An Evening Echo.

They who make research into antiquity may be said to pass often through many dark lobbies and dusky places before they come to the Aulis Incis, the great hall of light; they must repair to old archives, and peruse many moulded and moth-eaten records, and so bring light, as it were, out of darkness, to inform the present world what the former did, and make us see truth through our ancestor's eyes.

The ovations given Mr. Taft in New York and on his trip into Ohio do not indicate that he is out of the running.

It must have taken quite a stretch of the imagination to declare that Governor Glasscock came out for Roosevelt with the hope of being chosen for Vice President on the Presidential ticket.

"Old Ben" is the way a local Democratic exponent refers to United States Senator Benjamin R. Tillman, who is an idol of a number of local Democrats. The reference is somewhat undignified to say the least.

With either Taft or Roosevelt a sure winner, the Democratic press of this state already hears the dry bones of dead Democracy rattling. They thought they saw a light with LaFollette in the race but LaFollette himself quickly snuffed the candle.

When Senator Chilton declared in New York that West Virginia had Presidential timber, he evidently had no reference to Col. John T. McGraw for the reason that he did not think Col. McGraw was good enough to be his colleague in the United States Senate. Perhaps, the real trouble was that Col. McGraw did not give the spondules to buy Chilton's way to the Senate.

A local Democratic exponent took great glee in declaring that Governor Osborne's advice to LaFollette to get out of the Presidential race had acted as a boomerang. That glee has resolved itself into a very doleful sound, the only boomerang anyone knows anything about now being the complete elimination of LaFollette himself brought about by no one in the main but himself.

The pace is entirely too fast these days for some so-called newspaper men. One newspaper in this state Sunday announced on its front page that Postmaster General Hitchcock had denied a report that he would resign to go into business, and on its editorial page there appeared an editorial comment based on the report as true. Why not arouse yourself from your lethargy?

As Governor Glasscock was leaving Charleston to dine with Col. Roosevelt in New York and ascertain whether he would accept the Presidential nomination, he said "keep your ears to the ground the next few days." The only thing so far heard from Col. Roosevelt in connection with the governor's visit was his remark, "a fine type of man," when asked what he thought of the governor.

Darst's Great Record.

John S. Darst's great record as state auditor is being given merited recognition not only at home but elsewhere. The splendid reforms he has so successfully introduced and the progressive manner in which he conducts the affairs of his office have elicited favorable comment in other states, and the press of this state equally appreciates his good work. There has been no adverse criticism, so far as the Telegram is concerned, on the part of the Democratic press of the state, and this also speaks volumes for him. Mr. Darst is certainly deserving of eulogy and the Telegram is glad to see such editorials in the state newspapers as the following one from the Fairmont West Virginian:

It would seem from the trend of political events that there is at least one state official who will secure the nomination in the June primaries without opposition, and this is a most deserving and one of the highest compliments that could be paid a public official.

John S. Darst sprang from the people and it is the people he most faithfully represents. It was by his able campaign speeches he made before becoming a candidate for office that attracted attention to his real worth and which later on made him the auditor of West Virginia.

Mr. Darst has introduced many important reforms into the handling of the fiscal affairs of the state and his administration in this respect has merited and received the approval of the tax payers, big and little throughout the state and regardless of political affiliations he would be a strong and formidable candidate.

These words of praise are given to Mr. Darst entirely without his solicitation and knowledge and are not in any way intended to prejudice the aspirations of any Republican who might be contemplating contending for the nomination. John Sherman Darst will be a most difficult man to beat either for the nomination or in the general election.

Use of Money Admitted.

Woodrow Wilson was held up by some as the very embodiment of high thought and action as well as great reform in politics and statesmanship, until the curtain was raised by the Col. Harvey incident, since which time Col. Henry Watterson has disclosed the fact that men were engaged in raising a big campaign fund for Wilson for President.

Wilson was referred to as the man who had put the grafters and corruptionists to rout in his own state. He was pure and undefiled. Now comes the delectable information from Col Watterson that he himself solicited campaign funds for Wilson and that Ryan, the great New York financier, had contributed. Wilson's campaign manager admits that campaign funds are being solicited and received. The evidence is complete that Wilson expected to "back up his campaign with money."

While all this was going on, Wilson advocates loudly protested against the use of money in political campaigns and at elections and some of them revived the stories about the big interests contributing to the Roosevelt campaign eight years ago. The revelations made by Democrats themselves are not charges made by the opposite party but are self-confessions and they certainly emphasize the great degree of pretense of the Democratic leaders of the country, when they preach so loudly against the use of money in elections at the same time knowing that their own party is resorting to that.

What Watterson and others admit now discredits every assertion of Democracy of its purity and honesty of purpose. It is sufficient for every man to be on his guard when he hears Democratic politicians denouncing the use of money in elections and proclaiming themselves guileless in this respect.

