

THIS IS THE FLOUR

The PILLSBURY CO. was awarded the three highest prizes at the World's Fair, St. Louis, as follows: PILLSBURY'S BEST FLOUR was awarded the Grand Prize for the best Flour.

Bread made from PILLSBURY'S BEST FLOUR was awarded the Grand Prize for Bread.

THE PILLSBURY CO. was awarded the Grand Prize for the best exhibit.

These three prizes were the Grand or Sweepstake Prizes and are away above any other prize. This shows plainly that PILLSBURY'S BEST is in a class all by itself and should be evidence enough for any good housekeeper that PILLSBURY'S BEST is the Best Flour made and the flour that she should use if she has her own interest at heart—Don't let anyone tell you some other flour is as good.

Every good grocer will recommend and sell PILLSBURY'S BEST to his customers because he wants to give them the best value for their money. It is different with the unscrupulous dealer. He will recommend the kind that he makes the most profit on.

When you order flour order PILLSBURY'S BEST and see that you get it. If your dealer does not keep it, it is his own fault, and you should go to the grocer who thinks enough of your trade to keep the best flour and the flour that you want.

J. H. SULLIVAN, 305 2nd National Bank Building, Pittsburgh, Pa., General Agent "Pillsbury's Best" Flour.

CLEVER PLAY IT IS REALLY

Every day we hear about great "Broadway" successes in New York an dthat thoroughfare has become the Mecca of the theatrical business. If a play is a success on Broadway, it points to almost certain success on the road. But there are points of New York, off Broadway, where occasionally a big hit occurs. "Running for Office," not long ago at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, the home of many great successes in the past, was in the nature of a triumph and all New York flocked to the down town district to see and be a witness of a success off Broadway. "Running for Office" was the second setting which George M. Cohan had given to himself and the members of his famous family, and for three months the play ran to the utmost capacity of the theatre, a tremendous capacity of the theatre a tremendous box office showing each night to attest its popularity.

Sam H. Harris is presenting this clever play with a strong metropolitan cast, which easily surpasses the musical comedy companies sent on tour. They use the original production which was highly praised when seen in New York during its long run there. The costumes are all new, effective and picturesque. The story of the play has a political campaign for its central motive, with its attendant comedy and enlivening episodes. It will be seen here at the Grand opera house, Tuesday, Oct. 3, 1905.

comedian, will give the monologue with the Donnelly & Hatfield Magnificent Minstrels. He has appeared in the calcium light of minstrelry for over two decades and is considered one of the best negro character delineators in the business. His natural wit, good nature and knowledge of human character enable him to give an embodiment that conforms to his humorous line of talk. Lee Edmunds and Franw Wingfield other comedians of note will also be seen among the forces of this popular organization, at the Grand opera house, Wednesday, Oct. 4.

DONNELLY & HATFIELD'S BIG MINSTRELS

Donnelly & Hatfield's Minstrels will appear at the Grand Opera House, Wednesday, Oct. 4.

The show opens with the time-honored burnt cork semi-circle for so long known as the first part of minstrelsy. It shows minstrels in black face and white face and goes under the title of "The Evolution of Minstrelsy." The comedians are embodied in the "burnt corks" while the "whites" are the songsters; the former representing the up-to-date minstrels, the latter that body of traveling musicians who flourished in Homer's day and set the events of history to music.

The performance closes with an after-piece, a burlesque on the tent show. It is a big spectacular act unique throughout.

The company of forty people give a parade in the morning and attract considerable attention.

COHN'S GREAT SUCCESS

"Running for Office" the George M. Cohan musical comedy, which he and Sam H. Harris are presenting this season has a record of unbroken popularity to attest its merits. A long successful run in New York followed by a lengthy tour of the principal cities of the United States, to capacity houses, argues that all classes of theatregoers find it worth seeing. The music and lyrics are popular and the line-clever. This season, a company of artists has been selected to keep this play on the high plane of its triumph. The chorus, which is a large one, has been characterized as one of beauty and talent. Manager Sam H. Harris promises the original production which has called forth the praise of critics everywhere.

The rivalry in "Running for Office" while in miniature is quite as interesting and better as that of the real factions whose wordy battles are full of contradictions and entirely one-sided.

John Tiger, a Vermont state politician, has other troubles that politics to make his life miserable. He has concealed from his newly-wedded wife that he has a daughter, just as she has made no sign that she has a grown up son, and the complication arising from this secret in their lives, is the plot upon which George M. Cohan has worked in "Running for Office." At the Grand opera house, Tuesday, Oct. 3.

BIG MINSTREL COMING

One of the features of a minstrel show is its monologue. The monologist nowadays is always selected from the front ranks of minstrelsy, for this mode of expressing comedy is considered as important as the songs and jokes of the end men. Tommy Donnelly, for many years associated with the A. G. Fields Greater Minstrels as the leading
