VAUDEVILLE ALL DURING FAIR

At the Grand Monday night and for three nights and three matinees we are to have something new to local theatregoers—polite vaudeville. For some time the management has been requested to furnish an entertainment of this kind and no doubt will be well patronized. The bill includes such well known artists as Lewis & Harr, in black-face comedy, Love & Rollas, singing and dancing comedy, Allet comedy juggler, Clem C. McGee, crayon artist, and dancer, Mr. Gus Smith, illustrated songs, and the greatest of all moving pictures. As an extra attraction for the true lovers of manly art the management have secured Hon. Butler, of Wheeling, and Walter Pierce, of New Castle, Pa., in a wrestling exhibition and while here Mr. Butler will give a purse of $25.00 for any one that he is unable to throw in twenty minutes. Extreme low prices have been maintained for this engagement, as the prices range from 15 to 50 cents the highest. At matinees, 10c for children and 20c for adults.

FINNIGANS BALL SEPTEMBER 6 & 7

The most popular farce comedies of today are those which introduce life characters, with which one is acquainted and have scenes familiar with the laughable incidents we expect. Such a play is "Finnigan's Ball" and the characters are all flesh and blood creatures somewhat exaggerated in their stage appearance, but easily recognized just as though they were our every day friends and neighbors. The scenes are taken from the Lakes of Killarney and the author has written a witty, sparkling dialogue even more humorous than given most comedies and several well-known musical composers have contributed marvelously to the tuneful and catchy music that forms an enjoyable feature of the performance. The comedy is of the most uproariously funny kind ever seen in years, in fact, it is one high laugh, there are three acts, crowded with songs, dances and specialties, so that there is never a dull moment while the curtain is up. The company is headed by the famous Barrett Bros., one of the best known Irish teams ever before the American public. The cast includes the names of some of the most popular artists now in the public limelight and a score of very attractive young ladies who wear a variety of bewitching costumes and display their charms in a frolicsome manner. The company appear here on Sept. 6 and 7.

To those that wish to see the vaudeville at the Grand for three nights and matinees beginning next Monday, Sept. 3, artists in an extraordinary program have been engaged for this occasion, including such well known artists as Lewis & Harr, Love & Rollas, Alert, Clem C. McGee and others, Edison latest bioscope pictures and illustrated songs. Popular prices will prevail during this engagement, night 15 to 50 cents; matinees daily 10 and 30 cents. As an extra attraction Mr. "Hun" Butler and Jack Dailey will give an exhibition of wrestling and during the engagement Mr. Butler will give a prize to any one staying 20 minutes before him.

Col. Ed Jenson, noted bacteriologist, is here from his summer cottage at Mt. Lake Park, the house guest of his friend, Frank Welch. Prof. U. S. Fleming, of Fairmont, was a visitor in the city yesterday. Miss Mollie Virginia Smith went to White Sulphur Springs yesterday to be present at the marriage of Miss Byrda Jeffries and Mr. Lewis Burns, both prominent young people of Greenbrier county.

GORDON BUSY

Squire Harry Gordon's court has been the scene of much action lately with Constable Lee Coffman busy at last in the midst of it all. A warrant was sworn out Friday by Mrs. J. W. Reed, who complained by young Fleming Howell and James Mulheran assaulting one White Reed. James turned up and settled. So far Howell has eluded the officers and is in defiance of the law.

Another warrant was sworn out Monday by T. R. Rose who complains that one Sam Bolito threatened to kill him. The trial took place Monday evening.

George Breeding also swore out a warrant Monday against Frank Frank Shultworth also swore out a warrant Monday against George Blackshire. The trial will take place Tuesday evening at seven o'clock.

Miss Blanche Bodkin has returned from an extended visit in Lewis county.

Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Carter were here from Amos Monday night enroute to Huntington to attend the M. E. South conference, at Huntington.

