ALMOST ALL OPPOSE REPEAL OF THE LAW

Against Trusts and Monopolies But All Want It Amended.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The National Civic Federation has just made public an analysis of 15,000 answers received by it to a series of questions concerning the Sherman law. The analysis of the answers is summed up by the federation as follows:

"The replies indicate little sentiment in favor of the unconditional repeal of the Sherman law. On the other hand it is shown that there is practically no desire to abolish large combinations. The public has no desire for government ownership, on one side, or unrestricted and unregulated private corporate control on the other. They will accept large combinations adequately regulated."

The questions were sent to editors, political economists, lawyers, publicists, statisticians, manufacturers, merchants, bankers and the officers of commercial, labor and other organizations. As introductory to the questions it was pointed out that "the Sherman Anti-Trust Act has now been interpreted by the supreme court to mean, as to interstate commerce, that any combination in restraint of trade with the purpose of controlling prices and stifling competition is unlawful."

Going into detail regarding the replies the federation says: "Eighty four per cent of the answers pronounce the Sherman law neither clear nor workable, or workable without being clear; but only some twenty per cent declare in favor of its repeal. Of these latter the larger number add that 'if not repealed, it should be amended,' etc. Substantially the usual phraseology of suggestions for amending the Sherman law is, 'make it so that business men can understand it.' Or, 'bring it into line with modern business conditions.'"

"Eighty per cent of the replies favor federal license or incorporation for companies engaged in interstate commerce, about one-third of the eighty taking federal license as an alternative. Seventy-five per cent are opposed to holding companies, while of the remainder nearly all want holding companies bound by restrictions that would prevent abuses."

"Government regulation of capitalization is approved by ninety per cent of those to whom that question was submitted, a few of the minority who disapprove suggesting that over-capitalization is not always an evil, but sometimes brings capital into action that would otherwise remain idle."

"Three important advantages claimed for those doing business on a large scale—economies in production, economies in distribution and greater use of by-products—are admitted without dissent by all who answer that query. 'Steadier employment of labor and at better wages,' and 'better protection against industrial accidents,' are demanded by thirty-five per cent, and more command international trade' and 'command of the best are doubted by ten per cent of those answering.

"About eighty per cent favor an Interstate Industrial Commission, some qualifying with the condition that it should be composed of business men only, and two labor representatives proposing that the Commission should consist of one member from each state—a sort of Interstate Business Senate."

"A comparatively small proportion are in favor of control of prices by an Industrial Commission."

"The answers," the federation continues in its statement, "leave no doubt that the public is thoroughly aroused to the vital importance of the problems dealt with by the Sherman Act. This condition of the public mind is appreciated just as much as by those controlling great combinations of capital as by the business men and the wage earner."

"That business conditions are disturbed nearly every reply admits," the Federation declares. "In the thousands of replies received a large majority assert that business conditions are unsatisfactory. Enforcement of the Sherman law is most frequently mentioned by business men as disturbing the cause, on the ground that they do not understand the law, and that the uncertainty as to its meaning retards enterprise, makes capital hesitate to enter upon new investments, and promise those in charge of business undertakings to restrict expenditures to the absolute demands of trade."

"It is significant that the leaders of organized labor, representing three millions of wage-earners, are practically unanimous in demanding that the Sherman Anti-Trust Act should be either repealed or amended to exempt from its operations organizations of labor and organizations of farmers. Many of them, however, argue for its amendment from the standpoint of the business interests. Their experience and training on organization work and their contact with the employers of the country have led them almost universally to the position that too much competition is the death of trade. Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell, James Duncan, Warren S. Stone, W. S. Carter, W. G. Lee, James M. Lynch and A. B. Garretson all reflect this view."

"Some labor organizations took a referendum vote on the question and their answers were sent in under official seal."

"It is interesting to note that the manufacturers, bankers, wholesale and retail merchants and also commercial organizations that took a membership vote are strongly opposed to the repeal of the Sherman Act, but just as strongly want it amended along lines that will permit regulation through an Interstate Industrial Commission of some kind."

SALEM POULTRY SHOW A SUCCESS

Fine Assortment of Birds Shown and Much Enthusiasm Created.

SALEM, Jan. 31.—The Salem Poultry and Pet Stock Association held its first annual exhibit in the rink at that place last week and a very good class of fowls was placed on exhibition. The attendance was good and every one attending was well satisfied and complimented the association on being able to get out such a good class of birds. Many would-be exhibitors did not send in their favorites on account of the frozen combs, etc, but they will no doubt help to swell the numbers next year. It is certain that many a convert to pure standard bred poultry was made and that there will be better stock raised on many plants than there has been heretofore.

Judge J. A. McIntosh, of East Liverpool, O., placed the awards and with very few exceptions the verdicts were pronounced very satisfactory to the exhibitors and patrons of the show. He said the class of birds was in the main very high and complimented the owners and exhibitors.

O. W. Nay, of Bristol, won a silver cup offered by the association for the largest display. He had twenty-one of his nice white Wyandottes on display. He also won a cup offered for the highest scoring pen in the American class.

C. Ray Morgan, of Bristol, was very much in evidence with his "Fisher" White Rocks. He had an entry of sixteen birds, every one of which was good, and his winning of the highest scoring hen in the show was something to be proud of, as well as several ties with Mr. Nay's Wyandottes, which were decided by weight.

Mr. Anderson, of Shinnston, took a cup offered on high pen in the Mediterranean class, and W. R.

offered on high pen in the English Talkington, of Clarksburg, got a cup class.

The Rhode Island Reds were also very prominent and of very fair class. Mr. Jenny's egg record looked mighty good for the egg utility man, and his winnings in the fancy class show his stock to be all right. Other exhibits in this class were very good.

Following are the awards: White Wyandottes—O. W. Nay, Bristol, 1, 2 cock, 1, 2, 3, ckl., 1, 2, 3 pul., 1, 2 hen, 1, 2 pen; O. L. Shain, Salem, 3 ck., 3 pen; Russell Johnson, Bristol, 3 hen.

TAKE CASCARETS FOR A SOUR, SICK STOMACH OR INDIGESTION

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, distention and sick headache, means indigestion—a disordered stomach which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they cure indigestion, because they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended forever. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box will keep your entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.
