RAILROAD PASSES ARE INQUIRED INTO

BEST NIGHT

So Far of the Revival Meeting in the Methodist Ash Chapel.

Last night was the best meeting thus far in the series of special revival meetings being held at Ash chapel in Broad Oaks. At the conclusion of a very touching and impressive sermon by the pastor of the church, the Rev. Paul L. Rianigan, on the subject, "No Room for Jesus," ten persons came forward and bowed at the altar of prayer. There were nine conversions during the evening. Many others are becoming interested in the saving of their souls and it is expected that tonight will witness even a greater turning to the Lord for salvation than there was upon last night. Every indication points to a repetition of the great revival of last year in this church when 110 persons took their stand for Christ.
