MEXICAN INDIANS WHO ARE AIDING OROZCO IN FIGHT AGAINST MADERO GOVERNMENT MENACE TO PEACE IN SOUTHERN REPUBLIC

Orozco, Rebel Leader, and Band of Mexican Indian Revolutionaries.

In his fight against the Madero government, Orozco, the rebel leader, is receiving considerable aid from the Mexican Indians. These ignorant people are a fiery and dangerous lot. They may always be tempted to take up arms against the government. They fought Diaz, and now that Madero is the constitutional head of the Republic they are fighting him just as fiercely and cheerfully, although he has been in power but a few months. No matter what government is in power in Mexico, they will always be a menace to the peace and safety of the country.

HARBOR

Bill is One of Importance and Will Probably Soon Pass.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15.—The river and harbor appropriation bill, reported by Senator Nelson from the Commerce committee of the upper branch of Congress is, in many ways, the most important measure the committee has recommended in years, as it urges legislation that can not help but prove of a far-reaching character.

In extending the scope of the usual investigations on the part of the engineers which are required in order that comprehensive reports may be made on the same, the committee emphasizes the position taken by the National Rivers and Harbors Congress early in its history, that of fixing a time limit for the completion of some of the large projects in order that the public may be prepared to use the harbor or waterway thus improved. The bill, however, goes farther than any similar measure appropriating money for rivers and harbors as it calls up the chief engineers of the army and the board of engineers for rivers and harbors to report to Congress, "in which shall be included a preliminary report not later than December 11, 1912, upon the saving, as well as other advantages, which can be accomplished by the adoption of the continuing contract system, the rapidity with which projects should be completed, upon methods of standardization by which the waterways of the country may be improved uniformly in proportion to their capacity." To enable the board of engineers to properly secure this information an appropriation of $100,000 is made. While this is a decided step forward the commerce committee is not content to stop there but requires that there shall be inquiries made into both private and public terminals, and transfer and dock facilities contiguous to the waterway to be improved. The question of terminals, has been one of very great importance ever since the adoption of the present system of treating the waterways of the country, for one of the most serious handicaps to water transportation has been the lack of public dock facilities at reasonable rates and within reach of all desiring to use them.

"The tendency has been toward ownership and control of such facilities by railroads," the report says, "or by these and steamship lines acting in conjunction with them, a practice not conducive to healthy competition on the cheap handling of freight. While many communities, including several of the larger cities, are awakening to the importance of freeing commerce from this handicap, by municipal or other public ownership or control of docks and terminal facilities, there is much remaining to be done." Senator Nelson, chairman of the commerce committee, who is looked upon as the father of the continuing contract system, which has been of incalculable benefit in establishing a comprehensive policy of waterways improvements, is enthusiastic in support of these new departures in the river and harbor bill and hopes to see the bill signed by the president as it will pass the Senate.
