DOCTOR'S PRESCRIPTION FAILED—THE GREAT KIDNEY REMEDY PROVES ITS MERIT

It is a common thing to see a man who has been a good ward for the doctor's Swamp-Root, because of some ailment of a severe nature. I had suffered from a severe case of kidney trouble, and was a patient for the first time in my life.

For some time I had been without my usual health, and my doctor had prescribed for me a severe medicine, but it did no good. I was in a very bad way, and my doctor had to give up. A friend of mine, who had been cured of his kidney trouble, advised me to try Swamp-Root. I bought a bottle of Swamp-Root, and after taking it for a few days, I felt a great improvement. I continued to take it, and in a few weeks I was completely cured. I feel that I owe my health to Swamp-Root.

I feel that I owe my health to Swamp-Root. I feel that I owe my health to Swamp-Root. I feel that I owe my health to Swamp-Root. I feel that I owe my health to Swamp-Root.

Very truly yours,
B. A. WILSON, Apt. 3, Pac. and Wells Fargo Bldg., Rockdale, Texas.

You may obtain this if you wish:
Letter to Dr. Williams & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

PROVE WHAT SWAMP-ROOT WILL DO FOR YOU.

Send to Dr. Williams & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. It will convince anyone. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling all about the kidney and bladder. When writing, be sure and mention the Clarksburg Daily Telegram. Regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles for sale at all drug stores.

AN INVITATION

To All My Friends and Customers to Attend My Holiday Opening.

I will hold my opening on Friday and Saturday of this week, and on this occasion, my store will be filled with all the highest grade Jewelry, Cut Glass and China that the market affords. My location is not only the most central and the best location in the city, but its past good record for quality and price will be maintained under the new management, because I am closely connected with the manufacturers and buying in large quantities and for cash. I always get the very lowest prices. I am willing to share these advantages with you and invite you to visit my store on Friday and Saturday whether you buy or not. A beautiful souvenir will be given to all.

CURES WORST COLD

Most Severe Cold or the Grippe Overcome in Several Hours.

It is a positive fact that a dose of Pape's Cold Compound taken every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken will cure Grippe or break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs. You distinctly feel the cold breaking and all the disagreeable Grippe symptoms leaving after the very first dose. It promptly ends the most miserable headache, neuralgia, pains, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

"OUR WAY" STUDIO

It all depends upon who makes your photographs. How beautiful and artistic they are. Mrs. Rarick has visited all the large studios and art museums of the United States and Canada and has spent a great deal of money studying the high class art and gathering ideas. Her show windows speak well of the information she has derived from this study and travel. All work is promised up to the last minute Christmas eve, 128 Fourth Street.

THE FORTUNE HUNTER

By LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE
From the Play of the Same Name by WINCHELL SMITH

"And if anybody asks for me I'll most likely be down to the depot with Mr. Duncan."

He didn't mention that he contemplated calling on Lockwood, because he feared it might worry Betty. Betty knew, or rather, dimly, such as she had no hope, no faith such as made Sam what he was. She came down the steps listlessly. Only her sense of duty sustained her. She owed something to old Sam for the gift of life. Ourselves though she found it. He needed her. What she could do for him she would.

Signing she went to work. In work only could she forget. The soda glasses needed cleaning and the drop jars replenishing. For the new order of straps had come in the previous evening.

After a time to a tune of playing feet, Tracey Tanner pranced into the shop with all the graceful abandon of a young elephant feeling its oats. His face was fairly scarlet from exertion and his eyes bulging with a sense of importance. The girl looked up without interest, nodding slightly in response to his breathless "Lo, Betty."

"Father's gone out," she said, holding a glass to the light, suspicious of the lint from her dish towel.

"I know—seen him down the street." The boy halted at the counter, producing a handful of square envelopes. "Note for you from the Lockwoods, Betty," he panted. "Josie ask me to bring it round."

Betty put down her glass in consternation. "From the Lockwoods?"

"Uh-huh!" Tracey offered it, but she withheld her hand, dubious.

"For me, Tracey?"

"Uh-huh! It's a ninnivation. I got four more to take." He thrust it into

"JOE! ARE YOU TO BRING IT ROUN?"

her reluctant fingers. "Got five, really, but one of 'em's for me."

"An invitation, Tracey?"

"Yeh. Hope you have a good time when it comes off." Already he was bounding toward the door. "Goodby!"

"But what is it, Tracey?"

"Aw. It tells in the invitation. S'long."

"From the Lockwoods?" she whispered.

Suddenly she tore it open, her hands unsteady with nervousness.

The envelope contained a square of heavy cardboard of a creamy tint with scalloped edges touched with gold. On the face of the card a round and formless hand had traced with evident pain the information:

MISS JOSEPHINE MAE LOCKWOOD Requests the pleasure of your company at a lawn fête and dance to be held at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Lockwood, Saturday, July 15, at 8 P. M. S. V. P.

Lockwood is that type of man who was born to grow rich. In person he is as beautiful as a statue. He has a strong, muscular build, his hair is black and wavy, his eyes are blue and deep, his nose is straight and well proportioned, his lips are full and his smile is charming. He is a man of great energy and ambition, and he is determined to make his fortune. He has a great deal of money, and he is using it to buy land and to build a great estate. He is a man of great power and influence, and he is respected by all who know him.

"I'M AFRAID NOT," SHE SAID.

affliction through squinting at the silver dollar to make sure none of its milling had been worn off. I have never known the man to wear anything but a rusty old frock coat, black, of course, and black and shiny broadcloth trousers, with a hat that has always a coating of dust so thick that it seems a mottled gray.

He grunts his words, a grunt to each. He grunted at Betty when he saw her. "Where's your father?"

"She put down her glass and dish rag. "I don't know, sir."

"Don't know, eh?" he asked in an indescribably offensive tone.

"I think he went to the bank to see you."

"Oh, he did, eh? Did he have anything for me?"

The girl took up another glass. "I don't know, sir," she said wearily. "I'm afraid not."

"Well, if he didn't there's no use seein' me. It won't do him any good."

"I guess he knows that," she returned, with a little flash of spirit.

"Does, eh? Well, that's a good thing—saves talk. You don't do no business here, not to speak of, do ye?"

"No, not to speak of."

"Then what's the good of all this foolishness, fixin' up?"

"I don't know."

"Costs money, don't it?"

"I guess so."

"And that money belongs to me?"

"It's Mr. Duncan's doing, Father ain't paying for it. He can't."

"What's he doin' then? S'frin' round foolin' with his inventions, ain't he?"

"Yeh."

"What's he inventin' now?"

"I don't know much about it." She pointed to the model beneath the window. "That's the last thing, I guess."

My Corns Don't Hurt A Bit.

Tired, Aching, Swollen, Sorely, Bristly Feet, Corns, Callouses and Bunions. THE CURE RIGHT ON.

Get good-bye to your corns the very first time you use T. E. You will never know you have a corn, bunion or callous or swollen, aching, sorely, bristly feet any more. It's just wonderful! The way that T. E. cures corns, bunions, callouses, and bunions is just what you need. It's an ointment that you rub on your feet. It's so simple and so easy to use. It's so good and so effective. It's so cheap and so economical. It's so fast and so sure. It's so reliable and so trustworthy. It's so perfect and so complete. It's so wonderful and so amazing. It's so great and so glorious.
