CITY REPUBLICAN TICKET

Election, Tuesday, April 2, 1912.

- For Mayor: FRANK R. MOORE. For Chief of Police: HARRY L. BROOKS. For City Clerk: WILL H. COLE. For Street Superintendent: EDWARD J. DOYLE. For Member Water Works Board: WILLIAM H. LEWIS. For Assessor: LYDA M. BIRD. For Collector and Treasurer: JOHN M. KNOX. For School Commissioner: ARTHUR K. THORN. For Council: First ward—JOHN F. KEARNS. Second ward—BENJAMIN F. THOMPSON. Third ward—J. TRUMAN SWAGER. Fourth ward—MARK HARKNESS. Fifth ward—LUCIUS HOGE, Jr.

An Evening Echo. Knowledge is a treasure at once priceless and imperishable.—W. B. GLADSTONE.

Rearing in luxury, Fleming Holden is a shining example of a laborer.

Trading the entire ticket for Fleming Holden, eh? It looks as if the jig was up, does it not?

The next thing one hears is that Fleming Holden is one of the sons of toil. Why, he never even stuck type.

The "explanation" wants Truman Swager defeated because he has seen service in the city council. It prefers Green men.

When and where did the gang hand organ discover Fleming Holden as a business man? Fleming doubtless makes a decided hit as such.

Frank Moore in mayoralty qualities is rich. The Exponent says he is the best mayor Clarksburg ever had. For once, the Exponent is right.

It is admitted that for an hour or two Roscoe probably did cut briars on his father's farm. Thus he like Fleming Holden is a son of toil. Hard workers, they!

Over in the Second ward the gang nominated a man for city council almost before he moved into Clarksburg. The gang probably mistook the Second ward for Sardia district.

As a business man, Fleming Holden has been a howling success and he is really the only member of the Democratic city ticket the gang is actually trying to foist on the people as a city official.

Should the gang's Second ward nominee conclude to withdraw from the ticket, it would have the opportunity to import some one from Wallace, Salem or West Milford to take his place.

Fleming Holden is held out as a winner by the mouthpiece of the gang. Fleming has long been identified with the leading business interests of Clarksburg. It intimates as a business man he is as pre-eminent as the eminent Dr. Fitz.

"Barlow" Cole was in the printing business for years before the people got him to serve as city clerk. In fact, he was "sticking" type years before some green editors hereabout knew the difference between a type printer and an Italian quid.

"Eggy" Boyle was in the cement and concrete business, an libelous reports to the contrary notwithstanding, and he can make a cement walk today that would be as hard and tough as the skulls of some of his thick-headed editorial critics, which is saying a good deal.

The local exponent of Democratic piety declares a person will laugh on looking at the Republican ticket. Yes, but the laugh will be a hearty one of satisfaction and contentment. A glance at the infirmity squad, however, will produce a different effect. It will arouse a feeling of pity over the plight of the squad and a feeling of disgust over the hypocrisy of its public exponent.

"Poverty stricken" is one of the pleas the funny sheet in Glen Elk is making for Mr. Leggett as a candidate for mayor. And then there is poor Fleming Holden, too. Friends will see that they do not go to the county infirmary and it will not be necessary to elect them to city office to keep them out of that institution. Pass the hat! The editors of the Telegram will give them that big red apple promised them.

A Bunch of Violets.

It surely is a pleasure to the workers who make the Daily Telegram to learn, now and then, that their efforts are not altogether unappreciated. They are at present alighted up with conceit over a complimentary notice published in the current issue of the American Bulletin, a trade journal issued in the interests of the American Type Founders Company and publishers and printers everywhere. Indeed, the notice has cheered the working force to such an extent that the editors have temporarily brushed aside the rule of modesty to which they strive to adhere and reproduce it so that Daily Telegram subscribers and possibly the few other persons who reside hereabout may participate in the glow of satisfaction and the feeling of pride that the article inspires. It is as follows:

A recent issue of the Clarksburg (W. Va.) Telegram came to our notice and we were agreeably surprised at its appearance. It is made up of sixteen pages, and is about as fine a paper in makeup, news, service, and advertising patronage as we have ever seen.

Mr. Davison Announces.

Announcement of the candidacy of Isaac L. Davison, of Wallace, for the Republican nomination for sheriff of Harrison county appears in this edition of the Telegram.

Many friends the last several months mentioned Mr. Davison earnestly as a fit man to run for and fill that office. Until recently, however, it was not definitely known that he would be a candidate. After mature and careful consideration of the subject, he has announced his candidacy and he states that he will make a vigorous but a clean, honest and manly campaign.

Mr. Davison is a man of high standing in his community. He is a conscientious Christian gentleman and he is widely and favorably known in the county. Doubtless his candidacy will appeal to a large percentage of the Republican party and he will be accorded splendid support by many leading citizens.

While at present a successful merchant in his home town, Mr. Davison is a practical farmer, to which occupation he devoted a number of years. He owns valuable farm lands in the county. There is every reason to believe that the party voters will give his candidacy due consideration, and if he is nominated, he will receive the undivided support of his party at the polls next November.

making the Record a Record. The boyish vanity discernible in such peronetical comment as "Applause," "loud applause" and "laughter" in the Congressional Record has gone so far that patience is about exhausted. declares the Cleveland Plain Dealer. It has often happened that speeches that were never delivered have been printed with the usual commentary. No precaution is so effective, no device of italics or understanding so well serves the purpose of calling attention to the points the orator most desires to make.

This "applause" privilege has been so shamelessly abused that an honest southerner, Representative Dupre, of Louisiana, has introduced a resolution to do away with it entirely. Mr. Dupre would make the Record an actual record, unadorned by the comment of the reporter, and without the embellishment of the orator's own ideas as to where applause should be noted.

It is not a very serious matter, but it deserves serious consideration. Those who, either for business or pleasure, peruse the Congressional Record are animated solely by a desire to find out what has actually been said and done. Exhibits of congressional egotism are out of place in so grave and reverend and ponderous a publication.

Parcels Post Opposition

The Telegram grieves to note that the Statesville Oil Review, formerly a staunch Republican newspaper, has been popped in by eastern press bureaus of the big express companies. For some little time the Review has been publishing long articles from these press bureaus to the effect that a parcels post system would ruin the farmers and the merchants throughout the country. The latest brief in behalf of the robber express bears in flaming headlines the information that a parcels post is a public enemy.

Rather queer logic is used in these articles in the effort to bolster the parcels post opposition. In one of them the crude statement is made that farmers would be compelled to pay more for sending a package from his farm to the city than a mail order house would have to pay for transmission of the same package from the city to the farm. The statement is also made that an eleven pound package would cost a farmer something like $1.17 for carriage from an office on one rural free delivery route to another, whereas a cheaper rate would be obtained through direct deliveries, or something to that effect. A great alarm is sounded over the alleged tremendous expense the parcels post system would incur, and to believe some of the silly misrepresentations, one would think the government is to be placed on the verge of financial collapse. Quotations from presidential messages are garbled to give the inference that reference was specifically made to the parcels post when such was not the case. With such trash as this the Review, through these prepared press articles, tries to show that a parcels post system would be the biggest and most outrageous crime that could be perpetrated upon an unsuspecting populace.

It is unnecessary to make direct reply to such arguments. They speak for themselves in favor of an immediate institution of a parcels post as effectively as anything else. If the express companies have to rely upon such stuff to support their privileges, their position is extremely weak.
