

MEN

Of Mystery Are Landed by Boat and Union Officials Feed Them.

CHARLESTON, Nov. 19.—About 100 "transported" men came into Charleston on boats during the night and were quartered at the city hall and other places. They came from Chicago and New York and none of them had had experience in coal mines.

"I didn't come to work in the mines. See, (showing his hands), I never had a pick or shovel in my hands. I'm a butcher. If I could get a free ride, I'd be a chump if I didn't take it. And there are a lot more fellows here who came the same way I did. These fellows from Chicago never saw a coal mine. Many of them can't speak English. Some of our crowd left the train at Cincinnati. They didn't start out with any intention of working in the mines or to take the place of strikers."

The crowd gathered in the capitol yard at noon but were later taken to restaurants, union officials taking them in charge. Many of the mechanics in the party that gathered in the capitol yard offered positions at their trade, but only one or two signified a willingness to accept.

TESTIMONY

Of Witnesses is Taken by Coroner's Jury Regarding Auto Accident.

Seven witnesses were examined Tuesday afternoon by the coroner's jury that is investigating the death of Miss Anna McLinden, a nurse, who was killed Saturday night in an automobile accident in front of Dr. B. F. Shuttleworth's residence on West Main street. Dr. B. F. Shuttleworth, F. A. Mearns, street car motorman; John Vannort, garage employe; J. W. Jacobs, of the Monticello garage; John Hooper Smith, a negro of Locust street; M. F. Harrison, an East Main street merchant, and Joseph Washington, colored policeman, testified.

A feature of the testimony is that most of the witnesses declare the Griffith automobile, which was wrecked, was going at a high rate of speed when the accident occurred. Several witnesses said, however, that many other automobiles had been driven equally and nearly as fast, it being a practice of local drivers to disregard the speed limit.

The jury adjourned to meet again at the call of the coroner for the purpose of examining other witnesses.

INFORMATION

In Detail about Commission Government is to Be Furnished.

At the regular weekly board of trade luncheon Monday afternoon at the Waldo hotel, at which there were present about fifty members, a very interesting address was delivered by J. Robert Anderson, of Parkersburg, on the subject of commission form of government. At the request of several members, this matter was presented by the board of trade and the secretary arranged for the presence of Mr. Anderson, in order that a more intimate insight might be procured from some one living in a community experiencing a commission government. Many questions were asked Mr. Anderson and he very kindly consented to prepare information more in detail if it was desired. This meeting will probably result in the formation of a separate organization to take the matter in hand in order that some tangible results may be secured in the near future.

At the next regular lunch meeting, which will probably be held Tuesday next, the question of immediately taking steps to secure a vote on a bond issue for improved roads for the county of Harrison or for the districts in which this community is particularly interested, will be featured.

Young Schliebner, who is only seventeen years old, was then called to the machine and gave a demonstration on a memorized sentence writing at the rate of 241 words per minute without error. He then took from dictation an unfamiliar matter 115 words per minute. His next demonstration was writing French, a language which he does not understand, at the rate of 92 words per minute and holding a conversation in German at the same time. He later copied a book at the rate of 120 words per minute and at the same time added five columns of figures without mistake in either case.

Last night at 8 o'clock in the rooms of the West Virginia Business College in the presence of a large audience made up of students and visitors, Master Richard Schliebner, of New York City, gave one of the most interesting and instructive demonstrations of rapid and accurate typewriting that has ever been witnessed in this city.

Master Schliebner was accompanied to this city by W. O. Mr. Davis paid a glowing tribute to the local school stating that he had visited commercial schools all over the United States and had been in very few that had an equipment equal to the one here.