Arch Enemy of Unionism.

To what extent the action of the United Mine Workers of America in recognizing the Socialist following as a political party will have on Unionism remains to be seen, but prediction is made that that organization will soon rue the day it took that action. Unionism believes in the wage system as do the United Mine Workers as shown by the fact that their representatives are now in joint conference with coal operators for the purpose of fixing a wage scale and entering into other trade agreements. Socialism is the arch enemy of Unionism. Socialism aims to abolish the wage system. Even local members engaged in catering to the laboring man in the

PECULIAR AFTER EFFECTS OF GRIP THIS YEAR

LEAVES KIDNEYS IN WEAKENED CONDITION. Doctors in all parts of the country have been kept busy with the epidemic of grip which has visited so many homes. The symptoms of grip this year are very distressing and leave the system in a run down condition, particularly the kidneys which seem to suffer most, as every victim complains of lame back and urinary troubles should not be neglected, as these danger signals often lead to more serious sickness, such as dreaded Bright's Disease. Local druggists report a large sale on Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, which so many people say soon heals and strengthens the kidneys after an attack of grip. Swamp-Root is a great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, and being an herbal compound, has a gentle healing effect on the kidneys, which is almost immediately noticed by those who try it. Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., offer to send a sample bottle of Swamp-Root, free by mail, to every sufferer who requests it. A trial will convince any one who may be in need of it. Regular size bottles 50 cents and $1.00. For sale at all druggists. Be sure to mention this paper.

"We may ask, why are Socialists, then in the labor unions? We answer that they are working from the inside to disrupt them, and from the outside to tear them down." Mr. Debs admits that Socialists in labor unions are wolves in sheep's clothing hungry to tear the unions asunder, with a horde of the same caliber of men on the outside ready to rush in to take part in the final destruction.

M. D. Haywood, a noted Socialist lecturer, declares that "the Socialist can not be a trade unionist." William English Walling, a prominent Socialist, no longer back than February 27, 1910, wrote the following: "The American Federation of Labor has approved unanimously of the policies of Samuel Gompers, the Socialists have disapproved of these policies, unanimously, on their part. Is this not a fight to a finish?"

The secretary of one of the Socialist locals wrote the Call as follows: "Therefore, in view of the fact that we, as a local or as individuals, are urged to support the Call, we would request that the Call in turn support the industrial-seab union formed by Socialists to disrupt trade union, that policy being in accordance with Socialist principles."

With Socialism thus convicting itself of a determination to destroy union labor organizations, all union labor men should readily see the danger of affiliating themselves in any way with Socialism.

CLOCKS

Used in Public Places Are Regulated by Wireless Energy Now.

BERLING, Germany, Jan. 29.—The regulation of all the public clocks by wireless energy is the progressive and ambitious plan adopted by the secretary of the Imperial Postoffice Department.

According to the project of the inventor, an electrician named Ferdinand Schneider, which has received the support of the military and naval authorities, a central station will be erected near Fulda, centrally situated for the whole empire. It will have a tower 325 feet high from the top of which the electric waves will be discharged at one minute intervals, affecting the hands of all the clocks in the system. Three clocks will be employed in the central station, switching in interchangeably to guarantee absolute accuracy.

It is planned to have only one receiving clock in each town, other timepieces in the same place being connected with it on the ordinary electric circuit now in use.

Preparatory steps have already been taken toward erecting the central establishment at Fulda. The inventor guarantees that the system will work with absolute accuracy and that the waves cannot be interfered with by those of other wireless stations. The service, it is thought, owing to the great number of clocks which can be controlled from the one station, will be comparatively inexpensive and the obvious advantage of absolutely uniform time throughout the country has also, it is understood, appealed to the postoffice authorities.

QUIT CALOMEL

Thousands Are Turning from This Dangerous Drug. A Safe Vegetable Substitute is Olive Tablets for the Liver.

Dr. F. M. Edwards, a prominent physician of Portsmouth, Ohio, has discovered a new laxative and liver toner in a combination of vegetable materials, mixed with olive oil, which is in effect almost exactly like the old and untrustworthy calomel, except that there are none of the bad after effects of calomel.

Dr. Edwards has long been a foe of calomel, though he recognized its value along with its dangers. His distrust of the uncertain drug eventually started him years ago to wards experiments, with the view of discovering a substitute, and he is today in possession of the long-sought-for combination, which is in the shape of a little sugar-coated, olive-oil colored tablet.

The results of fifteen years' experience and practice are embodied in these marvelous little tablets. They are called Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, and their effect on the liver has been the means of relief to many of Dr. Edwards' regular patients as well as to thousands of others who have suffered and were afraid of calomel.

They are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about expurcation of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of harmful impurities.

Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O., Dr. F. M. Edwards, president. (68)