A. T. Carter, of 414 Monticello avenue, will make your feather beds into folding feather mattresses. All work guaranteed. jant14

FALL AND WINTER FASHIONS IN Ladies' and Misses' Tailored Suits

Ladies' Suit section presents over forty different models of new Autumn Suits, Tailored Suits and Dressy Styles that we think those who come will be delighted with. We have exhausted every means within our grasp to make this showing worth while, to make it a representative collection of all that's new, smart and fashionable in Woman's Attire for Fall. Among the dressy suits are Etons and Blouse Etons, some with Replums and small coat effects, military and pony style. Coats are braid trimmed or self trimmed, semi-fitting, tight-fitting or loose. Skirts are the new pleated styles, different lines. Plain and novelty colors, and many broad cloths. Prices range from $15 to $35.00. Tailored Coat Suits vary greatly from 21 inches to 36 inches. Prices $10 to $25. To make the occasion specially interesting we offer new tailored coat suits and Eton blouse suits, both black and colored at $25 that we are confident all who see them will admit are without a peer in the ready made garment history everywhere.

Tell It to Your Neighbors

IN FESTIVAL ATTIRE

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 5.—In carnival dress, with flags and banners aloft in the autumn breezes, Cincinnati is just now about the liveliest city on the American continent. The Fall Festival is on and the earliest outbursts of enthusiasm have swelled into a chorus of festal power. Ohio's big city is crowded with visitors, who swarm the streets and enliven the hotels. Cincinnati is "at home" to her neighbors, and the unwritten Buckeye law of lavish hospitality is now strictly enforced. This fifth of Cincinnati's autumn industrial shows is already fixed as the greatest of the latest series—the successors of the famous old Cincinnati Expositions. The halls are crowded with rare exhibits. In the United States Government display is a coinage machine from the mint at Philadelphia—a ponderous press weighing over twelve tons. Souvenir coins are "minted while you wait." Uncle Sam's display is a replica of that made at St. Louis, and Lieutenant J. C. Waterman, Fourth Infantry, is in charge. The shows about "The Circle" in Washington Park are as varied as those which made "The Pike" famous. Cincinnati is enjoying her first view of that wonderful electrical production of "The Johnstown Flood." One of the most thrilling of the festival attractions is the outdoor spectacle, "Fighting the Flames." One whole city block is shown ablaze, with fire engines, manned by real fire-fighters, forcing streams of water upon the towering walls of fire. "The Blue Moon," put on at Music Hall by the Shuberts, has made a tremendous hit. For the first time in theatrical history a London success has been given its first American presentation in the West. New York's amusement eyes are on Cincinnati. James T. Powers, Edward Favor, Charles Bowser, Templar Saxe, Arthur Donaldson, Clara Palmer and Ethel Jackson are in the big cast. "The Blue Moon" is a Burmese idyl, with the book by Harold Ellis, lyric by Percy Greenbank and Paul A. Rubens, music by Howard Talbot and Paul A. Rubens, staged by Frank Smithson. Over one hundred Cincinnati girls are in the ballet. The story follows the fortunes of Chandra Nil, Burmese for "The Blue Moon," an English girl kidnaped as a child by a deserter from the English army in Burma, who assumes the guise of a native and calls himself Moolraj. When this girl—Chandra Nil—comes to young womanhood Moolraj makes her a singing girl, and an Indian Prince falls in love with her. Under Moolraj's influence she promises to wed the Prince, but he is all to the good, and when Moolraj is unmasked resigns his claim to Chandra and restores her to her titled mother and the Englishman who had gained her love. The Fall Festival continues until September 22, and excursion rates to Cincinnati by rail and river are resulting in vast crowds.

POST BUYS INTEREST

The White Produce Company, located in the Central Storage Company's building, has undergone a change. E. Thad Post has purchased the interest of his partner W. S. White, and assumed the business himself. The name of the concern is now the Post Produce Company. The concern has had a very successful trade and the patronage promises to grow rapidly.

I am now prepared to take care of all special work pertaining to Auditing, Accounting, Opening and Closing Sets of Books, and Devising and Installing Systems. You can more readily negotiate capital for your enterprises through an Accountant than a Broker. Circularizing will not do today; personal solicitation is the only sure way. I have an especial clientele of capitalists throughout this section and Eastern States, where my profession as an Accountant for the past few years has brought me into touch with the wealth of these sections, and I have associates who will assist me in presenting your proposition in person. Few investors will entertain a proposition without a figured statement, can be shown, illustrating actual or prospective profits, drawn up by an independent Accountant of repute, and this is the basis of any successful flotation. I have also engaged an expert stenographer to attend to the public work of the line of stenographic work.
