REPUBLICAN CITY TICKET

CITY ELECTION TUESDAY, APRIL 8, 1913.

- For Mayor, WILL H. COLE. For Chief of Police, HARRY L. BROOKS. For City Clerk, G. C. FINLY. For Superintendent of Streets, EDWARD J. DOYLE. For Assessor, W. B. ROBBINS. For Collector and Treasurer, JOHN M. KNOX. For School Commissioner, W. B. OSBORN. For Member Water Works and Sewerage Board, TRUMAN J. LYNCH. FOR COUNCIL: First ward, PATRICK J. JUDGE. Second ward, JOHN W. BARNES. Third ward, CHARLES M. ERNST. Fourth ward, CHARLES L. PATTON. Fifth ward, THOMAS BOEHM.

An Evening Echo. The time comes when we would almost give our right hand if we could recall some harsh word; some indifferent manner, some needless, selfish opposition.—GARNETT AND JONES.

Governor Ross, of Massachusetts, seems to think that the Democratic Congress is not going to enact tariff revision bills in accordance with the public demand. There are others who entertain similar suspicions.

The energy some persons are expending in reconstructing buildings below the flood lines in devastated districts is called pluck but it is questionable whether in many instances it is anything more than plain foolishness.

If Will H. Cole had not been nominated for mayor by the Republicans, he might have been nominated to the Citizens' ticket. As he will be elected by a big majority, it would have been just as well to have had him on both tickets. He deserves to have no opposition and he does not have very much of it any way.

During the flood stage at Parkersburg, the Sentinel, of that city, under trying circumstances published a small edition, which was sold at the regular price of two cents a copy but which cost five cents a copy to produce. This is about the same ratio of expense and income that many other daily newspapers are published on, but in some strange and unaccountable manner their managers do not seem to realize the fact.

The Examiner strongly intimates that there is to be some crooked work on the part of supporters of the so-called Citizens' ticket next Tuesday. It says that Third ward voters will see that M. S. Riley is elected next Tuesday. As Mr. Riley is a candidate in the Second ward for council, it seems to most people that Third ward voters could stay in their own ward and let the council ward alone, but from what the Examiner says we do not intend to do that.

The police department of Clarksburg measures up well with that of other cities the size of Clarksburg and its chief is stronger with the people than ever who never fail to see that he is elected by increased majorities. The act of insinuating against the department to injure him is unworthy of anyone who professes to be truthful. Watch Harry L. Brooks roll up a larger majority than ever Tuesday.

The so-called Citizens' ticket is the result of star-chamber plotting, an act that holds out designs on the welfare of the people. The way it was nominated emphasizes the necessity for the public welfare of defeating it at the polls. That defeat can not be too decisive. Let every man who believes in good government see that he votes against the Citizens' ticket Tuesday. Take no chances.

No political party stands sponsor for the so-called Citizens' ticket. Two would-be bosses of Clarksburg are responsible for it and it would be responsible to no one except those two men, if it were elected. One of these men has been repudiated in politics and has no standing in any political party. The other has never measured up to leadership. Their alliance now is an unholy one and a menace to the welfare of the people of Clarksburg. Beware of the ticket they have brought out.

The mugwump ticket has signed a number of declarations as its confession of faith. As the city already has the kind of government that ticket says it believes in and the ticket headed by Will H. Cole is one that will continue that kind of government, there is really no good reason why the mugwump ticket should be in the field at all. Its accession is an actual endorsement of the kind of government the city now has.

Tickets Compared. A comparison of the candidates shows the striking superiority of those on the ticket headed by Will H. Cole.

Take Cole and Flowers. Cole is familiar with city affairs and the city's needs. Flowers is not familiar with city affairs and he does not know its needs.

Finly has established one of the best business schools in the city. Holden has only been a clerk in the county clerk's office. Finly has done something for his city. Holden has not.

Knox is a fine city collector and treasurer. Holden knows nothing about the duties of that office.

Doyle has grown stronger with the people every year as street superintendent. Nutter does not know where one-third of the streets are and it is safe to bet that he can not call one-tenth of them by name.

Harry L. Brooks has been tried and not found wanting. Ferrey has not even been tried.

Lynch has done faithful service on the water board and has helped to bring the water system up to its present high standing. Travis is not acquainted even with the system and he has never done anything to improve the system and bring it up to its present high efficiency.

Robbins is a business man of experience. He knows values. Clarksburg has had no business experience. The comparison holds good as to the councilmanic tickets.

The comparison is true in every particular. Does it not show you that the Cole ticket has superior fitness?

No Free Assays. Attention is again called by the United States Geological Survey at Washington to the fact that it does not make analyses of assays of ores, minerals or metals for private parties. Many specimens and samples are received by the Survey, accompanied by requests for such treatment, with which it is impossible to comply. The force of chemists employed in the Survey is small, and their time is fully occupied by their regular official duties. The Geological Survey has no facilities for making gold and silver assays. The most that can be done is for the Survey geologists to give an off-hand opinion based on a simple examination of the specimen.

If an assay is desired, the proper course is to employ a private assayer or to send the specimen to one of the government assay offices, where a regular charge is made for such work. When specimens are sent to the Survey for examination, applicants should be particular to state whether they wish them returned, as otherwise they will be destroyed. Government assay offices are located at Carson, Nev.; Seattle, Wash.; Boise, Idaho; Helena, Mont.; Salt Lake City, Utah; and Charlotte, N. C.

BUNTY PULLS HEART STRINGS OF AUDIENCE

Show Makes a Big and Popular Hit in the City of Fairmont.

