Sand for Sale

Parties desiring river sand in car load lots, address
R. BRUNBAUGH,
230 Thayer street,
9oct15dtf Grafton, W. Va.

Group is quickly cured, and whooping cough will not "run its course" if you use the original Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar. This cough syrup is different from all others because it acts on the bowels. You can not cure croup and whooping cough until you rid the system of all congestion, by working off the cold through a copious action of the bowels. Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar does this, and cures all coughs, croup, whooping cough, etc. No opiates. Sold by Stone & Mercer.

Extra fine ice cream served at Hotel Waldo each day from noon until midnight. June13dtf

Hyomei
Cures Catarrh
Breathes it

No dangerous drugs or alcoholic concoctions are taken into the stomach when Hyomei is used. Breathed through the inhaler, the balsamic healing of Hyomei penetrates to the most remote cells of the nose and throat, and thus kills the catarrhal germs, heals the irritated mucous membrane and gives complete and permanent cure.

Hyomei is the simplest, most pleasant and the only guaranteed cure for catarrh that has been discovered. Complete outfit, $1.00; extra bottle 50 cents.

For sale by Sturm & Wilson.

SWEET MELODY FLOUR.

It is difficult to cure a cough or free yourself from the discomforts of a cold unless you move the bowels. Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar acts on the bowels and drives all cold out of the system. For croup, whooping cough, colds and all lung and bronchial affections, no remedy is equal to the original Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar. A liquid cold cure. Sold by Stone & Mercer.

SWEET MELODY FLOUR.

Backache is never known to those persons who take an occasional dose of Pinnles. The value of the resin obtained from the pine tree has long been recognized in the treatment of diseases of the bladder and kidneys. One dose of Pinnles will give relief and bottle will cure. Sold by Stone & Mercer.

We have just opened our new fountain and can serve you with all flavors of cream and soda. Sturm & Wilson's Drug store. mar29dtf

S. S. S. OUR RECORD

With medicines as with other things, the surest test of worth is the length of time they have the confidence of the people. The efficacy of S. S. S. has been thoroughly proven by experience, and so successful has it been that today it is the best known and most widely used blood remedy in the world. For diseases such as Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Diseases, Sores and Ulcers, Contagious Blood Poison, and other troubles due to an impure and poisoned condition of the blood, no remedy acts so promptly and thoroughly as does S. S. S., and thousands throughout the country, cured of such diseases, are daily recommending it to others similarly afflicted. ITS FORTY YEARS OF EXISTENCE HAVE BEEN FORTY YEARS OF CURES. S. S. S. is a blood purifier of the highest order, containing properties necessary to cure blood troubles of every character, and which make it the greatest of all tonics. It goes into the blood and drives out all impurities, and makes this stream of life strong and healthy, and when this is done disease cannot remain. Being made entirely from roots, herbs and barks, chosen for their healing, purifying and blood-cleansing properties, it does not injure any of the delicate organs, or weaken the mind, but cures safely, as well as permanently. S. S. S. reaches deep-seated and inbred cases on which the ordinary Sarsaparilla and tonics have no effect. It is no experiment to use S. S. S.; it is a remedy with a record; it has proven its worth and ability by its forty years of cures. If you need a blood remedy begin the use of S. S. S.; write us about your case and let our physicians advise you and send book on the blood; no charge for either.

BABES IN THE WOOD.

A Seventeenth Century Incident in the State of Maine.

In 1679 James Adams of York became affronted with one of his neighbors, Henry Simpson, and determined to avenge himself upon two of Simpson's children, whose ages were six and nine years. In a solitary place four or five miles from the dwelling house of the inhabitants he built of logs beside a ledge of perpendicular rocks a pen or pound several feet high, with walls inclined inward from bottom to top. After he had built this he lured the children into the woods under a pretense of searching for birds' nests and caused them to enter within the pound, where he left them confined to perish. The place has since been called the Devil's invention.

The children were soon missed, and he alarmed inhabitants searched for them more than forty-eight hours. The boys, when aware of their wretched lot, made various attempts to get out, and at length, by digging away with their hands the surface of the earth underneath one of the bottom logs, effected their escape. They wandered in the woods three days, being at last attracted to the seashore by the noise of the surf, where they were found.

The depraved criminal was condemned to have thirty stripes well laid on, to pay the father of the children $5, the treasurer $10, besides fees and charges of the prison, and remain a close prisoner during the court's pleasure. The same month he recognized before two of the judges, "conditioned to send him, within twenty-one days, out of the jurisdiction."

GENTLEMEN OF ENGLAND.

How Their Claims Were Established in the Middle Ages.

A curious meeting was held in Lyons on Jan. 4, 1696. The royal commissioners solemnly sat in council to decide the question if lawyers and doctors could be regarded as gentlemen. It proved too hard a problem for the wise heads, and the doctors and lawyers themselves were summoned to prove their right to gentility. The matter was settled to the satisfaction of the professional parties.

In the middle ages of England heralds went through the counties to examine into the claims of landholders to be called gentlemen. There is in existence an interesting list of the discharges of a certain Thomas Robbins who failed to establish the title and was writ among the ignoble. Charles Ancoate, a representative of one of the oldest families, is registered as "entitled to be styled a gentleman, although worth not more than £500."

