that the services of a physician were needed. Fortunately, the horse, which is very spirited, did not run away.

There was no session of county court Saturday, but it will reconvene Monday morning.

County Court Monday.

TIN PLATE MILLS ARE YET UNSOLD

Bid Was Made by Pittsburg Concern but Later Was Withdrawn and Sale Was Continued Until July 28--Only $100 More Than Former Bid.

ITINERARY

OF THE PITTSBURG MERCHANTS AND MANUFACTURERS THROUGH WEST VIRGINIA.

Will Arrive Here Next Wednesday Evening and Remain One Hour—Party Is Coming on a Special Train.

The state of West Virginia is about to be invaded by a friendly host, which its people will gladly welcome. About one hundred of the representative merchants and manufacturers and heads of many financial institutions of Pittsburg will be carried by special train on a thousand-mile run through this wonderful state.

Four days will be spent by this party in a personal inspection of all the towns that can be reached, and in becoming personally acquainted with the proprietors of the same. In addition to meeting the merchants of the thirty towns at which stops have been arranged for, invitations have been sent to merchants of all towns within any sort of each reach of these stopping places to meet the visiting party at convenient points along the line.

This trip is made under the auspices of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association of Pittsburg, of which Mr. James W. Wardrop is general manager. The active or contributing members of the association are the business men of Pittsburg, but already thousands of merchants of Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio and Maryland have accepted the invitation to become associate members.

Low rate excursions will be secured for associate members visiting Pittsburg, and other trips will be made by the "active" members to the towns and cities of the states from which Pittsburg draws trade. The itinerary for the present trip is as follows:

Leave Pittsburg 10:30 a. m. Tuesday, July 12, 1904, stopping first at

Gordon Holds Another Auction. Auctioneer Samuel W. Gordon conducted a public auction from the front steps of the court house Saturday morning. He disposed of quite a number of articles of household use, office fixtures and so forth. The bidding was brisk and he sold his goods in a short time.

Sent to the Poor House. Lizzie Champ, aged 22 years, wandered into the city from the lower end of the county and applied for aid. She was directed to Andrew Lyon, overseer of the poor, who had her sent to the county infirmary Saturday morning.

Charles Burdette Hart and George Gilchrist, of Wheeling, representing the trust company of that city which is the bankrupt trustee in the matter of the Jackson Iron and Tin Plate Company here, offered the mills and appurtenances today for sale for the third time. Auctioneer Samuel W. Gordon cried the sale at 10 o'clock in the forenoon on the property. The only bid was that of $55,700 by Banning, Cooper & Co., of Pittsburg, and it was later withdrawn. The sale was then continued until 10 o'clock July 28.

The bid made by the Pittsburg concern was just $100 more than the bid of Caldwell, Moore & Co. at the former day of sale. It did not cover the 3,400 tons of steel billets, which were knocked off to the latter firm the second day of sale.

In connection with the sale of the billets, new litigation has arisen, an injunction having been granted Friday night restraining the trustee from reselling the billets. It was awarded on the application of Caldwell, Moore & Co. It seems the sale of them was confirmed by the court, but they failed to pay for the billets and the trustee resold them and intended to offer them again for sale, but the injunction was obeyed and nothing was done with the billets at the sale.

Seven manufacturers from Pittsburg attended the sale, also one from Cleveland, and four from Wheeling, besides a number of local people.

PRIEST STABBED

By the Former Sexton of Church, Probably Fatally—Sexton May Be Crazy.

By Associated Press. Youngstown, O., July 9.—Rev. John T. Barry, pastor of St. Ann's Roman Catholic Church at Brier Hill, a suburb, was probably fatally stabbed today by John Barry, sexton of the church. It is thought the sexton is insane.

Men's League Meeting.

The Men's League of the First Presbyterian Church met Friday night and discussed "Good Citizenship." There were various opinions advanced as to what it is and several made informal talks on the subject.