Today's Fairmont Times says of the play that will be at the Robinson Grand Saturday night:

"Bunty Pulls the Strings" was the cleverest show the patrons of the Grand have had a chance to see this season and was far and beyond the press notices that preceded it. It is a purely Scotch play with a nice clean little story for the idea and is presented in a way that wins in the entire audience. The humor was subdued and yet very infectious, the kind you see a long time after you hear it and take a quiet laugh about it. Of course it was Scotch humor and of the dry brand, but done in the way those people did it, it was simply great.

The humor was, however, not the distinguishing part of the show, for it was of the kind that makes you think. Bunty said so many true things and applied them in such a way that they rang true to life, and there is the charm of the entire production, "life."

The story is really short and is of a widower that has two children, "Bunty" and "Rab." "Thomas Bligger," the father and widower, is a strict old man and an elder in the "kirks" who thought the troubles of an elder son who has run away from home and gotten into difficulties, has been forced to use money not his own. "Susie Simpson," to whom the misappropriated money belongs, is a housekeeper. She tells "Thomas" that she wants her money, leaving the impression that if he marries her nothing more will be said of the money. "Bunty" is to be married to William Spruit" and one Sunday morning, the same that "Susie" proposes to "Thomas," two strange ladies come to the Biggar household. One of them proves to be "Eileen Dunlop," an old sweetheart of Thomas, and whom he, in his early life, was to marry, but had deserted her at the altar.

"Thomas" in talking to "Eileen" tells her that he has used some money not belonging to him and is overheard by "Susie." They all go to the kirks where William is to be married and watch the plate, or see that the collection is taken. The other lady is a niece of "Eileen" and is a delicate lassie with whom "Rab" becomes much interested. So the two youngsters go to the church together, and like all "created" young folks arrive late. Rab, who has been promised a whipping by his father for whistling on Sunday does not care to go to church and tell "Teenie" that he wants to get away and out into the world and see things. The minister falls to arrive and "Rab" is sent by his father to get another. He takes "Teenie" along with him, she returns and tells that "Rab" has run away. "Susie" has the policeman called from the church and asks him to arrest "Thomas." "Bunty" saves her father by telling her that the money will be ready next day. She then tells William that their wedding will have to be postponed, as she is going to pay back the money out of what they have saved to start house-keeping on.

The next morning as "Thomas" has gone and brought back "Rab," he tells "Rab" that he still has the whipping coming to him. "Rab" refuses to go to the shop and "Bunty" backs him up, telling her father that she will leave if he punishes "Rab." He gives in and so "Bunty" fixes it up for him to marry "Eileen." "Susie" gets her money but after being told by "Bunty" just what is what, she gives the money to "William," and "Bunty" gets her father to let "Rab" go to Glasgow and find a place for Teenie at the village dress-makers. Every one is happy and thus it ends. "Bunty" was such a lovable sort of a girl, with such good sense and with such a lot of keen perception that she was able to "pull the strings" and get every one in just the right place.

The one thing that was most noticeable was the dialect used throughout the performance. The entire cast is Scotch, most of them direct from Scotland, and the others have only been in this country for a short time. Miss Marjorie Wash.; Boise, Idaho; Helena, Mont.; Murry, who took the title role came direct from Edinburg to play the part and is one of the cleverest actresses we have been privileged to see this season. The entire company was so uniformly great that nothing that can be said would be any thing but praise. We can only condole those that were unfortunate enough to miss the treat.

The scenic effects in the second act were beautiful and the setting of the parlor in the Biggar rhome was carried out with the fidelity to detail that was little short of marvelous. Any play put out under the management of the Shuberts and Brady are as theater patrons well know, always well staged, and this was no exception. A rather small house was present, but when in Fairmont after the last act, two curtain calls are demanded you may know that it was certainly a great show.

Hints on Hair Health

If you use our treatment, we will either stop your hair from falling or pay for the treatment ourselves.

Dandruff is a contagious disease caused by a microbe, which if not removed causes baldness. This microbe often comes from a comb or brush belonging to someone else.

If you are troubled with dandruff, itching scalp, falling hair, or baldness, we believe that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will do more than anything else to remove the dandruff, destroy the germ, make the scalp healthy and stop falling hair, and if there is any life left in the roots, also promote growth of new hair.

We believe that probably 65 per cent of the cases of baldness could be overcome if people would only use Rexall "93" Hair Tonic for a reasonable time, as directed.

We don't want you to take our word for this. We want you to test the merits of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic at our risk. If you use it and it does not give satisfaction, just come back to us and tell us, and we will immediately hand back to you the money you paid for it. You promise nothing, sign nothing and your mere word will be taken for it.

We are dependent upon your confidence and patronage, and we would not make these claims, or make this offer if we did not believe that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is the very best hair preparation you can use. Two sizes of bottles, 50c and $1.00.

You can buy Rexall "93" Hair Tonic in this community only at our store:

Don't Forget the Best.

There is a German fairy story about a shepherd boy who found a magic flower growing on a hillside. Stooping to pluck the flower, the lad saw a great cave. Entering, he found a fairy guarding a wonderful treasure house all ablaze with precious gems.

The fairy bade the boy help himself to the treasure. As the lad was departing, laden with about all the jewels he could carry, the fairy cried, "Don't forget the best!" So the lad took more gems and started out again. Again the fairy called, "Don't forget the best!" But the lad could not carry any more, so he departed, only to find his treasure turn to dead leaves as he reached the mouth of the cave. He had left behind the magic flower—that was what the fairy meant by "the best."