Brooke, an old writer, has given the world his opinion of what constitutes a gentleman, and his definition has never been excelled:

"The character, or, rather, quality, of a gentleman does not in any degree depend on fashion or mode or state or opinion; neither does it change with customs, climates or ages. But, as the spirit of God alone can inspire it, so it is that quality of heart which is the same yesterday, today and forever."

The Month of August.

Few persons know why August has thirty-one days. July, which takes its name from Julius Caesar, has thirty-one days, and Augustus, who completed the calendar, declined to submit to the indignity of seeing his own month branded with the inferiority of one day less. The astronomers had accordingly to reshuffle the lunar cards, and, after some perplexity, hit upon the expedient of shearing twenty-four hours from February's glory in order that August might face the world on a footing of perfect equality with July.

His Insanity.

"Your honor," said the attorney, "this man's insanity takes the form of a belief that every one wants to rob him. He won't allow even me, his counsel, to approach him."
"Maybe he's not so crazy after all," murmured the court in a judicial whisper.—London Express.

Made It Emphatic.

"What's Maude crying about now?"
"Oh, she asked her husband if he would marry again in case she died and he declared that he wouldn't."
"Well, nothing wrong about that."
"No; but you should have heard his say it."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

And Her Money.

"Yes, I was sorry to see Jack Godley married to Miss Roxley."
"Sorry! For his sake or hers?"
"For mine. I wanted her."—New Yorker.

Praise the sea, but keep on the land.—Herbert.

THE TEXAN RANGERS.

First Fight With Indians in Which Revolvers Were Used.

John Coffee Hays was reared on a farm in Wilson county, Tenn., being born there in 1817. At the age of eighteen he migrated to Texas, where, during the struggle of that Mexican province for independence, he served with distinction in the military campaign conducted by General Sam Houston, being noted for his bravery and strategy. After the termination of this conflict Hays was placed in command of the small regular force that was shortly afterward organized and became known to fame as the Texan rangers. Many were the desperate fights in which he was engaged with the fierce Comanches and border Indians, and innumerable were the perils which he encountered. He was the first to supply an armed force with Colt's revolvers for use in battle.

The Indian mode of warfare in those early days was to draw their enemy's attention to a certain spot upon them like a whirlwind, plying their bows and using their long spears with deadly effect. So cautious were they in this respect that they soon distinguished the double barreled gun when it was brought into use and only approached when they were sure that such weapons had been emptied. On the first occasion when Hays and his rangers, armed with the revolvers, met a band on the warpath they allowed their fire to be liberally drawn, and then the Indians charged with exultant cries, but when the revolver was brought into play at close quarters the panic that ensued was absolute and the destruction of the Indians complete. Hays was colonel of the first Texan regiment, the nucleus of which was formed of veteran rangers.

CEMETERY VAULTS.

The Building of Them is a Profession in Itself.

The vault was the size of the usual cemetery vault—one small room, roofed, floored and walled with granite, an ordinary vault—and yet the undertaker said it had cost $23,000.

"But there is no carving on it," objected the man who thought of buying a lot. "It is as plain as a plucked chicken, and all the stone it contains could be bought for $10,000 or less."

"True, true," said the undertaker, "and he pointed to another vault that might have been the first one's twin. "That only cost $15,000," he said, "saying of $10,000, but the broker who bought it got abominably stuck."
"The cheap vault, you see, was built as a house is, by an architect and an ordinary builder. It looks good. I will last for centuries. But, by Jove, it leaks like a sieve! After every storm it is flooded, and two of the cemetery attendants have to charge up a day's time against the owner for cleaning it out."

"Vault building is a profession in itself. To make for a vault a water proof roof of enormous granite slabs is an art that only the vault builder or under stands. When the ordinary builder, unmaster how proficient he may be, undertakes this task he fails lamentably. The vault leaks. After every storm its floor is flooded."

"Therefore, if ever you invest in a vault let a specialist erect it for you. He will charge you a good many thousands extra, but he will give you a good, satisfactory job."—New York Herald.

Houses in Ceylon.

The natives of the interior of Ceylon finish walls and roof with a paste of slaked lime, gluten and alum, which glazes and is so durable that specimens three centuries old are now to be seen. In Sumatra the native women braid a coarse cloth of palm leaves for the edge and top of the roof. Many of the old Buddhist temples in India and Ceylon had roofs made out of cut stone blocks, hewed timber and split bamboo poles. Eleven planks—six from the old and dead palm trees, seldom from living young trees—are much used in the Celebes and Philippines. Shark skins form the roofs for fishermen in the Andaman islands.

Hurting the Clergy.

A western newspaper man once connected with a journal in Denver was one day in conversation with his chief when a clerical looking gentleman entered the office.

"Sir," said he gravely, "I intend next Sunday to preach a sermon upon football, and it has occurred to me that an enterprising paper like yours would be pleased to have my manuscript. I have no doubt that any number of your readers would be glad to read it and—"
"All right, all right," interrupted the busy editor, "but you'll have to hustle it along. Get it in early—early, mind. Our sporting page is the first to close."
—Harper's Weekly.

SWEET MELODY FLOUR.

When the quantity of food taken is too large or the quality too rich, sour stomach is likely to follow, and especially so if the digestion has been weakened by constipation. Eat slowly and not too freely of easily digested food. Masticate the food thoroughly. Let five hours elapse between meals and when you feel a fullness and weight in the region of the stomach after eating, take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and the sour stomach may be avoided.
