TARIFF TINKERING IN WINDOW GLASS

Is Greatly Feared by All Men Identified with the Glass Business.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 4.—According to the Glassworker several prominent window glass men were in Pittsburgh Thursday and some of the details pertaining to next week's hearing on the tariff schedule were discussed at some length.

It would certainly require a fine toothed comb to unearth any millionaires in the window glass industry; in fact, the reverse is the case.

During this period, which covered several years and from which, as stated before, the trade is just recovering, the skilled workmen scarcely received a sufficient wage to keep body and soul together, and this is an industry in which the workmen were formerly classed as being the best paid in the entire country.

WATSON

Political Combination Insists on Being Given the Senate Presidency.

CHARLESTON, Jan. 4.—Speaking legislatively, there will be nothing doing in the way of enacting into law any of the many measures that were believed to be necessary by at least some of the political leaders.

The Watson-Chilton wing of the Democratic party wants the presidency of the senate if it can get it, and it is no longer particular which one of the fifteen on its side of the house secures the honor.

During this period, which covered several years and from which, as stated before, the trade is just recovering, the skilled workmen scarcely received a sufficient wage to keep body and soul together, and this is an industry in which the workmen were formerly classed as being the best paid in the entire country.

That the Democrats will insist on the presidency of that body is now certain. They contend that two years ago the senate was a tie politically and that they surrendered to the Republicans and voted for Dr. Hatfield for the presidency.

A gentlemen's agreement entered into, to the effect that neither side should take advantage of the absence of members on the other side, helps in the execution of the scheme referred to.

REVIVAL MEETINGS.

RESULT OF COLLISION. Captain, Wife and Twenty Members of His Crew Are Drowned.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Jan. 4.—The steamer, Julia Lukenbach, from the port of Tampa to Baltimore, was sunk off the tangier gas buoy in the Chesapeake bay shortly before 7 o'clock yesterday morning, having been in a collision with a British tramp steamer, Indrakula, from Baltimore to New York enroute from Yokohama.

Captain Gilbert, his wife and twenty members of the crew were lost.

Eight men of the Lukenbach were taken from the rigging of the sunken ship after clinging to the rigging for six hours in a gale which swept the bay.

Others in the rigging with them benumbed by cold dropped off one by one and drowned.

The rescue was effected by the Danish tramp ship, Penna, and the men were brought here today.

The second mate of the Lukenbach declared that the Indrakula backed off after the collision and refused to aid the sinking ship.

BLOWN FROM TRAIN TO DEATH IN A BAY

TEMPLE

Famous in An English City Has Been Offered for Sale.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—The famous Jezreel's temple at Chatham has been offered for sale.

This building, which is a conspicuous landmark, was begun in 1882 by a British soldier named White, who, after an attack of sunstroke in India, proclaimed himself the prophet of a new religion and adopted the name of "James Her-shon Jezreel."

An article of the new faith was that none of its disciples should visit a barber, and the Jezreelites rapidly became known in the locality and beyond it. "Jezreel" gathered hundreds of followers and organized a little colony of farms and workshops out of which he made a fortune. He began the construction of the temple with the object of accommodating 5,000 of the faithful of the 144,000 who were to be saved when the end of the world came.

He promised his followers that he would live forever, but he died before the tower was completed. It remains unfinished today, despite the fact that over $200,000 was spent on it. The building remained unoccupied until 1906, when it was taken by an American named Mills, who adopted the title of "Prince Michael" and proclaimed himself the successor of "Jezreel." A little over three years ago "Prince Michael's" followers were evicted, having failed to pay the rent to the owner, a contractor who had taken over the building on the death of "Jezreel."

How fleeting is the glory of the modern fighting ship is illustrated in the case of the British battleship, Dreadnaught, the building of which as a result of the report of the British

NARROW ESCAPE

Has a Printer Whose Former Home Was in the City of Clarksburg.

The New Martinsville Bald Hornet this week contains the following from the Doylestown Journal: Claire W. Dittman, a young man and a job printer of Clarksburg, W. Va., on Monday succeeded Miss Helena Patrick as the compositor in the Journal office.

The young man upon arriving in town Monday evening from Hudson where he was employed last, came up stairs to the printing office.

Being an entire stranger here he ascended the stairs and not knowing the dark hallway at the top kept on going. In an instant he had missed the landing and fell down the entire length of the back stairway of twenty-four steps. Fortunately he went down feet first and outside of a few bruises and the loss of a few patches of skin he came out first rate. Tuesday morning he started to work just as if nothing had happened.

CHURCH USED AS LODGING PLACE

SOLONS

May Not Be Able to Organize the State Senate for Several Weeks.

CHARLESTON, Jan. 4.—With many of the legislators out of the city over Saturday and Sunday there is a lull about the capitol, and the hotel lobbies today. The Democratic and Republican conferees were in a conference at noon but, as it is generally conceded, there will be no organization until the end of next week at the earliest and possibly not for several weeks. Hence neither side is willing to surrender to the other the presidency of the Senate.

Certain Republican leaders are reported to have declared today that there will be no organization of the Senate for a month and never unless the Democrats concede to the Republicans the presidency.

The question discussed again today is the need of a lieutenant governor. With such an officer neither the delay of organizing the Senate two years ago would have arisen nor the present situation as such official would be presiding officer of the Senate.

Speaker George announces he will not announce the House committees until the Senate is organized.

ORDER FILLING

Is the Rule Now with the Various Men in the Window Glass Trade.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 4.—The Glassworker says that filling orders has been the rule in the window glass trade during the last week and there is great activity in the shipping departments at the various factories, this being the natural result of the unusually large amount of business booked during the last few weeks.

Factory operations are going forward in excellent shape in nearly every locality and, unless something unforeseen occurs, a steady run for several months is in prospect. Generally speaking the production has been good in the majority of plants and comparatively few vacant are reported. The stop during the holidays was of brief duration, as the management of the different factories desire to secure the maximum production while the going is good. Later on when the weather gets warmer their troubles, in the shape of vacant places, will in all probability begin.

Young Men Are Jailed on a Charge of Robbing a Man There.

WATCH AND $15 TAKEN

Comfortable Sleeping and Loading Quarters Made of Furnace Room.

A robbery case that was brought to official cognizance Saturday morning in Justice T. G. Nicowann's court revealed the fact that the basement of the Central Presbyterian church on West Pike street had long been used as a loading and lodging place by vagrants and their companions.

Cecil Tracy and Philman Peach, young men, were held under bond of $500 each and in default thereof were committed to jail by the justice on a charge of feloniously robbing August Sperron, a Meadowsbrook coal miner, of a gold watch valued at $25 and $15 in money Friday night in the church basement. Harry McAtee, who was with them at the time, was also arrested but was acquitted of the charge. Another fellow who took up lodging in the basement Friday night testified in the court that he saw Tracy and Peach take Sperron's watch and money from him.

When searched at headquarters the watch that was alleged to have been stolen, was found in one of Tracy's pockets. He also had $1.25 in his possession and Peach had $3.65.

Sperron declared that he was hunting a place to sleep Friday night when he met the young men in West Pike street and asked them where he could find it. They told him to come along with them and they would procure a nice, warm place for him to sleep at their home. They then took him to the basement of the church, where it was declared he was robbed. Afterward the complainant to the police and three policemen soon had the accused young men in custody. Mayor Frank R. Moore turned the case over to the magistrate.

McAtee said that he had slept in the church basement many a night and that various other men also slept and loitered there. The church has always been left unlocked and the visitors would go down into the basement, turn on the gas in the furnace and have a nice, warm, comfortable place for lounging and sleeping.
