

A FITTING SUIT FOR SPRING

The fitting suit for spring is the suit that fits.

Not the haphazard fit, but the fit that makes you feel that you're in right every time you move a muscle—with a first class, all-wool, custom-tailored suit—without throwing a fit when you hear the price:

ALL SUITS $15 NO MORE
ALL OVERCOATS $15 NO LESS

Your choice of the world's best weaves; the broadest selection of patterns and colors, created for this Spring of 1909.

Get familiar with our modern methods. The sooner you do, the sooner you'll get real money's worth in comfort and service from your clothes.

It's your next move.

DRUGGISTS TRIMMED IN EXCITING CONTEST

West Virginia Business College Boys Take Them Over at Union Park.

The game of baseball at Union park yesterday afternoon was a great affair. The belligerents were the Druggists and the West Virginia Business College and there was every thing that goes to make the great national pastime such a success in this game: bunt plays, fine plays, bone-heads, errors, good hitting and bad hitting. In all, the game was a success of its kind.

Seven Innings.
By special agreement before the hostilities were started it was decided that the game would last only seven innings if that long, as it was thought that the shadows of night-time would be upon them, or rather the grounds, ere that time. With Mr. Cuppett, late of Grafton, Monongah and Fairmont, handling the indicator the game was on in full blast.

Sturm Scores.
Little Doc Sturm, the capsule compounder, was first up for the Druggists and there was a creaking sort of sign or noise when he took one full upon his calf, left one, and strolled to first. Age is beginning to show upon this once (?) great shortstop. With the assistance of the catcher, Sturm stole and went to third on a wild pitch from where he scored when Fullerton, the up-to-date Coca Cola mixer, singled to third. Another passed ball put Fullerton on second and he stole third whence he scored on another passed ball. This was all for the first as McFarland and Lefty Leechman, the young phenom, who has dreams of the Pawva, both struck out and Osborne tapped to short.

Findlay a Coach.
With Prof. Findlay, agent of the Oliver, strenuously coaching from the bench, the college boys came in and made three. Purdy walked and stole and then scored when Hardway tripped to right center. McGraw sacrificed to left field and Hardway scored. Peppers, alias Salt, walked, stole second and third and scored on Gaughan's sacrifice tap to Leechman, and then Killen breezed.

Stolen Home.
The Druggists in their part of the second came right back with two more and took the lead. Harrison went to second when Gaughan threw his tap away, and scored when Killen threw Bennett's attempt away. Bennett taking second from where he stole third and home. Haggerty breezed, Wells went out catcher to first. Rogers got Sturm unassisted at first base. There was nothing doing in the second for the college boys.

The Score.
In the third the Druggists could not score but the college boys made one, tying the score. The score board, however, was not being used as the fair (?) co-eds of the business college were thereabout assembled with their gay colors and cheese-box hats. A hit towards the co-eds was also good for only two bases because the right fielder when going for the ball was allowed two minutes to get the ball and incidentally to say "Good morning" to his frau. With one down Hardway singled, stole second and third and scored when McGraw hit to first.

Bennett Scores Again.
In the fourth Bennett made the last tally for the Druggists, getting on first by an error, with one down and going to third when Louther threw the ball away trying to get him napping and from there he scored when Wells singled past short. This was all for the mixers. One hit, three errors and two stolen bases gave the college boys two more in this inning. In the fifth the college boys scored another and in the sixth two more which ended the game. In the first of the seventh the Druggists tried hard but there was nothing doing.

Cuppett Goes Up.
With two down and McFarland at bat, Louther made a balk with nobody on and Cuppett sent him to first but he died stealing and the affray was over.

The score:

TITTLE-TATTLE

The Monongah baseball team and the Fairmont leaguers will play a game at Tractor park, Monongah Sunday afternoon.

All the Pawva clubs are pulling down exhibition games with pleasing regularity.

G. Y. Travis, of East Liverpool, has received a letter from the president of the Connellsville club thanking him for recommending to Manager Sweeney a player as valuable as "Dutch" Meyers. He says that the Potter is playing one of the fastest games he ever saw for a youngster and is certain if he keeps up his present place that many teams higher up will want him at the close of the season. Meyers has plunged into the running with all of his ability. After having been let out by Clarksburg without a trial he decided that this was his opportunity and he made the most of it.

Manager Harry Johnson of the Wilkinsburg, Pa., baseball team, has signed "Lefty" Wills, formerly of the Braddock Club in the P. O. M. league. With Rankin and Wills Wilkinsburg will have one of the strongest pitching staffs of any amateur league in the country.

"Dode" Criss, who led the batters of the American league last year, has reported to the St. Louis club. Criss said that he and Manager McAteer had reached an understanding as to salary.

Announcement has been made that it will be possible hereafter for baseball enthusiasts on route between New York and Chicago on the Twentieth Century Limited, Lake Shore Limited and Wolverine trains of the New York Central lines to keep in close touch with the results of the games of the National and American leagues. Beginning at once baseball bulletins will be posted in the buffet, smoking and library cars.

Entries are still open at the Telegram office for the Hoagsters' Ticket Contest for girls. Fine chance to obtain a season pass for Union park.

The Kindlersbergers, of Wheeling, Sunday afternoon at the park. Game called at 3 o'clock.

Manager Drum has returned from his little scouting journey.

Pitcher Sprinkle has gone to his home in Beech City, O., to remain for a few days and nurse a sprained shoulder.

A game between Clarksburg and Weston next Monday afternoon.
